Texas Christian University is a major private teaching and research university with a residential, person-centered environment unusually found on a small college campus. While accomplishing its mission of educating individuals to think and act as ethical leaders and responsible citizens in the global community, the University provides the unique TCU experience. This experience gives students an uncommon balance of at least four factors:

1. TCU offers the strengths and choices of a major university, tempered with the true humanity of a small college, and works to develop and nourish the individual talents of each student.

2. The University's teacher-scholars and artists conduct and publish research; express themselves artistically; and teach in a friendly, academic community. Professional staff members strive to be national leaders in their fields of expertise. TCU students, too, are uncommon and impressive, well-rounded individuals with high potential for success and leadership.

3. The University takes pride in its historic relationship with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), which has always stressed a broad interpretation and respect for faith traditions. TCU does not seek to impose a particular religious point of view, but challenges each student to consider what he or she believes.

4. TCU's emphasis on the development of the individual takes place in part in an arts and science-centered education that is global in the broadest sense of the word, which is embraced by all seven schools and colleges. The University promotes study abroad and encourages faculty, staff and students to think about the future and what will be required to build a just, ethical and productive world community.

Comprising seven academic divisions—AddRan College of Liberal Arts, M.J. Neeley School of Business, the College of Communication, the College of Education, the College of Fine Arts, Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences, and the College of Science & Engineering—TCU is independent and self-governing.

Nationally recognized Division I-A athletics contributes to the vital collegiality of the campus. Of the 20 sports—football and baseball for men; volleyball, rifle, equestrian, and soccer for women; and basketball, cross country, track, tennis, golf, and swimming and diving for men and women—several are ranked in the nation's Top 25.

International study, an institutional priority at TCU, provides students an opportunity to live and learn abroad. The Center for International Studies: TCU Abroad offers a wide range of academic programs, including summer courses led by TCU faculty members and semester programs in London, Seville and Florence. Other study abroad opportunities include partner programs and exchange programs in various locations around the world.

The school that was to be TCU was born in the troubled years following the Civil War. In 1869, young brothers Addison and Randolph Clark began holding classes in the village of Fort Worth, from which cattle trails ranged northward. In 1873, they moved 40 miles away to establish AddRan Male and Female College at bucolic Thorp Spring. Inclusion of women in the title is arguably the first instance of coeducation in the Southwest.

After 20 years, the school affiliated with the Christian Churches of Texas and became AddRan Christian College. Moved to Waco in 1895, the school changed its name in 1902 to Texas Christian University. Fire destroyed its main building in 1910, and the University returned to Fort Worth and opened in its present location in 1911. Its future was assured in 1923 with a gift by Mrs. Mary Couts Burnett.

With a controlled enrollment of about 8,700 students, TCU draws from all 50 states and more than 75 countries. Of the 479 full-time faculty, 54 percent are tenured; the student-faculty ratio is about 14:1. The 283-acre campus, located only a few miles from downtown Fort Worth, houses more than 3,300 students and offers a full range of activities and recreational facilities for students.

In short, higher education may be a business to some, but at TCU, we consider it our mission: To educate individuals to think and act as ethical leaders and responsible citizens in the global community.

Academic Organization

TCU is composed of seven academic units offering undergraduate bachelor's degrees in 101 majors. These colleges and schools also offer graduate degrees (see TCU Graduate Studies Catalog for more information). In addition, students can earn certificates in University programs in ranch management or take a full range of non-credit courses through the Office of Extended Education.

While students normally concentrate their work in the school or college of their major field, they may have classes in any or all. All undergraduates will have some courses in AddRan College of Liberal Arts and the College of Science & Engineering, for a broad, liberal arts-based educational background in the humanities, natural and social sciences.

The M.J. Neeley School of Business

The M.J. Neeley School of Business at TCU prepares students to contribute to the professional world and the larger community through emphasis on a balanced curriculum. A unified program provides a solid knowledge base upon which students add principles of accounting, decision sciences, finance, management, marketing, information systems and supply chain management, as well as distinct competencies that allow them to lead in the business world.

College of Communication

The College of Communication combines liberal arts studies with professional training. Within the Schieffer School of Journalism, Department of Communication Studies and Department of Film, Television, and Digital Media, students learn to apply their classroom experiences. Located in the eighth largest media market in the United States, graduates find ample opportunity to develop their skills in their desired fields. Personal counseling and relatively small classes allow the faculty to give attention to the work of each student.

College of Education

The College of Education offers programs to prepare teachers, counselors and administrators who serve children from pre-school through college. Undergraduate programs prepare teachers for certification in early childhood through grade 6, composite and academic subjects in middle and high school, along with an educational studies minor. These programs combine theory with intensive field-based practice and focus on effective teaching; solving instructional problems; resolving ethical issues; and making curricular decisions with special emphases on urban schools, English as a second language and special education.

College of Fine Arts

The College of Fine Arts represents a vital and integral part of TCU's educational history. The college houses the School of Music, the School for Classical and Contemporary Dance, and the departments of Art and Art History; Design, Merchandising and Textiles; and Theatre. These academic programs exact an appropriate balance between professional training and liberal arts studies. Small classes allow the faculty to give personal attention to the work of each student.

AddRan College of Liberal Arts

AddRan College of Liberal Arts is the center of TCU's well-developed tradition of emphasis on liberal arts. Courses in the humanities and social sciences form a major part of the core studies for all students. Degree programs within AddRan's 12 departments provide the solid liberal arts base needed for professional study toward the ministry, law, medicine, business, teaching or other related fields. Some have a professional orientation within themselves, with specialized study leading toward specific career objectives. In all of the programs, students find flexibility and freedom balanced by structure and discipline.

Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences

Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences unites Nursing, the School of Nurse Anesthesia, Doctor of Nursing Practice, and three departments—Communication Sciences and Disorders, Kinesiology and Social Work—in an integrated unit. The degree programs offered by the college build on a strong liberal arts foundation and prepare graduates to practice in complex and varied professional settings. Many of the courses offered in the college allow students to learn through practicing in professional and clinical settings and encountering multiple and diverse disciplines, practitioners and clients.

College of Science & Engineering
The College of Science & Engineering provides an interdisciplinary program that bridges liberal arts studies with the technical skills the world demands. Composed of the departments of Biology, Chemistry, Computer Science, Engineering, Environmental Science, Geology, Mathematics, Nutritional Sciences, Physics and Astronomy, and Psychology, the college offers the Bachelor of Science degree with majors in eighteen fields of study and the Bachelor of Arts degree with majors in seven fields. The college also administers and the Pre-Health Professions programs (pre-dentistry, pre-medicine, pre-veterinary medicine).

University Programs
Certificates in international studies, ranch management and women’s studies, BS in ranch management, minors in ranch management and women’s studies, intensive English and classes at all levels.

Office of Extended Education
The mission of the Office of Extended Education is to engage the University with the community through high-quality non-credit courses, programs, conferences and other offerings that seek to educate, enlighten, renew and serve. Non-degree admissions, portfolio assessment, community courses, certificate programs, professional development workshops and selected summer institutes are coordinated through this office.

Mission, Vision and Values

Mission
To educate individuals to think and act as ethical leaders and responsible citizens in the global community.

Vision
To create a world-class, values-centered university experience for our students.

Core Values
TCU values academic achievement, personal freedom and integrity, the dignity and respect of the individual, and a heritage of inclusiveness, tolerance and service.

Heritage, Philosophy and Goals
Founded in 1873, TCU has grown from a small school on the cattle frontier to a major center of independent higher education in a dynamic city. As agents of change the TCU’s faculty, staff, students and trustees are united in striving for the constant improvement of the University.

A community dedicated to learning, the University affirms its commitment to rationality, objectivity, diversity, freedom of inquiry, creativity and civility. TCU is committed as well to the preservation, appraisal and transmission of knowledge and wisdom and to the discovery of new ideas and knowledge by which the understanding of truth may be extended or corrected.

An independent and self-governing institution, TCU attests that a representative democracy provides the context within which free inquiry may best be protected and encouraged; and the University acknowledges that independent higher education can thrive only in an economic system that prompts and rewards individual initiative. TCU has a historical and intentional connection with a religious body, the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), that embraces pluralism, rejects sectarian narrowness, encourages a reasoned faith and affirms the rights of informed individual conscience in religious preference. The University welcomes students, faculty and staff of all religious faiths and takes pride in the diversity of its academic community.

Much of the knowledge students seek is related to their specific career goals. The University, however, regards as essential the advancement and communication of general knowledge, which enables students to understand the past, to comprehend the natural and social order, to search for the good and the beautiful, and to integrate knowledge into significant wholes.

Education fosters the capacity for rational decision-making, creative thinking and expression, and responsible living. Though knowledge may be treated as ethically neutral, the University believes that questions of value are vital and exploration of the moral and religious dimensions of human existence is basic to the love of wisdom. At the center of the educational endeavor are people. Affirming the incalculable worth of each individual, TCU seeks to be a caring community, encouraging close working relationships among all members of the University and challenging students, faculty and staff alike to high achievement. In such a setting, the enhancement of mental, physical and spiritual gifts contributes to the integration of the self and the enrichment of the community and humankind.

TCU provides undergraduate and graduate instruction in a vital and inviting residential setting for learning and living. The University intends to maintain and establish only undergraduate and graduate programs that are aimed toward excellence, the well-being of students and the wholeness of the University. There must be a general compatibility among the values and daily practices of the University and its several units.

Among TCU’s many goals are to:
• Conduct curricular and co-curricular activities designed to fulfill the mission and vision of the University.
• Foster undergraduate and graduate studies of excellent quality.
• Provide faculty and staff of high qualification and dedication.
• Expect and encourage excellent teaching and fruitful creativity and research.
• Preserve and contribute to knowledge by aiding in its organization, storage, retrieval and dispersal; and to use appropriate technology to this end.
• Employ admission, advising and retention policies that enable qualified and dedicated students to enter and successfully pursue their collegiate work.
• Provide a variety of support services that enhance the educational experience of all students.
• Promote the development of mature individuals who respect others; cherish a free and just society; and are prepared to act as responsible citizens, literate, broadly informed, self-educating, appreciative of the arts and the fruitful uses of leisure, and capable of both entering and changing careers.
• Support co-curricular as well as curricular opportunities for an informed understanding of religious tradition.
• Contribute to the quality of life, work and leisure of citizens in the surrounding metropolitan area through regular instructional programs; continuing education; cultural and intellectual events; research; and through participation of faculty and staff in civic, religious and other affairs.
• Earn the growing support from those who share the conviction that strong, independent institutions of higher learning are necessary to the continuation of a free society.

Accreditations

Accreditations provide evidence of TCU’s high educational standards. Throughout the higher education system, numerous examining bodies—boards, agencies and commissions—attest annually the credibility of a University’s education program. These bodies review and assess the worth of an institution’s offerings.

TCU is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia, 30033-4097; 404.679.4501) to award bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral degrees.

The institution’s membership in numerous academic societies provides further evidence of high standards. Of particular note are Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi. Phi Beta Kappa, the prestigious academic society in the liberal arts, approved TCU for membership in 1970. TCU is also approved for a chapter of Sigma Xi, the Scientific Research Society of North America.

Finances

Tuition and Fees
An independent church-related institution of higher education, Texas Christian University is chartered as a private nonprofit corporation financed by gifts from alumni and friends, endowment earnings, and tuition and fees. The University receives no direct support from the state or federal government.

Tuition and fees are set at a level consistent with the educational services the University provides and are usually available in the spring to be effective with the following fall session. Current tuition and fee schedules are available from:

Office of Admissions
TCU Box 297013
Fort Worth, TX 76129
(817) 257-7490

Financial Services
TCU Box 297011
Fort Worth, TX 76129
(817) 257-7834

Residential Services
TCU Box 297360
Fort Worth, TX 76129
(817) 257-7865

A large program of scholarships and financial aid helps some 75 percent of the student body with educational costs each year. For more information, see Student Financial Aid on page 12 in this catalog or visit the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid online at www.finaialaid.tcu.edu.

Payment
TCU has a monthly billing cycle. Payment in full for each semester’s charges is due no later than the due date specified on the first statement on which the charges for the semester appear. If payment in full payment is not made by the specified due date, an optional monthly payment plan is available for the fall and spring semesters. Additional charges will be assessed with the payment plan option. More detailed information about the payment plan option is available from the director of student financial services. The payment plan option is not available for summer sessions. Late fees will be assessed for payments not received within 10 days of the stated due date.

Payment deadlines must be met or the student may be denied advance or current registration. The ability to register in subsequent semesters may be denied if the student account is in arrears. Transcripts will not be released nor will a degree be awarded unless the student has satisfied all financial obligations to the University, including loans made through the University.

Students accounts must be current to be eligible to make residential housing reservations and to make charges to student accounts using the student’s University identification card.

Miscellaneous Charges
University Store purchases, library and parking fines, health insurance, health center services and medications, parking permits, copying charges, dining add-on charges and finance other miscellaneous charges are billed monthly, and must be paid in full each month. Late fees will be assessed for payments not received within 10 days of the stated due date.

Students receiving financial aid may participate in the payment plan option. The minimum amount due on the statement should be the total semester amount due, less any financial aid awarded (except work study, which is paid directly to the student during the semester).

Refunds
For a fall or spring semester, a student who withdraws from the University on or before the fifth class day may receive a 100 percent tuition refund. If withdrawal from the University occurs on or before the 10th class day, a 75 percent tuition refund is made. A 50 percent tuition refund is made upon withdrawal from the University on or before the 15th class day, and a 25 percent tuition refund is made if withdrawal is made on or before the 20th class day.

For a fall or spring semester, a student who initially enrolls for 12-18 hours but drops to less than 12 hours on or before the fifth class day is refunded the difference between the flat-rate tuition for the semester and the applicable hourly tuition amount for the reduced number of hours. A student who drops to less than 12 hours on or before the 10th class day receives a refund for 75 percent of the difference between the flat-rate tuition for the semester and the applicable hourly tuition amount for the reduced number of hours. A student who drops to less than 12 hours on or before the 15th class day receives a refund for 50 percent of the difference. A student who drops to less than 12 hours on or before the 20th class day receives a refund for 25 percent of the difference.

For a fall or spring semester, a student who withdraws from a class on or before the fifth class day may receive a 100 percent tuition refund for the class if the student initially enrolled for less than 12 hours and remains enrolled for less than 12 hours at the end of the fifth class day. If withdrawal from the class occurs on or before the 10th class day, a 75 percent tuition refund is made. A 50 percent tuition refund is made upon withdrawal from the class on or before the 15th class day, and a 25 percent tuition refund is made if withdrawal is made on or before the 20th class day.

Return of Federal Financial Aid
A student who withdraws from the University before the 60 percent point in the enrollment period (summer, fall or spring) may have to return a prorated portion of the financial aid he or she received or that TCU received on his or her behalf. Detailed information about the federal policy on the Return of Title IV Funds is available in the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid.
Texas Christian University does not discriminate on the basis of personal status, individual characteristics or group affiliation, including but not limited to, classes protected under federal and state law.

Admission Policies

Admission to the University
Qualified undergraduate students are admitted to the University rather than to a specific program, school or college. Application deadlines and notification dates for freshman and transfer applicants are stated in the Application for Undergraduate Admission. Deadlines for applying for financial aid may be obtained by contacting the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid.

Health Record and Insurance
All new students, regardless of academic classification, must have a Report of Medical History on file in the Brown-Lupton Health Center. All undergraduate students taking nine or more semester hours are required to have health insurance either through the TCU Student Health Insurance Plan or through another individual or family plan. Students who do not choose to participate in the University’s Student Health Insurance Plan must waive participation online by entering before a specific deadline the name of their private insurance carrier.

Residence Hall Requirement
Unmarried students under 21 years of age classified as freshmen or sophomore at the time of registration and enrolling for nine or more semester hours are required to live on campus unless living at their parents’ residence. Students who are 17 years old or younger at the time of registration will be approved to live in residence halls on a case-by-case basis.

International Visa Students
Refer to the section in this catalog titled International Student Admission on page 10.

Examination and Portfolio Assessment Credit - Detail
Through several methods, students may earn academic credit for college-level learning by taking an examination in the appropriate area. Credit granted usually can be used to satisfy specific and general degree requirements. Refer to the section in this catalog titled Bachelor Degree Requirements on page 39.

The credit by examination procedures are reviewed and updated annually. A current brochure is available from the Office of Admission; information is also available online at www.admissions.tcu.edu.

On a limited basis, portfolio assessment is another method used to earn academic credit for college-level learning. A portfolio is a formal, written document including a résumé, detailed personal history, description of skills and competencies, and documentation to support the student’s request for credit. Only limited credit has been approved using this method. More information on the portfolio assessment program may be obtained by contacting Office of Extended Education at 817.257.7130.

Military Service Credit Admission Information
The University follows, with limitations, the recommendations of the American Council on Education (ACE) as published in the Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services in granting credit for military service schools.

Courses must be in the baccalaureate/associate degree category as defined by the ACE guide. This requirement precludes acceptance of vocational, technical or certificate category courses, or military occupational specialties or job experience.

For consideration of credit from military service schools, the applicant must submit the following military records:
- Certified original of the DD Form 295, or
- Copy of the DD Form 214, or
- Course completion certificates, or
- A Community College of the Air Force transcript.

The Office of the Registrar will assist persons eligible for veterans education assistance benefits.

Nonresidential Coursework
The University examines all nonresidential learning experiences and grants credit on a case-by-case basis.

Undergraduate Student Admission

Freshmen Students
TCU invites applications from qualified high school students who have graduated or expect to graduate from an accredited secondary school. The student should request information about TCU early in the high school career to learn about admission requirements.

Students applying from secondary schools should request, complete and return application forms following their junior year in high school. Applicants are considered for admission after the Office of Admission receives:
- Completed application form;
- Official secondary school transcript;
- SAT or ACT scores;
- $40 application fee;
- Essay and résumé of activities; and
- Secondary school guidance counselor's evaluation of applicant.

It is the student's responsibility to complete the application procedure. Students accepted to the University prior to high school graduation are admitted on a tentative basis, pending successful completion of their senior year with academic performance consistent with that upon which the admission decision was based. Verification of graduation is required.

Any college-level coursework attempted after admission but before matriculation must be reviewed by the Office of Admission prior to enrollment and may nullify the offer of admission.

Admitted students must return a nonrefundable enrollment fee by May 1 (National Candidate Reply Date) to secure a place in the fall class. The following factors are considered when selecting candidates for admission:

1. High School Record. Students are expected to have completed upon graduation a minimum of four units of English, three units of mathematics (including two units of algebra and one of geometry), three units of science (including one laboratory science), three units of social studies, two units of foreign language and two units of academic electives. The quality and quantity of coursework taken, grades earned and subsequent rank in the high school class are important in assessing a candidate's probability for success at TCU.

2. Admission Tests. Candidates must present results of the SAT or the ACT. Arrangements to take one of these tests should be made through the student's secondary school. If the candidate has been out of high school more than three years, the SAT/ACT requirement is waived. In addition, prospective performance music majors must audition either in person or by recording. Prospective ballet and modern dance majors must also audition.

3. Essay and Counselor's Evaluation. The student's essay is a significant part of the application as is the high school counselor's evaluation. If the candidate has been out of high school more than three years, the counselor's evaluation requirement is waived.
4. Extracurricular Participation. Activities outside of class, including employment, community/volunteer work and leadership experiences are evaluated.

5. College Courses Taken while in High School. The quality of coursework completed and the grades earned will be considered during the admission process. Official college transcripts must be presented to determine transferability of credit.

6. Special Talents. Special consideration will be given to admission of students with special talents whose application profiles diverge from the general population of students admitted and enrolled, including, but not limited to, artists, athletes, dancers, musicians, poets, and others who demonstrate exceptional ability or potential in their chosen academic, athletic or other area of interest. Special Talent admission decisions will be made by committees or admission officers empowered by the Chancellor.

Transfer Students

A transfer student is defined as one who has been out of high school for at least one full semester and has attempted college or university work for credit.

Students planning to transfer from another college or university should submit the following for admission consideration:

- Completed application form;
- Official transcripts from each college attended;
- $40 application fee; and
- Secondary school transcript and SAT or ACT scores if, at the time of application, fewer than 24 semester hours of transferable work have been completed.

Admission to TCU as a transfer student is based upon evidence of ability to succeed in college-level work. The applicant's total record will be assessed, taking into account the following:

- Cumulative GPA;
- Quality of curriculum;
- Number of hours and GPA in core subjects;
- High school record and test results (if possessing fewer than 24 transferable semester hours at the time of application);
- Extracurricular activities, achievements and honors; and
- Essay.

The applicant must be in good academic standing and be eligible to return to all previous institutions. Official transcripts must be submitted from each college attended whether the work was satisfactory, unsatisfactory or interrupted. Failure to disclose any part of a previous academic record is a serious violation of trust and will subject a student to dismissal and forfeiture of credit earned while in attendance at TCU.

Evidence of acceptable academic standing at an accredited college or university and appropriate academic credentials are required. A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 is necessary for consideration although a cumulative GPA of 2.75 or higher is generally required for admission. Every application will be reviewed on an individual basis. In most cases, greater emphasis is placed on academic work completed in recent semesters than on work completed in the more distant past.

Grades on all attempted transferable courses except physical education activity courses (including repeated courses and those in which grades of "F," "D" or "I" were received) will be used in calculating the GPA to determine the applicant's qualification for admission. Once admitted, a student's transfer grades will not be entered on the student's permanent record at TCU.

Special consideration will be given to admission of students with special talents whose application profiles diverge from the general population of students admitted and enrolled, including artists, athletes, dancers, musicians, poets, as well as others who demonstrate exceptional ability in their chosen academic, athletic or other area of interest. Special Talent admission decisions will be made by a committee empowered by the Chancellor.

Students admitted to the University will receive, with their letter of admission, a transcript evaluation sheet listing all transferable courses. A course listed as "transferable" on the transcript evaluation is not considered to be developmental (e.g., orientation, time management, library skills) or remedial (e.g., those in English, math and reading); and

- Courses considered to be developmental (e.g., orientation, time management, library skills) or remedial (e.g., those in English, math and reading); and

- Vocational-Technical courses.

No more than 66 hours from a community college may be credited toward a bachelor's degree, and no course transferred from a community college may be used to satisfy the TCU advanced-hour requirement. No more than eight semester hours of physical education activity courses may be applied toward graduation requirements.

Note: Students transferring to TCU must present a record of all transfer work for evaluation to the Office of Admission for approval by the appropriate academic dean prior to their enrollment in the University. Transfer coursework not presented prior to enrollment may not be counted toward a degree.

After enrolling at TCU:

- All students must receive prior written approval of the academic dean of their major if they wish to take courses at another institution and have those courses count toward a degree at TCU. Coursework taken without prior written approval may not be applied to a degree.

- No more than 12 total semester hours, except those earned in an approved study abroad program, may be transferred from other schools.

- No credit may be transferred from a community college once 54 cumulative semester hours have been earned.

Some programs have certain requirements that must be met to enroll in upper-division courses. Transfer applicants who plan to declare a major in the M.J. Neeley School of Business, Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences or the College of Education should refer to those special requirements set forth in the appropriate programmatic sections of this catalog.

International Students

International (non-immigrant) undergraduate applicants for admission to TCU must demonstrate:

- High scholastic achievement, with above-average academic performance in their secondary or high school studies and on national examinations, where such examinations are administered.

Students transferring from a university or other institution of higher education should have above-average grades in their post-secondary studies. Former TCU international students should refer to the section in this catalog titled Re-enrollment of Former Students on page 11.

- A satisfactory command of English as demonstrated by such examinations as TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language), the SAT, the ACT or another widely recognized test of English proficiency. The minimum TOEFL score accepted for admission of beginning undergraduate students is 550 on the paper-based exam, 213 on the computer-based exam or 80 on the Internet-based exam. Transfer students may demonstrate proficiency by successfully completing English composition courses and having 24 hours of transferable credit from a US college.

Applicants who have not achieved the required level of English proficiency are encouraged to enroll in TCU's Intensive English Program, which offers 11 month-long session each year.

Regardless of the level of English language proficiency, all admitted international students are tested upon arrival at the University and, depending on their test results, may be required to take certain English language credit courses to overcome deficiencies.

Admitted students must eliminate any deficiencies determined by the TCU English Proficiency Exam within the first two full semesters in order to continue their studies at TCU.

Procedures

Nonimmigrant applicants should request the International Student Application for Undergraduate Admission. The application contains detailed instructions regarding documents that must be submitted and deadlines for application. Admission for summer sessions is considered only for applicants with at least 24 semester hours of higher education in the United States.

When the application is complete, the International Committee on Admissions will evaluate the credentials and send the applicant a letter stating its decision. If admitted, the applicant will be provided information regarding dates of arrival, orientation, testing and additional requirements. Students must submit a health record and provide proof of the availability of funds to cover all educational and living expenses... for the duration of their studies at TCU. International orientation is required of all new international students.

Advanced credit may be granted for certain courses considered to be beyond the level of U.S. secondary school courses, provided that the grades are at least average. Results from exams such as the International Baccalaureate, the German Abitur, the British General Certificate of Education (GCE) "A" Levels and other similar national exams can be considered for possible advanced credit.

The University standards and procedures regarding international students are consistent with those expressed in the Admissions Standards and Procedures of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

Housing
Undergraduate applicants in their first two years of higher education and who are less than 21 years of age are required to reside in on-campus housing. Other applicants may apply for housing on campus after being granted admission and may receive a reservation depending on space availability at the time of application.

Additional information can be obtained from:

Office of International Admissions
Texas Christian University
TCU Box 297013,
Fort Worth, TX 76129, U.S.A

or by calling 817.257.7871 or sending a fax to 817.257.5256.

Non-Degree Students

Students interested in taking courses for academic credit but not in seeking a degree from TCU may be admitted for non-degree study. Non-degree students are held to the same standards governing academic progress (including probation/suspension) as degree students.

Non-degree status would apply to persons:

- Taking only ROTC at TCU and enrolled at another college or university;
- Seeking ranch management certification;
- Seeking only teacher certification;
- With an undergraduate degree desiring additional undergraduate coursework;
- Applying as summer visiting students; and
- Enrolled at another college or university seeking concurrent enrollment at TCU for one semester.

Persons who do not fit into any of these categories, but want to take credit courses, will be considered for limited enrollment status. Limited enrollment status is open to persons who:

- Are 22 years of age or older with a high school diploma and/or equivalency diploma based on the GED;
- Are in good standing at all colleges where they are currently enrolled or have ever been enrolled; and
- Have not been previously denied admission or readmission to TCU.

A limited enrollment student may not enroll in more than six semester hours of coursework per semester or three hours per summer session. Exceptions must be approved by the Office of Extended Education. A maximum of 12 semester hours may be accumulated. At that time a student may apply as a degree-seeking student or receive special permission to continue beyond the 12 hours limitation.

Applications for non-degree study may be obtained from the Office of Extended Education.

Non-immigrant students may be considered for non-degree status without the limitations stated above, but must abide by the regulations stipulated by the Office of International Student Services. These applicants should contact the Office of International Student Services for specific limitations, application forms, and procedures for international students.

Non-Degree to Degree Status

Undergraduate students who wish to change from non-degree to degree status must submit the appropriate application form obtained from the Office of Admission. The semester hours earned as a non-degree student can be applied toward a degree program if applicable.

Individual Approval

Students who demonstrate outstanding academic achievement and potential, but have not yet graduated from high school, may be admitted by individual approval. Such students seeking concurrent enrollment or early admission should contact the Office of Admission for further information.

Applicants 21 years of age or older who submit results of a GED examination may be considered for admission on an individual basis. Such applicants generally are encouraged to attend a two-year college for a semester or more in preparation for university studies.

Re-Enrollment of Former Students

Students previously enrolled and in acceptable academic standing in an undergraduate degree program who wish to re-enter TCU after absence of a full fall or spring semester must apply for re-enrollment and pay an application fee. Official transcripts from each college or university attended since the last enrollment at TCU must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar (see exception under Re-enrollment following Suspension on page 11). Eligibility for re-enrollment will be determined upon review and assessment of the student's entire record.

Former TCU students originally awarded an academic scholarship who are applying for re-enrollment may petition for the restoration of that scholarship or may be eligible to compete for a transfer academic scholarship if coursework has been completed at another university. Students may not receive a scholarship that exceeds the original TCU scholarship.

Non-immigrant students should apply for re-enrollment at least two months prior to registration in order to meet all requirements of the Office of International Student Affairs.

Re-Enrollment Involving a Change of Major

When a student is re-enrolled with a change of major, the Office of the Registrar will initiate the Change of Major form. Permission to change major requires approval of the dean of the new major. All entrance requirements specific to the new major must also be met. (Refer to the section titled Requirements for Graduation in this catalog on page 39.)

Re-Enrollment Following Suspension

All students suspended from TCU for academic or disciplinary reasons must apply for re-enrollment through the Office of the Registrar. No enrollment will be permitted following a period of suspension until re-enrollment is approved by the Office of the Registrar after consultation with the appropriate dean. (Refer to the section titled Academic Probation and Suspension in this catalog on page 38.)

A student suspended from TCU may not transfer credit that was earned at another college or university during the period of enforced suspension, but must submit all transcripts of any work attempted or completed during that period.

A student may not re-enter TCU while on academic suspension from another college or university.

Re-Enrollment Following Extended Separation from the University

A student accepted for re-enrollment after a 10-year separation from TCU may petition to have all prior coursework at TCU (selected course exclusion is not permitted) excluded from the TCU GPA calculation and credit toward graduation. The petition should be filed no later than the end of the first semester of re-enrollment in a degree program and be addressed to the registrar who will seek the approval of the appropriate academic dean. If the petition is granted, it is irrevocable. Excluded courses and corresponding grades will still appear on the official transcript but will not be included in calculation of the GPA, will not be counted as meeting credit-hour requirements for graduation and will not be used to satisfy course requirements.

Additional Bachelor's Degree

First-time applicants must complete the Application for Undergraduate Admission for Transfer Students. Students who have previously attended TCU should complete the Application for Re-enrollment and refer to the sections titled Re-Enrollment of Former Students on page 11 and Additional Bachelor's Degree on page 40 in The Bachelor's Degree section of this catalog. The student's entire academic record, as well as credentials submitted with the application, will be assessed prior to an admission decision.
Texas Christian University provides an extensive, individually designed financial aid program. There are certain principles that guide the administration of the various programs administered by the TCU Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid. These principles are:

- Financing a university education is a joint venture between the family and TCU.
- Eligibility for Title IV federal financial assistance, TCU-funded and state financial aid programs is based upon information on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), as provided by the family.
- Academic scholarships are based upon the academic achievement of the students. Those who have excelled academically are given the largest share of TCU-funded dollars.

Applicants for assistance must be admitted to the University before aid is committed. Those students qualifying for academic scholarships will be reviewed by the Academic Scholarship Committee and notified of the results in March or November depending upon the date of entrance to the University.

Applicants for financial assistance programs must submit the FAFSA no later than May 1 for fall entry and November 1 for spring entry. The FAFSA is available at www.fafsa.gov. Financial assistance files completed after May 1 or November 1 will be reviewed; however, there may be a reduction in the aid offering due to budget limitations. (Deadlines for ranch management applicants, student-athletes and fine arts performance majors may be extended due to University recruitment practices and for transfer students whose admission is pending due to the availability of final transcripts.) All individuals whose FAFSA is selected for verification will be required to submit a copy of the parents’ and student’s federal income tax return, W-2s, Schedule Cs and a verification worksheet to substantiate the application. Additional documents may be required in individual cases.

Students generally receive aid from a variety of sources. Scholarships, federal, state and institutional grants, work and/or loans are combined or packaged to form the financial assistance award. Approximately 75 percent of the current TCU student body is receiving financial assistance. Questions regarding the University’s aid program may be directed to:

Director of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid
Texas Christian University
TCU Box 297012
Fort Worth, TX 76129
817.257.7858

Financial Aid General Policies

1. Students may receive more than one TCU-funded award. However, the annual aggregate of the combined awards may not exceed the value of full tuition for the hours enrolled up to 36 credit hours. Institutional funds may only be applied to tuition costs unless specifically designated as Room and Board Grants. Note: With the exception of the Pell Grant, most federal and state grant programs are also limited to paying tuition costs.

2. Any aid granted by the University may be withdrawn at any time for unsatisfactory conduct.

3. If invited to participate in the Honors Program, scholarship recipients are encouraged to do so.

4. All students receiving financial aid from sources outside the University must notify the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid of the amount and source of such aid.

5. Most financial aid awards are granted for one year and may be renewed if the recipient meets required stipulations. All reapplications and required documents must be received prior to May 1 to ensure funding.

6. Maximum duration of TCU-funded awards will be eight semesters or a total of 124 TCU semester hours of undergraduate study, whichever occurs first. A ninth semester of aid is allowed for students in a program requiring more than 124 hours for a baccalaureate degree.

7. Students who receive financial eligibility-based assistance through TCU may not receive funds from any additional source that will exceed their eligibility. Any student who has been “over-awarded” will have his/her awards reduced by the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid so that all aid received will comply with federal and state guidelines. When possible, this reduction takes place in either the employment or loan programs.

8. TCU-funded assistance is restricted to tuition costs for first-degree undergraduates. (Exceptions are made for the Ranch Management, Piano Certificate or Artist Diploma programs and for recipients of Alumni Half-Tuition, City of Fort Worth Grant and Professional/Personal Development Grant.)

9. Academic scholarships may only be applied to tuition costs. Students receiving awards from other sources that are restricted to tuition charges must choose which award(s) to accept in the event these funds exceed tuition.

10. To be eligible for TCU-funded aid, a student must have a current cumulative GPA of 2.5 or better and must register for at least 12 semester hours, unless the aid is designated for part-time students. Note: Twenty-four semester hours of "letter-grade" credits each academic year (fall/spring) are required for academic scholarship renewal. See renewal requirements in the section titled Academic Scholarships on page 12 in this catalog.

11. To be eligible for federal and state aid, a student must have a TCU cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better and must register for at least six semester hours.

12. Students must maintain the requirements outlined in the Undergraduate Student Financial Aid Statement of Satisfactory Academic Progress in order to apply for and receive financial aid.

13. With the exception of TCU International Summer Study programs, grant assistance is generally not available during the summer terms.

14. Graduating seniors in their last semester may register as part-time students. Aid is offered on a pro-rated basis. The student must register for at least six hours of credit.

15. Students participating in the TCU London Centre or TCU-sponsored international programs are eligible for all TCU-administered aid. Students participating in the Institute of European Studies (IES) or the Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE) are eligible for all TCU-administered aid except Federal Work/Study, Federal Perkins Loan and Nursing Student Loan. State and federal aid, other than Federal Work/Study, Perkins Loan and Nursing Student Loan, is available for other U.S. university programs and non-U.S. university programs if the student receives TCU credit for the study abroad coursework.

Academic Scholarships

TCU rewards academic achievement. The following list of awards is designed to recognize entering students who have excelled academically. In order for a student to compete for an academic award, freshman applicants must complete the application for admission and submit SAT/ACT scores by December 15. Transfer student applicants must be admitted by April 15 for the fall semester and October 1 for the spring semester. These awards are based solely on academic performance without regard to the family’s financial condition as evidenced by the FAFSA.

Freshman Awards

Applicants who meet the December 15 and November 1 (spring entry) admission deadline and submit an outstanding record of academic achievement in a college-prep curriculum will be considered in the competition. Candidates typically rank at the top of their high school class (if class rank is reported), earn high scores on the SAT or ACT, and possess a significant record of co-curricular and community involvement. Communication skills, counselor and teacher recommendations, and optionally submitted materials will also be considered.

Specific renewal requirements common to all academic awards are:
- Successful completion of 24 semester hours of "letter-grade" TCU coursework each academic year (fall and spring). Note: Summer courses do not satisfy the requirement.
- A TCU cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required at the conclusion of the freshman year. Thereafter, a 3.25 TCU cumulative GPA is required at the conclusion of each spring semester.
- "F", "W" or "Q," "I," "AU," "NR," "CR," Advanced Placement (AP), College Level Examination Program (CLEP) and College Board Achievement Tests in Foreign Languages (ACH) do not count toward satisfying requirements.
- Duration of freshman awards is eight semesters or 128 TCU semester hours, whichever occurs first.

Chancellor Scholarship

Amount: Full tuition for up to 18 hours per semester for up to eight undergraduate semesters. Total value in excess of $120,000.

Deans Scholarship

Amount: $13,000 per year for up to eight undergraduate semesters. Total value $52,000.

Faculty Scholarship

Amount: $10,000 per year for up to eight undergraduate semesters. Total value $40,000.

TCU Scholarship

Amount: $7,000 per year for up to eight undergraduate semesters. Total value $28,000.

National Merit

National Achievement

Amount: $2,000 per year for up to eight undergraduate semesters. Total value $8,000.

Note: Scholars must be designated as finalists in the competition and Merit finalists must officially designate TCU as their first choice. This scholarship may be awarded in addition to another TCU scholarship if the total amount of the institutional merit scholarship does not exceed the cost of tuition at TCU.

TCU Academic Achievement Award

This award is for current TCU students who were at the top of their class at the end of the freshman year and were not awarded an academic scholarship upon entering the University.

Transfer Awards

Transfer scholarships are highly competitive. Candidates must present a minimum cumulative college GPA of 3.25 and at least 27 hours of transferable coursework. Other factors that are considered include strength of curriculum, GPA earned during the last 30 hours of coursework, communication skills and extra-curricular activities. Scholarship renewal is based on the successful completion of at least 24 hours of letter-grade coursework at TCU during the academic year (fall and spring terms). A TCU cumulative GPA of 3.25 is required at the conclusion of the spring term.

Transfer Chancellor Scholarship

Amount: Full tuition for up to 18 hours per semester for up to four undergraduate semesters. Total value in excess of $60,000.

Note: Candidates must have completed either their associate's degree from a community/junior college or at least 64 transferable hours of senior/junior college coursework by June 1.

Transfer Deans Scholarship

Amount: $13,000 per year for up to six undergraduate semesters. Total value $39,000.

Transfer Faculty Scholarship

Amount: $10,000 per year for up to six undergraduate semesters. Total value $30,000.

Transfer TCU Scholarship

Amount: $7,000 per year for up to six undergraduate semesters. Total value $21,000.

Phi Theta Kappa Alumni Scholarship

Amount $7,250 per year for up to six undergraduate semesters. Total value of $21,750.

Note: Active PTK membership is also a prerequisite for this TCU-sponsored award.

TCC/TCU Cornerstone Scholarship

Amount: $13,250 per year for up to four undergraduate semesters. Total value $26,500.

Note: This scholarship is awarded to select top Tarrant County College Cornerstone Scholars. Candidates must have completed the program at TCC with two years of full-time course work or an associate's degree. Meeting minimums does not ensure selection.

Sponsored Scholarships, Outside Awards

Individuals, foundations and other agencies place scholarships with TCU. These are awarded by the University through its regular channels in keeping with the standards and/or conditions stipulated by the donor. Qualified students are considered for these scholarships on the basis of the TCU admissions application. In addition, financial assistance is offered by a number of corporations, foundations and other organizations that grant them directly to the student, who may then select the institution where the award is to be used. High school principals and counselors usually have information concerning such awards.

Performance Awards

TCU offers talent-based awards. Recipients of these awards are recommended by the individual department(s), and the awards may or may not be based in part upon the results of the FAFSA.

Athletic Scholarships

Scholarships for student-athletes are granted in accordance with NCAA and Mountain West Conference regulations. Student-athletes applying for financial aid from federal, state, or other TCU funded sources must meet additional eligibility requirements specific to those programs.

Nordan Fine Arts Scholarship

These awards are made to exceptionally talented students in art, ballet/modern dance, music and theatre. They hold a value of up to $40,000 over a four-year period for undergraduate students. The awards are renewable each year subject to the recipient fulfilling expectations. For more information contact:

Dean, College of Fine Arts
Texas Christian University
TCU Box 298000
Fort Worth, TX 76129

Band Awards

Funds are available to some members of the Horned Frog Band. The amount of the award depends upon talent and availability of other aid. Awards are made on recommendation of the director of bands after an audition. Awards may be renewed.

Orchestra and Choral Awards

Funds are available to some members of the University orchestra and choral programs. The amount of the award depends upon talent and availability of other aid. Awards are made on recommendation of the director of the orchestra and the director of the choir after an audition. Awards may be renewed.

Religious-Affiliated Programs

To receive aid from more than one religious-affiliated program, applicants must demonstrate financial eligibility through the FAFSA.

Beasley Foundation Grants

These grants are for members of the Disciples of Christ affiliation and are made available through the Theodore and Beulah Beasley Foundation, Inc. They are based on the results of the FAFSA, academic achievement and leadership potential. The amount of assistance depends on the results of the FAFSA and availability of other aid. Most awards range from $1,000 to $4,000. Consideration for renewal is based upon successful completion of at least 24 hours and achievement of a minimum TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5. FAFSA must be received by May 1 for priority funding.
Bermont Family Undergraduate Jewish Student Scholarship
This scholarship is for entering freshmen or transfer students who are Jewish. Preference is given to student applicants who demonstrate financial need as evidenced by the FAFSA. Amount varies.

Church Vocation Conditional Loan
Through the cooperation of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), TCU is able to award financial assistance to students, regardless of denomination, preparing to become ordained clergy, church musicians or directors of religious education in a full-time church vocation. These awards will be in an amount not to exceed one-half tuition for up to 18 hours per semester. The minister and the board (or governing body) of the applicant's home congregation must certify the applicant as a member in good standing and as a candidate for full-time church-related work. In addition, an essay from the candidate reflecting on the individual's theological development and commitment to devote his/her life to the ministry of the Gospel of Christ as a full-time vocation is required. This certification should be received by TCU prior to May 1 for the fall semester and November 1 for the spring semester.

Prior to May 1 each year, all recipients must re-certify their commitment to enter a full-time church vocation and present evidence of their progress toward that goal. The home congregation, the TCU Scholarship Committee and the Department of Religion review the recertification. Award decisions are based on several factors, including academic record, applicant's essay and letter of recommendation. Financial eligibility, as demonstrated by the FAFSA, is considered, although it is not a prerequisite for receiving the award.

Recipients of a Church Vocation Loan must enroll in an undergraduate program leading to a baccalaureate degree from TCU. They are required to major in religion or major in church music. Minimum renewal requirements are a 2.5 TCU cumulative GPA and successful completion of at least 24 semester hours during the academic year. Recipients are required to sign a promissory note for the amount of the loan plus interest. Those recipients who are enrolled in a graduate theological program or are employed full-time in a church will have 25 percent of their loan forgiven per year. Applications for a church vocation loan may be obtained from the Grant section of www.financialaid.tcu.edu.

Applications must be received by May 1 each year.

Christian Youth Fellowship (CYF) Grant
Through the cooperation of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), TCU is able to offer tuition assistance to regional officers of the Christian Youth Fellowship. These awards will be in an amount not to exceed one-half tuition for up to 18 hours per semester and is renewable for eight semesters, providing the student meets the criteria for financial aid satisfactory academic progress. Additionally, a TCU cumulative 2.5 GPA is required for renewal.

Applications must be received by May 1 each year.

Minister and Minister’s Dependent Grant
Through funds provided by the Christian churches of Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana, partial-tuition grants are available to certain categories of students attending TCU. Included are:
- Spouses of full-time students of Brite Divinity School, the graduate seminary;
- Unmarried youths under 23 years of age who are dependent children of Christian church (Disciples of Christ) ministers in full-time active service (including missionaries) and youths of Juliette Fowler Home (including employees of the home);
- Spouses of full-time Christian church (Disciples of Christ) ministers; and
- Full-time Christian church (Disciples of Christ) ministers who wish to continue their education on a part-time basis in the undergraduate program.

Students enrolled full-time in the regular undergraduate program are entitled to one-half tuition grants for up to 18 hours per semester. Applications must be received by May 1 each year.

Federal Grant Programs
Eligibility for the following programs is based upon receipt and evaluation of the FAFSA. The FAFSA must be submitted no later than March 15 for fall entry and September 1 for spring entry. These dates ensure that this information will arrive at TCU prior to the deadline of May 1 and November 1, respectively. These programs are subject to the provisions stated in the section titled Student Financial Aid General Policies in this catalog, as well as specific programmatic requirements as defined.

Federal Pell Grant
This is a federally funded grant for undergraduate students only. The maximum amount of the grant is established by the U.S. Department of Education on an annual basis. Grants range from $400 to $5,550.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (SEOG)
This is a federally funded grant for undergraduate students only. The average SEOG award at TCU is approximately $500 per academic year. All SEOG awards are dependent on the funding levels approved by federal government appropriations and awards to the institutions. Priority is given to students who qualify for the Federal Pell Grant.

Academic Competitiveness Grant (ACG)
This is a federally funded grant for undergraduate students in their first or second academic year of study, who have successfully completed a rigorous high school program after January 1, 2006. Recipients must be a U.S. citizen, eligible for a Pell Grant in the award year and have need eligibility. Second-year recipients must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0. First academic year award is $750; second academic year award is $1,300.

National Science and Mathematics Access to Retain Talent (SMART)
This is a federally funded grant for undergraduate students in their third or fourth academic year of an eligible program of study. Recipients must be a U.S. citizen, eligible to receive a Pell Grant in the award year, have need eligibility, and be enrolled in an eligible major in at least one of the following fields of study: computer science, engineering, critical foreign language, life sciences, mathematics, physical sciences and technology. Recipients must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0. Awards are $4,000 per year.

Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH) Grant
This is a federally funded program for students preparing to teach full-time in a low-income elementary or secondary school (as defined by The Department of Education) and in a high-need field (as listed by The Department of Education), which include teaching areas such as science, math, foreign language, Special Education, etc.) for a period of four years. Recipients are required to complete mandatory counseling sessions as well as sign an Agreement to Serve. Failure to meet all requirements of the TEACH Grant Program results in the TEACH Grant being converted to a Federal Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan with interest. Grants vary, up to $4000 per year. Additional information regarding the TEACH Grant can also be found at http://www.studentaid.ed.gov/PORTALSWebApp/students/english/TEACH.jsp.

State and Institutional Grant Programs
Eligibility for the following programs is based upon receipt and evaluation of the FAFSA. The FAFSA must be submitted no later than March 15 for fall entry and September 1 for spring entry. These dates ensure that this information will arrive at TCU prior to the deadline of May 1 and November 1, respectively. These programs are subject to the provisions stated in the section titled Student Financial Aid General Policies in this catalog, as well as specific programmatic requirements as defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

TCU Grant
Students with financial eligibility are considered for participation in this program. The results of the FAFSA, class rank and SAT/ACT are reviewed. The award is based upon the quality of the entire applicant pool. Renewal is based upon results of the FAFSA and a minimum TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5.

Middle Income Assistance Program
Awards vary, generally between $500 and $5,000.
Tuition Equalization Grant (TEG)
The State of Texas sponsors a program to help equalize the cost of tuition between independent universities and the state public institutions. Awards vary, generally between $200 and $3,800. TCU participates in this program. To qualify, a student must:
- Be a Texas resident as defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board;
- Establish financial eligibility as evidenced by the FAFSA;
- Not be the recipient of an athletic scholarship during the semester the student is receiving the TEG; and
- Provide results of a processed FAFSA no later than May 1 for fall and November 1 for spring.

Leveraging Educational Assistance Partnership (LEAP)
LEAP may be combined with the TEG to assist undergraduates who have established additional eligibility through the FAFSA. The number awarded and the amount of the award is dependent upon the availability of funds provided by the federal government.

Non-Traditional Student Award Programs
Responding to the needs of several types of part-time, adult and non-traditional students, TCU offers the following programs. Information and applications may be obtained by contacting the Office of Scholarships and Student Financial Aid, Sadler Hall Room 108; 817.257.7858. Students receiving assistance through these programs must maintain the standards set forth in the Undergraduate Student Financial Aid Statement of Satisfactory Academic Progress outlined elsewhere in catalog.

Personal/Professional Development Grant
Awards are available to qualified part-time, independent students at least 22 years of age. This first-come, first-serve grant is available to students who often do not qualify for other forms of financial assistance. With the exception of Pell Grants and educational loans, these grants may not be combined with other TCU-administered aid. Applications are available at www.financialaid.tcu.edu/grants_special.asp.

Alumni Half-Tuition
Persons with a TCU degree are eligible to take additional undergraduate courses, except for performance music, at half-tuition. Funds for this program are limited and some restrictions apply. A student may not be receiving tuition funds from any other source with the exception of educational loans and may not combine this award with other financial aid administered by TCU. A student concurrently enrolled in a graduate degree program at TCU may not combine this award with aid through a graduate department. Readmission to the University as a non-degree student is available through the Office of Extended Education. For admission as a degree-seeking student, contact the Office of Admission. This assistance is awarded on a funds and space-available basis to students who register on the second day of class. Applications, which may be completed in advance, are available at www.financialaid.tcu.edu/grants_special.asp.

City of Fort Worth Grant
City of Fort Worth employees are eligible to receive tuition assistance in accordance with a cooperative agreement between TCU and the City of Fort Worth. Applications are available at www.financialaid.tcu.edu/grants_special.asp.

Employment Programs
Federal Work/Study Program (FWS)
This federally funded program provides a portion of the wages earned by students employed on campus. To receive a Work/Study Program award, the applicant must have financial eligibility as evidenced by the FAFSA. Students employed through this program must be capable of maintaining good standing in their course of study while employed. To research current job listings, visit www.frogjobs.net, and click on "Student/Alum Log-in". New users should click on the "Click Here to Register" link. Once a student finds a position in which he/she is interested, follow the instructions for application. Student employees are paid by check every two weeks for actual hours worked.

Texas College Work/Study Program
This state-funded program provides a portion of the wages earned by students employed on campus. Students must be Texas residents. To receive a Texas College Work/Study Program award, the applicant must have financial eligibility as evidenced by the FAFSA. Students employed through this program must be capable of maintaining good standing in their course of study while employed. To research current job listings, visit www.frogjobs.net, and click on "Student/Alum Log-in". New users should click on the "Click Here to Register" link. Once a student finds a position in which he/she is interested, follow the instructions for application. Student employees are paid by check every two weeks for actual hours worked.

University Student Employment
TCU offers a number of student jobs through the various departments on campus. To research current job listings, visit www.frogjobs.net, and click on "Student/Alum Log-in"; new users should click on the "Click Here to Register" link. Once a student finds a position in which he/she is interested, follow the instructions for application. Student employees are paid by check every two weeks for actual hours worked. Eligibility is not necessarily related to the FAFSA; however, some departments may prefer to hire students with work/study awards.

Student Financial Aid
On-Time Loan
The B-On-Time (BOT) Loan is a state loan program with possibilities for loan forgiveness. This is a no-interest loan with a 3 percent origination fee deducted from the disbursement. The loan will be forgiven for students who complete their undergraduate degree either within four years, or with a total number of credit hours that is no more than six hours above what is required to complete the degree, and with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher. Applicants must have graduated under the recommended high school program from a Texas high school in May 2003 or later. Full-time enrollment and Texas residency are required. Students may not concurrently receive a B-On-Time Loan and the Texas Grant. If a student does not qualify for loan forgiveness, normal repayment is a minimum of $75 per over a period of up to 15 years. Payment begins six months after student ceases to be enrolled half time. Renewal is based on the availability of funds and requires annual filing of the FAFSA, and TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher. forgiven BOT loans must be reported to the IRS as taxable income. Funds are limited.

Federal Carl Perkins Student Loan
TCU is the lender; eligibility is determined by the FAFSA, and funding is limited. This program has a fixed interest rate of 5 percent. No payment of principal or interest is required nor does the interest accrue until one ceases to be a half-time student (normally carrying six semester hours). Repayment begins nine months after one is no longer enrolled at least half-time. One may pre-pay (early payment) at any time while incurring no additional charge. Normal payment is a minimum of $40 per month over a period of up to 10 years. A signed promissory note is required.

Residence Hall Assistants
There are several staff positions for upper-class students as resident assistants in each residence hall. Required are leadership ability, an appreciation for the University’s educational philosophy and a concern for other students’ needs. Applications should be made to the Office of Residential Services. Dates for applications are announced each spring.

Student Loan Programs
Loans must be repaid and require the signing of a promissory note. There are several types of loans available to students attending TCU.

B-On-Time Loan
The B-On-Time (BOT) Loan is a state loan program with possibilities for loan forgiveness. This is a no-interest loan with a 3 percent origination fee deducted from the disbursement. The loan will be forgiven for students who complete their undergraduate degree either within four years, or with a total number of credit hours that is no more than six hours above what is required to complete the degree, and with a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher. Applicants must have graduated under the recommended high school program from a Texas high school in May 2003 or later. Full-time enrollment and Texas residency are required. Students may not concurrently receive a B-On-Time Loan and the Texas Grant. If a student does not qualify for loan forgiveness, normal repayment is a minimum of $75 per over a period of up to 15 years. Payment begins six months after student ceases to be enrolled half time. Renewal is based on the availability of funds and requires annual filing of the FAFSA, and TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher. forgiven BOT loans must be reported to the IRS as taxable income. Funds are limited.

Federal Carl Perkins Student Loan
TCU is the lender; eligibility is determined by the FAFSA, and funding is limited. This program has a fixed interest rate of 5 percent. No payment of principal or interest is required nor does the interest accrue until one ceases to be a half-time student (normally carrying six semester hours). Repayment begins nine months after one is no longer enrolled at least half-time. One may pre-pay (early payment) at any time while incurring no additional charge. Normal payment is a minimum of $40 per month over a period of up to 10 years. A signed promissory note is required.
Nursing Student Loan
TCU is the lender; eligibility is determined by the FAFSA; funding is limited. This program has a fixed interest rate of 5 percent. No payment of interest or principal is required nor does the interest accrue until one ceases to be at least a half-time student (normally carrying six semester hours). Repayment begins nine months after one is no longer enrolled at least half time. Normal repayment is at a minimum of $15 per month over a period of up to 10 years.

Federal Stafford Student Loan
Eligibility is determined by the FAFSA. Interest rates for 2010-2011 are 4.5% for undergraduates and 6.8% for graduate and professional students. Normally, the repayment period for the loan is 10 years. The federal government pays the interest on Subsidized Stafford loans during the period of at least half-time enrollment and during the six-month grace period.

Undergraduate students may borrow up to $3,500 during the first year of study, $4,500 during the second year of study and $5,500 per year for subsequent years of study to a maximum of $31,000. Repayment begins six months after the student is no longer enrolled at least half time. The federal government will deduct an origination fee up to 1/2 of one percent from the proceeds of the loan at the time of disbursement.

Unsubsidized Stafford Student Loan
The FAFSA is required; eligibility is determined by subtracting other forms of aid from the TCU Estimated Cost of Attendance as defined by federal law. Interest rate for 2009-12 is 6.8 percent for undergraduates. Terms are the same as for the Subsidized Stafford Loan with the following exceptions: Interest on the Unsubsidized Stafford Loan must be paid monthly, quarterly or be added into the principal amount of the loan.

Independent undergraduate students may borrow up to the following maximums by combining the Subsidized Stafford Loan with the Unsubsidized Stafford Loan: $5,500 during the first year of study, $6,500 per year during the second year of study, and $7,500 per year for subsequent years of study to a maximum of $31,000. The federal government will deduct an origination fee up to 1/2 of one percent from the proceeds of the loan at the time of disbursement.

College Access Loan (CAL)
The lender is the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board. This student loan is for Texas residents who are enrolled full time. Financial need is not required, but applicants must submit the FAFSA. A credit-worthy cosignor may be required. Loan amounts are limited each year based on the state’s allocated amount to TCU, and are limited to a maximum aggregate of $45,000. This program has a 6 percent fixed simple interest rate. Interest begins accruing on the date of disbursement. Borrowers with an outstanding balance prior to June 15, 2003, should review their disclosure statements for applicable interest rate information. Repayment begins six months after the student ceases to be enrolled at least half time.

Federal Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students
A parent of an undergraduate student may borrow an amount up to the estimated cost of attendance as defined by federal law minus other forms of financial aid. For loans first disbursed on July 1, 2006, or after, the program has a 7.9 percent fixed interest rate. Borrowers with an outstanding loan balance prior to this date should review their disclosure statements for applicable interest rate information. Repayment of principal and interest begins approximately 60 days following disbursement and allows the borrower up to 10 years in repayment. The loan has a 2.5 percent origination fee, which will be deducted from the disbursement. Parents may request that payments be postponed until the student graduates or ceases to be enrolled half-time.

Etta Newby Loan
TCU is the lender. This program requires Texas residency with preference given to Fort Worth high school graduates. A FAFSA must be filed. Applicants must have at least a 2.5 overall GPA. The maximum borrowing is $2,400 per year, $8,000 aggregate. There is no interest charged; however, recipients are expected (not required) to make contributions to the fund after the debt is repaid. Repayment begins one month after the student graduates or ceases to be at least a half-time student at TCU. Funds are limited.

Emergency Loans
TCU has additional funds provided by friends and alumni to be used in emergency situations. Loans are short term and must be repaid within 30 days. A loan committee reviews each loan application.

Other Financial Assistance Programs

Tandy Grant
Charles Tandy established a trust fund in 1975 for the purpose of underwriting grants for employees of the Tandy Corporation and their lineal descendants (i.e., children and grandchildren.) The dollar amount of the grants varies from year to year, depending upon the number of applicants and the amount available from the fund. Students may apply for the minimum grant by completing the application form, which may be obtained at www.financialaid.tcu.edu/grants_special.asp. A FAFSA is required in order to be considered for more than the minimum grant. This award is subject to the General Policies of All Programs.

Hatton W. Summers Partial-Tuition Grant
Students majoring in political science, history, pre-law or educational social studies may apply. Applicants must be U. S. citizens, enrolled full time, be in good academic standing and demonstrate financial eligibility through the FAFSA. Amount varies.

Hope Pierce-Tartt Scholarship
Residents of Gregg, Harrison, Marion, Panola and Upshur counties in the state of Texas may apply. The FAFSA is required. Amount varies and is generally between $500 and $4,000.

International Student Awards
A limited number of awards are available for international students based upon financial need and/or merit. The award amounts vary. Awards are subject to the General Policies of All Programs and the Undergraduate Student Financial Aid Statement of Satisfactory Academic Progress.

Martin Luther King, Jr. Scholarship
Application process is open to students who indicate a career goal that demonstrates a service to humanity. Amount varies and is generally between $500 and $2,000.

M.D. Anderson Pre-Med Scholarship
Applicants must have completed Chemistry 10113, 10122, 10123 or Chemistry 10114 or 10124 and Biology 10504, 10514 or equivalent, and have a cumulative TCU GPA of at least 3.0 overall and in the sciences. Applicants must demonstrate service to TCU, fellow students and the profession. Evidence of health-related experience and motivation toward a career as a doctor or dentist is also required. Amount varies and is generally from $500 to $5,000 per year.

State Scholarship and Grant Programs
Connecticut, Delaware, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Vermont award state grants to their residents, which may be used for enrollment at TCU. Residents of these states should contact the Higher Education Assistance Agency at the appropriate state capitol.

SUMMER INTERNATIONAL STUDY GRANT
A limited number of grants are available for continuing TCU students in degree programs. The award amounts vary. Students must file a FAFSA for the academic year preceding the summer international study to be considered. Awards are subject to the General Policies of All Programs and the Undergraduate Student Financial Aid Statement of Satisfactory Academic Progress.

ROTC Scholarship Programs
The U.S. Army and Air Force defray some or all expenses for tuition and fees, provide a textbook allowance and pay a monthly stipend to highly qualified young persons selected to participate in the ROTC College Scholarship Program. Successful completion of the ROTC course and all academic requirements for a bachelor's degree qualifies participants for an officer's commission in the Air Force or Army. A service obligation is incurred by those commissioned through
The qualitative component is based on the Cumulative Grade Point Average. Students must have attained a minimum cumulative TCU GPA of 2.00 at the end of each spring semester.

The cumulative component tracks total hours allowed to complete a degree. Federal regulations allow a student 150% of the time normally needed to earn a 4 year degree. Most TCU undergraduate degrees require completion of 124 credit hours in 8 semesters. Therefore, 150% of the time required to complete most 4 year degrees is 186 hours and 12 semesters.

Please note: All TCU funded grants and scholarships are limited to 8 semesters. Students enrolled in a program of study requiring more than 124 hours for the primary major may request 1 additional semester of funding.

Financial Assistance Probation
If a student does not progress at the required rate, he/she will be placed on financial aid probation for the next academic year. If satisfactory academic progress is maintained during that time period, then aid eligibility will continue for future terms. Failure to maintain satisfactory academic progress during the probationary period will result in the loss of all aid for future terms. This includes all federal and state loan programs.

Appeals Procedure
A student who is denied aid because of a failure to meet Satisfactory Academic Progress standards after the probationary period may appeal this determination to the Academic Progress Appeals Committee. An appeal must be based on significant mitigating circumstances that seriously affected academic performance. Examples of possible mitigating circumstances are serious illness, severe injury, death of a parent or sibling, and other similar situations.

Re-establishing Eligibility
Students who failed to meet the quantitative Satisfactory Academic Progress Standard and who choose to enroll without benefit of student financial aid may request a review of their academic record after any term in which they are enrolled without the receipt of financial aid by submitting a written appeal. Once the qualitative standard is met, eligibility may be regained for subsequent terms of enrollment in the academic year on a probationary status.

The following grades will be counted as credits completed: A, B, C, D, (±/+), P.

Grades of F, W, Q, I and AU are not counted as completed credits. In addition, credits earned from Advanced Placement (AP), College Level Examination Program (CLEP), International Baccalaureate and the College Board Achievement Tests in Foreign Languages (ACH) are not counted in the quantitative total.

Repeated classes - Both hours attempted when the class is first completed and the repeated hours count in attempted hours. If a course taken at TCU is repeated at TCU, the official grade is the last letter grade made, although all grades appear on the transcript. Only the last letter grade earned in the repeated course will be used in computing the GPA.

Attempted hours are based on the enrollment status on the final day of the drop period.
Academic Advising

Academic advising is an important process in which faculty and staff assist students in developing plans and in clarifying career and/or advanced study goals. All students should meet with an academic adviser at least once each semester to plan future coursework. In these meetings, students and advisers discuss academic records which may include grade reports, transcripts, evaluations of work transferred to TCU and degree plans.

Students new to the University are required to attend advising sessions for the first four semesters after entering TCU. They are likely to require assistance in the mechanics of first-time enrollment and in exploring choices related to selection of courses and degree programs. Students with more University experience often handle these tasks with little need for assistance, but may profit from direction in maximizing academic performance and setting career goals. Finally, students nearing completion of their academic program are likely to need specific help in ensuring that all degree requirements are met and assistance with the transition to a career or advanced study. In short, the specific activities required will depend on the adviser, the student and the student's progress in his/her academic career.

The student-adviser relationship is one of shared expectations and responsibilities. Consequently, advising activities will depend on the needs of the student and on his/her academic program. Further, the actual activities involved in advising will change as a student progresses through a degree program or subsequently changes degree programs.

Pre-majors (those who have not formally declared a major) are advised by professional staff associated with the Center for Academic Services. The Center provides resources and access to programs designed to help students identify career interests and possible majors.

Students who have declared majors are advised in the department of the major or by professional staff in the school/college of that major. When students declare a major, they are referred to the major department and school/college for future advising.

A quality advising relationship requires a dedicated adviser and a prepared student. The student must initiate advising activities, define the need of advising activity, and be prepared to take responsibility for his/her academic and career goals as well as his/her academic performance. Prior to seeing their advisers, students should become familiar with degree and major requirements for programs of interest and courses in which they wish to enroll. Advisers will answer questions and make suggestions, but the student must assume full responsibility for satisfying all program and degree requirements.

Advising Process

At the beginning of the first semester, students are assigned an academic adviser in the department of their major. Students may be assigned to either faculty or professional advisers, depending on the department or school/college. Pre-majors are advised through the Center for Academic Services until a major is declared. Pre-major advisers are knowledgeable about a wide range of academic programs and can assist students in identifying an appropriate major/minor. All students who have 54 or more earned hours must have a declared major.

The actual number of times a student should meet with his/her adviser each semester depends on the adviser, the student, the student's program and the student's progress in his/her academic career. All students should confer with their advisers at least once each semester during schedule advising. Students may also want to meet with their advisers to discuss degree requirements, selection of a minor, internship opportunities, academic progress, etc.

Students meet with their advisers before registering for classes each semester, but are encouraged to confer with them anytime that academic concerns arise during the year.

In preparation for the Schedule Advising, students should:

- Give thoughtful consideration to their personal, educational and career goals, and reevaluate these goals as necessary.
- Acquire a basic familiarity with their own academic program, including all applicable requirements and policies.
- Give advance consideration to a tentative schedule of classes each semester prior to their advising conference. This should include reading a description of every course under consideration, including whether or not there are prerequisites or whether or not the course will count toward the TCU Core Curriculum.
- Ask questions if they feel they have received insufficient or confusing information.
- Provide timely notice and information concerning any academic problems encountered.
- Read carefully and make appropriate responses to all communications from their school/college office, the Center for Academic Services, their adviser, Office of Campus Life and Office of the Registrar.
- Provide timely notice of any change of address or telephone number to the Office of the Registrar and their academic adviser.
- Allot an adequate amount of time to meet with their adviser.
- Accept responsibility for their choices and decisions.

By following these guidelines, the student and adviser can successfully navigate the academic maze of career choices, major requirements and other expectations.

The Center for Academic Services

The Center for Academic Services offers services and programs to enhance the academic experience of all students at TCU during all stages of their academic careers. The center:

- Coordinates academic advising for pre-majors (those who have not formally declared a major and have achieved fewer than 54 hours);
- Coordinates academic advising for first-year students with declared majors in AddRan College of Liberal Arts and the Department of Design, Merchandising and Textiles (College of Fine Arts);
- Coordinates academic advising for students during new student orientation;
- Offers study skills evaluation;
- Provides academic resources related to study skills, time management and related concerns;
- Conducts workshops on study skills, test taking and time management;
- Offers a one-credit hour course (UNPR 10001) focused on self assessment, career exploration and choosing a major;
- Assists students who want to explore career paths and learn about majors;
- Sponsors a Major/Minor Fair each year, whereby students can meet with faculty from disciplines across the campus;
- Refers students to appropriate services, departments and community agencies; and
- Facilitates disabilities services for students meeting policy and procedure requirements. (Refer to Disabilities Policy and Procedures on page 18.)

Students who do not meet academic standards or who want to improve academic skills and performance are encouraged to visit the center.

Disabilities Policy and Procedures

Texas Christian University complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 regarding students with disabilities. No otherwise qualified individual shall be denied access to or participation in the services, programs and activities of TCU solely on the basis of a disability. The University shall provide reasonable accommodations for each eligible student who has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits a major life activity, a record or history of such an impairment, or is regarded as having such an impairment.
Each eligible student is responsible for presenting relevant, verifiable, professional documentation and/or assessment reports to the Coordinator of Student Disabilities Services. Information concerning a student's disability is treated in a confidential manner in accordance with University policies as well as applicable federal and state laws. Documentation presented to the coordinator shall be reviewed by the appropriate University professional(s) to verify the existence of a disability. Further documentation may be required from the student to substantiate the claim of a disability or to assist the University in determining appropriate accommodations.

Eligible students seeking accommodations should contact the coordinator as soon as possible in the academic term for which they are seeking accommodations. The coordinator will prepare letters to appropriate faculty members concerning specific, reasonable academic adjustments for the student. The student is responsible for delivering accommodations letters, conferring with faculty members and returning validation of the receipt of information to the coordinator. The coordinator consults with the student and with University faculty and staff to ensure delivery of appropriate support services, and serves as liaison between the student and the faculty member as needed.

Students who wish to appeal a decision regarding appropriate accommodations shall may do so in writing to the affirmative action officer, who shall determine an appeal at TCU Box 297090, Fort Worth, TX 76129. The affirmative action officer's decision may be appealed within seven calendar days in writing to the provost, whose decision may be appealed in writing to the chancellor within seven calendar days. At any step during such an appeal, the person requesting the appeal may confidentially consult with appropriate professionals/advisers within or outside the University.

The Coordinator, Student Disabilities Services, may be contacted in the Center for Academic Services, Sadler Hall Room 11 or 817.257.7486.

The William L. Adams Center for Writing

The Center for Writing offers assistance with writing projects and assignments to all TCU students. Staffed by professional writing instructors and peer consultants, the Center for Writing provides students with one-on-one tutorials free of charge. Conferences usually focus on a particular project or assignment, but may also include general writing instruction.

The 10 PCs in the center's computer lab are available for use by any TCU student during normal office hours.

Located in Suite 419 of Reed Hall, the Center for Writing is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Students may make appointments by accessing an online scheduling service through the center's Website (www.wrt.tcu.edu) or by calling 817.257.7221. Students may also use the Center for Writing's annex at the library Sunday through Thursday 6-9 p.m. Those who wish to submit a paper online may do so via the center's Web site. A consultant will read the paper and offer feedback within 48 hours.

University Programs Courses

UNPR 10001 - Self Assessment and Career Exploration
This course provides opportunities for premajors to assess abilities, interests, values, and personality; meet with faculty from a variety of potential major and minor fields; learn about the decision-making process and factors related to choosing a major/career;

UNPR 10523 - Planning for College Success
Prerequisite: must be a college freshman. This survey course emphasizes the development of skills to foster success in the transition to college, focusing on self-awareness, academic skills, and awareness of diversity issues. It is a content-based course that helps students develop skills for finding and using available resources to experience success during their college career. Students are exposed to resources on campus and in the community that will help them have a successful college experience from academic and co-curricular perspectives.

UNPR 30002 - Professional Careers: Planning & Decision-making
Prerequisites: Junior status, or permission of instructor. This team-taught course is to acquaint students with decision-making skills related to career development, with emphasis on those who will enter professional sports or the performing arts. It emphasizes financial negotiations; transactions and investments; career development; and life skills and problems.

Mary Couts Burnett Library

Mary Couts Burnett Library provides information resources for inquiry, intellectual discovery and the development of lifelong learning skills in a people-centered environment. Students have access to more than 63,000 unique journal titles and more than 1.5 million books, CDs, DVDs, videos and other items housed in the TCU library in addition to a wealth of online resources available through the library’s website, http://library.tcu.edu.

Materials are arranged according to the Library of Congress system in open stacks for convenient access to most items. Librarians and staff select, maintain and interpret the collections for library users. A music/media library and the Brite Divinity library are also located in the Mary C.outs Burnett Library. Particular collections include Texas, U.S. and European Union documents; the archives of the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition; the papers of former Speaker of the House, James C. Wright, Jr.; the papers of Amon G. Carter, Sr.; the University's historical collection; and special collections of rare books and manuscripts, such as the William Luther Lewis Collection of English and American Literature.

Reference librarians providing library and research assistance are available in the Information Commons area of the library. They may be contacted in person, by phone, by e-mail or by live text messaging as described at library.tcu.edu/askalibrarian.asp. The reference librarians are regularly teaching courses on using the library’s resources and are willing to schedule individual consultation appointments for more in-depth research assistance.

The library is open 24 hours, five days a week, and provides different environments for studying, including group study rooms and various "quiet zones" throughout the building. The scholarly materials are supplemented by the popular reading or best-seller authors' collection located next to Bistro Burnett, where students can enjoy coffee and a variety of refreshments.

Through active membership in local, regional and national library consortia, the library is able to secure for TCU faculty and students the advantages that come with library resource sharing. TCU’s membership in TexShare enables TCU faculty and students to obtain borrowing privileges from more than 150 academic libraries throughout Texas.

Information Commons

The Information Commons, located in the Mary Couts Burnett Library, incorporates library reference services, computing support from Technology Resources and an annex of the William L. Adams Center for Writing. The Information Commons lab includes over 110 Windows and Macintosh desktop computers, 10 of which are equipped with scanners and software for working on multimedia projects. Several high-speed black-and-white and color laser printers provide printing abilities for all of the computers in the Information Commons. Fifty-five wireless laptops can be checked out for use within the library. In addition, six "Frog Pods" are available by reservation for work on group projects. The pods are equipped with computers and wireless keyboards and mice; two of the pods include large video screens.

Research Support

TCU is committed to creating a campus environment that supports and promotes superior research, premier creative activities and innovative scholarly pursuits.

The associate provost for academic affairs and the Office of Sponsored Research are dedicated to helping University faculty, staff and students continue building TCU's reputation as a nationally recognized scholarly institution.

Students who plan research and creative projects that require resources should consult with the Office of Sponsored Research about internal grant opportunities. As funding allows, students have been supported for research supplies and equipment, travel, and publications of their scholarly work.

The Festival of Student Scholarship and Creativity is a campus-wide weeklong celebration for student work. Hosted each April, usually in conjunction with Honors Week, the festival showcases student work in each college and school.
Center for Instructional Services (Instructional Technology)

The successful integration of instructional technology into the teaching and learning environment is essential in today’s classroom. The mission of the Center for Instructional Services is to provide Texas Christian University with a variety of cost effective solutions in the appropriate integration and utilization of instructional technologies in a diverse academic environment.

- Classroom Instructional Technology Support Services provides assistance to faculty in the operation of classroom technology. Our focus includes the design, installation, and maintenance of classroom technology equipment as well as providing equipment for check-out. Training and orientation in the proper utilization of classroom technology systems is available.
- Media Production Support Services provides a diverse range of services in video, audio, graphic, photographic and digital production formats to facilitate the effective use of multimedia technology. Assistance is provided in the planning, design and production of professional presentation materials for academic use.

The Center for Instructional Services is located between the Tucker Technology Center and Annie Richardson Bass Building on Bowie Street. For more detailed information, refer to the center’s website at www.cis.tcu.edu or call 817.257.7121.

Technology Resources

Technology Resources provides computing support for all levels of the University. A complete range of services include network and wireless connectivity throughout the campus, access to the Internet, library and specialized databases, business application programming and academic computing services, hardware repair, and software support and training. To request assistance for any computer-related problems or questions, contact the Computer Help Desk at 817.257.6855 or help@tcu.edu. The Technology Resources administrative office is located in the Sid W. Richardson Building Room 175, 817.257.7682.

William H. Koehler Center for Teaching Excellence and eLearning Initiatives

Mission Statement
The mission of the William H. Koehler Center for Teaching Excellence is to support faculty and teaching staff in their work to educate students using effective instructional strategies and tools to facilitate student achievement of learning outcomes. The staff of the Koehler Center is dedicated to working with faculty and teaching staff both individually and in small groups to design and implement meaningful learning opportunities and to facilitate ongoing, reflective participation in the scholarship of teaching and learning.

Confidentiality Statement
The Koehler Center maintains the confidentiality of the faculty or teaching staff with whom we work, mindful that TCU teacher-scholars voluntarily engage our services in order to enhance and enrich their ability to help students achieve learning outcomes.

eLearning Focus Statement
eLearning provides assistance in the planning, instructional design, instructional support, and development for the use of technology in the classroom. eLearning services assist faculty and teaching staff by increasing their knowledge about effective current technology, course development, course design, and management tools in the traditional as well as distance education environments. Training is provided in small groups or individually to meet faculty and teaching staff needs. Training workshops are offered to support faculty and teaching staff in their use of various technologies to enhance teaching and the ability to transcend the boundaries of the traditional classroom to help students achieve learning outcomes.

The Koehler Center for Teaching Excellence is located in the Sid Richardson Building, Suite 501, located between Tucker Technology Center and Winton Scott Building on Bowie Street. For more
Student Affairs Services

The Division of Student Affairs

The Division of Student Affairs at TCU provides student programs and services that support student success and enhance the collegiate experience. TCU offers a rich learning environment, and, through a variety of experiences, students engage in an intensive process of intellectual, personal, moral and social development. The division holds a special, but not exclusive, responsibility to assure that the co-curricular learning experiences of students are of high quality, are directed to the development of students, and meet both institutional and individual student needs.

The division complements the academic mission of TCU. Through programs, activities and services, the division strives to assure that graduates are prepared to assume roles as productive citizens. Therefore, there is an emphasis on leadership, the ability to accept responsibility and behave responsibly, understanding the global economy and a diverse society, civic engagement, developing opportunities for critical thinking and application of classroom learning, and preparing students for life transitions.

The Division of Student Affairs provides services central to a quality student career, including residential services, health services, career services, dining services, parking services and public safety.

The following units and departments comprise the Division of Student Affairs, which is under the leadership of the vice chancellor for student affairs:

- Campus Activities (Brown-Lupton University Union, Fraternity-Sorority Affairs, Student Government Association);
- Campus Life (Educational Discipline, Brown Lupton Health Center, Health Promotions, Alcohol & Drug Education, Counseling, Crisis Response, Sexual Harassment, Electronic Usage Policy, Code of Student Conduct, Student Handbook, Yearbook);
- Center for Community Involvement and Service-Learning (Community Partners, TCU Leaps, Volunteer Fairs, Involvement Service Network, Alternative Spring Break);
- Health Services (Health Center, Counseling Center, Psychological Services, Health Education);
- Inclusiveness and Intercultural Services (Inclusiveness Conference, Leadership Retreat for Students of Color, High School Conference, Mentoring for Students of Color Program, Intercultural Banquet);
- International Student Services (Pre-Arrival Services, Immigration, Orientation, Programming and Adjustment Issues, Working on Campus assistance);
- Residential Services (Housing and Residence Life, Dining Services);
- Student Affairs Information Services (Identification Card Center, Card Access);
- Religious and Spiritual Life (Religious Groups and Communities, Spiritual Health and Wellness, Religious Literacy and Education, Worship, Prayer and Pastoral Care and Advocacy, Activism and Relief Work);
- Student Development Services (Academic Orientation, Frog Camp, Transitions Program, Leadership Development, TCU Leadership Center, Men and Women's Programs and Student Organizations, Parent Program);
- University Career Services (Job Search Assistance, Developmental Programs, Resume Preparation, Graduate School Application Process)
- University Recreation Center (Intramurals/Sports Clubs, Outdoor Programs, Fitness and Wellness, Aquatics); and
- Campus Police (Security, Crime Prevention and Parking).

Brown-Lupton University Union

The Brown-Lupton University Union (BLUU) is at the heart of the Campus Commons. Entertainment, educational and conference events take place in the Union throughout the year. The BLUU is home to 14 meeting rooms, the Horned Frog Ballroom, a 300-seat auditorium, the TCU Post Office, the Spirit Store and food service venues—Market Square, 1873 Grill and Café and Union Grounds Coffee Shop. The Union also houses the Heritage Center, a student organizations area, and the Governance Chamber; and The Information Desk, located within the Heritage Center, which offers notary service, a lost and found and a variety of ticket discounts to many Fort Worth/Dallas-area attractions. For more information, call 817.257.7927.

Fraternity and Sorority Affairs

Four governing councils represent 31 fraternities and sororities on TCU's campus: eleven Panhellenic sororities, 10 IFC fraternities, six National Pan-Hellenic Council and four Multicultural Greek Council fraternities and sororities. Additionally, one Christian fraternity and sorority are part of the TCU Greek community.

Each council has its own recruitment/intake process, as does the Christian fraternity and sorority. In late May/early June the Office of Fraternity and Sorority Life mails information to incoming TCU students regarding Greek life at TCU and the recruitment/intake process. Further Information may be found at www.greeks.tcu.edu.

Campus Life

The Campus Life staff meet with students to assist in resolving any issues that might impede success during the TCU experience. The campus life deans assist with student emergencies by working with students and their families, and also liaison with faculty to help students with academic concerns. There is a "Dean on Call" available by calling TCU Campus Police (827.257.7777) if an emergency occurs after regular business hours. The dean's office processes official University absences for faculty and verifies serious illnesses or family emergencies for students. Not all faculty require verification of illness; therefore, a student should always contact faculty when class is missed due to illness.

All campus life staff advise activities and organizations; consult with student leaders; and plan workshops, retreats and other campus-wide and organizational events. The dean of campus life is also the sexual harassment officer of the University. The Office of Campus Life is located in Sadler Hall Suite 101, and can be reached at 817.257.7926.

Educational Discipline

Students who enroll in TCU are obliged to conduct themselves in a manner that is compatible with the University's function as an educational institution and the TCU mission statement. Each student is expected to be fully acquainted with all published policies, rules and regulations of the University, and will be held responsible for compliance with them. Students are also expected to comply with all federal, state and local laws. This principle extends to conduct off campus that is likely to have an adverse effect on the University or on the educational process of any student. Students may be held accountable by TCU and police agencies for the same instance of misconduct.

Reported violations of the Code of Student Conduct are investigated and resolved by staff members in the Division of Student Affairs under the general supervision and direction of the Office of Campus Life. Violations of the code are subject to a wide range of disciplinary action. A complete Code of Student Conduct, including the educational judicial process, is available in the Student Handbook and the office of the dean of campus life. The Bill of Student Rights and the Code of Student Conduct are printed in the Student Handbook. These documents guide the student discipline and grievance processes.

Specific examples of misconduct for which students may be subject to disciplinary action include, but are not limited to:

1. Infliction of bodily or emotional harm.
2. Hazing.
3. Destruction of property.
4. Use, storage or possession of weapons or dangerous devices.
5. Tampering with safety equipment and arson.
6. Dishonest conduct.
7. Theft/Unauthorized use of property.
8. Unauthorized or abusive use of computer equipment, programs or data.
9. Failure to comply with University authority.
10. The use, production, distribution, sale or possession of drugs in a manner contrary to University policy or prohibited under Texas law. (See Drug Abuse Policy on page 30 for details.)
11. The use, production, distribution, sale or possession of alcohol in a manner contrary to University policy or prohibited under Texas law. (See Alcohol Policy on page 29 for details.)
12. Unauthorized entrance to or presence in or on University premises.
13. Disorderly conduct that interferes with or obstructs University-authorized activities.
14. Commission of local, state or federal criminal offenses.
15. Violation of other published or announced University rules or regulations.
16. Activities that jeopardize building security for any or all residents/students.
17. Behaviors that endanger the well being of any or all residents/students.
18. Causing excessive noise, having guests of the opposite sex in a student room during non-visitation hours, keeping or bringing pets or other animals inside a residence hall, and smoking in any residence hall other than a student room are prohibited.
19. Acts that harm or otherwise negatively affect the appearance of residence hall building exteriors, interiors or furnishings by failing to exercise reasonable care or in specific acts of vandalism.
20. Any act that violates the academic integrity of the institution (See Academic Conduct Policy on page 28).

A complete Code of Student Conduct, including disciplinary process is available in the TCU Student Handbook, online and in the Office of Campus Life. These documents guide the student discipline and grievance processes.

Alcohol and Drug Education

The TCU Alcohol and Drug Education (ADE) Center is based on a philosophy of student development incorporating personal and community wellness. The center promotes healthy lifestyle choices and responsible decision making through programs, training and alternative activities.

The center's goals are to:
- Enhance the academic mission of the University by ensuring that the abuse of alcohol and other drugs does not interfere with academic goal attainment;
- Enhance student development of leadership skills by providing opportunities for students to positively influence the campus and community environment;
- Enhance student responsibility to self, others and the world by assisting individuals in making responsible and ethical decisions regarding the use of alcohol and other drugs;
- Clarify and enhance students sense of citizenship through active involvement in programs designed to educate and inform the TCU community about substance use and abuse; and
- Continue to improve the efforts of the Alcohol and Drug Education Center and demonstrate effectiveness through needs assessment and evaluations.

Through two student organizations, HyperFrogs and Frogs CARE, the center encourages students to develop a sense of responsibility for self, for others and for their University by assuming leadership in setting behavioral norms for the campus community.

The staff includes licensed professional counselors, who provide confidential assessments and short-term counseling, as well as experts in programming and training. Center staff take a comprehensive approach, focusing efforts on both effecting the environment and the individual. The scope of these efforts includes prevention, intervention and aftercare. Educational presentations target student organizations, residence halls, fraternity and sorority groups, student-athletes and academic classes. An extensive Wellness Resource Library containing books, journals, CD-ROMs and videotapes is maintained in the ADE Center.

Students who violate the University's alcohol policy are required to attend an initial one-on-one interview with a professionally trained counselor, followed by an educational session administered through the ADE Center. The content of the sessions focuses on accurate information on alcohol and other drugs, feedback regarding personal use, guidelines for responsible decision making with regard to alcohol use and strategies for helping others who may have problems. Students who receive additional violations attend a more comprehensive educational program.

Those interested in services available through the ADE Center are encouraged to visit the office or call 817.257.7100.

Health Center

The Brown-Lupton Health Center is located at 2825 Stadium Drive – west of Colby Hall and next to the University Union. The Health Center houses both the Medical Clinic and the Counseling Center. The Medical Clinic outpatient facility provides ambulatory care for the various needs of TCU students and is staffed by board-certified medical doctors, a physician assistant, a nurse practitioner who specializes in women's health care, and a professional nursing staff comprising R.N.'s and L.V.N.'s. During the regular academic year, the clinic hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

An independent pharmacy, conveniently located within the Health Center, offers competitively priced prescriptions and over-the-counter medications. The pharmacy accepts most insurance plans. Co-pays and medication costs can be billed to the student's University account or paid for by cash or check at the time the prescription is filled.

Medical History/Immunizations

Students attending TCU for the first time must complete a Medical History Form, including a record of immunizations before registration can be completed. Documentation of two doses of measles (Rubeola) vaccine and two doses of mumps vaccine is required. Most students have received two measles (Rubeola) and two mumps vaccinations by virtue of having received two MMR—measles-mumps-rubella.

In compliance with Texas law, TCU requires that first-time students to TCU, including transfer students who plan to reside in or have applied for University-approved housing MUST provide evidence of vaccination against bacterial meningitis. The required forms for showing proof of having received the meningitis vaccine and other information can be found on the Health Center's website healthcenter.tcu.edu. The documentation must be received by the Health Center at least 10 days prior to the student taking up residence in any University-approved housing.

Required Health Insurance

All undergraduate students carrying nine or more semester hours are required to have health insurance through either an individual/family plan or the University-offered plan. International students, regardless of classification, are required to carry the University-offered insurance as a minimum standard of coverage and are not eligible for a waiver of the insurance. Students majoring in nursing must have health and accident insurance coverage at any time they are enrolled in a clinical course regardless of the number of semester hours carried.

The plan offered by TCU provides major medical coverage at a reasonable cost. Detailed information about the University-offered plan can be found on the Health Center's website under "Insurance."

If adequate coverage is provided by a family/individual plan, the University-offered insurance may be waived online at healthcenter.tcu.edu once the student has registered for classes. A waiver entered by the fall semester's deadline will remain in effect for that academic year. Failure to enter a waiver online by the specified deadline will result in the student being automatically enrolled in and billed for the University-offered student health insurance. For students entering in the spring semester, a waiver must be entered online prior to the spring semester's deadline. Deadlines and other information to elect or waive are emailed.

Although not required for graduate students or undergraduates carrying less than nine semester hours, the TCU Student Health Insurance Plan is available for students attending credit courses by specifically enrolling in the plan. Internet and television (TV) courses do not fulfill the eligibility requirements that the covered student actively attends classes. To specifically enroll in the University-offered plan, the "elect" choice must be entered online at healthcenter.tcu.edu prior to the semester's deadline for electing or waiving.

The Counseling Center

The mission of the Counseling, Testing and Mental Health Center is to promote and restore the psychological and emotional health and well-being of TCU students so they may realize their full potential at TCU. The center's dedicated and well-qualified staff of licensed mental health professionals provides respectful, confidential and effective services to students with any personal, psychological or academic concern. There is no charge for most services, which include the following:

- Short-term individual counseling for personal, emotional and psychological concerns;
- Group counseling for personal growth and support;
- Psychiatric assessment for medication and follow-up;
- Crisis intervention;
- Testing Services provides national entrance and aptitude tests (CLEP, MAT, ACT, etc.), as well as career-related aptitude tests, and screening for ADHD and learning disabilities;
- Assessment and off-campus referrals for students with longer-term or specialty care needs;
- Consultation to any person who is concerned about the welfare of a student;
- Suicide prevention training; and
- Educational outreach programs to residence halls, classes, and campus organizations, and mental health workshops and awareness events.

The Counseling Center is located in the west entrance of the Brown-Lupton Health Center. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. Students may call 817-257-7863 for an initial appointment or walk in to request an appointment. Visit the center's website counseling.tcu.edu for more information.

There are charges for administering national tests such as ACT, MAT, CLEP, etc.

Psychiatric services are available to students who are seeing the psychologists at the Counseling Center. Students wanting medication only may be referred to the Health Center physicians or to off-campus health providers.

Campus Recreation

Campus Recreation is the community center of the campus. The programs and facilities are available to all students and faculty/staff (with memberships) for the purpose of encouraging the lifelong pursuit of active, healthy lifestyles, and to enhance personal development through participation, interaction with faculty, employment and leadership opportunities.

The 232,000 square-foot facility provides for a variety of recreational opportunities, including swimming, basketball, volleyball, badminton, weightlifting, an indoor track for walking and jogging, cardiovascular training equipment, a games area, a climbing wall, computer access and food service.

The Aquatics Program offers instructional and fitness activities in the water, in addition to recreational swimming. There are three pools in the University Recreation Center: a 25-yard lap pool, 22-foot deep diving well, and an outdoor leisure pool and patio.

Structured, competitive and recreational sporting events are scheduled throughout the academic year. Activities involve team sports, individual or dual events and special events. Only currently enrolled TCU students and faculty/staff may participate in the Intramural Sports Program.

In addition to the Group Exercise Program that offers group fitness classes, the Fitness Program also offers personal training, massage therapy and fitness assessments. Group exercise classes are designed for beginner, intermediate and advanced levels.

Through the University Recreation Center's climbing wall and Wall Challenge course, individuals are allowed to participate in and experience activities that cause them to reflect and learn about their relationship to others as well as their own abilities and limitations. Participants attempt to recognize their own abilities via the philosophy of "Challenge by Choice," support their fellow group members, and possess a desire to learn more about themselves through low and high ropes course elements. This program is open to all student organizations and classes.

The Sport Club Program is designed to serve individual interests in different sport and recreational activities. Membership is open to all students and the club must be a recognized student organization. These interests can be competitive, recreational or instructional in nature, as clubs may represent TCU in intercollegiate competition or conduct intracampus activities, such as practice, instruction, social activities and tournament play.

Memberships

Members of the TCU faculty and staff are required to purchase membership to have access to the University Recreation Center. The current price is $60 for an annual membership and is eligible to be paid through payroll deduction. For more information about any of the programs offered by the Department of Campus Recreation please call 817.257.PLAY.

Career Services

Career Exploration and Job Search Advising

Career Services offers students and alumni hands-on assistance to take their careers to the next level. From creating a resume to mastering interviews, finding internships and making successful career transitions, Career Services provides the tools and techniques to jump start your career. The following services are available free of charge to students and alumni:

- Career Assessments
- Career Advising
- Resume and Cover Letter Assistance
- Video-Taped Mock Interviews
- Job Search Assistance
- Job Listings on FrogJobs
- On Campus Interviewing
- Professional Events and Career Fairs
- Resource Center located in Jarvis Hall
- Career Services’ website, www.careers.tcu.edu, including key resources, Optional Resume and Going global

Career Services is located in BNSF Railway Career Center in Jarvis Hall and is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. The Alcon Career Center, for Neely School of Business students, is located in Dan Rogers Hall, Room 140 and is also open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For additional information or to schedule an appointment to meet with an adviser, call 817.257.2222 or email careers@tcu.edu.

Inclusiveness and Intercultural Services

The mission of the unit of Inclusiveness and Intercultural Services (IIS) is to promote diversity, inclusiveness and cultural awareness throughout the TCU community. IIS also provides students of diverse backgrounds with the necessary resources to transition into college life and succeed on campus and beyond. The unit provides support, guidance and encouragement to TCU students, faculty and staff through a variety of services: personal and organization advising, cultural programming, mentoring, diversity training and academic/community involvement. In addition to student services, IIS assists the University with institutional planning and policy formation regarding diversity and inclusiveness. For further information, call 817.257.5557.

Community Involvement and Service Learning

TCU students, faculty and staff are involved in community service on an organizational and individual basis. The Center for Community
Involved and Service Learning works to foster social responsibility and lifelong learning through community-based partnerships at TCU. The staff provides and supports curricular and co-curricular opportunities that prepare students and inspire them to be engaged citizens and global leaders working to create a more just world.

Information and materials are available to guide groups and individuals in planning, implementing and reflecting upon service experiences. Assistance is provided in identifying appropriate community-based agencies for one-time events and for both short- and long-term placements (i.e., summer, a semester, or several years). Students are welcome to join student organizations whose primary purpose is public service. These groups include Alpha Phi Omega, Best Buddies, F.R.O.G.S. for our Future, GO Center, Habitat for Humanity, Meals on Wheels, SOAP, Student YMCA and TCU Leaps. To get involved in service, call 817.257.5557 or visit www.involved.tcu.edu

Office of Religious and Spiritual Life

The Office of Religious and Spiritual Life (RSL) offers resources, programs and staff dedicated to supporting faith communities, religious expression and spiritual exploration throughout TCU. The University is affiliated with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), a tradition that values dialogue, freedom of thought and a mutual respect for the dignity and beliefs of every individual, celebrating our rich diversity and welcome to join student organizations whose primary purpose is public service. The RSL Library and Resource Center is open seven days a week and is home to a multi-faith prayer room and the RSL Library and Resource Center. As a long-standing part of TCU, Robert Carr Chapel is open daily for prayer and personal reflection, and is available for worship, weddings and other sacred occasions. In addition to TCU’s religious life staff, students will also find more than 10 full-time or part-time campus ministers and religious life partners who offer support, connection and pastoral care.

Housing and Residence Life

Located on the first floor of Jarvis Hall, The Office of Religious and Spiritual Life is open seven days a week and is home to a multi-faith prayer room and the RSL Library and Resource Center. As a long-standing part of TCU, Robert Carr Chapel is open daily for prayer and personal reflection, and is available for worship, weddings and other sacred occasions. In addition to TCU’s religious life staff, students will also find more than 10 full-time or part-time campus ministers and religious life partners who offer support, connection and pastoral care.

International Student Services

TCU has more than 500 international students from 90 different nations and more than 40 students of U.S. origin whose families reside outside of the United States. Two primary groups serve as organizations to promote international culture and experience: the International Student Association (ISA) and International Fellows. ISA has between 40-60 members who meet regularly and sponsor events, trips and educational forums. Its membership is made up of international students from across the globe along with U.S. students with a global interest. The International Fellows is an application-based group of U.S. and international students who work with new, incoming international students and help with programming throughout the year. The Office of International Student Services (817.257.7292) works with these organizations and collaborates with other divisions to promote the global priority of the TCU mission statement, while also serving as TCU’s office for immigration matters.

Office of Religious and Spiritual Life

The Office of Religious and Spiritual Life (RSL) offers resources, programs and staff dedicated to supporting faith communities, religious expression and spiritual exploration throughout TCU. The University is affiliated with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), a tradition that values dialogue, freedom of thought and a mutual concern for all people. To that end, RSL is committed to respecting the dignity and beliefs of every individual, celebrating our rich diversity and welcoming all of God’s people.

Through RSL, students can connect with student religious organizations or a campus ministry; find opportunities for worship, study and fellowship; explore commonalities through interfaith dialogue; and engage in meaningful conversations about life’s big questions. The work of the office includes:

Supporting a Vibrant Religious Life
- Supporting 24 Student Religious Organizations
- Chapel Workshop and Other Special Services
- Disciples Campus Ministry Program
- Retreats, Bible Studies and Devotionals

Creating Dialogue and Learning Across Traditions
- TCU Religious Advisory Council & Interfaith Community
- Faith and Film Series
- Interfaith Service and Study Trip

Meeting Student’s Spiritual Needs
- Weekly Meditation
- What Matters to Me and Why Luncheons
- Providing Pastoral Care and Crisis Response

Engaging in Social Justice, Community Activism and Relief Work
- Supporting Social Justice Student Organizations
- Heal Hunger Campaign and Annual Hunger Week
- Training and Funding for Student Social Change Leaders

Located on the first floor of Jarvis Hall, The Office of Religious and Spiritual Life is open seven days a week and is home to a multi-faith prayer room and the RSL Library and Resource Center. As a long-standing part of TCU, Robert Carr Chapel is open daily for prayer and personal reflection, and is available for worship, weddings and other sacred occasions. In addition to TCU’s religious life staff, students will also find more than 10 full-time or part-time campus ministers and religious life partners who offer support, connection and pastoral care.

Housing and Residence Life

Living in a TCU residence hall is an integral part of the TCU experience. Residence hall students make new friends, get involved in campus activities, and discover opportunities for personal and intellectual growth. Residence halls are conveniently located on the campus, and the halls provide a comfortable room that a student can call “home” while at TCU.

Almost one half of the undergraduate students at TCU live on campus. Through academic, cultural, intramural and social activities, students within each hall determine the hall’s character. Participation in these activities assists in the student’s adjustment and development within a residential setting.

Residence halls are designed for student comfort and are used for study as well as sleeping and socializing. All accommodations are air-conditioned, non-smoking facilities. Most rooms are designed for double occupancy. The basic student room contains a bed, a desk and chair, a chest, and a closet for each student. Each room is also equipped with a MicroFridge, access to the Internet, TCU cable television and local telephone services. Students are encouraged to add decorative items to personalize their surroundings.

The residence hall office is a primary resource on campus. The hall director, a live-in professional who administers the hall, serves as an advisor to students. Each hall has resident assistants (RAs) who are sensitive to student needs and alert to student concerns. The hall staff knows the many University resources and can help students find needed assistance.

Residence hall programs at TCU assume that the most productive learning environment extends into all areas of a student’s life. All residence halls offer a broad range of programs, which may include social programs, physical activities, career information, study skills, personal management skills, spiritual involvement, and self-help aids. Programs are designed to meet the unique interests of the student population in a particular residence hall. Student involvement enhances the creation of a distinctive hall environment.

Residence Requirement

All entering students are required to live on campus or in other TCU authorized housing for their first two academic years (freshman and sophomore), subject to the following exceptions:

- Students who are 21 years or older as of the first day of classes for the fall semester;
- Students who are married and
- Students who will continue to live with their parents or legal guardian.

Students enrolled for less than nine hours may live in a residence hall only with special permission from the Office of Housing and Residence Life. Housing contracts apply to the entire academic year. Short-term housing contracts for the fall semester are accepted only from graduating seniors or students participating in a University-sponsored study abroad program. Students under 17 or over 25 are housed by special permission only on a space-available basis.

Housing Preferences

While consideration is given to all preferences for hall, room and roommate, the University assigns accommodations according to the availability of residence hall space. The right to make re-assignments is reserved by the University. The University makes room assignments without regard to race, creed, religion or national origin. TCU does not make assignments based on any information that may be found in Facebook, Xanga, myspace or any other external source.

Other housing information and current regulations are distributed to students at the beginning of each semester. Detailed housing information may be viewed at www.ith.tcu.edu and at my.tcu.edu under the Residential Life link.
Dining Services

Eating out while staying on campus is easy with the TCU Frog Pass. TCU students will have many fresh choices at Market Square in the Brown-Lupton University Union. The Frog Pass Dining Plan allows students unlimited access to Market Square when it is open. Choose from one of four Frog Pass plans—Silver, Gold, Platinum and Diamond—and receive Frog Bucks that can be used on campus at one of TCU’s six other campus dining locations or off campus.

Market Square
Located on the second floor of the Brown-Lupton University Union, Market Square offers seven unique dining venues—Trinity Grill, Stacks Deli, Il Trattoria, Shuffles, Cookhouse, Expeditions and the Oasis—with a wide variety of foods prepared to order. Booths, high-top tables, patio and terrace seating for more than 800 give students a chance to truly sit down and relax. Five LCD TVs allow students to catch up on the news of the day, while catching up with friends. Market Square is a kitchen, dining room and lounge, all in one.

1873 Grill and Café
TCU’s own sports grill and café, 1873 Grill and Café is located on the first floor of the Brown-Lupton University Union. It is open until 2 a.m. Sunday through Wednesday and until 3 a.m. Thursday through Saturday; students can pay with cash, credit or Frog Bucks.

Additional Campus Dining
- The Corner Store—located in the Brown-Lupton University Union. It is open 24 hours, seven days a week when classes are in session
- NRG—located in the Campus Recreation Center
- Bistro Burnett—located in the library
- Sub Connection—located in Smith Hall; open Monday through Friday for lunch

Frog Pass
Frog Pass is the TCU dining plan. It allows students to come and go as often they like from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on the weekends. Five plans provide Frog Bucks that can be used off campus and Campus Cash that can be used on campus.

Campus Cash
Campus Cash is designed to give students flexibility and can be used at one of TCU’s six other campus dining locations.

Frog Bucks
Designed to give students flexibility, Frog Bucks can be used off campus. Unused Frog Bucks that come with the Frog Pass plans will roll over to the spring semester, but are NOT refundable at the end of the academic year. If students are running low, they can easily add more Frog Bucks online through TCU. All Frog Bucks added on to the base meal plan are refundable.

All plans with Frog Bucks require acceptance of Off-Campus Advantage to use Frog Bucks at local participating restaurants.

Simply-To-Go Option
Students may use a swipe to purchase a breakfast or lunch alternative offered at the Sub Connection dining facility.

Student ID Card

The TCU ID card is a student’s access key to many University resources. It is permanent and may be used as long as the student is enrolled at TCU. The card is the property of TCU and is non-transferable. If at any time students have questions or problems with their ID card, visit www.idcenter.tcu.edu, contact the ID Card Center in Brown-Lupton University Union at 817.257.7856 or e-mail IDCenter@tcu.edu.

The TCU ID card is a computerized plastic card, bearing a student’s photo and TCU ID number, with a magnetic stripe on the back. Each time the card is inserted in a card reader, the data encoded in the magnetic stripe is electronically scanned and sent back to a central computer for verification. The system then transmits whether the card is valid and the transaction accepted. Students use their cards for TCU Bookstore charges, and access to the library and Recreation Center, buildings, labs and classrooms across campus, including residence halls. The ID card may be used for making photocopies in the library and Frog Prints and Printing Services. Other uses include ordering computer printouts from the Information Commons and other public computers across campus, admission to athletic and other events, various vending machines and verifying identity if requested by a TCU official.

Card owners are responsible for reporting lost or stolen cards promptly to ensure that no one else uses your card. Card owners can deactivate a lost or stolen card online. Simply log into my.tcu.edu, click on “Helpful Links” click on “Frog Bucks” accept and submit and then “Report A Card Lost.” Students can reactivate a found card at the same location. Lost or stolen cards may also be reported to the ID Card Center in the Brown-Lupton University Union, Room 2033, 817.257.7856, or TCU Police 817.257.7777. Until a card is reported lost or stolen you are responsible for any card purchases. There is a replacement charge of $20 for a lost or stolen card.

The ID card remains the property of TCU at all times, and any misuse of the card could result in loss of privileges or disciplinary action. ID cards should be in a student’s possession at all times and must be surrendered upon the request of any University official.

Student Development Services

Student Development Services (SDS) maximizes students’ individual potential through individual and community development. Utilizing the social change model of leadership, SDS supports students through their development as leaders and their growth as members of the learning community. The unit houses Academic Orientation, Frog Camp, Connections, Student Organizations, Parent and Family Programs, Transitional programs, Women’s and Men’s programming and the TCU Leadership Center.

Academic Orientation
The Academic Orientation Program is designed to assist new students and families with the transition to University life by providing essential information and helping students meet new and continuing students, faculty and staff. While at Academic Orientation, students meet with an academic adviser and register for the first semester of classes. Each summer, there are several sessions from which to choose, with a special session designed specifically for transfer students. There is also a one-and-a-half-day session in January for all new students who start spring semester. Academic Orientation is required for all first-year students is strongly encouraged for transfer students. Though orientation is optional for transfer students, it is strongly encouraged. Because TCU has an institutional commitment to new students both in and out of the classroom, curricular programs and services such as academic advising, tutoring service and the Adams Center for Writing are highlighted in the Academic Support and Services section of this catalog. For more information, call 817.257.7855 or email fye@tcu.edu or visit www.orientation.tcu.edu.

Frog Camp
Frog Camp is a three-to-eight-day experiential retreat that immerses new students in TCU history and traditions, helps them establish new friendships and guides them to acquiring the skills they need to be successful in college. Each new Horned Frog becomes a part of a small group of no more than 15 students. Along with upper-class students and a member of the faculty or staff, Frog campers members find out what it means to be Horned Frogs and along the way, forge lasting bonds and friendships.

While each of the camps offers a different emphasis, all of the camps afford campers the same set of core experiences. These common activities are what make Frog Camp a powerful event. The camps differ in scheduled dates, location of the camp, and the type of challenge each Frog Group will face. For example, "Challenge" camp groups participate in a team-building challenge course and grime games. "Summit" campers work together on a variety of physical, artistic, creative and mental challenges. "Quest" camp groups work on local community outreach projects like Habitat for Humanity.

Frog Camp “Alpine” takes students to the Rocky Mountains of Colorado to raft, hike and traverse a high-element challenge course. Frog Camp “Rome” partners with the Honors Program to take a group of Honors students across the pond to experience the history and culture of Rome, while Frog Camp London exposes students to TCU’s ethic of international leadership.

And for those students interested in investigating their new home away from home, Frog Camp "Casa Nueva" explores the history, culture and excitement that Fort Worth has to offer. A variety of activities and small group conversations ensure that students will have the know-how and friendships they need to make the most of their college years. Regardless of the camp a student chooses to attend, he/she will leave with a sense of what it means to be a Horned Frog and a new set of close friends. For more information, call 817.257.7855.

Connections
After attending Academic Orientation and Frog Camp, it is time for students to make a connection to the TCU community. Connections is a leadership program specifically designed to help new students transition successfully to college life. The mission of Connections is to encourage a smooth transition to college life for first-year students by providing opportunities for peer networking, skill building, leadership development and faculty involvement.

Connections offers:
• A consistent group of first-year students who serve as a support and networking group;
• Interaction with successful, upper-class student mentors;
• Significant interaction with a faculty member outside a classroom setting; and
• Class activities that develop leadership knowledge and skills

Leadership for Life
The Leadership for Life Coaching program offers a limited number of freshman class members the opportunity to be assigned a personal coach – a successful upper-class student who has been specially trained by an internationally known coaching expert. Coaches meet with students in person at the conclusion of connections, in mid-November. Following that meeting, the coach will stay in touch periodically throughout the remainder of the school year and will be available to guide and support students as needed. Coaches will connect students to important campus programs and resources and help empower students to create success for themselves through goal-setting, prioritization, self-care and maximization of students’ strengths. With the assistance of a coach, students can decide their own definition of leadership and success and work toward achieving their own personal level of excellence.

Inward Bound is a leadership class that encourages students to explore their values and beliefs, and learn about the importance and methods of practicing reflection.

Transfer Student Services
Upon admission to the University, transfer students are invited to attend Academic Orientation and Frog Camp. Once they arrive, transfers are provided special support services and programs to meet their individual needs. A weekly newsletter for transfer students is emailed from the transfer dean, who is located on the second floor of the Brown-Lupton University Union. The transfer dean may be reached via email at transfers@tcu.edu.

Men and Women’s Programs
The mission of Women and Men’s Programs at TCU is to provide forums on campus for exploring issues pertinent to the experiences of women as women and the experiences of men as men. To increase awareness and promote dialogue regarding the personal and collective impact of the way society deals with the issue of gender, the program offers informative and engaging education programs for TCU students that address topics consistent with its mission and promotes a culture of justice, respect and non-violence among all members of the TCU community.

Student Organizations
The mission of the Office of Student Organizations is to promote involvement that offers leadership development, social, cultural and educational programming. With more than 200 student organizations ranging from academic and honorary groups to religious and service groups, and national fraternities and sororities, students are offered a wide range of opportunities to expand new interests, enhance the academic experience, develop leadership skills and meet new friends. To learn more visit www.studentorgs.tcu.edu.

Community Development & Renewal
Community Development & Renewal is a highly visible campus-wide movement of students who are committed to building our common capacity to care for one another. The mission of Community Development & Renewal is to foster a caring and sustainable environment capable of shaping and producing competent and compassionate persons through partnerships with Housing and Residence Life and the coordination of programs such as One Book and community building events like the Chancellor’s Assembly. For more information, call 817.257.7855.

Parent and Family Programs
TCU Parents Council
Started in 1986, the TCU Parent Council, a group of approximately 60 families, meets on campus to discuss issues surrounding the academic and co-curricular activities at TCU. In addition to receiving information, these parents provide feedback and advice to University administrators, act as ambassadors to parents within their own communities and assist with University initiatives.

The TCU Parents’ Association
The TCU Parents’ Association is open to parents and guardians of all TCU students. The purpose of the association is to assist and benefit parents and guardians to:
• Assist parents in the transitional experiences related to beginning college;
• Provide resource information to enable parents to stay informed about and involved with the University;
• Promote and provide support for University programs and activities; and
• Create a partnership between families and the University.
For more information about the Parents’ Association visit www.parents.tcu.edu or e-mail parents@tcu.edu.

Leadership Program
The TCU Leadership Center offers leadership programs flexible enough to meet the diverse needs of today’s students and comprehensive enough to ensure a thorough exposure to contemporary leadership topics.
As TCU’s premier resource for co-curricular leadership development, the TCU Leadership Center acts as a clearinghouse for programs, information and resources related to leadership development and training. Students may take advantage of an extensive leadership library and video collection or inquire as to campus training resources. Additionally, non-credit leadership development seminars are offered for students interested in dedicating more time and energy to their growth as a leader. The seminars include Connections, Foundations of Leadership, Responsible Citizenship, Community Action, Global Leadership, Ethical Leadership, Women Who Lead and the Senior Capstone Experience. The TCU Leadership Center also offers student international experiences in Italy, Scotland and Mexico. Finally, the center coordinates various campus scholarship and leadership award programs designed to support leadership development at TCU. For more information, call 817.257.7855, visit www.leadership.tcu.edu or stop by the Brown-Lupton University Union, Suite 2003.

TCU Police
TCU police officers are commissioned by authority of the Board of Trustees of TCU and are certified as peace officers by the state of Texas to provide police services for the campus. The TCU Police are in service 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and the TCU Police dispatcher can be contacted at any time by telephone at 817.257.7777. The office is located at 3025 Lubbock Avenue.
Police Programs

Froggie Five-O Student Escort Program

The TCU Police Department administers a student escort program, Froggie Five-O, for female students. Froggie Five-O operates between the hours of 8 p.m. and 1 a.m. during the fall and spring semesters. Froggie Five-O escorts female students on foot or by golf carts to all areas of the campus. After 1 a.m., TCU police officers or security guards are available to escort students. Students may request an escort by using any of the 104 emergency telephones located on campus or by calling the TCU Police at 817.257.7777.

Campus Crime Watch

These programs are of a neighborhood watch nature with the TCU campus being the neighborhood. Meetings for the programs are open to all students, faculty, staff and friends. The TCU Police Department crime prevention specialist hosts the meetings and provides speakers on subjects of interest to campus community members.

Crime Prevention

Crime prevention and other services are offered by the TCU Police Department and the Fort Worth Police Department's Community Service Office and include Sexual Assault/Acquaintance Rape Prevention, Personal Awareness/Campus Alcohol Police Information, Campus Crime Watch Meetings, Crime Prevention Surveys for Home and Business, Operation ID: Property Identification System, Auto Theft Prevention (Window Etching) and Vehicle Jump Starts. (Due to possible problems with electric locks, TCU Police Department is unable to provide vehicle unlocking services.) The crime prevention office is located in the Rickel Building Room 155B. The phone number is 817.257.7276.

RAD Systems

Rape Aggression Defense system (RAD) has been offered on the TCU campus for several years. RAD teaches women defensive concepts and techniques against various types of assault by utilizing easy, effective and proven self-defense/martial arts tactics. RAD provides effective options by teaching women to take an active role in their own self-defense and psychological well being. The RAD program was developed for and is offered to females.

Lost and Found

The TCU Police Department is the official lost and found office. Articles lost or found should be reported as soon as possible to help the office in returning property to the rightful owner.

Waiver of Responsibility

The University takes reasonable steps to protect people and property on the campus. However, it is impossible to provide protection that is 100 percent effective, and the University does not accept responsibility for bodily injury, theft or damage to personal property occurring on the campus. Students are encouraged to assure that their own insurance coverage is adequate.

Automobile Regulations

All students, faculty and staff who operate a motor vehicle on University property must register that vehicle with the TCU Police Department and comply with the rules and regulations set forth. The annual registration fees and the TCU Campus Parking Rules and Regulations can be found at www.police.tcu.edu.

Purchasing a parking permit does not guarantee a parking place nor does the lack of a parking space justify violation of any parking regulation. The fact that a citation is not issued when a vehicle is illegally parked does not mean or imply that the regulation or rule is no longer in effect.

Illegally parked vehicles may be ticketed, immobilized or towed by the TCU Police Department. The payment of traffic fines, of immobilization or towing charges does not entitle the violator to accrue an indefinite number of citations. Continued parking offenses may lead to a suspension of campus driving and parking privileges, and may also result in disciplinary action by the University. Whenever it is necessary to move an illegally parked vehicle, an independent wrecker operator will tow the vehicle to the wrecker's storage area. The owner of the vehicle will be responsible for the wrecker fee and storage, plus the fine for the traffic violation.

The University does not assume any liability concerning the protection of the motor vehicle or any responsibility for providing special parking places near a building in which an employee works or a student’s residence hall or class.

Bicycle Regulations

Bicycle registration forms are online at www.police.tcu.edu. Print the form and bring to the TCU Police Department to receive a bicycle permit. Forms may also be obtained at the TCU Police Department 3025 Lubbock Avenue.

Bicycle riders must adhere to all state and local laws. Pedestrians have the right of way.
Student Policies

Academic Conduct Policy Details

An academic community requires the highest standards of honor and integrity in all of its participants if it is to fulfill its mission. In such a community, faculty, students and staff are expected to maintain high standards of academic conduct. The purpose of this policy is to make all aware of these expectations. Additionally, the policy outlines some, but not all, of the situations that can arise that violate these standards. Further, the policy sets forth a set of procedures, characterized by a “sense of fair play,” which is used when these standards are violated. In this spirit, definitions of academic misconduct are listed below. These are not meant to be exhaustive.

I. Academic Misconduct

Any act that violates the spirit of the academic conduct policy is considered academic misconduct. Specific examples include, but are not limited to:

A. Cheating. Includes, but is not limited to:
   1. Copying from another student's test paper, laboratory report, other report, or computer files and listings.
   2. Using in any academic exercise or academic setting, material and/or devices not authorized by the person in charge of the test.
   3. Collaborating with or seeking aid from another student during an academic exercise without the permission of the person in charge of the exercise.
   4. Knowingly using, buying, selling, stealing, transporting or soliciting in its entirety or in part, the contents of a test or other assignment unauthorized for release.
   5. Substituting for another student, or permitting another student to substitute for oneself, in a manner that leads to misrepresentation of either or both students’ work.

B. Plagiarism. The appropriation, theft, purchase or obtaining by any means another's work, and the unacknowledged submission or incorporation of that work as one’s own offered for credit. Appropriation includes the quoting or paraphrasing of another’s work without giving credit therefore.

C. Abuse of resource materials. Mutilating, destroying, concealing or stealing such materials.

D. Computer misuse. Unauthorized or illegal use of computer software or hardware through the TCU Computer Center or through any programs; terminals; or freestanding computers owned, leased or operated by TCU or any of its academic units for the purpose of affecting the academic standing of a student.

E. Fabrication and falsification. Unauthorized alteration or invention of any information or citation in an academic exercise. Falsification involves altering information for use in any academic exercise. Fabrication involves inventing or counterfeiting information for use in any academic exercise.

F. Multiple submission. The submission by the same individual of substantial portions of the same academic work (including oral reports) for credit more than once in the same or another class without authorization.

G. Complicity in academic misconduct. Helping another to commit an act of academic misconduct.

H. Bearing false witness. Knowingly and falsely accusing another student of academic misconduct.

II. Procedures for Dealing with Academic Misconduct

A. Definitions
   1. Day refers to a school day on which classes are meeting.
   2. Academic dean refers to the dean of the college or school offering the course in which the academic misconduct is alleged to have taken place.
   3. Department chair refers to the academic administrator responsible for the unit providing the instruction in which the alleged academic misconduct occurred.
   4. Faculty refers to the instructor of the course in which the suspected academic misconduct occurred.
   5. Adviser refers to any person selected by the student who accompanies the student during formal hearings. The adviser may speak with the student but may not actively participate in the hearings.
   6. The Academic Appeals Committee is a standing University committee. The charge and membership of the committee may be found in the current Handbook for Faculty and University Staff.

B. Investigation and Initiation
   1. Students who know of an act of academic misconduct should report the incident to the faculty member teaching the course. The faculty member will obtain the basic facts of the allegation and ask the student reporting the misconduct to write and sign a statement of facts. The name(s) of the student(s) reporting suspected academic misconduct will remain confidential during the informal faculty/student meeting, but must be revealed to the accused student if the resolution proceeds beyond the faculty member and the accused student.
   2. Faculty who suspect academic misconduct or who have academic misconduct reported to them must initiate an investigation and meet with the accused student within five days of becoming aware of the incident. A faculty member who is made aware by another person of an act of academic misconduct has the responsibility to investigate the allegation, and, if warranted, pursue the issue as outlined below (C.1).
      a. In instances where the suspected academic misconduct is discovered during an academic exercise, the faculty member has the right to suspend immediately the student involved in the alleged activity from further work on the academic exercise.
   3. A student, once accused of academic misconduct, will proceed in the course without restriction until resolution of the issue or until the academic dean has taken an action (as specified in III.B) that removes the student from the course.
   4. An "F" grade should be given by the instructor if the alleged misconduct occurs near the end of a semester (e.g., during finals), and a sanction outlined in Section III has not been applied by the instructor or the dean.
   5. If more than one student is accused of the same act of misconduct (e.g., giving and receiving aid), each individual student is guaranteed the right to have the cases heard separately. With each student's permission, the cases can be combined. The faculty/student conference (C.1) is expected from this requirement.

C. Resolution
   1. Meeting Between Faculty Member and Student. This is the first step to be taken in resolving an incident of suspected academic misconduct.
      a. Within five days of suspecting misconduct, the faculty member will hold a meeting with the student. At this meeting, the faculty member will inform the student of all allegations against him or her and present any information supporting the allegations.
      b. The student will be given the opportunity to respond to the allegations. The student has the right not to respond.
      c. The faculty member will decide whether or not academic misconduct has occurred, and, if warranted, apply any combination of sanctions in III.A below, or refer the matter to the dean for more severe sanctions (probation, suspension or expulsion). Findings of academic misconduct are based on the preponderance of the evidence.
      d. The faculty member will notify the student in writing of his or her decision and may send copies to the academic dean, the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled, the department chair and the dean of campus life. Any such copies of the findings will be kept on file in the college and department offices and in the student discipline files maintained by the dean of campus life.
2. Meeting with Department Chair. This meeting takes place when the student wishes to appeal either the findings of the faculty member of the severity of the sanction(s).
   a. Within five days of being notified by the faculty member of the disposition of the incident of academic misconduct, the student may request a meeting with the department chair.
   b. The department chair will become acquainted with the facts and meet with the parties involved in the case. The student has the right to meet with the department chair without the faculty member being present.
   c. The department chair may either support or reverse the findings of the faculty member, and may lessen the sanctions imposed by the faculty member even while supporting its findings. The chair may not increase the severity of the sanction(s).
   d. The department chair will notify the student and faculty member of his or her decision in writing and may send copies to the faculty member, the academic dean and the dean of campus life. Any such copies of the findings will be kept on file in the college and department offices and in the student discipline files maintained by the dean of campus life.

3. Meeting with Academic Dean. This meeting takes place if the student wishes to appeal either the findings of the department chair or the severity of the sanction(s), if the faculty member recommends sanctions in addition to those listed in III.A.3 and 4, or if the student has been found guilty of academic misconduct previously.
   a. Within five days of being notified by the chair of the disposition of the incident of academic misconduct, the student may request a meeting with the academic dean.
   b. The academic dean will hear the facts of the case and make a decision about the alleged act of academic misconduct or the appropriateness of the sanctions administered by the faculty member. The academic dean can issue any combination of sanctions listed in Section III.
   c. The academic dean will notify the student of his or her decision in writing with copies to the department chair and the faculty member. Copies of the findings will be kept on file in the college office and may be sent to the dean of campus life.

4. Academic Appeals Committee. Should the student wish to appeal the decision of the academic dean, he or she has the right to request a hearing before the Academic Appeals Committee.
   a. The student must request this hearing by submitting an appeal letter to the chair of the University Academic Appeals Committee no later than five days from the date of receiving written notification of the dean’s findings.
   b. Upon receipt of the appeal letter, the chair of the Academic Appeals Committee may request materials from the student, the faculty member, the department chair and/or the dean.
   c. The appealing student has the right to appear before the Academic Appeals Committee. The student may bring one person with him or her as an adviser. The adviser may only speak with the student. The student must inform the University five class days in advance if his or her adviser is an attorney in order for the University to also have an attorney present. Each party shall bear the expense of his/her legal counsel. Legal counsel is to provide counsel only and may not participate directly in the meeting. The meeting is an administrative hearing, not a court proceeding, and is not subject to the procedures or practices of a court of law.

III. Sanctions

A. By the Faculty Member
   1. Grant no credit for the examination or assignment in question (treat as a missed assignment).
   2. Assign a grade of "F" (or a zero) for the examination or assignment in question.
   3. Recommend to the academic dean that the student be dropped immediately from the course with a grade of "F."
   4. Recommend to the academic dean that the student be placed on probation, suspended or expelled from the University.

B. By the Academic Dean or Academic Appeals Committee
   (Previous academic misconduct will be taken into account when either the academic dean or the Academic Appeals Committee considers sanctions for academic misconduct.)
   1. Apply sanctions in III.A.
   2. Drop student from the course with a grade of "F". This grade cannot be changed by student-initiated withdrawal and the grade will be included in the computation of GPA even if the course is repeated.
   3. Place the student on suspension from the University for a specified period of time.
   4. Expel the student from the University.
   5. In a case where the academic dean as defined above is not the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled, he or she shall recommend to the vice chancellor for academic affairs that the student be placed on probation, suspended or expelled.

University Communication

TCU will make every attempt to communicate with all members of the academic community in a timely and effective manner. The University will utilize U.S. mail, campus mail, telephone calls, and/or TCU provided e-mail to communicate official University business. Information communicated by TCU provided e-mail (tcu.edu account) is considered an official communication from the University. In the event of an emergency, the University will most likely communicate with students via their tcu.edu e-mail account, text message, local media and the TCU home page (www.tcu.edu.) Many offices will use tcu.edu e-mail exclusively to communicate important information; therefore, it is important that TCU community members access their accounts regularly or forward their account to a different e-mail account.

It is also imperative that students keep their addresses and telephone numbers current. Telephone numbers and addresses may be used to contact students in the event of an emergency or to conduct official University business. Students may update their information via my.tcu.edu.

Student Grievance Procedure

The University has established both informal and formal procedures that a student may follow when presenting grievances. A grievance is defined as any dispute or difference concerning the interpretation or enforcement of any provision of University regulations, policies or procedures or state or federal laws applicable on the campus. Administrators, faculty and students are encouraged in all instances to resolve grievances informally and as promptly as possible. However, formal procedures may be followed when needed.

Detailed information about the University educational discipline system is provided in the Student Handbook, available at the beginning of each fall semester. Individuals who have additional questions about how to gain access to the system may contact the Office of Campus Life at 817.257.7926.

Alcohol Use Policy

Texas Christian University has the responsibility of maintaining an educational environment conducive to academic achievement and, at the same time, helping young people grow into mature and responsible adults. Though each individual ultimately must decide whether or not to use alcoholic beverages, the University, through its Board of Trustees, has determined what practices are permitted on campus.

Students should be aware that the legal drinking age in the state of Texas is 21 years. Texas Christian University conforms to state law and also has further specific regulations to govern the use, sale and possession of alcoholic beverages on University property.

Students who choose to drink, either on or off the campus, are expected to handle alcohol responsibly and conform to the laws of this state. Violation of state law, city ordinance or University regulations is considered grounds for disciplinary action.

Except for certain specified areas in University residence halls approved by the vice chancellor for student affairs, and for specific events authorized by the chancellor or provost in the Dee J. Kelly Alumni and Visitors Center or other buildings, the consumption, sale or use of alcoholic beverages is prohibited on campus. The consumption of alcohol is permissible for persons of legal drinking age in parking lots immediately adjacent to Amon Carter Stadium from two hours before until two hours after TCU home football games. Alcohol is not permitted in the stadium at any time.

Residents of legal age (21 years) and over may possess and consume alcoholic beverages in their rooms or in the rooms of other students 21 years of age or older. The consumption of alcoholic beverages is prohibited in hallways, stairways, elevators, lobbies, lounges, recreation areas, restrooms and all other areas of the residence hall. Students’ rooms may not be used as an "open bar" but may be used for private gatherings with no more than six guests.

The purchase or sale of alcoholic beverages is prohibited everywhere on the campus. Furthermore, no person may provide any alcoholic beverages to any person under 21 years of age. The University also prohibits the use or possession of alcoholic beverages in all instructional settings, including those remote to the campus.

Information about specific penalties imposed for violation of alcohol use policies may be obtained from the dean of campus life or the Office of Residential Services.

Drug Abuse Policy

Students enrolled in TCU are subject to disciplinary action for the possession, manufacture, use, sale or distribution (by either sale or gift) of any quantity of any prescription drug or controlled substance, or for being under the influence of any prescription drug or controlled substance, except an over-the-counter medication or for the prescribed use of medication in accordance with the instructions of a licensed physician. Controlled substances include, but are not limited to, marijuana; cocaine and cocaine derivatives; heroin; amphetamines; barbiturates; LSD; PCP; and substances typically known as "designer drugs," such as "Ecstasy" or "Eve." Possession of paraphernalia associated with the use, possession or manufacture of a prescription drug or controlled substance is also prohibited.

The minimum penalty for a first-time violation of the Drug Abuse Policy for use or possession of a prescription drug or controlled substance will be disciplinary probation for a full year, a requirement for participation in a drug abuse education and/or treatment program, a $20 fine, 40 hours of community service and random drug screenings. Any student who violates the Drug Abuse Policy for use or possession of a prescription drug or controlled substance for a second time will be suspended from the University for at least one year. Possession of drug paraphernalia will subject a student to the same penalties as those imposed for use and possession of a prescription drug or controlled substance.

The penalty for a violation of the Drug Abuse Policy for sale, distribution or manufacture of a prescription drug or controlled substance will be permanent expulsion from the University. A student who voluntarily seeks help for drug or alcohol abuse is not subject to disciplinary action; in fact, University officials will do everything they can to assist the student in obtaining appropriate treatment. If the student continues to use drugs, then he/she does become subject to disciplinary action.

Legal Sanctions for Illegal Use of Alcohol and Other Drugs

In accordance with federal regulations the following information is provided for all students. In addition to sanctions imposed by the University for violation of the Alcohol Use Policy and the Drug Abuse Policy, a student may be subject to regulations of civil authorities. Various local, state and federal regulations prohibit the illegal use, possession and distribution of illicit drugs and alcohol. Penalties for violation of such statutes vary depending on the type of drug, the amount of the drug involved, the type of violation, and in the case of alcohol, the age of the persons involved. Detailed descriptions of legal penalties are available in the Office of Alcohol and Drug Education, the Office of Campus Life and the Office of Residential Services.

The University reserves the right to refer students to court authorities for any behavior that is in violation of the law regardless of any sanctions imposed by the University.

University Judicial System

Preamble

This Judicial system is intended to provide an orderly system for adjudication of disputes arising under the Bill of Rights and for the just resolution of grievances based on actions of University employees or groups recognized by the University. A grievance is defined as any dispute or difference concerning the interpretation or enforcement of any provision of University regulations, policy procedures, or state or federal law.

I. Boards of Original Jurisdiction

A. The University committees enumerated below shall serve as quasi-judicial boards of original jurisdiction.

1. The Student Organizations Committee shall hear cases involving student organizations officially recognized or approved by the committee. It shall have the authority to delegate responsibility for judicial hearings to other student groups (such as the Panhellenic Council, the Interfraternity Council, etc.), but no dispute (case) handled by one of these groups can be appealed to the University Court until a ruling has been made by the Student Organizations Committee itself. Cases may be brought by University staff members, officers of student organizations under the jurisdiction of the committee or by individual students who charge that their rights have been violated by such organizations.

2. The Student Publications Committee shall hear cases involving University-sponsored student publications (e.g., The Daily Skiff and Image). Cases may be brought by University staff members, student editors or writers and individual students who think their rights have been violated by the press. The committee shall also hear cases involving controversy over such questions as compliance with the Canons of Responsible Journalism, FCC Regulations and the standards of taste in the University community.

3. The Public Presentations Committee shall hear cases regarding controversies in the areas of speakers, films, theatre, dance and art exhibitions to be presented by student organizations. Judgments concerning the appropriateness of a presentation (as defined in the Student Bill of Rights) will be made by this committee. Cases may be brought by University staff members, by student organizations that sponsor public presentations, or by individual students who charge their rights are violated by such presentations.

4. The Academic Appeals Committee shall hear cases brought to it by students who are appealing a specific grade or who have been accused of cheating on examinations, plagiarism or other academic dishonesty. Controversies in this area may only be brought to the committee after regular channels of department and school/college have been used.

5. The Traffic Appeals Committee shall hear cases involving disputes over the enforcement of University traffic regulations. Cases may be brought by students, faculty or administrators.

6. The Student Conduct Committee hears appeals from individual students who have been disciplined by the Office of Campus Life. It also may have discipline cases referred directly to it by the Office of Campus Life.

7. The Student Grievance Committee shall hear cases brought to it by students who have been disciplined by the Office of Campus Life. These cases may be referred to this committee after regular channels of department and school/college have been used.

B. All quasi-judicial committees must have both student and faculty members.

II. University Court

A. The University Court shall have the authority to hear appeals from the quasi-judicial committees listed herein, only under conditions when 1) the dispute involves an alleged violation of the Bill of Student Rights; and 2) the board of original jurisdiction made procedural errors. If new evidence has become available since the original hearing, the case shall be referred back to the board of original jurisdiction. The court itself will, by majority vote, determine which cases it will hear.
B. Under conditions when a case will be heard by the University Court, the court shall have injunctive power to stay, for a maximum of 10 school days or until a University Court hearing can be held, whichever comes sooner, implementation of policies and decisions of University committees, administrative officers, faculty members, and student organizations that may violate the Student Bill of Rights.

C. In cases of dispute over jurisdiction, the court will determine which quasi-judicial committee will have authority over a particular case.

D. The court shall be composed of four faculty members appointed by the Faculty Senate, four students appointed by the president of the House of Student Representatives with the approval of the House and three administrators appointed by the chancellor.

E. Members shall be appointed in April for terms beginning in June and ending in May. Temporary appointments may be made by the respective bodies for summer if regular appointees are not able to serve.

F. The court shall be free to select its own chairperson.

G. The University Court shall annually review and report to the ratifying bodies upon the quasi-judicial procedures and functions of the University committees.

H. Records of University Court proceedings shall be kept on file for at least five years as a guide for precedent; however, the confidentiality of participants must be protected by the administrator to whom the records are entrusted.

III. The Chancellor

A. Because the ultimate institutional responsibility has been delegated to the chancellor by the Board of Trustees, he/she retains the right to reverse any decision of the University Judicial System. The chancellor may delegate this authority to an appropriate vice chancellor.

IV. Educational Discipline Procedures

A. Each quasi-judicial committee and the University Court shall determine its own hearing procedures, provided these procedures meet accepted "fair play" standards.

B. Each quasi-judicial committee and the University Court must observe rules of procedure, which include the following "fair play" rights:

1. The right to be informed in writing of the charges and the possible punishment.

2. The right to have at least three school days in which to prepare a defense to refute the charges.

3. The right to a hearing, which should elicit information from both sides. If possible, the accused shall be able to face his/her accuser(s) and have the right to be advised by legal or other council.

4. The right to be furnished a list of names of accusers and witnesses and a statement of facts they have attested to, if the accused does not face his/her accusers. However, because of the close proximity in which students live and interact on campus, it is sometimes necessary to protect the anonymity of a witness or accuser. In such cases the dean of campus life may verify the identity of a witness and accept a written statement from him/her without revealing the name of the witness or accuser to the accused.

5. The right to present oral or written testimony.

6. The right to remain silent about any incident in which he/she is a suspect. No form of harassment shall be used by an institutional representative to coerce admissions of guilt.

7. The right to be advised in writing of the results of the hearing.

8. The right to receive a transcript or tape recording of the proceedings, at the individual's own expense, provided this is requested 24 hours before the hearing.

V. Student Affairs

A. Campus Expression

1. Students shall be free to examine and discuss all questions of interest to them and to express opinions publicly and privately.

2. Students have the right to assemble freely and peaceably.

3. Students shall be free to support or protest causes by orderly means.

4. Students have the right to be interviewed on campus for any position for which they meet the qualifications specified by any prospective employer permitted to recruit on campus by the University.

5. Student organizations officially recognized by the University shall be allowed to invite and hear speakers of their choosing. Speaker presentations shall be conducted in a manner consistent with an academic community and consistent with the philosophy and objectives of TCU. Student organizations have the right to produce "entertainment" productions. (As used in this document, entertainment refers to films, theatre, dance, music and art exhibitions.) All productions shall be conducted in a manner consistent with an academic community and consistent with the philosophy and objectives of TCU.

B. Campus Organizations

1. Organizations consistent with the philosophies and objectives of TCU shall be recognized by the University Committee on Student Organizations for any lawful purpose upon submission of a constitution and a list of current officers.

2. Membership lists are confidential and solely for the use of the organization, except that they may be solicited for internal use by the University Committee on Student Organizations.

3. Campus organizations, including those affiliated with an extramural organization, shall be open to qualified students without respect to race, creed or national origin. Religious qualifications may be required by organizations whose aims are primarily sectarian.

4. Campus organizations shall have use of appropriate University facilities for their group activities, subject to such regulations as may be required for scheduling meeting times, places and payment of any required fees.

5. No individual, group or organization may use the University name without the expressed authorization of the University except to identify University affiliation. University approval or disapproval of any organization's policy may not be stated or implied by that organization.

C. Student Communication Media

1. The student communication media shall be free of censorship. The editor and managers shall be free to develop their own editorial policies and methods of news coverage within the framework of the philosophies and objectives of the University. (The term "censorship" in reference to student communications media means any attempt to threaten or coerce any editor, manager or staff member of a student-run publication or broadcast station in order to prevent the dissemination of any factual account or the expression of any opinion, or generally, to hinder the free flow of ideas.)

2. The editorial freedom entails a responsibility to observe the Canons of Responsible Journalism and applicable regulations of the FCC to avoid the publication of libelous and other unlawful statements and to show regard for the standards of taste of the University.

D. Student Governance

1. The role and responsibilities of recognized governing bodies composed primarily of students shall be delineated in the constitutions and bylaws of the respective organizations.

2. Actions of student government within the areas of its jurisdiction shall be reviewed only through orderly and prescribed procedures.

3. In the formulation of University policy, students are entitled to a participatory function.

E. Student Rooms and Property

1. Students have the right to be free from unreasonable search and seizure by University personnel, and during the process of search and/or seizure the safety of personal effects will be protected.

2. A student's room shall not be occupied during the term of a housing contract by anyone other than the student without written consent from the student.

3. The student, by moving into a University residence hall, acknowledges his/her responsibility to abide by the terms of the housing contract.

VI. Disciplinary Sanctions

A. University disciplinary sanctions shall be imposed upon a student only in accordance with the provisions of a written, officially adopted and published Code of Student Conduct.

B. When charged with a violation of the Code of Student Conduct, students shall have procedural "fair play" rights.

C. Students formally charged with violating University regulations shall be informed of their "fair play" rights in writing.
D. Students shall have the right to appeal any disciplinary sanction within the provisions of the University judicial system.

E. Students are responsible for answering honestly any questions posed to them in disciplinary hearings unless the individual claims the right to remain silent on the basis of possible self-incrimination.

VII. Equal Opportunity
Texas Christian University does not discriminate on the basis of personal status or individual characteristics of group affiliation, including, but not limited to, classes protected under federal and state law.

VIII. Unremunerated Rights and Responsibilities
The preceding enumeration of rights and responsibilities shall not be construed to be all-inclusive for students in their capacity as members of the student body or as citizens of the community at large.

IX. Judicial System
Any controversies that may arise in connection with rights and responsibilities of students outlined in this document shall be adjudicated according to the University judicial system.

X. Amendments
Amendment to the Bill of Rights and Responsibilities may be proposed only by the House of Student Representatives, the Faculty Senate or the TCU chancellor. When proposed, amendments shall be referred to a special committee by a majority vote of the House of Student Representatives or the Faculty Senate, or at the request of the chancellor. The committee shall consist of three members appointed by the president of the House of Student Representatives, three members appointed by the chair of the Faculty Senate and three members appointed by the chancellor. When the committee recommends an amendment to the Bill of Student Rights and Responsibilities, it will require an affirmative vote of a majority of the TCU students voting in a campus-wide election and a majority of the faculty voting in a faculty election, upon recommendations by a majority of the House of Student Representatives and the Faculty Senate, and by approval of the chancellor.

XI. Ratification
Ratification of this statement shall be by affirmative vote of a majority of the TCU students voting in a campus-wide election and a majority of the faculty voting in a faculty election, upon recommendation by a majority of the Student House of Representatives and the Faculty Senate, and by approval of the chancellor.

Bill of Student Rights and Responsibilities

(Officially approved spring 1977)

The purpose of this document is to enumerate the essential provisions of the student's rights and freedoms, together with the corresponding responsibilities that the student assumes while enrolled at TCU. It is understood by all persons concerned that the rights and responsibilities enumerated herein are to be exercised within the framework of the philosophies and objectives of TCU. If need for clarification arises, the University Judicial System shall be used to interpret the philosophies and objectives of the University.

Section I. Freedom of Access to Higher Education
A. The University shall be open to all applicants regardless of race, religion, sex, age or national origin who are qualified according to its admission requirements.
B. The appropriate facilities and services of the University shall be available to its enrolled students.
C. Each student has the responsibility to meet all of his/her financial obligations to the University.
D. Each student has the responsibility to observe the regulations of the University.

Section II. Classroom Expression
A. Any student who is in good standing with the University has the right to register for and attend any class (course) for which he/she has met the prerequisites as stated in the official University catalog and that is open to further enrollment.
B. Freedom of discussion and expression of views relevant to a course shall be protected.
Special Academic Programs

International Studies: TCU Abroad

The mission of the Center for International Studies: TCU Abroad is to support international academic programs that foster an understanding of the global community. TCU offers a wide range of academic programs abroad, including summer courses led by TCU faculty members, semester-long education abroad programs, and educational exchanges and partnerships abroad. For more information, visit www.studyabroad.tcu.edu.

Semester and Year-Long Opportunities

The TCU in London Program provides a unique opportunity for TCU students to study in one of the major international capitals of the world, drawing upon the immense intellectual, cultural and human resources of London. TCU partners with the University of Westminster to provide an opportunity to take courses in a wide range of disciplines and live with British students. Students also have the option of enrolling in the London Internship Program for academic credit.

The TCU in Seville Program, in cooperation with the Universidad Pablo de Olavide, offers Spanish language and area studies courses for students of all language levels. Students may take courses in literature, art, political science, economics, business and history in Spanish or English. All students live with Spanish host families for a rich cultural experience.

The TCU in Florence Program offers students of all majors the opportunity to take classes in English at Lorenzo de Medici Institute for a semester or year. Students take an Italian language course in order to fully appreciate life in Florence. Students live in fully furnished apartments in the center of town and have opportunities to meet Italians through activities organized by the local staff.

Other special study abroad opportunities include TCU Exchange Programs and TCU Partner Programs. Exchange programs with Nanyang Technological University, Singapore, Kansai Gaidai University in Osaka, Japan; Universidad Mayor in Santiago, Chile; and Aoyama Gakuin University in Tokyo, Japan, provide students the opportunity to directly enroll for a semester or year in these affiliated universities to take language and area studies courses. TCU Partner Programs are select study abroad programs offering additional semester- and year-long experiences for students in locations throughout Australia, Asia, Europe, Latin America and Africa.

TCU Summer Programs

TCU summer courses have featured study in various locations, including Argentina, China, Costa Rica, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Scotland and Spain. These intensive courses are developed and directed by TCU faculty members from such disciplines as art history, business, film-digital media-TV, geology, history, interior design, journalism, literature, modern languages, nursing, social work, political science, psychology and Spanish. Carrying TCU credit and the possibility of financial aid, study abroad courses fulfill many of TCU’s graduation requirements, while providing opportunities to work closely with some of TCU’s best faculty members.

Certificate International Studies

Students who study abroad may pursue the Certificate in International Studies, a program designed to develop global citizens through academic coursework, skill-building programs and interaction with international communities.

Intensive English

The aim of the Intensive English Program (IEP) is to help students advance rapidly toward their academic, professional or personal English language goals. Advanced-level IEP students may enroll in TCU courses for degree credit while in the noncredit, certificate program. (Undergraduate candidates should see the admissions section on international students on page 10 in this catalog. Successful completion of the Advanced-level IEP allows applicants to the undergraduate program to waive the TOEFL admission requirement.) TCU employees and family members may pay half the IEP tuition when enrolling.

An IEP student begins at his/her own level and studies intensively at least 20 hours each week. Classes are organized into teams of 15 or fewer students. Outside of class, IEP students work in a computer learning lab, take standardized English exams, and meet one-to-one with conversation partners (native English speaking TCU students, staff or faculty members who speak with the IEP students in English and sometimes in another language known by the IEP student and being studied by the partner).

Washington Internships

Texas Christian University is an affiliate of The Washington Center, a nonprofit independent educational institution that provides comprehensive learning opportunities in the nation’s capital for students from more than 300 colleges and universities. The program includes placement, supervision, evaluation, seminars, housing, counseling, special events and other support services.

The TCU Washington Internship Program is open to juniors and seniors in any major field. Minimum requirements include a 3.0 GPA. The selection process is competitive, and students must return to campus for at least one semester following the internship experience. The call for applications goes out one year preceding the fall internship. Applications may be picked up in the political science office. All students accepted must take POSC 40910, Washington Internship Seminar, during the spring semester before the internship the following fall. Participation in this non-credit course is required for future Washington interns.

Students who participate in the fall program in Washington receive 15 hours of upper-division credit in political science. Students should consult with their academic adviser to determine how these credits may satisfy departmental or University requirements. For example, up to nine of these 15 hours may be applied to a political science major and up to nine hours may be applied to a political science minor. For further information about the program, contact the Department of Political Science at TCU.

The Bachelor's Degree

Student Responsibility
Faculty, academic advisers and deans are available to help students understand and meet academic requirements for a degree, but the students themselves are responsible for understanding and fulfilling them. If requirements are not satisfied, the degree will be withheld pending adequate fulfillment. Thus, it is essential that all students become familiar with all requirements and remain currently informed throughout their college career.

Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations

Major
A major is a prescribed set of courses, number of credit hours or academic experiences in one or more academic disciplines. Completion of a major is designed to assure disciplined and cumulative study, carried on over an extended period of time in an important field of intellectual inquiry. No course may be applied to more than one set of major or minor requirements without the express approval of the dean(s) of the major.

Minor
A minor is a prescribed set of courses, number of credit hours or academic experiences in one or more academic disciplines. Completion of the minor is designed to assure more than an introduction to an important intellectual field of study but less than a major in that field. A minor is traditionaly outside the major field of study. The department offering the minor typically defines the requirements.

Emphasis and/or Concentration
Unless otherwise defined specifically within the catalog, an emphasis or concentration is a guided subset of courses or academic experiences defined by the major department and is typically, but not always, within the major area. Emphasis may be further defined as consistent with specific accrediting body requirements (e.g., journalism).

Program
A program is a shared series of courses or experiences (e.g., Honors Program).

Area of Study
While used generically throughout the catalog, area of study could be replaced by major, minor or emphasis/concentration in most cases.

Career Track
This term has meaning within student records software and is used with reference to pre-professional program advising as a way to provide appropriate guidance on course selection and experiences, not necessarily tied to a major or minor.

Semester Hour
The unit of measure for academic credit purposes is the semester hour. A semester hour is equivalent to one hour of recitation or a minimum of two hours of laboratry per week for a semester or an equivalent time for a shorter term. Two hours of preparation for each classroom hour, on the average, are expected.

Grading
The faculty definition of grades, and the point system designed to indicate quality of work, is as follows:

Undergraduate students may elect a Pass/No-Credit (P/NC) grading option. They may do so by indicating their choice in writing to the Office of the Registrar or online using the student records course edit in my.tcu.edu no later than the date listed in the academic calendar for electing the P/NC grading option. Courses taken on a P/NC basis are graded "P" (pass) and "NC" (no credit). These P/NC courses are not counted in computing the student's GPA. A "P" course, however, will carry credit hours and be used toward a student's total hours required for graduation. A "P" grade indicates achievement equivalent to a "C-" or better. Achievement equivalent to a "D+" or below results in the grade of "NC." Students earn no credit hours in courses in which the grade of "NC" is received. After the last day to elect a Pass/No Credit grading option, this decision is irrevocable.

Students may take up to two courses (eight hours maximum) on a P/NC basis. No course applied to the student's major, minor or associated requirements may be taken on the P/NC basis. Students in the College of Education may not take any course in the lower-division business sequence or in the upper-division business core on the P/NC basis. Students in the College of Education may not take any education course required for teacher certification or in the student's teaching content area on the P/NC basis. Courses offered only with the P/NC grading option, this decision is irrevocable.

Students in the College of Education may not take any education course required for teacher certification or in the student's teaching content area on the P/NC basis. Courses offered only with the P/NC grading option, this decision is irrevocable.

Student-Initiated Withdrawal
The purpose of student-initiated withdrawal from courses is to enhance the learning opportunity in a program of study. On recognition that a student may lack the background needed for the mastery of course content, the subject matter in a course does not match student need or interest as anticipated, or that course requirements will limit effective appropriation of learning in a semester's overall program of study, a student may officially withdraw from a course.

Mere absence from a class does not constitute withdrawal. In order to withdraw from a course, a student must go through official established procedure. By following established procedures, students may withdraw from any class until five academic days following the published date mid-semester reports of unsatisfactory work are due to the registrar. The date of withdrawal for all purposes, including tuition adjustment, shall be the date of official withdrawal. There will be no withdrawals after this date during the fall and spring semesters, or a comparable period during a shorter term.

Any student who experiences unusual hardship may seek special consideration through a written petition to the dean of the college in which he or she is enrolled. Petitions should, where possible, be documented with supporting statements from a doctor, counselor or family member. That a student is doing unsatisfactory work in a course will not be taken as sufficient reason for special consideration. If, in the opinion of the dean, the request is justified, a grade of "Q" (dropped by the dean's permission) may be assigned by the dean after consultation with the instructor of the course, the chair of the department and the dean of the school/college in which the course is offered. Any dean assigning a "Q" will notify the Office of the Registrar.

Audit Enrollment (Course Visitor)

Occasional visitation of classes by students is allowed with the consent of the instructor. Any extended attendance requires enrollment as an audit. Auditors are admitted to classes on a space-available basis only. An audit fee is charged. TCU Scholars (See Recognitions section on page 40) are given the opportunity to audit one class (for which auditing is permitted) without fee within 12 months after notification of eligibility. TCU Scholars are expected to follow the established regulations for auditors. The following regulations are applicable:

1. Certain classes—laboratory and clinical classes; ranch management day classes; laboratory sections of lecture classes; activity and performance classes, such as in studio art, music and ballet—may not be audited. (Evening ranch management classes may be audited at full tuition and fees.)

2. The only period during which students may register for an audit or change a credit class to audit is from the second day of late registration to the last day of late registration as published in the University calendar. It is recommended that prospective students consult the instructors of courses in which they are interested before they register. Students wishing to audit graduate courses must be admitted for graduate study and have written approval of either the instructor of the course for which they wish to register or the dean of the school/college in which the course is taught.

3. Classroom recitation and participation may be restricted at the discretion of the instructor; no grade is assigned and no credit is awarded.

4. If credit is desired, the student must register for and repeat the regular course at paying regular tuition.

5. The student's name will appear on the instructor's class roll. In order for "AU" to appear on the transcript, however, the instructor must certify at the end of the semester that the student has attended as an auditor. Audits not approved by the instructor as a final grade will be omitted from the student record.

Grade Point Average

Two GPAs are maintained by Texas Christian University: 1) a semester average based on courses taken at TCU during a particular term, and 2) a cumulative average based on all work attempted at TCU. A student's GPA is computed by dividing the number of grade points (grade points are earned per semester hour for the successful completion of academic work) by the number of hours (total credit hours attempted at TCU, excluding those attempted on a P/NC basis). Pass/No-Credit courses are disregarded in the calculation of the student's GPA.

Repeating a Course

If a course taken at TCU is repeated at TCU, the official grade is the last letter grade made, although all grades appear on the transcript. Only the last letter grade earned in the repeated course will be used in computing the GPA.

If a course is taken at TCU and then repeated at another institution, or if a course is taken at another institution and then repeated at TCU, only the grade earned at TCU is used to compute the student's GPA. Credit for any given course, regardless of where it was taken, may be counted only once. The student is responsible for notifying the Office of the Registrar when a course is repeated.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit is identified on the academic record as the total number of credit hours accepted from each institution attended and is added to the total number of cumulative earned hours. Transfer credit hours may satisfy degree requirements but are not used in the calculation of the cumulative GPA.

Examination and Portfolio Assessment Credit

Credit earned by examination or portfolio assessment is not assigned a letter grade and is not included in the calculation of the cumulative GPA.

Course Credit

Transfer Credit Policy

Students transferring to TCU must present a record of all transfer work for evaluation to the Office of Admission for approval by the appropriate academic dean prior to their enrollment in the University. Transfer coursework not presented prior to enrollment may not be counted toward a degree.

After enrolling at TCU:

1. All students must receive prior written approval of the appropriate academic dean if they wish to take courses at another institution and have those courses count toward a degree at TCU. Coursework taken without prior written approval may not be applied to a degree.

2. Once a student is enrolled at TCU, no more than 12 total semester hours, except those earned in an approved study abroad program, may be transferred from other schools.

3. No credit may be transferred from a community college once 54 cumulative semester hours have been earned.

Transcripts of coursework taken elsewhere must reach the Office of the Registrar within 30 days of completion of the coursework.

Study Abroad Credit

TCU supports three types of study abroad programs: programs administered by the Center for International Studies, called "TCU in" programs; programs administered by select providers and universities with which the TCU has an agreement, called "Partner" programs; and "Petition" programs, special programs for which a student has submitted a petition and the Center for International Studies and the students' academic unit have approved. Petition programs must be accredited institutions of higher education.

For TCU in programs, Partner programs and Petition programs not utilizing a U.S. transcript, courses count as residency credit, in which case the course grades are computed in the official TCU GPA and students can elect to take individual courses P/NC following TCU policy. Students who do not want to receive residency credit may elect to have all courses count as transfer credit, in which case credits are not eligible for Cultural Awareness credit. Students who elect to have study abroad courses count as transfer credit must declare their intent in writing prior to the period of international study and said declaration is irrevocable.

Study Abroad Petition programs utilizing U.S. transcripts will be brought in as transfer credit.

The Center for International Studies: TCU Abroad assists students in making arrangement for international study.

Credit by Examination

Students may earn academic credit for university-level learning by taking an examination in the appropriate area. Credit granted usually can be used to satisfy specific and general degree requirements. Credit by examination will not be awarded after the student has completed 66 hours of college credit.

For the currently enrolled student, the following conditions apply:

1. The approval of the academic dean must be obtained before taking CLEP or other recognized examinations for credit.

2. Credit by examination will not be awarded for a prerequisite course if credit has been earned in an upper-division course.

3. Credit earned by examination is not assigned a letter grade and is not counted toward a degree.

4. Duplicate credit is not allowed by enrolling in and completing a course for which credit was earned by examination.

5. Credit may be earned through selected CLEP General and Subject examinations, College Board Achievement Test in Foreign Languages and through locally constructed examinations.

For the entering student, the following conditions apply:
1. TCU grants credit in some subject areas through the following standardized examination programs: College Board Advanced Placement (AP), College Level Examination Program (CLEP), College Board Achievement Tests in Foreign Languages (ACH) and International Baccalaureate (IB).

2. Credit may be obtained through the following institutional examinations: locally constructed examinations in nursing, conference examinations in music, audition examination in ballet and/or modern dance, and certain non-U.S. advance-level national examinations.

3. Credit in English Composition earned by examination will be honored if it appears on an official college transcript.

4. Students may demonstrate competency in a language other than English by meeting the TCU non-English language undergraduate requirement (and earn credit for this requirement) in a variety of ways. First, the student may meet the requirement by successful completion of coursework at TCU, or by approved transfer credit from another institution, as specified in each academic major and receive the number of credit hours earned in those courses. Additionally, a student may provide evidence of competency in the non-English language by 1) scores on standardized tests approved by the University, for which the student will receive three to 12 hours of credit depending on the examination score, or 2) successful completion of one academic year in a secondary or post-secondary institution in which the language of instruction is other than English, for which the student will receive 12 hours of credit. The credit by examination procedures are reviewed and updated annually. The current brochure, Credit by Exam, is available in the Office of Admission, Sadler Hall Room 112.

Military Service Credit
The University follows, with limitations, the recommendations of the American Council on Education as published in the Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Forces in granting credit for military service schools. See Military Service Credit on page 9 in the Admissions section of this catalog for specific requirements.

Nonresidential Coursework Credit
As a general rule, TCU does not accept nonresidential courses taken prior to enrollment at TCU. However, a student may petition the appropriate academic dean to grant credit. Nonresidential courses taken while a student is in residence at TCU require prior written permission of the appropriate dean if the courses are to be applied toward a TCU degree.

Independent Study Credit
Some departments at TCU offer an opportunity for independent study, usually pursued late in a student’s major. It has a broad range of purposes. Perhaps most important is exposure of the undergraduate student to methods and techniques usually reserved for graduate students. Seminars, reading and reviews, and independent research provide the opportunity to go as far as interest and capability allow.

Academic Load
The student of average ability should be able to take successfully 15-18 semester hours. The student should regularly consult with his/her academic adviser, but the student must know the academic requirements of his/her degree program and plan accordingly for a timely graduation. After consultation with the academic adviser, the student will select the appropriate courses and number of credit hours to be taken each semester. Decisions regarding the number of hours to be taken and class scheduling will differ among students based upon many variables (e.g., academic preparedness and commitments to out-of-class activities). The University's Web-based registration allows a student to register for up to 15 semester hours once classes have begun (To assure equitable access to courses, students are limited to fewer than 18 hours prior to the first day of class.) Students seeking to register for more than 18 hours must take written approval from the academic dean to the Office of the Registrar. Students enrolled through the Office of Extended Education must obtain approval of the director to register for more than seven semester hours.

The amount of required classroom/laboratory time for students enrolled in a summer session course conforms to TCU standards. In summer sessions, the time frame in which this work must be accomplished is significantly compressed. Even superior students may find academic pursuits difficult under such conditions. While as many as 15-18 credit hours may be earned during the several summer sessions, a student may not be enrolled in more than seven credit hours at any one time and no more than four credit hours concurrently during the three-week mini-term. Study abroad programs are not affected by this policy. Any exception to this policy must have written approval of the dean of the major.

Student Classification
A student’s classification is determined by the amount of credit earned or the degree for which the student is a candidate, as shown below:

Freshman: 0-23 semester hours
Sophomore: 24-53 semester hours
Junior: 54-83 semester hours
Senior: 84 and above semester hours
Graduate: Student enrolled for graduate study or in Brite Divinity School
Post-Graduate: Student who possesses a baccalaureate degree but is not pursuing an advanced degree program
Special: Unclassified

Course Abbreviations
Each course is assigned a five-digit number. The first digit indicates the level (year) at which the course is offered; the second, third and fourth digits distinguish one course from another within the same department; the fifth digit reflects the amount of semester-hour credit assigned to the course. In indicating the level or year of the course, 0 is used for sub-freshman; 1 for freshman; 2 for sophomore; 3 for junior; 4 for senior; 5 for senior-graduate; and 6, 7, 8 and 9 for graduate.

The fifth digit shows semester-hour credit with one exception—zero is assigned to those courses that include one or more of the following features: non-credit, credit value that includes a fraction, or the course has a variable credit value that is determined at the time of enrollment on an individual basis.

Thus the course, "English 10803" (or ENGL 10803) is a freshman-level course (first digit) that carries three semester hours of credit (fifth digit). The three middle digits (second, third and fourth) identify it as a specific course in the Department of English.

When the term “advanced courses” is used, it refers to those of junior rank (30000 level) or higher.

In designating courses, departments use the four-letter subject code (such as "ENGL" for English) that has been devised for Web-based registration.

The codes are to be interpreted as follows:

AADM | Arts Administration
ACCT | Accounting
ADRN | AddRan Interdisciplinary
AEST | Aerospace Studies
ANTH | Anthropology
ART | Art
BIOL | Biology
BRST | British and Colonial/Post-Colonial Studies
BUSI | Business
CHDV | Child Development
CHEM | Chemistry
CHIN | Chinese
CITE | Computer Information Technology
COMM | Communication Studies
COSC | Computer Science
COSD | Communication Sciences and Disorders
CRJU | Criminal Justice
DANC | Dance
DEMT | Design, Merchandising, and Textiles
ECON | Economics

Grade Reports

Grades are reported to students at the end of each semester and summer term. Reports are also made at mid-semester on undergraduate students who are doing unsatisfactory work in one or more subjects. Unsatisfactory shall be defined as "D" or "F" work. Mid-semester reports of unsatisfactory work are not made part of the official University transcript.

Academic Conduct Policy

To fulfill its missions, an academic community requires that all of its participants maintain the highest standards of honor and integrity. The purpose of the Academic Conduct Policy is to make all community members aware of these expectations. Additionally, the policy outlines some, but not all, of the situations that violate these standards. Further, the policy sets forth a set of procedures that will be used when these standards are violated.

Specific information pertaining to the Academic Conduct Policy may be found in the Student Policies section of this catalog. Students may also obtain a complete copy of the policy statement in the offices of all academic deans and from the dean of campus life, the vice chancellor for academic affairs and the vice chancellor for student affairs.

Disruptive Classroom Behavior and Lack of Academic Progress Policy

Disruptive behavior is prohibited. Disruptive behavior includes, but is not limited to, conduct that substantially interferes with or obstructs the teaching or learning process. Civil expression of disagreement with the course instructor, during times when the instructor permits discussion, is not itself disruptive behavior and is not prohibited.

When any student, acting individually or in concert with others, obstructs or disrupts or attempts to obstruct or disrupt any teaching, research, administrative, disciplinary or public service activity, or any other activity authorized to be discharged on behalf of the University or held on the University’s premises, the student may be asked to stop the disruptive behavior by an instructor or staff of the University. If the student continues, an instructor/staff member is authorized to tell the student to leave the area or classroom and, if the student will not leave, to call campus police.

The instructor/staff may immediately call campus police, without prior request to the student, if presented with an unsafe situation, threatening behavior, violence or in other appropriate circumstances.

Withdrawal of Student from Class or Other Educational Experience

When a student disrupts a class or other educational experience, acts in a threatening manner, is not making acceptable academic progress, or if the student's behavior or lack of preparation is detrimental to the educational experience of others or could create an unsafe condition, or if the student is compromising the learning environment, the instructor may take action to withdraw the student from the class or educational experience.

To do this, the instructor shall provide the student written notice of intent to withdraw the student from the class or educational experience, with an explanation of the instructor's reason(s), and with a copy to the instructor's college/school (or, when there is no department chair, to the associate dean of the instructor's college/school). The notice should schedule a meeting with the student and the department chair (or, when there is no department chair, with the associate dean or dean of the instructor's college/school) to occur within seven days of the notice. The instructor may bar the student from the class or educational experience pending the result of the meeting, and the written notice should advise the student if there is such a bar. At the meeting, the student may have one adviser. Following the meeting, the instructor shall decide whether to withdraw the student from the class or educational experience. If a student is withdrawn, his/her grade will be recommended by the instructor to the dean of the instructor's college/school as either a “Q” or an “F.” The student may appeal this decision within seven days in writing to the academic dean or designee. During the student's appeal, the student remains withdrawn from and is barred from attending the class. The academic dean or his/her designee's decision on this appeal is final.

Denying Enrollment, Suspension, Expulsion and Other Appropriate Action

When a student disrupts a class or other educational experience, acts in a threatening manner, is not making acceptable academic progress, or if the student's behavior or lack of preparation is detrimental to the educational experience of others or could create an unsafe condition, or if the student is compromising the learning environment, or if the student has acted contrary to the professional or ethical standards of the University, a department thereof, or a particular field, an academic dean, or the dean's designee, may additionally:

- Deny class enrollment to the student; or
- Suspend or expel the student from the University or from one or more of its programs; or
- Take other appropriate action.

The student affected by such a decision by an academic dean, or the dean's designee, may appeal in writing within seven days to the Academic Appeals Committee. The decision of the academic dean (or designee) remains in place during the pendency of the appeal. The Academic Appeals Committee's decision on the matter is final.

A student so suspended or expelled shall have a grade of “Q” or “F” recorded for each course in progress as determined appropriate by the academic dean. The transcript will not record suspension or expulsion.

Non-Students and Non-Enrolled Students

Non-students and students not enrolled in class may be permanently removed by an instructor of the class, without formal review. Non-students who disrupt University activities may be removed from campus and banned from returning.

Other
Although some disruptive behavior may be due to a mental or physical disorder, as it relates to violence, disruptive or threatening behavior, students with such disorders will be held to the same standards as others.

Nothing in this policy limits a person, including but not limited to, an instructor, academic dean, associate dean or department chair from referring a matter to the Office of Campus Life or pursuing disciplinary action against a student or person through a complaint filed in the Office of Campus Life.

This policy is not intended to limit any authorized University employee, staff member, official, vice chancellor, chancellor, members of the Board of Trustees or a member of the Office of Campus Life from appropriately addressing behaviors covered by the policy.

Academic Standing and Satisfactory Academic Progress
A student is considered to be in "acceptable academic standing" if the student is eligible to continue his/her enrollment at TCU. Verification of this status is made by the Office of the Registrar.

A student is considered to be making "satisfactory academic progress" when the student has acceptable academic standing and coursework is being completed 1) that leads to the degree being sought, 2) in a timely manner and (3) that is consistent with reasonable expectations for individual circumstances. Satisfactory academic progress is determined by the academic dean of the major.

Attendance Expectations and Official Absence Policy
Regular and punctual class attendance is essential, and no assigned work is summarily excused because of absence, no matter what the cause. Records of class attendance are the responsibility of the faculty, and every course syllabus should clearly state the instructor's policy on class attendance and how attendance affects a student's final evaluation in the course. Students who miss an instructional experience are expected to meet with faculty to discuss their absence as soon as possible.

When a student is absent to represent the University (as in athletics, chorus, band, national or state meetings or organizations represented at TCU), then an Official University Absence may be granted by the Office of Campus Life. Faculty/staff who wish to have an activity sanctioned for Official University Absence status must submit the names of all students, including date and hours absent from campus, to the Office of Campus Life no later than one week prior to the date of the activity.

Students are encouraged to use the resources of the Office of Campus Life if an emergency situation occurs or if assistance is needed to resolve individual concerns.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act
This Federal law states that a written institutional policy must be established and that a statement of adopted procedures covering the privacy rights of students be made available. The law provides that the institution maintain the confidentiality of student education records.

The University accords all the rights under the law to its students. Students wishing access to a complete copy of the regulation and the University policy governing their educational records may do so at the offices of the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, Sadler Hall Room 302; Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs, Sadler Hall Room 310; Dean of Campus Life, Sadler Hall Room 101; Registrar, Sadler Hall Room 17; or Scholarships and Financial Aid, Sadler Hall Room 108.

There are six rights, which are summarized here:
1. The Right to be Informed. The University will give students an annual notice of their rights and where copies of the policy may be reviewed.
2. The Right to Inspect. Students may inspect information contained in their educational record provided they make a written request to the custodian of the records. The request must be granted no later than 45 days from the receipt of the request.
3. Right to Limited Control of Release. No one outside the institution shall have access to, nor will the University disclose identifiable information from the educational records without written consent of the students, except directory information or other exceptions permitted by the act, which the student has not refused to permit the University to disclose.
4. Right to Request a Change. Students may request that the record be amended if they feel the information is inaccurate, misleading or in violation of the rights of privacy. The University will decide whether to change the record. The student may place a rebuttal in the record.
5. Right to a Hearing. If the University chooses not to amend the record, the student may request a hearing. The request must be in writing to the vice chancellor for student affairs or the vice chancellor for academic affairs. The student will be notified of the time, date and place of the hearing.

Transcripts of Academic Records
Students and former students may request official transcripts of their TCU academic record from the Office of the Registrar. While official copies of high school records and transfer credits from schools other than TCU must be requested from the institutions where the work was taken, unofficial copies may be requested from TCU. All transcript requests must be made by the student. Adequate notice, normally one week, is required for transcript processing. Transcripts cost $5 each. Transcripts will not be released unless the student has satisfied all financial obligations to the University.

Affirmative Action
If there are matters having to do with discrimination or matters concerning access for the disabled, notify Darron Turner, affirmative action officer, Jarvis Hall Room 218, ext. 5557; or Sherri Barnes, deputy affirmative action officer, Office of Human Resources, 3100 West Berry Street, ext. 7790 .

Academic Probation and Suspension
All undergraduate students are required to meet certain academic standards. Academic probation/suspension policies are designed to provide careful supervision of the program of study and progress of the student. Failure to meet standards will place students on academic probation or academic suspension. The minimum satisfactory record at TCU for normal progress and graduation is an overall "C" average on all work taken at TCU.

Each semester's grades are reviewed to determine attainment of academic standards. Students are required to maintain academic progress according to the standards set forth below. Failure to meet these expectations will result in academic warning, probation or suspension.

Academic Warning
Students will be placed on academic warning if they have attempted (i.e., received a grade) at least nine semester hours but fewer than 18 total semester hours at any accredited institution and their cumulative
The Bachelor's Degree

TCU Core Curriculum Requirements

The TCU Core Curriculum requirements apply to freshman students matriculating at TCU in summer 2005 or later. Students who matriculated at TCU prior to Summer 2005 are subject to the University Curriculum Requirements (TCU). Transfer students matriculating at TCU prior to Summer 2007 are also subject to the TCU Core Curriculum Requirements.

The educational experience offered by TCU reflects its membership in the worldwide academy of learning. The intellectual traditions of the University, honed by the scholarship and creativity of successive generations of faculty, are founded upon a rational and reflective examination of humanity and its natural and social environments. The essential elements of these traditions are captured in the TCU Core Curriculum requirements.

The TCU Core Curriculum is designed to:

- Embody the liberal arts ethos of Texas Christian University;
- Facilitate a focus on educational competencies, learning outcomes and assessment;
- Show sensitivity to the special needs of students in different colleges and degree programs; and
- Provide intellectual challenges and opportunities for students and faculty.

The goals of the TCU Core Curriculum are described clearly in the Heritage, Philosophy and Goals section of the TCU Handbook for Faculty and Staff:

The University ... regards as essential the advancement and communication of general knowledge which enables students to understand the past, to comprehend the natural and social order, to search for the good and the beautiful, and to integrate knowledge into significant wholes.

The TCU Core Curriculum has three components:

1. The Essential Competencies Curriculum (12 hours plus 6 hours Writing Emphasis);
2. The Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum (27 hours); and

Courses in the TCU Core Curriculum may overlay with other requirements of the student's degree program. The overlay feature provides the flexibility for core requirements to be satisfied in a range between 39 and 63 hours. See TCU Core Curriculum on page 41 in this catalog for specific information.

Graduation Requirements

The University requirements for graduation (e.g., TCU Core Curriculum or University Curriculum, total credits and residence requirements) specified in the Undergraduate Studies Catalog in effect at the time the student first enrolls at TCU as a degree-seeking student will be those required for graduation for a period of time not to exceed six years. A year is defined as the 12-month period following the date of initial enrollment.

The major, school/college and specific degree requirements for graduation in effect when the student formally declares a specific major (or his/her intent to pursue a specific major) will be those required for graduation for a period of time not to exceed six years from the time of declaration of major.

After six years, requirements for graduation will be those specified in the catalog in effect at that time. A student may graduate under the requirements of a subsequent catalog, but he/she must satisfy all the requirements of the catalog chosen. When a student pursues a degree on a part-time basis, his/her enrollment pattern at TCU is a factor the academic dean may consider to determine whether an exception will be made to the six-year rule.

The University faculty expects a bachelor's degree from TCU to indicate both a breadth of knowledge and comparative mastery of some field. Thus the curricula for all bachelor's degrees are built around:

- Study in specified subject areas as stated in the TCU Core Curriculum, or University Curriculum requirements, as appropriate; and
- Concentration upon a combination of related courses as outlined by the department, school or college in which study is emphasized; and
- In some cases, "free electives" or other courses through which educational goals can be reached.

Since an important goal of the University is to help its students learn the ways and habits of articulate thought, the rationale for the TCU Core Curriculum (or University Curriculum) is the belief that there exists an identifiable body of studies central to achieving that goal. All bachelor's degree plans include these requirements. Each school/college may require some variation, and students should refer to the specific degree requirements found in the school/college sections of this catalog.

Additional information may be obtained from the academic dean and/or academic adviser.
Academic Major Declaration

The pre-major option is intended to provide students with more time to explore academic majors. Students may not remain or declare as pre-majors after they have earned 54 semester hours of credit. The pre-major student must formally declare a major by filing the "Change of Major" form with the Office of the Registrar or by making a request to change major on-line at my.tcu.edu.

Multiple Majors

Although students are encouraged to seek a broad educational experience at TCU, the approval to earn multiple majors is not automatic. In some cases, receiving multiple majors may require actually earning multiple degrees. Because the requirements of multiple majors and multiple degrees are complex, students wishing to pursue more than one major should investigate major and degree requirements early in their career at TCU (i.e., refer to the appropriate school/college section of this catalog, which delineates the requirements for multiple majors and degrees). To pursue multiple majors or degrees, written permission from the academic dean responsible for each major or degree is required and must be filed with the Office of the Registrar. No course may be applied to more than one set of major or minor requirements without the express approval of the academic dean.

Additional Bachelor's Degrees

A TCU student who wishes to pursue multiple bachelor's degrees concurrently must:

1. Declare his/her intent and file all degree plans prior to completing the last 15 hours of either degree;
2. Fulfill all specific major, college/school and University degree requirements in force at the time of his/her initial enrollment (subject to the six-year limitation); and
3. Successfully complete 30 hours on each bachelor's degree that did not apply toward any of the other bachelor's degrees. (A second bachelor's degree will not be awarded until the student has completed at least 30 hours in addition to those counted toward the bachelor's degree that requires the higher number of credit hours.)
4. No course may be applied to more than one set of major or minor requirements without the express approval of the appropriate dean.

To return to TCU to earn an additional bachelor's degree, an applicant holding a bachelor's degree from TCU must apply to pursue a specific degree and, if admitted, must successfully complete a minimum of 30 semester hours at TCU which did not apply to the first degree and fulfill all specific major, college/school and University degree requirements in force at the time of enrollment at TCU for the additional degree. A second bachelor's degree will not be awarded until the student has completed at least 30 hours in addition to those counted toward the bachelor's degree that requires the higher number of credit hours. An applicant holding a bachelor's degree from another accredited institution must:

- Be accepted to pursue a specific degree;
- Successfully complete a minimum of 58 semester hours in residence at TCU; and
- Fulfill all specific major, college/school and University degree requirements in force at the time of enrollment at TCU for the additional degree.

Courses applied toward a previously earned bachelor's degree will be evaluated on an individual basis to determine their applicability to University degree requirements.

Degree Plan

The undergraduate student should make a formal request for a degree plan from the office of the dean of the college/school in which the degree objective is offered. The request should be made when the student has completed 60 semester hours, unless the school/college specifies an earlier time in its section of the catalog. After a degree is awarded, no subsequent work may be applied to that degree.

Honors and Recognitions

Texas Christian University honors high academic achievement. The most significant recognitions are conferred at graduation, but there are many interim awards as well. Some formal recognitions become a part of the student's permanent academic record; others may be in the form of a letter of commendation or list posted on the bulletin board. Each spring, Honors Week focuses attention on high academic achievement through special programs and publications. (Grade point average requirements discussed in the following sections refer exclusively to the TCU GPA.)

TCU Scholars

Full-time, degree-seeking undergraduate students who achieve a 4.0 GPA (all "A" grades) in any spring or fall semester are recognized as TCU Scholars by the academic deans. In that semester, they must have earned credit for at least 12 hours; "I" and "P" grades are not counted. TCU Scholars may audit one course without fee any time within a year of their designation.

Dean's Honor List

At the end of each fall and spring semester, deans of undergraduate schools/colleges announce the names of those who have done exceptionally well. To be eligible for the Dean's Honor List, freshmen must achieve at least a 3.6 GPA, sophomores at least 3.7, juniors at least 3.8 and seniors at least 3.8. In that semester, they must have earned credit for at least 12 hours; "I" and "P" grades are not counted.

Graduation Honors

Students with a GPA of 3.9 or above are graduated Summa Cum Laude, perhaps the highest academic distinction. Those with 3.7 or above are graduated Magna Cum Laude, an only marginally less prestigious honor. And for those with 3.5 or above, graduation is Cum Laude. Graduation honors are reserved for students who earn at least 58 semester hours at TCU exclusive of any credit by examination.

Honor Societies

In almost all academic fields, national honor societies recognize students who show exceptional ability. Most departments at TCU have chapters of such societies to which high-achieving students are invited. In addition, some prestigious honor societies are open to students from throughout the University. The following are best-known chapters of such societies to which high-achieving students are invited.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest such society in America and one of the most selective. It invites to membership students with high grades whose studies show a breadth of knowledge in the liberal arts. Most initiates are seniors though juniors; graduate students are sometimes invited.

Mortar Board

Mortar Board invites students to membership on the basis of their service and leadership as well as scholarship.
The TCU Core Curriculum requirements apply to freshman students matriculating at TCU in summer 2005 or later. Students who matriculated at TCU prior to summer 2005 are subject to the University Curriculum Requirements (UCR). Transfer students matriculating at TCU prior to summer 2007 are also subject to the UCR.

The University … regards as essential the advancement and communication of general knowledge which enables students to understand the past, to comprehend the natural and social order, to search for the good and the beautiful, and to integrate knowledge into significant wholes.

The TCU Core Curriculum has three components:

1. The Essential Competencies Curriculum (12 hours plus 6 hours Writing Emphasis);
2. The Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum (27 hours); and

All courses in the TCU Core Curriculum may overlay with other requirements of the student’s degree program. The overlay feature provides the flexibility for core requirements to be satisfied in a range between 39 and 63 hours.

Essential Components

12 hours plus 6 hours Writing Emphasis

Courses in this curriculum are designed to provide a base of skills to ensure students’ abilities to communicate clearly and think analytically. Their focus is effective writing, mathematical reasoning and oral communication. The requirements and competencies are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Requirements</th>
<th>Competencies: TCU graduates will:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Mathematical Reasoning</td>
<td>Be able to reason mathematically.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oral Communication</td>
<td>Articulate thoughts clearly using appropriate verbal and nonverbal communication skills.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Written Communication</td>
<td>Write effectively.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Written Communication</td>
<td>Write effectively.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing Emphasis</td>
<td>Demonstrate the ability to use writing as a means for learning and communicating in a specific discipline.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Writing Emphasis courses may overlay with courses in the Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum; the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum; or with other requirements of a student’s degree program. With the exception of Writing Emphasis, no more than two courses in the Essential Competencies Curriculum may be taken from any one area as defined by course prefix.

Human Experience and Endeavors

27 hours

Courses in this curriculum explore significant achievements and discoveries in the humanities, fine arts, social sciences and natural sciences. The aim is to develop students’ knowledge of the human condition and its connections to the good and the beautiful, and to the natural and social orders. The requirements and competencies for this curriculum are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Requirements</th>
<th>Competencies: TCU graduates will:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Humanities</td>
<td>Apply methods of humanistic inquiry and construct relevant arguments.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Sciences</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Natural Sciences</td>
<td>Be literate in the natural sciences.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fine Arts</td>
<td>Understand the significance of the fine arts and the importance of creativity through standard coursework and/or applied study.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Courses proposed for the Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum may also meet the outcomes of a category in the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum or couple with courses required for the major, minor or general curriculum. No more than two courses in the Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum may be taken from any one area as defined by course prefix. In addition, the requirements in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences, respectively, must be satisfied in at least two different areas as defined by course prefix.

Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values

Courses in this curriculum cultivate the broader skills and awareness associated with TCU’s distinctive heritage, mission, vision and values. TCU’s heritage is explored via the study of religious traditions, historical traditions and literary traditions. Similarly, TCU’s mission, vision and values are explored via courses that focus on cultural awareness, global awareness, and citizenship and social values.

By design, the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum are not bound to any particular discipline or department. Through a range of disciplinary perspectives, these courses encourage pedagogical innovation and conversation across traditional disciplinary boundaries. The requirements and competencies for this curriculum are:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Requirements</th>
<th>Competencies: TCU graduates will demonstrate:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Religious Traditions</td>
<td>A critical understanding of the role of religion in society, culture and individual life.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Historical Traditions</td>
<td>A critical understanding of the processes that create change over time in the human experience.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literary Traditions</td>
<td>An understanding of, and sensitivity to, our shared literary heritage.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cultural Awareness</td>
<td>A critical understanding of cultural phenomena.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Global Awareness</td>
<td>Knowledge of trends, issues and opportunities that impact the global community.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Citizenship and Social Values</td>
<td>An understanding of individual rights and responsibilities and an ability to assess critically the intentions and consequences of personal, professional or societal actions.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Courses proposed for the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum may also meet the outcomes of a category in the Human Experiences and Endeavors Curriculum or couple with courses required for the major, minor or general curriculum. No more than two courses in the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum may be taken from any one area as defined by course prefix. No course may be counted for more than one HMVV requirement.

TCU Core Curriculum Diagram

The overlay feature of the TCU Core Curriculum is best captured in a diagram. Click on http://www.core.tcu.edu/documents/RevisedCore-Diagram4-25-031.pdf to view the TCU Core Curriculum diagram.

As can be seen from the diagram, it is possible for students to take courses that will fulfill more than one of the core categories. For example, a sociology course might simultaneously satisfy the outcomes of social sciences and cultural awareness. If so, the student taking such a course would receive three credit hours and would satisfy both a social sciences and cultural awareness requirement.

Notes:
Students must complete at TCU:

- The cultural awareness, global awareness, and citizenship and social values requirements of the Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values Curriculum; and
- Six hours in Writing Emphasis courses.
The M.J. Neeley School of Business offers a program of study to prepare its students to contribute to the professional business world and the larger community. The Neeley School emphasizes a unified program of basic studies—humanities, social sciences, natural sciences, mathematics, economics and business. The concept of a balanced curriculum extends to the business studies. Although students may concentrate in a particular field of business, they all study the principles of accounting, business information systems, finance, entrepreneurial management, supply and value chain management, and marketing.

A quality curriculum in business fundamentals is of the utmost importance to the Neeley School. The curriculum is developed and implemented by a faculty recognized as scholars and leaders in their respective fields. Regular input is provided by Neeley School corporate partners through advisory groups and frequent classroom visits by executives.

Additionally, the Neeley School seeks to provide its students with the distinctive competencies needed to compete and lead in the business world: effective communication skills, the ability to utilize business technology, an understanding of the global nature of business and a sense of the value of making ethical business decisions.

The M.J. Neeley School of Business is fully accredited by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Faculty

The men and women on the faculty represent an array of cultural backgrounds and bring to students a rich variety of academic training, teaching experience, research, consulting, scholarly publication, and business and community service. Several faculty members have authored widely used texts in the field of business.

Teaching is of primary importance; the most senior professors teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Personal contact with students is encouraged through classes of moderate size. Through the use of audio and visual aids, conferences, business case analysis, software applications and organizational studies, instructional theory is merged with practical and relevant situations.

Research is an important faculty activity. It enables faculty to stay in the forefront of their respective fields. Research activities feed back into the classroom to ensure that today's students will be prepared for the world as it is when they graduate and as it changes over their careers. Faculty research results have been published in many of the leading academic journals.

One of the real strengths of the Neeley School is its relationship with the business community. Numerous local, regional, national and international organizations make up a vast network of corporate partners that are committed to accomplishing the goals of the Neeley School. The Neeley School enjoys many benefits as a result of its corporate relationships, including internship opportunities, part-time and permanent job opportunities, scholarship support, classroom speakers and mentors.

Perhaps the most visible members of this network are the Neeley School's International Board of Visitors. This distinguished group of executives from across the globe provides valuable feedback and program support, serving as a vital link between the Neeley School and other corporate constituents.

International Initiatives

The globalization of today's business environment dictates that learning experiences can no longer be compartmentalized into "international" and "domestic" arenas. Consistent with this philosophy, the Neeley School incorporates a global perspective throughout the undergraduate curriculum. Whether the students are studying money and banking or sales management, they are challenged to consider the topic with an international perspective.

To achieve this goal, the Neeley School has developed several partnerships with universities in Mexico, France, Germany, Spain, Chile, Korea and China. Through these partnerships, faculty members from each institution are invited to participate in exchange opportunities, serving as guest lecturers in their area of expertise. New programs are in development that will offer students and faculty short-term reciprocal exchanges with partner institutions during the academic year.

The Neeley School believes that creating globally minded business leaders goes far beyond mastering the international perspective of business topics. True appreciation of the global environment requires cultural empathy, knowledge of a variety of languages, and political and geographical awareness. To this end, the Neeley School offers the international emphasis certification program. Through this program, dedicated students can earn the Bachelor of Business Administration (BBA) in the major of their choice with an additional "international emphasis" designation on their transcript.

In order for students to think globally, they must become physically global. There is no substitute for experience. The Neeley School supports the many study-abroad opportunities available to TCU students, yet goes one step further. Intensive field seminars such as Business-in-Europe (three weeks) and Business-in-China are coordinated by the Neeley Student Resource Center. The goal of these partnerships is to expose Neeley School business students to the realities of the corporate environment in other countries. Onsite tours and one-on-one interaction with executives from companies are included in these programs. These tours and interactions enable the programs to move beyond traditional "classroom-based" exchanges. Students are required to use local transportation and tour historic sites. Hundreds of Neeley School students and dozens of Neeley School faculty have had the opportunity to experience these unique study abroad programs.

Center for Professional Communication

Through the M.J. Neeley Center for Professional Communication (CPC), the Neeley School offers a unique approach to helping students become proficient in business communication. The Neeley School is rated consistently as one of the best business schools in the country for the development of strong communication skills.

The center directs activities in the following initiatives:

Neeley School Classroom Support. The center provides assistance to faculty as they incorporate communication skills in their classes. Also, it provides coaching and assistance to students as they develop the business communication skills essential to managerial success.

Neeley Premium Credentials™ This is a three-tiered credentialing program available only to undergraduate students at the Neeley School of Business. The program goal is to provide Neeley students with the critical skills identified by employers as necessary to succeed in today's business environment. Neeley Premium Credentials™ provides students with targeted development designed to add extensive value in their personal and professional pursuits both before and after graduation. The tiered approach guides students throughout their three years in the Neeley School and facilitates a successful transition from college to career.

CPC Technology Initiative. The Neeley School encourages students to embrace newer communication technologies in an effort to improve efficiency and effectiveness in their business interactions. To that end, the CPC provides the only video conference center devoted to student use.

CPC Workshops. The CPC offers workshops focusing on specific communication skills such as effective presentations, presentation graphics, dealing with communication anxiety, team writing, intercultural communication and more.

Neeley Culture of Communication Excellence. A focus on communication is integrated across the Neeley School curriculum so that assignments within all the core and degree areas emphasize communication skills as well as course content. The Neeley School seeks to model outstanding communication in all activities.

Communication resources are housed in the M.J. Neeley Center for Professional Communication, located on the first floor of Charles Tandy Hall. Facilities include video conference facilities, document cameras to transmit graphic displays, computers adapted for video transmission and large-screen monitors. The CPC has specially equipped team rooms for classroom recording, practice, teamwork or private review. The CPC’s media station offers specialized graphics software, optical scanning, digital video editing and more than 1,000 professional copyright-free business photographs for use in student projects. Selected software training packages are provided by the CPC for business writing improvement, presentation development and other computer-assisted instruction.

Neeley School Special Awards

Accounting. For students in accounting, the Accounting Excellence Award of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and the TCU Department of Accounting Award for Distinguished Service are granted each spring to outstanding graduating seniors. The Robin Elisa Boyer Memorial Scholarship and the Robert Schumacher Scholarship are awarded annually to seniors entering the Master of Accounting (Mac) Program. Outstanding junior accounting majors may be granted a Petroleum Accountants Society Award, a Deloitte & Touche Award or the Institute of Management Accountants Award.

Entrepreneurial Management. The Department of Entrepreneurial Management presents three awards annually to outstanding entrepreneurial management majors: the Senior Scholar Award based on GPA and leadership contributions; the Outstanding Management Student Award for Leadership and Service sponsored by Texas Industries, Inc.; and the Barbara J. Snell Award for Outstanding Leadership sponsored by the North American Mortgage Company.

Information Systems and Supply Chain Management. The Department of Information Systems and Supply Chain Management presents awards to the senior scholars in business information systems and supply and value chain management. In addition, the Business Information Systems (BIS) Program grants additional awards to outstanding BIS majors. These awards include the Accenture Business Information Systems Professors’ Award; Mary Kay, Inc. Technology Award; The InSource Group’s Outstanding Student Award; and the Society for Information Management Scholarship Award.

In the area of supply and value chain management, additional awards are presented to outstanding students. These awards include the Supply and Value Chain Professors’ Award, Supply and Value Chain Center Outstanding Student Award, CSCMP Annual Conference Scholarship Award, and Fort Worth Institute for Supply Management Scholarship Award.

Marketing. The Department of Marketing grants eight awards annually to outstanding students: Marketing Senior Scholar Award (highest GPA), Outstanding Marketing Student Award (best overall marketing student), the Hoechst Marion Roussel Sales Management Award, the Earl Dyess Award, the International Marketing Scholar Award, the DSS Research Marketing Research Award (to a student with a strong interest in marketing research), the Marketing Application Project (for student contribution and leadership in the annual class promotional event) and the Department of Marketing Excellence Award (student contribution to the field of marketing). Additionally, the TCU chapter of the American Marketing Association sponsors an award for students who demonstrate marketing leadership skills.

Finance. The Department of Finance recognizes the senior who best exemplifies the ideal of an outstanding finance major with the Achievement Award of the Wall Street Journal. The Fort Worth Mortgage Bankers Association Award is given to a senior pursuing a career in real estate. The department also awards the Professor’s Award for Excellence in Finance. Additionally, a student is selected from among those participating in the Educational Investment Fund during the past academic year for the Outstanding Educational Investment Fund Student Award. Awards given by student groups include the Delta Sigma Pi Scholarship Key.

Neeley School Academic Policies

Admission to Neeley School and Advancement to Upper-Division Courses

- Each year there are more qualified applicants to the Neeley School than can be instructed and accommodated by existing faculty and facilities. In order to provide a personal and quality educational experience the school must limit undergraduate admission.

Admission is competitive. As a result, a student may be admitted to TCU but not to the Neeley School. There are three methods of admission into the Neeley School of Business:

- Freshman. The TCU Office of Admission makes the decisions on all freshman applicants. To be considered for admission, students must indicate business as their primary area of interest on the admission application. Students who are granted regular admission to the University as pre-business must complete additional requirements to be considered for advancement to one of the six business majors and upper-division courses.

- External Transfers. The TCU Office of Admission makes the decisions on all transfer applicants. Students seeking to transfer to TCU from another institution should indicate business as their primary area of interest on the admission application. To be considered for admission as pre-business transfer students from a four-year university, students should have at least a 3.0 transfer GPA. Community college transfer applicants should have a minimum 3.25 transfer GPA to be considered. Transfer students admitted as pre-business must meet additional requirements to advance to upper-division courses.

- Internal Transfers. An internal transfer student is one who is enrolled in another degree program at TCU. Students who wish to change their major to business must submit an application to the Neeley Student Resource Center by April 15 to be considered for admission as pre-business the following fall. Admission decisions are made by the Neeley School at the end of each academic year. Admission is highly competitive and space is limited. A student with a GPA of less than 3.25 is unlikely to be admitted. Internal transfer students who are accepted as pre-business must meet all additional Neeley School admission requirements to be considered for advancement to upper-division business courses.

Additional Neeley School Requirements

Students entering TCU as pre-business majors must complete a minimum of 24 credit hours in the first year at TCU and obtain a minimum 2.5 GPA in order to continue as pre-business students beyond the first year. In addition, pre-business students must complete four of the following courses in the first year: ECON 10233; MATH 10283; ENGL 10283; and one TCU Core Curriculum requirement; or others only as recommended by adviser. To declare a business major, all students must formally apply to the Neeley School. Students will typically apply in their sophomore year for admission to upper-level courses in their junior year. Admission is competitive and not guaranteed. Upon acceptance, students will select from one of the functional area majors.

To be considered for admission to the Neeley School students must:

- Maintain a minimum TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5 (must have at least a 3.0 to be competitive);
- Complete lower-division requirements with a minimum 2.5 GPA;
- Demonstrate computer skills competency by passing Microsoft Exams in Word, PowerPoint and Excel;
- Complete the "core phase" of the Neeley Premium Credentials on page 43th program (see page 56 for specific requirements);
- Successfully complete a professional interview and;
- Be formally admitted to the Neeley School.

Academic Advising

All business students in the Neeley School are assigned an academic advisor by the Neeley School Resource Center (NSRC). The center is open daily to answer the questions of all prospective and continuing students in the school. The NSRC coordinates advising, monitors academic progress of students, receives academic appeals, processes all transfer coursework, handles the changing of majors within the Neeley School, works with CLEP Test applications, directs study abroad procedures and Neeley School international programs, and advises students on graduation and job placement. The NSRC coordinates the admission process to the Neeley School.

Pass/No-Credit Policy

Pre-business students or business majors may take up to six semester hours of courses on a Pass/No-Credit (P/NC) basis. However, no lower division business core course nor upper-division business courses (30000-40000 level) may not be taken as P/NC and applied to the BBA degree, unless the course is taught only on a P/NC basis. In accordance with university policy no course applied to a student's major may be taken as P/NC.
Course Prerequisites
Course prerequisites include admission to the Neeley School as a business major, class standing, previous coursework, demonstrated computer skills competency, grades in previous coursework, and/or permission of the instructor. All course prerequisites should be observed and followed when enrolling in a course. The ultimate responsibility for knowing the prerequisites for a course lies with the student and is noted in this catalog. Course prerequisites are noted in the Courses of business course descriptions section of this catalog and are listed at www.reg.tcu.edu.

Transfer Policies
Continuing TCU students will sometimes take courses at other universities and then transfer those credits to TCU. TCU requires prior written approval of the NSRC to take courses at another school for application to a student's BBA degree. Course credit will not be transferred into the Neeley School if prior approval by the NSRC has not been obtained.

- No more than 12 semester hours (except those earned in an approved study abroad program) may be transferred from other institutions once a student enrolls at TCU.
- No credit may be transferred from a community college once 54 cumulative semester hours have been earned.
- For pre-business students and declared majors, all business lower-division sequence requirements courses, upper-division business core and major course requirements must be taken at TCU.

Non-availability of evening program
Although the Neeley School does offer some courses in the evening, an evening-only program is not available. Students wanting to take only evening courses should be aware that all required courses may not be offered during the evening.

Certification for Business Teaching
The M.J. Neeley School of Business cooperates with the College of Education by offering business courses for the academic specialization requirements for certification of high school business teachers. More information is available through the College of Education.

Academic Appeal Process
A student seeking an exception from any policy stated in the M.J. Neeley School of Business section of this catalog should submit a formal appeal to the assistant dean of undergraduate programs for consideration. The Neeley School regards the appeal to be a professional communication and will review it based on that expectation. Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center for more information regarding the appeal process.

Neeley School Student Organizations

Alpha Sigma Gamma International Real Estate Society
The purpose of this society is to recognize and reward superior academic performance in the estate and real estate curricula, to encourage research and teaching in real estate and related fields, and to recognize individuals in real estate and related business areas who exemplify the intelligent and ethical application of real estate knowledge. Student membership is open to undergraduate and graduate students meeting specific academic criteria.

American Marketing Association
The TCU Collegiate Chapter of the American Marketing Association is open to all students. The club helps bridge the gap between marketing theory and practice. The club meets every other week, bringing in top companies and recruiters as speakers.

Beta Alpha Psi
The purpose of Beta Alpha Psi, national student accounting honor society, is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as basic to the accounting profession; promote the highest ethical standards in the study of accountancy; develop high moral, scholastic and professional attainments in its members; and encourage cordial relationships among its members and the accounting profession generally. Students are invited on the basis of scholarship.

Beta Gamma Sigma
This national honor society for business students encourages and rewards scholarship and accomplishment among students, promotes education in business and fosters integrity in the conduct of business operations. Only the top 7 percent of juniors and the top 10 percent of seniors are invited to join.

Collegiate Entrepreneurs Club
CEO empowers students through leadership training, professional development and commitment to the discipline of entrepreneurship. There are on-campus chapter meetings, interesting guest speakers, social gatherings and a monthly newsletter. Students may attend the national conference and participate in a new business idea competition.

Delta Sigma Pi
TCU’s chapter of this international fraternity strives to establish closer ties between the business world and the student. Its objectives are to promote a higher standard of business ethics, and to further the civic and commercial welfare of the community. The chapter takes various field trips to industries and sponsors speakers and panels.

Business Information Systems Association (BISA)
The mission of the BISA is to further the educational development of undergraduate electronic business majors through association with other students, faculty members, potential employers and other influential members of the community, thus cultivating a unified body of students and alumni.

Financial Management Association
For students with an interest in finance and related fields, the Financial Management Association provides a means of obtaining career information and access to business executives and faculty.

Neeley Fellows Student Organization (NFSO)
This organization is designed to help Neeley Fellows achieve their full potential in the Neeley Fellows Program by creating a vibrant community of committed students, faculty members, alumni, parents, corporate partners and nonprofit organizations, while accelerating Neeley School’s connection with the greater business community.

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE)
SIFE is a global, nonprofit organization that allows students the opportunity to develop leadership, teamwork and communication skills through learning, practicing and teaching the principles of free enterprise, thereby improving the standard of living for millions in the process. SIFE teaches important concepts through educational outreach projects, including market economics, entrepreneurship, personal and financial success, and business ethics to better themselves, their communities and their countries. Each year, SIFE competitions take place worldwide, drawing together thousands of students and business leaders to pay tribute to these extraordinary educational outreach projects.

Student Organization for Supply Chain Studies (SOSCS)
SOSCS provides students with a forum to discuss issues that affect business, promotes interaction and networking opportunities with supply chain executives, and provides the opportunity to meet and socialize with fellow students pursuing a similar career path.

Society for Human Resource Management
The TCU Student Chapter of the Society for Human Resource Management provides students an opportunity to learn more about the practice of management and, in particular, human resource management. The chapter hosts guest speakers, takes field trips, and attends regional and state professional meetings. The chapter also hosts workshops and panels on a variety of current management topics for the benefit of the entire student body.

TCU Real Estate Club
This organization is a primary source for networking education, and career advancement in the field of real estate.

MARK 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

MARK 30113 - Marketing Research
3 hours. Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153; INSC 20153, and must be a Business major. Obtaining market information; orientation in use of information gathered; role of management in initiating market studies and in defining problems; types of research; research design; questionnaire construction; sampling; analysis; motivation research; and product research.

MARK 30153 - Marketing Management
3 hours. Prerequisite: Sophomore standing, and must be a Business major. The processes in our society by which the expectations of consumers are anticipated and satisfied. An examination of a systems approach to and analysis of the movement of goods from the point of production to the point of consumption.

MARK 30233 - Market Analysis
3 hours. Prerequisite: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153, successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30113, and must be a Business major. This course is designed to equip students with the skills necessary to analyze markets, industries, and competitors; enable them to make a complete financial analysis of income statements and balance sheets as they reflect marketing activities; to develop marketing budgets and project financial implications of marketing decisions, and to use secondary data and quantitative tools effectively in analyzing customers and markets.

MARK 30243 - Customer Insights
Prerequisites: Grade of 'C' or higher in MARK 30153; must be a Business major. The most complex aspect of marketing is understanding the mind and heart of the consumer. If consumer behavior was easy to explicate, then all products would sell as well as projected, all ads would be effective, economies would be efficient, and... marketing would be a simple prospect. In actuality, consumers are frustrating and irrational and difficult to predict. This course focuses on providing you with the basic tools to gain insights into consumer behavior.

MARK 30653 - Principles of Marketing

Prerequisites: Must be a business minor; completion of ACCT 20653 or concurrent enrollment. Students may not receive credit for both MARK 30153 and MARK 30653. This course introduces the theory and practice of marketing, including the basic structure of getting products/services to market; the fundamentals of marketing: consumer research, product planning, promotion of all types, distribution channels, pricing, and retail merchandising. The content will focus on marketing activities in consumer, reseller, industrial, government, and service markets. This course is not for business majors.

MARK 30990 - International Residential Study

This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

MARK 40003 - Senior Honors Research Paper

3 hours. Prerequisite: Honors Section of MANA 30153; MARK 30153 with a grade of at least "C," and must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30113, MARK 30233, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243. Preparation of a research paper in the student's area of concentration in business under the direction of an assigned staff member.

MARK 40203 - Marketing Strategy

3 hours. Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153 and must be a Business major; successful completion or concurrent enrollment in the classes necessary to complete a marketing major; and senior standing. Taught primarily through case analysis, the emphasis is on the analysis, planning, implementation and control of marketing systems, policies, programs and actions in domestic and international settings. A comprehensive marketing analysis and plan will also be developed and presented by students working in teams. Enrollment by permission only.

MARK 40213 - International Marketing

3 hours. Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153 and must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30113 and MARK 30233, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243. This course introduces the field of international marketing and provides a broad perspective from which to explore and examine various aspects of what changes when firms compete internationally. Half the course focuses on unique aspects of the international marketing environment; half concentrates on how the marketing mix is affected by the globalization of markets and competitors.

MARK 40223 - Services Marketing

3 hours. Prerequisite: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153; and must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30113 and MARK 30233, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243. The primary objective of this course is to prepare students to be successful marketers in an increasingly service-oriented economy. The course is designed to help students understand the unique characteristics of services, the marketing challenges created by these characteristics, and effective ways to address these challenges. Examines marketing strategies unique to public and private, for-profit and not-for-profit services marketing organizations.

MARK 40233 - Integrated Marketing Communications

Prerequisites: A grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153 and must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30113 (Marketing Research) and MARK 30233 (Market Analysis), and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243 (Customer Insights). Course explores the strategic, organizational, process, and implementation issues involved in coordinating all forms of marketing communications--traditional advertising, direct marketing, interactive, public relations, sales promotion, personal selling, event marketing, and every other contact point with a target market.

MARK 40243 - New Product Planning and Brand Management

Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or higher in MARK 30153 and must be a business major; successful completion of MARK 30113 (Marketing Research) and MARK 30233 (Market Analysis), and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243 (Customer Insights). Companies must continuously develop and bring to the market new and improved products. We will study new product planning and management of both goods and services. New Product planning and management of the product Portfolio are essential activities in all companies, and involve various business functions and external partners. We look at the concepts and applications involved in managing an organization's brand portfolio. An understanding of new product planning and brand portfolio management is an essential capability for many positions in business.

MARK 40253 - Sales Management

3 hours. Prerequisite: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153, and must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30233 and MARK 30113, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243. An examination of the basic principles involved in personal selling and the administration of this function in the organization. Emphasis is placed on the sales executive's job, the duties and responsibilities, and the various roles played as an important participant in the making of marketing decisions.

MARK 40263 - Relationship Selling

Prerequisites: A grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153 and must be a business major. In addition, successful completion of MARK 30113 (Marketing Research) and MARK 30233 (Market Analysis), and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243 (Customer Insights). There are several learning objectives for students in Personal Selling. Primary to the course is the student's mastery of communication and presentation skills in the interpersonal and formal speaking environments. One part of the course covers the text materials providing the student with a background in the fundamental aspects of persuasive communications, overcoming objections, and presentation planning. Once these topics are mastered, the student then executes a persuasive and formal sales presentation, which is videotaped and critiqued. Also, this course is designed to provide an understanding of the sales process and its role in business (and non-business) organizations and society. The student is expected to acquire a working knowledge of sales concepts and terminology pertinent to the field. You will explore the nature of the sales process and its functions, including presentation strategy, informative delivery, closing techniques, and an exploration of the various opportunities in sales as a career. We will also cover areas such as personal attire, speaking skills, and interpersonal transactions. Your most important assignment in this class is to sell yourself- and to do that you must believe in the product.

MARK 40653 - Principles of Marketing Communications

Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or better in MARK 30653, and must be a business minor. This course introduces the ways in which a firm communicates with its target markets. These forms of communications include advertising, promotion, point-of-purchase, public relations, personal selling, and direct marketing tools. We will be concerned with these from a marketing management perspective and will, therefore, examine topics such as the situation analysis, the use of research tools, consumer behavior theory, setting objectives, positioning, and developing and integrating an underlying strategy for developing effective marketing communications programs.

MARK 40663 - Principles of Personal Selling

Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30653; must be a business minor. Principles of Personal Selling is an introductory course to the area of sales. Primary to the course is the student's mastery of communication and presentation skills in the interpersonal and formal speaking environments. One part of the course covers the text materials providing the student with a background in the fundamental aspects of persuasive communications, overcoming objections, and presentation planning. Once these topics are mastered, the student then executes a persuasive and formal sales presentation, which is videotaped and critiqued.

MARK 40700 - Marketing Study Abroad

3 hours. Prerequisite: MARK 30153, permission of instructor, and must be a Business major; grade of "C" or better in MARK 30113 and MARK 30233, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK
An intensive, on-site study of marketing practices abroad. Sites include Europe and Mexico. This course may be repeated for credit.

MARK 40970 - Special Problems in Marketing

1-3 hours. Prerequisites: Grade of "C" or higher in MARK 30153; overall and major GPA of 2.5 or higher; permission of instructor and chairperson, must be a Business major; successful completion of MARK 30113 and MARK 30233, and successful completion or concurrent enrollment in MARK 30243. This course may be repeated for credit.

Business Administration Bachelor's Degree Program

To declare a business major, all pre-business students must formally apply for admission to upper-division business courses. Students typically apply in their sophomore year for admission to upper-level courses (most 30000-level or above) in their junior year. All TCU students, (not previously admitted to TCU as pre-business) or students transferring to TCU who wish to become pre-business students, (not previously admitted to TCU as pre-business) or students transferring to TCU who wish to become pre-business students or business majors, must contact the Neeley Student Resource Center regarding admission policies, procedures and deadlines. Admission is competitive, limited and not guaranteed.

1. Declaring Majors. All students wishing to become business majors should first be admitted to TCU and the Neeley School as pre-business students. Students remain pre-business students until being formally admitted to a specific business major and upper-division courses. Before taking upper-division (most 30000-level or above) business courses, all pre-business students must:
   - Complete the lower-division sequence requirements (see below);
   - Have a minimum TCU cumulative GPA of 2.50 (must have at least a 3.0 to be competitive);
   - Have a minimum GPA of 2.50 in those courses designated as lower-division requirements;
   - Demonstrate computer skills competency by passing Microsoft exams in Word, PowerPoint and Excel;
   - Complete the "core phase" of the Neeley Premium Credentials™ program;
   - Go through a professional interview; and
   - Be formally admitted to the Neeley School. Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center regarding admission policies, procedures and deadlines.

2. Majors Offered. After being admitted to upper-division courses, students may then select one or more of the functional area majors: accounting, business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance (or finance with a real estate concentration), marketing, or supply and value chain management. Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center for policies and procedures regarding declaration of major(s).

3. Declaring an Emphasis. Business students may complement their major in accounting, business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance, (finance with real estate emphasis), marketing or supply and value chain management by designating an international emphasis. Students must satisfy the goals and requirements of the emphasis. Business students may also complement their major in any business discipline by completing the BNSF Next Generation Leadership Program. Each program provides a structure to recognize students who have achieved a unique combination of experience and academic coursework. A special designation is placed on the transcript of those students successfully completing the requirements of the emphasis.

4. Major Change to Business. Current TCU students who wish to change their major to business (internal transfer students) must formally apply to the Neeley School to become a business major. Admission is limited, competitive and not guaranteed. Change of major requests are reviewed once per academic year, typically at the end of the spring semester with applications due April 15 each year. A student with a GPA of less than 3.25 is unlikely to be admitted. Internal transfer students who are accepted as pre-business must meet all of the additional Neeley School admission requirements to be considered for advancement to upper-division business courses. Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center regarding policies, procedures and deadlines.

5. Transfer Students. The TCU Office of Admission makes the decisions on all transfer applicants. Students seeking to transfer to TCU from another institution should indicate business as their primary area of interest on the admission application. To be considered for admission as pre-business transfer student from a four-year university, students should have at least a 3.0 transfer GPA. Community college transfer applicants should have a minimum 3.25 transfer GPA to be considered. Transfer students admitted as pre-business must meet additional requirements to advance to upper division courses.

6. TCU Cumulative GPA of 2.50 Required for Graduation. A TCU cumulative GPA of at least 2.50 is required for graduation with a BBA degree. Any business major whose GPA falls below 2.50, must appeal to the senior associate dean of the Neeley School to graduate.

7. Demonstrated Computer Skills. To become a business major in the Neeley School, all pre-business students must demonstrate computer skills by passing Microsoft exams in Word, PowerPoint and Excel. For information about the specific requirements, contact the Neeley Student Resource Center.

8. Neeley Premium Credentials™ Core Phase requirements.
   - Students will complete the Strength Deployment Indicator ® (SDI) and attend a group debriefing session.
   - Students will take CareerLeader ®, a career assessment specifically designed for business majors and attend a group debriefing session.
   - Students will begin creating a career portfolio that will include: their resume, a sample cover letter, a sample thank you letter, and documentation of significant class projects and outside activities.
   - Students will attend a leadership speaker series event.
   - Students will attend one elective workshop from a rotating list of workshops.
   - As a final step in the core phase, students will have their online portfolio reviewed for successful completion.
Business/Pre-Business Students

Entering Freshmen
- Students begin taking lower-division sequence requirements.
- Students entering pre-business must complete a minimum of 24 credit hours in the first year at TCU and obtain a minimum 2.5 GPA in order to continue as pre-business beyond the first year.

Suggested sequence of courses: Applies to all pre-business majors. Students considering a special emphasis program should discuss course sequencing with an academic adviser.

Students formally apply for admission to a specific major(s) and upper-division business courses by submitting the online application to the Neeley Student Resource Center. To qualify students must:
- Have a minimum 2.50 cumulative TCU GPA; 3.0 to be competitive;
- Have a minimum 2.50 lower-division requirement GPA;
- Demonstrate computer skills competency based on Neeley School guidelines; and
- Complete the "core phase" of the Neeley Premium Credentials™ program.

See the Neeley Student Resource Center for other requirements and deadlines.

Juniors/Formally Admitted to Upper-Division Courses
- Students declare one or more major(s) in accounting, business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance (or finance with a real estate concentration), marketing or supply and value chain management.
- Students begin upper-division business core courses.

Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center for suggested sequence of courses by major.

Seniors
- Students complete upper-division business core.
- Students complete major course requirements.
- Strategic Management (MANA 40153) must be taken after completion of all the upper-division core requirements. (Students may enroll in MANA 40153 concurrently with only one other upper-division core course by permission of the Department of Management); recommended to be taken in the last two semesters.

Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center for suggested sequence of courses by major.

Transfer Students
- Students must be admitted as pre-business.
- Students begin taking lower-division sequence requirements.

Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center regarding formal application and requirements for admission to upper-division courses. Transfer students who have been officially admitted to the Neeley School may:
- Declare a major in accounting, business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance (or finance with a real estate concentration), marketing, or supply and value chain management;
- Begin upper-division business core courses.

Contact the Neeley Student Resource Center for suggested sequence of courses by major.

Of the four blocks of coursework, the core curriculum and the business core are required of all business students regardless of their major. The major course requirements and the number of free electives vary, depending on choice of major(s).

A. Core Curriculum Requirements: Students seeking the Bachelor of Business Administration degree must fulfill all of the core curriculum requirements listed below:

1. Essential Competencies: 18 semester hours
   - Written Communication: 6 hours (ENGL 10803, 20803)
   - Mathematical Reasoning: 3 hours (MATH 10283 or 10524)*
   - *Credit is not allowed for both MATH 10283 and 10524
   - Oral Communication: 3 hours
   - Writing Emphasis: 6 hours (3 hours must be in the major)

2. Human Experiences and Endavors: 27 semester hours;
   - courses in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences must be satisfied in at least two different areas (as defined by course prefixes),
   - Humanities: 9 hours
   - Social Sciences: 9 hours to include macroeconomics and microeconomics
   - Natural Sciences: 6 hours
   - Fine Arts: 3 hours

3. Heritage, Mission Vision and Values: 3 semester hours in each category. Approved courses from the experiences and endeavors core; the major and the minor, may also satisfy requirements.
   - Religious Traditions
   - Historical Traditions
   - Literary Traditions
   - Cultural Awareness (must be taken at TCU)
   - Global Awareness (must be taken at TCU)
   - Citizenship and Social Values (must be taken at TCU)

With the exception of the lower-division sequence requirements, students are not expected to complete one entire group or block of courses prior to proceeding to the next block. Instead, the courses are woven together into an integrated sequence of learning steps.

B. Lower-Division Sequence Requirements: 36 semester hours; these courses must be completed the semester in which the student submits his/her application for admission to the Neeley School and before beginning upper-division business core courses (30000-level or above, except MARK 30153).
Lower-Division Sequence Requirements
1. Successful completion of the 12 required courses:
   ENGL 10803 Introductory Composition (Core Requirement)
   ENGL 20803 Intermediate Composition (Core Requirement)
   MATH 10283 Introductory Applied Calculus (Core Requirement) or *MATH 10524 Calculus 1 (Core Requirement)
   ECON 10223 Introductory Microeconomics (Core Requirement)
   ECON 10233 Introductory Macroeconomics (Core Requirement)
    INSC 20263 Business Information Systems (Business Core)
   MANA 20153 Legal Environment of Business (Business Core)
   ACCT 20153 Principles of Financial Accounting (Business Core)
   ACCT 20163 Principles of Managerial Accounting (Business Core)
   INSC 20153 Statistical Analysis (Business Core)
   BUSI 20173 Foundations of Business (Business Core)
   BUSI 20153 Ethical Decision Making (Business Core)
   * Credit will not be awarded for both MATH 10283 and 10524.
    COSC 10203 is not a substitute for INSC 20263 and can only be used for free elective credit toward a BBA degree.

2. Attainment of a minimum GPA of 2.50 in the lower-division sequence requirements courses, with at least a "C" average in two English composition courses.

3. Attainment of a TCU cumulative GPA of at least 2.50 at the end of the sophomore year, defined by the University as the semester or term in which the 53rd semester hour is completed.

C. Upper-Division Business Core Courses: 30000-level or above except MARK 30153 courses are interwoven with the major courses throughout the student's junior and senior years. Business students complete MANA 40153 during the last two semesters.

Upper-Division Business Sequence Requirements
MANA 30153 Organizational Management
MARK 30153 Marketing Management
FINA 30153 Financial Management
INSC 30153 Manufacturing and Services Operations or INSC 30313 Supply Chain Management*
MANA 40153 Strategic Management—must be taken after completion of all other upper-division core courses. (Students may enroll in MANA 40153 concurrently with only one other upper-division core course by permission of the Department of Management.)
* Students may not receive credit for both INSC 30153 and 30313
 Students must complete a tentative plan for graduation to be filed with appropriate forms in the Neeley Student Resource Center, preferably by the second semester junior year.

D. Major Course Requirements: 18-24 semester hours
1. Each major in the Neeley School has a different set of major course requirements. These are described in detail in the Neeley School major programs section.
2. Students must take six hours of writing emphasis courses in their major, with the exception of finance majors, who require nine hours. Writing emphasis courses are designated in the Neeley School of Business major programs section.

E. Free Electives: Credits hours will vary depending on choice of major(s). See an academic adviser in the Neeley Student Resource Center for more information, particularly if selecting more than one major or a major and an emphasis or minor.
Accounting

Accounting has been called "the language of business." In fact, it is much more. Managers of nearly all organizations, whether business, nonprofit or governmental, require accounting information to operate successfully. Financial statements prepared by accountants are used by individuals outside of these organizations to evaluate the performance of management and to make investing, lending, regulatory and other decisions. Accounting majors are well-versed in the preparation, use and limitations of accounting information, and understand business at a very fundamental level. Moreover, they offer knowledge and skills that most organizations require.

A major objective of the BBA program is to provide basic conceptual accounting and business knowledge as a foundation for accounting and business career development. Candidates for the Uniform CPA Examination in Texas must fulfill additional educational requirements.

The Master of Accountancy (Mac) degree offered by the Neeley School meets those requirements and is designed for students planning careers in public accounting or other professional accounting careers. The Mac Program complements the educational experience of the BBA accounting major by providing the additional accounting and business knowledge needed by successful public accounting practitioners.

Accounting Major Requirements

Specific Course Requirements (21 semester hours)

- ACCT 30153 Intermediate Financial Accounting I
- ACCT 30163 Cost Accounting
- ACCT 30253 Intermediate Financial Accounting II
- ACCT 30303 Introduction to Federal Taxation
- ACCT 40153 Advanced Accounting
- ACCT 40223 Risks and Controls
- ACCT 40273 Audit and Assurance

In addition, students must complete three semester hours from the following:

- ECON 30223 Intermediate Macroeconomics
- ECON 40233 Intermediate Macroeconomics
- ECON 40153 Economics of Financial Markets
- FINA 30203 Money and Banking
- FINA 40153 Advanced Financial Management

Free Electives: Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Business Information Systems

The effective, efficient and innovative use of business information systems is an important element in achieving competitive advantages for businesses and excellence in services for government and nonprofit organizations. In particular, the globalization of trade, the emergence of information economies, and the growth of the Internet and other global communications networks have recast the role of information systems in business and management. In today's business world, companies increasingly rely on high caliber professionals who understand how to use information technology to design global business organizations linking factories, offices and mobile sales forces around the world and around the clock.

A business information system (BIS) major provides a challenging but rewarding opportunity for business students to prepare themselves to become a competent business information systems professional. Students will develop the ability to design, implement and manage an infrastructure of information technology, data and enterprise-wide systems, all of which are fundamental to improve and optimize the business activities across the organization. They will have the skills to manage, analyze and develop various business applications dealing with systems in corporations. They will also be able to assist in incorporating information systems into the strategy, planning and practices of organizations.

Business Information Systems Major Requirements

The BIS major requires 21 semester hours.

Specific Course Requirements

- INSC 30713 Business Information Systems Programming and Applications
- INSC 30723 Business Information Systems Planning
- INSC 30823 Data Management for Business Information Systems
- INSC 30833 Business Information Systems Development
- INSC 40013 Business Information Systems Professional Internship
- INSC 40813 Business Information Systems Consulting
- INSC 40833 Enterprise-Wide Information Systems

Free Electives: Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Entrepreneurial Management

The entrepreneurial management major offers a unique combination of specialization and generalization in the study of entrepreneurship and management. Nearly all forms of activity in profit and nonprofit organizations involve some form of management, and most demand an entrepreneurial mindset for success. Whether it be managing people, money, information systems, raw materials or finished products, managers are required to make decisions, handle conflict, communicate and work in teams; in short, they must exercise strong leadership and entrepreneurial skills on a daily basis. The entrepreneurial management major provides opportunities to explore the strategic, organizational and people aspects of business, as well as the range of skills employed by today's entrepreneurs and leaders, including strategic planning, communication and conflict management, negotiation, team building, creative problem solving, leadership, entrepreneurship, business plan development and implementation, managing small business growth, and others. Career opportunities for those with strong entrepreneurial management skills are among the most diverse because virtually any for-profit and nonprofit organization requires entrepreneurial and leadership capability.

Entrepreneurial Management Major Requirements

The entrepreneurial management major requires 18 semester hours.

Specific Course Requirements

- MANA 30303 Entrepreneurial Leadership
- MANA 30533 Entrepreneurial Opportunity Recognition (Writing Emphasis)
- MANA 40203 Strategic Human Resources Management (Writing Emphasis)
- MANA 40143 New Venture Development
- MANA 40223 International Management

In addition, the student must complete a minimum of three semester hours from any of the following elective courses available in entrepreneurial management:

- MANA 40123 Managing the Emerging Venture
- MANA 40163 Ventures in Transition
- MANA 40633 Principles of Negotiation
- MANA 40753 Managing Business Ethics
- MANA 40970 Special Problems in Management

Free Electives: Please note that these required and elective courses may not be offered every semester. Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Finance

A finance major concentrates on the management of financial resources for the firm or the investment portfolio. The field of finance integrates concepts from economics, accounting and a number of other areas. The central focus of finance is the relationship of risk and return.

Financial managers attempt to achieve wealth maximization through daily activities such as credit and inventory management and long-term decisions related to raising funds and allocating capital. Investment specialists evaluate and select securities; manage investment portfolios; and raise capital to finance business, government and private needs. In addition, the student must complete three semester hours from the following:

- FINA 30303 Insurance
- FINA 30313 Real Estate Principles
- FINA 30623 Real Estate Valuation
- FINA 40183 Educational Investment Fund
- FINA 40193 Educational Investment Fund
- FINA 40313 Management of Financial Institutions
- FINA 40533 Financial Analysis
- FINA 40603 Real Estate Law
- FINA 40613 Real Estate Finance and Investment Analysis
- FINA 40623 International Finance
- ACCT 30303 Introduction to Federal Taxation

Free Electives: Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Real Estate Concentration

Students may also major in finance with a real estate concentration. Career opportunities exist in banking, mortgage lending, real estate development, asset management, appraisal, real estate management and brokerage.

The finance major with a real estate concentration requires 24 semester hours.

Specific Course Requirements

- FINA 30203 Money and Banking (Writing Emphasis)
- FINA 30213 Investments I (Writing Emphasis)
- FINA 30233 Investments II
- FINA 40153 Advanced Financial Management
- FINA 30313 Real Estate Principles
- FINA 30623 Real Estate Valuation
- FINA 40613 Real Estate Finance and Investment Analysis
- ACCT 30153 Intermediate Financial Accounting I

Free Electives: Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Finance/Accounting Double Major

Finance majors may double major in accounting by taking the following additional courses:

- ACCT 30183 Cost Accounting
- ACCT 40153 Advanced Accounting (Writing Emphasis)
- ACCT 40223 Risk and Controls
- ACCT 40273 Audit and Assurance
- ACCT 30303 Introduction to Federal Taxation

Note: Students must take INSC 30313 (Prerequisite) to fulfill the one course elective requirement for the double major.

Marketing

Today, diverse corporations in the telecommunications, financial, food service and manufacturing industries all have at least one thing in common: These sellers want to exchange their goods, services or ideas for something of value from buyers. Marketing begins at the moment an organization perceives an unmet need and progresses through productive development, promotion, distribution and pricing. Marketing research suggests that one-half the cost of most products and services can be attributed to marketing.

Marketing Major Requirements

The major in marketing requires 21 semester hours.

Specific Course Requirements (12 semester hours)

- MARK 30113 Marketing Research
- MARK 30233 Market Analysis (Writing Emphasis)
- MARK 30243 Customer Insights
- MARK 40203 Marketing Strategy (Writing Emphasis)

In addition, the student must complete six semester hours from one of the following four career tracks:

Product and Brand Management

- MARK 40243 New Product Planning and Brand Management
- MARK 40223 Services Marketing

Sales and Sales Management

- MARK 40253 Sales Management
- MARK 40263 Relationship Selling

Marketing Communications Management

- MARK 40233 Integrated Marketing Communications
- MARK 40263 Relationship Selling

Global Marketing Management

- MARK 40213 International Marketing
- MARK 40700 Marketing Study Abroad or any approved study abroad course

In addition, students must complete three hours of electives from the following:

- Any three-hour 40000 level marketing course
- MARK 40003 Senior Honors Research Paper
- MARK 40970 Special Problems in Marketing
- INSC 40323 Procurement/Supply Management (Prerequisite INSC 30313)
- JOUR 40703 Strategic Communication Campaigns (Section 80 only)

Any appropriate course approved by the department chair.

Free Electives: Students should consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.

Supply and Value Chain Management

Supply and value chain management is cross disciplinary and encompasses interrelated elements of marketing, logistics, purchasing, operations management and information technology. In today’s highly competitive environment, the multiple firms in a supply chain must be able to collectively respond to rapidly changing customer requirements. To do this efficiently and effectively requires working together across functions within the firm and beyond the boundaries of the firm to understand and respond to changing customer requirements and to match supply to customer demand. This program is designed to give students the skills and capabilities needed for supply chain positions in companies facing such challenges.

Supply and Value Chain Management Major Requirements

The major in supply and value chain management requires 21 semester hours.

Specific Course Requirements

- INSC 30723 Business Information Systems Planning
- INSC 40303 Demand Planning and Management
- INSC 40313 Logistics and Transportation
- INSC 40323 Procurement/Supply Management
- INSC 40333 Supply Chain Information Technologies
- INSC 40343 Supply Chain Strategy
- INSC 40353 Global Supply Chain Management

Note: As part of the upper-level business core requirements, SVCM majors must take INSC 30313 Supply Chain Management rather than INSC 30153.

Free Electives: Students must consult their academic adviser in the NSRC to determine the number of elective hours needed to reach 124 total hours.
International Emphasis
Business students may complement their major in accounting, business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance, (finance with real estate emphasis), marketing, and supply and value chain management by designating an international emphasis and satisfying the goals and requirements of the International Emphasis Program. The program provides a structure to recognize students who have achieved a unique combination of experience, academic coursework and international skills resulting in a cross-cultural competency. A special designation is placed on the transcript of those students successfully completing the requirements of the program. The international emphasis may not be added to majors outside of the Neeley School.

Part I: Neeley School Courses (at least 6 semester hours)
Required: Six hours from the following courses (three hours must be in your major.) For accounting and business information systems majors, choose two of the classes that best support academic interests.
FINA 40623 International Finance
MANA 40223 International Management
MARK 40213 International Marketing
INCS 40353 Global Supply Chain Management

Part II: International Awareness Courses (at least nine semester hours)
Students must complete a minimum of nine semester hours of non-business, non-foreign language courses with an international focus. To receive approval of course selection prior to enrollment, students must submit appropriate forms to the Neeley Student Resource Center.

Part III: Language Proficiency
The student must be proficient in at least one language other than English. For students whose primary language is English, proficiency in a second language must be demonstrated through successful completion of 18 semester hours of coursework in one language or the maximum hours offered in one language or equivalent proficiency as approved by their department chair.
For students whose second language is other than those taught at TCU, students should work with their department chair to determine a method of demonstrating proficiency.
For students whose primary language is not English, proficiency in both their primary and secondary languages must be demonstrated. Students should work with their department chair to determine a method of demonstrating proficiency in their primary language. Completion of the English courses required in the TCU Core Curriculum or their equivalents are sufficient to demonstrate proficiency in their secondary language of English.

Part IV: Experiential Component
Students working toward an international emphasis are required to obtain significant experience in a foreign culture. A combination of study, work or living abroad may be used to satisfy the requirement. While there is no specific time requirement, students must demonstrate to the major department chair or designated faculty advisory committee focused involvement in a foreign culture. The experiential component may be waived for foreign students.

Neeley School of Business Special Programs

Educational Investment Fund
The Educational Investment Fund is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for students to invest real money while still in college. Approximately 18 students manage more than $2 million in assets of the William C. Conner Foundation. The participants in the Educational Investment Fund do intensive analysis of stocks and bonds and make buy-and-sell decisions. The experience gained in the program is comparable to a year's work experience in the eyes of many potential employers and places the TCU graduate in an extremely advantageous job-search position. Hundreds of TCU students have participated in this program over the last 25 years, and these former members represent a worldwide network of potential contacts for current members.

Neeley Fellows Program
The Neeley Fellows Program is an undergraduate program that aims to educate and develop individuals of extraordinary potential with curricular and co-curricular experiential learning opportunities to affect change in the global business community.
Neeley Fellows who are in the TCU Honors Program can satisfy sophomore-senior requirements of the Honors Program through the Fellows curriculum and graduate with Interdepartmental Honors in Business.
Neeley Fellows complete experimentally enhanced courses that are taught by exceptional faculty in a smaller class format. Most courses carry Honors designation.

BNSF Next Generation Leadership Program
The BNSF Next Generation Leadership Program is a two-year leadership development experience for Neeley School undergraduates. This program focuses on leadership development specifically within the business school major.
Innovative courses, coaching, community service projects and co-curricular activities give students the opportunity to learn about themselves and hone their leadership skills. The BNSF Next Generation Leadership Program provides Neeley students the tools to become tomorrow's leaders in the business world.
The BNSF Next Generation Leadership Program consists of four leadership courses, preceded by the required business ethics course, which helps students learn more about leadership and about themselves as leaders. The first class, Foundations of Leadership, is focused on leading oneself. It is grounded in a principle-centered model of leadership and underscores the impact quality of character has on our ability to earn followers. The second course, Interpersonal Leadership Skills, focuses on critical leadership capabilities -- on those leadership skills that are foundational for people in formal and informal leadership positions. The third course, Team Leadership Skills, focuses on specific skill sets that help increase effectiveness when working collaboratively with others. The final course, The Leadership Challenge, focuses on bringing together leadership concepts associated with leading change with students' leadership experiences from a required field placement that will demand that they exercise their growing leadership knowledge and competencies.

Students take the following courses in sequence:
BUSI 30833 Foundations of Leadership
BUSI 30843 Interpersonal Leadership Skills
BUSI 40833 Team Leadership Skills
BUSI 40843 The Leadership Challenge

Supply Chain Student Executive Program
The Supply Chain Student Executive Program is an excellent opportunity for selected supply chain seniors to work closely with a company during their last two semesters. Students in the program interact with company executives, analyze their supply chain and work on an improvement project. This program not only gives students a competitive advantage when interviewing for full-time positions, it is also a valuable complement to their classroom knowledge. The two courses are: INSC 40363 (Supply Chain Cross Functional Experience) and INSC 40373 (Supply Chain Capstone Project Course). Selected students will take this program for six credits, and it will take the place of the Supply and Value Chain Strategies (INSC 40343) and one general business elective.
Selection for this program is based on a minimum 3.2 GPA, demonstrated leadership skills, and excellent verbal and written communication skills. Approximately 10 percent of supply chain seniors are selected to participate.

Neeley Premium Credentials™
This is a three-tiered credentialing program available only to undergraduate students at the Neeley School of Business. The program's goal is to provide Neeley students with the critical skills identified by employers as necessary to succeed in today's business environment. Neeley Premium Credentials™ provides student's with targeted development designed to add extensive value in their personal and professional pursuits both before and after graduation.
The tiered approach guides students throughout their three years in the Neeley School and facilitates a successful transition from college to career.

Business Minor and Double Majors

Business Minors Outside of the Neeley School

Business students are not required to have a minor but may obtain one outside the M.J. Neeley School of Business by completing the requirements outlined by the department in which the minor is offered. Students should check with the Neeley Student Resource Center to see if any additional paperwork is required.

Business Minors and Double Majors

Accounting Minor

Students majoring in business may pursue an accounting minor. The goal of the minor is to provide a secondary area of expertise for students majoring in business information systems, entrepreneurial management, finance, (finance with real estate emphasis), marketing or supply and value chain management. By combining one of these majors with a minor in accounting, the student is prepared for a greater number of career opportunities and gains more flexibility. In addition, students majoring in other areas of business sometimes take electives in accounting. The designation of an accounting minor provides such students with additional evidence of subject matter expertise. The minor in accounting requires 18 semester hours of coursework. Once a student matriculates at TCU, all coursework in the accounting minor must be completed at TCU.

Minimum GPA: To graduate with a minor in accounting, students must obtain a minimum GPA of 2.50 in courses making up the minor.

Finance Minor

Students majoring in business may pursue a finance minor. The goal of the minor is to provide a secondary area of expertise for students majoring in business information systems, entrepreneurial management, supply and value chain management. By combining one of these majors with a minor in finance, the student is prepared for a greater number of career opportunities and gains more flexibility. In addition, students majoring in other areas of business sometimes take electives in finance. They must take ACCT 30303 to fulfill the one course elective requirement for finance.

A business student may earn an additional bachelor's degree in a field outside of the Neeley School by completing the requirements outlined by the University under Additional Bachelor's Degree in the Bachelor's Degree section of this catalog.

General Business Minor for Non-Business Majors Details

Students completing majors outside of the Neeley School may pursue a general business minor. The goal of the general business minor is to provide students in other disciplines with a broad base of knowledge about the business world by giving them an understanding and appreciation of business and its social and ethical environment. In addition, through introductory courses in the functional areas of business, students are introduced to the rudimentary tools used in business settings to analyze problems and make decisions.

The general business minor requires 18 semester hours of coursework. Once a student matriculates at TCU, all coursework in the general business minor must be completed at TCU.

Minimum GPA: To graduate with a general business minor, students must obtain a minimum GPA of 2.5 in courses making up the minor.

Students who have already earned credit for ACCT 20153 and ACCT 20163 prior to declaring the General Business minor may substitute those courses for ACCT 20653 in the minor requirements.
College of Communication

The role of communication in the 21st century continues to be a vital and integral part of TCU's educational mission. Today, more than 1,000 students concentrate their studies within one school and two departments housed in the College of Communication. Degree programs are available in journalism, strategic communication, communication studies, sports broadcasting, film, television, and digital media. The academic programs of the college exact an appropriate balance between professional training and liberal arts studies. Relatively small classes allow the faculty to give attention to the work of each student.

The college is organized into one school and two departments -- the Schieffer School of Journalism and the departments of Communication Studies and Film, Television, and Digital Media. The following areas of study are offered:

Schieffer School of Journalism
Strategic Communication
Journalism

Department of Film, Television, and Digital Media Production
Industry
Critical Studies
Sports Broadcasting

Department of Communication Studies
Organizational Communication
Interpersonal Communication
Public Speaking
Communication Theory and Research

College of Communication Degrees

The College of Communication offers both the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Science degrees.

Students pursuing a program leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree must complete a minimum of 124 semester hours, 42 of which must be advanced (30000 level or above) from TCU, with a major and a minor selected from the approved list of majors and minors. The specific number of hours required for the major and minor may be found in the appropriate section of this catalog. In addition, students must complete the TCU Core Curriculum.

All students pursuing the Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Communication must demonstrate competency in a foreign language equivalent to the completion of one of the following:

- CHIN 20063 Intermediate Chinese II
- FREN 20063 Fourth Semester College French
- GRMN 20063 Intermediate German
- GREE 20063 Fourth Semester College Greek (Hellenistic)
- ITAL 20063 Fourth Semester College Italian
- JAPN 20063 Fourth Semester College Japanese
- SPAN 20203 Intermediate Spanish 2
- SPAN 20213 Intensive Intermediate Spanish 2

This requirement may be satisfied by either satisfactory completion of coursework taken at or transferred to TCU or by presenting satisfactory scores on recognized standardized tests (i.e., AP, CLEP or SAT II). Required scores on standardized tests may be found in the Credit by Exam booklet available from the Office of Admission. For languages not currently taught at TCU, six semester hours at the sophomore-level, transferred to TCU from another accredited institution, may be used to satisfy this requirement. Students may also provide evidence of competency in the non-English language by successfully completing one academic year in a secondary or post-secondary institution in which the language of instruction is other than English, for which the student will receive 12 hours of credit.

Multiple Majors
The following applies to all students majoring in the College of Communication with the exception of The Schieffer School of Journalism. Students who wish to pursue an additional major in the college must satisfy all degree requirements of the additional major, including courses specified in the core curriculum as particular to that degree and major.

Students who wish to pursue an additional degree in another college, if additional majors are permitted in that college, must complete all degree requirements for each major, including courses specified in the core curriculum as particular to each degree and major.

Students outside the College of Communication whose home college permits an additional major in the College of Communication must complete all degree requirements for the additional major, including courses specified in the core curriculum for that particular degree and major.

Majors in the Schieffer School of Journalism must consult with the school as to acceptable additional majors administered in or outside of the College of Communication.

Transfer Credit
Students wishing to take courses at another institution, following their admission to Texas Christian University, must secure approval through the Office of the Dean of the College of Communication before enrolling in them. The College of Communication adheres to the University policy regarding transfer credit.

Pass/No-Credit Policy
Students may take up to two courses (eight hours maximum) on a Pass/No-Credit basis (P/NC). No course applied to the student's major, minor or associated requirements may be taken on the P/NC basis. Courses offered only with the P/NC grade will not be counted toward this limit on the number of P/NC hours. Prior work will count.

Requirements for Graduation
Students should request a degree plan from the Office of the Dean after completing 54 hours. The Intent to Graduate form, available from the Office of the Dean, should be filed when 88 hours of course credit have been completed. The forms can also be found on the College website at http://www.communication.tcu.edu/undergraduateforms.asp.

Approval of the department chair and Dean is required in contract form for all non-traditional courses (i.e., special problems, independent study, research problems, etc.). Per University policy, students wishing to pursue independent study must receive all necessary approvals at least one semester in advance of the semester in which the independent study will occur.

Beyond the studies specified for each major, the bachelor's degree is built on the TCU Core Curriculum that applies to all University graduates.

Communication Studies

A degree in communication studies can serve the academic and career objectives of a variety of students. An essential component of a liberal arts education, competence in oral communication is a requirement for most positions in modern business and industry. A major in communication studies provides students with the understanding of interpersonal and public communication processes needed for careers in teaching or research, as well as further professional or academic study. Students have the opportunity to develop proficiency in spoken communication in an academic program providing flexibility and adaptability to a variety of professional contexts.

Students may declare a major in communication studies in one of two ways. Incoming freshmen and transfer students may declare a major in communication studies upon entering the University. Current TCU students may declare a major in communication studies after earning a minimum GPA of 2.5 for the following courses: COMM 10123 or 10133, 20113, 20223 and 30163.

 Majors taking classes counting toward departmental degree requirements must take them for graded credit. Any courses completed in the department receiving a pass under the Pass/No-Credit Policy before declaring communication studies as a major, will count as University electives, but will not count toward the hour requirement to satisfy the major. Students may not receive credit toward the communication studies major for both COMM 10123 and 10133.

All courses counted toward a major or minor in COMM must be met with a grade of "C" or better.

Honors Program
Communication studies majors who plan to pursue departmental honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in COMM 30003 during their junior year and COMM 40003 during their senior year. Honors students should consult with the chair of the Department of Communication Studies concerning additional guidelines.

Communication Studies Degrees
The Department of Communication Studies offers both the Bachelor of Science (BS) and Bachelor of Arts (BA) degrees.

Communication Studies Major Requirements (COMM-BS OR COMM-BA)
The BS with a major in communication studies consists of a total of 124 semester hours: 36 semester hours in communication studies, including COMM 10123 or 10133, 20113, 20223 and 30163. It is expected that these four courses will be completed within the first 18 hours of COMM coursework. Additional requirements include either a minor of 18 semester hours or a second major, plus core curriculum requirements as described elsewhere in the catalog.

The BA with a major in communication studies consists of a total of 124 semester hours: 27 semester hours in communication studies, including COMM 10123 or 10133, 20113, 20223 and 30163. It is expected that these four courses will be completed within the first 18 hours of COMM coursework. Additional requirements include either a minor of 18 semester hours or a second major, plus core curriculum requirements.

Communication Studies Minor
A minor requires 18 semester hours, including COMM 10123 or 10133 and a sequence of approved courses. A minimum of six hours must be at the 30000 level or above. Students may not receive credit toward the communication studies minor for both COMM 10123 and 10133.

Minors taking classes counting toward departmental requirements must take them for graded credit. Any courses completed in the department receiving a pass under the Pass/No-Credit Policy before declaring speech communication as a minor, will count as University electives, but not toward the hour requirement to satisfy the minor.

Communication Studies Courses
COMM 10123 - Basic Speech Communication
Surveys fundamental communication concepts with emphasis on developing public speaking skills. Not available to students who have completed COMM 10133.

COMM 10133 - Business and Professional Speaking
The role of communication studies in the modern organization with special focus on the development of communication skills particular to business and the professions. Not available to students who have completed COMM 10123.

COMM 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Communication Studies
Prerequisite: Freshman seminar. Examination of contrasting models and standards of communication ethics. Students apply standards to specific problem situations in politics, advertising, interpersonal communication, and writing in making reasoned and informed personal judgments concerning the ethics of public and private communication.

COMM 20113 - Interpersonal Communication
Consideration of effective speech communication strategies in interpersonal situations. Practice in the development of appropriate communication skills in face-to-face interactions.

COMM 20133 - Instructional Communication
Emphasizes lecturing and discussion leadership in instructional settings. Recommended for students seeking teacher certification in any area as well as those interested in professional and non-professional teaching in such areas as religious education, employee training, management and community activities.

COMM 20223 - Communication Theory
Applies communication theory and practice to a broad range of communication phenomena in intrapersonal, interpersonal and public communication settings.

COMM 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

COMM 30003 - Honors Seminar: Current Developments in Communication Studies
Offered as an honors tutorial and to selected majors who are not honors candidates. Study of current issues in Speech Communication and related fields with opportunity for development of an area of specialization.

COMM 30103 - Argumentation and Debate
Prerequisite: COMM 10123 or 10133 or permission of instructor. Training in clear, logical, and persuasive communication; analysis, exposition, reasoning, and use of evidence; practice in effective delivery; classroom participation in debates.

COMM 30123 - Parliamentary Debate
Students will investigate British origins of contemporary parliamentary debate and decision-making, will visit important sites such as the Houses of Parliament and Hyde Park Speaker's Corner, and will learn to conduct parliamentary debates and employ rules of parliamentary procedure in meetings.

COMM 30133 - Group Discussion
Participation in decision-making groups to develop skills related to effective group communication. Factors affecting group interactions are considered.

COMM 30143 - Mediation
Students will develop knowledge and skills necessary to facilitate conflict conversations in interpersonal and organizational settings.

COMM 30153 - Interviewing
Applies dyadic communication principles to specialized interviewing situations. Skills development is stressed.

COMM 30163 - Organizational Communication
Communication channels and networks in organizations; analysis of barriers to effective communication; solving practical communication problems; communication and dynamics in workplaces.

COMM 30173 - Advanced Public Speaking
Prerequisite: COMM 10123 or 10133 or permission of instructor. Training in speech performance and speech evaluation skills. Theory and practical experience related to the formulation, presentation, and evaluation of informative and persuasive public speeches.

COMM 30183 - Issues in Organizational Communication
Prerequisites: COMM 30163. Explores organizational communication within special contexts. Included theoretical concepts applicable to conflict, culture, media, etc. Repeatable for maximum of 6 hours.

COMM 30193 - Listening
Introduction to the reception and processing of information. Examines theory and research in areas such as attention, cognitive capacity, and attribution. Examines the role of listening in a variety of contexts, including therapeutic communication, learning, and critical thinking.

COMM 30203 - Nonverbal Communication
Introduction of the conceptual foundations of nonverbal communication. Theoretical perspectives, research methods, and applications of nonverbal communication are also explored in a variety of contexts.

COMM 30213 - Special Issues in Interpersonal Communication
Prerequisite: COMM 20113. Explores interpersonal communication within special contexts. Includes theoretical concepts applicable to gender, aging, and health. Repeatable for maximum of 6 hours.

COMM 30223 - Power and Influence in Interpersonal Communication
Prerequisite: COMM 10123 or 10133 and COMM 20113, or permission of the instructor. Explores theory and research related to social influence in relationships and communication processes.

COMM 30243 - Communication in Lasting Relationships
Prerequisite: COMM 10123 or 10133, 20223, or permission of instructor. Examination of useful theory and research findings on the role of interpersonal communication in the initiation, maintenance and possible dissolution of lasting relationships.

COMM 30253 - Intercultural Communication
Prerequisite: COMM 20113. This survey course examines the influence of culture on our communicative interactions with others. Emphasis is placed on identifying the relationship between communication and culture, developing intercultural communication competence, and understanding the elements that constitute and separate cultures.

COMM 30283 - Communication Inquiry

Schieffer School of Journalism

The Schieffer School of Journalism offers majors in strategic communication and journalism. Degrees offered through the school include the Bachelor of Arts (BA), the Bachelor of Science (BS) and the Master of Science (MS). A minor is available in journalism.

Schieffer School of Journalism Overview

The mission of the Schieffer School of Journalism is to educate journalism and mass communication students to think and act as responsible professionals and ethical citizens in a global community; to help students develop competencies necessary to prepare them for professional employment and advanced studies; and to develop skilled professional communicators who understand their social, legal and ethical responsibilities and their career opportunities in a technological society.

Each degree program in the school prepares students to communicate in a democracy to its diverse audiences through critical thinking, analytical writing and multi-platform media presentation skills.

All programs require professional quality and performance. TCU's Schieffer School of Journalism is one of about 18 programs at private universities in the nation accredited by the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communication (ACEJMC). About 10 percent of the journalism programs at public and private universities in the country are accredited by the council. The school fully subscribes to the ACEJMC guidelines that 80 semester hours of the student's coursework be taken outside journalism and/or mass communications classes, to ensure a broad liberal arts education. Of the 80 hours, 65 must be in traditional liberal arts and 44 hours may be taken in journalism or other mass communication courses, including film, television, and digital media. Majors in all sequences must conform to this restriction on the number of hours in mass communication study.

Students in all majors offered by the school must pass the Grammar-Spelling-Punctuation (GSP) Examination, which is administered each semester. Students may declare journalism as a major when they enter TCU. However, no students, majors or minors, will be able to take skills courses (e.g., courses in writing, editing and graphics) in journalism without having passed the GSP. Students may take the GSP exam only three times. The University's writing center offers special classes in GSP preparation before the test administration dates. Additional information on the test is also available at www.schiefferschool.tcu.edu. Students must check the journalism website to determine the exact dates and times the exam is administered. For dates and times go to www.schiefferschool.tcu.edu - Resources - GSP. Successful completion of the GSP exam is necessary to enroll in the first writing course: JOUR 10113, which must be passed with a grade of "C" or better before students can take any course for which JOUR 10113 is a prerequisite. Journalism majors and minors must make a "C" or better in any course that is a prerequisite for another journalism course before enrolling in the course for which the prerequisite is required. All skills courses must be taken sequentially.

Courses in the journalism majors or minors must be taken for a letter grade. Journalism courses taken in the major and minor sequences must be passed with a grade of "C" or better to fulfill prerequisite requirements for any journalism course and graduation requirements. No course applied to the student's major, minor or associated requirement may be taken on the Pass/No-Credit basis.

Five professional organizations have chapters affiliated with the Schieffer School of Journalism: The Society of Professional Journalists, Radio Television Digital News Association, American Advertising Federation, the Public Relations Student Society of America and the National Association of Black Journalists. The school also has a chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, the National Honorary Society for Journalism Students.

Journalism Major Change Requirements

Students may declare a major in the Schieffer School of Journalism in one of two ways. Incoming freshmen and transfer students may declare a major in the Schieffer School of Journalism upon entering the University. Current TCU students of sophomore standing or above who wish to declare one of the majors offered by the Schieffer School of Journalism must have achieved a TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5 before they can declare a major inside the school.

Honors Program

Candidates for Departmental Honors should take JOUR 30003 during their junior year and JOUR 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Journalism Degrees

The Schieffer School of Journalism offers majors in strategic communication and journalism.

Strategic Communication Major (STCO-BS)

The BS with a major in strategic communication requires 124 hours with 40 hours in journalism, including JOUR 10103, 10113, 20001, 20313, 20403, 30453, 30543, 30803, 40513, 40523, 40623, 40703 and six hours of journalism electives. A statistics course taken in either the Department of Mathematics or M.J. Neeley School of Business is required. In order to satisfy the prerequisite to JOUR 40623 (a required course in the major), a grade of C or better in statistics is required. An area of emphasis consisting of 18 hours in a discipline selected by the student and approved by a journalism adviser must be completed. Students may also choose to complete the requirements for a major or minor in the selected discipline. If this option is selected, students must fulfill the requirements as prescribed by the department in which the minor or second major is taken.

All strategic communication majors must complete the following four courses—JOUR 10103, 10113, 20403 and 20313—with a 2.0 or better and a combined GPA of a 2.5 before enrolling in JOUR 30453, 30543, 30803, 40513, 40523, 40623 and 40703.

Journalism Major (JOUR-BA)

The BA with a major in journalism requires 124 hours with 38 hours of journalism, including JOUR 10113, 10203, 20001, 20203, 30203, 40101, 40523 and 40983. Also, students are required to take at least one class from the following: JOUR 40463, 40473, 40483, 40493 or 40643. Students will complete the degree requirements with 15 hours of Schieffer School electives. The BA degree in journalism requires a student to show competency at the fourth semester of college level (the equivalent of 12 hours of credit in a foreign language, which can be accomplished either through taking courses or testing out through examinations as required by the foreign language programs on campus).

Completing one of the three certificates - broadcast, convergence or news-editorial - offered is strongly recommended. A minor is required. Students should consult with their adviser for suggestions.

Broadcast certificate requirements include JOUR 30543, 40203 and 40553, plus six hours of JOUR electives.

Convergence certificate requirements include JOUR 20453, 30463 and 30543, plus six hours of JOUR electives.

News-editorial certificate requirements include JOUR 30343 and six additional hours from the following: 30233, 40463, 40473, 40483, 40493, or 40643, plus six hours of JOUR electives.

Journalism Minor

Journalism Minor: 19 hours in journalism, including JOUR 10113, 10203, 20001, 20203, 30203, 30543, and 40523.

Journalism Teaching Certification

Requirements for Journalism Teaching Certification are 28 hours in Journalism: JOUR 10103, 10113, 20001, 20203, 20313, 30203, 30233, 30453, 30853 and 40523.

Schieffer School Graduate Programs

The Schieffer School of Journalism offers two graduate degrees: the Master of Science in Journalism and the Master of Science in Communication and Journalism.

Journalism Internships

Students are encouraged to serve in internships with newspapers, magazines, radio or television stations, public relations or advertising agencies or departments. The Schieffer School of Journalism cooperates closely with the Texas Daily Newspaper Association, Public Relations Society of America, Texas Public Relations Association, and advertising clubs in Fort Worth and Dallas in their internship programs. Internship credit can be given only to journalism majors. Minors or students majoring in other disciplines cannot receive journalism credit for internships. The school will make every effort to help students find internship positions in their junior or senior year in the United States or abroad. Additional information on internship policies and procedures is available at www.schiefferschool.tcu.edu.

College of Communication

Student Publications
The Schieffer School of Journalism sponsors three student publications, the TCU Daily Skiff, DailySkiff.com; and Image, a general interest magazine, provide opportunities for students to gain practical, hands-on experience in every phase of newspaper, magazine and Internet publishing.

FTDM internships are available only to FTDM majors, and there are specific prerequisites. Interested students should contact the FTDM department for current standards and procedures.

Study Abroad Contact the FTDM department for current details and schedules for study abroad opportunities.

Film, Television, and Digital Media Program Requirements (FTDM-BS or FTDM-BA) The Department of Film, Television, and Digital Media requires the following:

- A minimum of 124 semester hours overall, including at least 42 semester hours earned at the 30000-level or above;
- A minimum of 37 semester hours in the FTDM major courses is required, including at least 12 semester hours at the 30000-level or above;
- FTDM majors must complete a minor of at least 18 hours. All requirements of the minor department must be followed;
- FTDM majors must complete the TCU Core Curriculum requirements as described elsewhere in this catalog; and
- A student earning the BA must earn six semester hours in one foreign language at the 20000-level or above.

Students should complete FTDM major courses in this order:

Step One: Complete the following FTDM basic courses with a "C" or better and earning a GPA of 2.5 for the three combined. (These courses do not have to be taken in any specific order):

- FTDM 10113 History of Broadcasting
- FTDM 10123 History of Film
- FTDM 10143 Introduction to Film and Television Aesthetics

Step Two: Take two courses in each of three areas:
- Production: Any two production courses
- Industry: FTDM 20523 and any other FTDM industry course
- Criticism: FTDM 20583 and any other FTDM criticism course

Step Three: Complete any combination of three additional FTDM production, industry and/or criticism courses. Note: FTDM open electives may not be used to fulfill FTDM major or minor requirements.

Step Four: Complete 40901 Senior Seminar (1 semester hour) in the last semester of the senior year.

Majors in Film, Television, and Digital Media must achieve the following minimum academic requirements as a prerequisite to enroll in FTDM courses at the 20000-level and above:

- Overall TCU GPA of 2.5;
- Minimum GPA of 2.5 for all courses taken within the Department of Film, Television, and Digital Media; and
- "C" or better in all courses taken in the Department of Film, Television, and Digital Media.

Students whose overall or departmental GPA falls below 2.5 cannot enroll in sophomore, junior or senior-level FTDM courses. The exceptions are FTDM open elective courses, which have no prerequisites and are open to all TCU students.

The ultimate responsibility for knowing the prerequisites for a course lies with the student and is noted in this catalog. Students who wish to apply for "permission of instructor" or "permission of department" to take a class must submit a request in writing to the FTDM department prior to registration. The department does not guarantee that all who wish to enroll in these classes will be accepted.

Sports Broadcasting Program Requirements (FTSB-BS or FTBS-BA)

The Film-Television-Digital Media Department offers a Major in Sports Broadcasting. This program is outside of the traditional FTDM requirements and does not allow for crossover between the two majors. All students must meet FTDM requirements of an overall TCU GPA of 2.5 and maintain a FTDM GPA of at least 2.5 to take upper level courses.

Majoring in Sports Broadcasting:

- A minimum of 124 semester hours is required to graduate from TCU. At least 42 hours must be earned at the 30000-level or above.
- A minimum of 37 semester hours in Sports Broadcasting is required. At least 12 semester hours must be at the 30000-level or above. All Sports Broadcasting students are required to take FTDM 40901 Senior Seminar during their final semester. Specific requirements are listed below.

The mission of the College of Education at TCU is to develop effective, ethical educators with a passion for learning. As professionals and active citizens in the community, the college strives to create a humane and just society in which all individuals can develop their full potential. The College of Education is governed by an ethical code that documents its obligations to students, colleagues and the community. This code includes rationality and objectivity in professional judgments and actions, civility and caring in interactions with others, and encouragement of diverse views on issues of significance to society.

Consistent with the above values, the college’s core beliefs incorporate a connection between a strong foundational knowledge base with professional practice. Professionals in education study and expand the knowledge base of effective practice and ground their practice in theory and research acquiring expertise through activities in diverse, field-based settings, which are exemplars of practice. They also promote high student achievement and a passion for learning by:

- Mastering content knowledge and effective pedagogical skills;
- Using multiple strategies, resources and technologies to plan, implement and assess instruction and document effectiveness with students; and
- Synthesizing knowledge from relevant, academically diverse perspectives and a variety of theoretical orientations and approaches.

In addition, educational professionals provide service and leadership in diverse settings, ranging from local to global communities; seek to improve professional settings and society; and collaborate with representatives from various groups within and outside the educational community.

Education Institutes, Centers and Laboratory Schools

Center for Urban Education
The Center for Urban Education works to improve the quality of education for students in urban schools. Current initiatives include:

- Workshops and camps for school-age children that target English language learners in urban environments who are in the process of being mainstreamed into elementary and middle school programs and need help in acquiring academic language;
- Aspiring Teacher’s Program, which recruits high school students from underrepresented groups into the teaching profession; and
- Assistant Principal Academy, a mentoring program for assistant principals.

Andrews Institute of Mathematics & Science Education
The Andrews Institute of Mathematics & Science Education is a collaborative effort between the College of Education and the College of Science & Engineering. Their mission is to:

- Provide an environment for innovation and change in the preparation and education of individuals in mathematics and science education and to further conduct research in these areas; and
- Involve the Fort Worth community through three major programs:
  - Teacher Education Emphasizing Mathematics and Science at TCU (TEEMS at TCU), Teacher Collaboration for Updating Science, Technology and Mathematics Proficiency (TCU – STAMP), and Pupils Reviving Interest in Science and Mathematics (PRISM).

Alice S. Neeley Special Education Institute
The Alice S. Neeley Special Education Institute provides an environment for innovation and change in special education through exemplary teaching, research and community outreach. The Institute fosters collaboration among TCU faculty and others nationally to ensure the highest standard of education and services to children with disabilities and their families. The mission is to serve the needs of children and youth with disabilities and their families in three ways:

- Provide optimal learning environments for TCU students to become effective and ethical leaders in special education;
- Engage students and faculty in research to identify and implement best practices in special education that meet the individualized needs of preschool through school-age children with disabilities; and
- Allow participation in community outreach to enhance the inclusion of children and youth with disabilities and their families in community-based activities.

Starpoint and KinderFrogs Schools
The mission of the laboratory schools is to educate students and serve as sites for teacher preparation, practicum experiences, and educational research. Starpoint and KinderFrogs provide a variety of volunteer opportunities for TCU students. Both laboratory schools are members of the National Association of Laboratory Schools.

Starpoint provides a high-quality educational program for students with learning differences, ages 6-12 years. It is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

KinderFrogs provides developmentally appropriate education for preschool children with Down syndrome and other developmental delays. It is licensed by the Texas Department of Family Services and accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC).

College of Education Degrees

The College of Education offers the Bachelor of Science (BS) in Education degree with majors in:

- Early Childhood Education (Grades EC-6)
- Generalist EC-6 with ESL Option
- Generalist EC-6 with Special Education Option
- Bilingual Generalist EC-6 Option

Middle School Education (Grades 4-8)

- Middle School English/Language Arts, Reading and ESL
- Middle School Mathematics
- Middle School Science
- Middle School Social Studies

Secondary Education (Grades 8-12)

- Secondary School English/Language Arts, Reading and ESL
- Secondary School Life Science
- Secondary School Physical Science
- Secondary School Social Studies

Courses are also offered for those students wishing to prepare for teaching English as a Second Language (ESL). See English as a Second Language Supplemental Certificate.

Program Changes

Programs listed in this catalog reflect current State Board of Educator Certification (SBEC) and Texas Education Agency (TEA) standards. Minor changes may be made in these programs to meet additional certification standards adopted by SBEC/TEA.

Honors Program

Education majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in EDUC 30003 during their junior year and EDUC 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Education Major or Minor Declaration

To declare a major or minor in the College of Education, students must meet the following requirements:

- TCU students must have a 2.5 or better GPA.
- Transfer students must bring a 2.5 or better GPA to TCU to declare an education major and have a 2.5 or better GPA on 12 hours of coursework at TCU before applying for admission to the College of Education.
• Entering freshmen have no specific requirements to declare an education major, but must have a 2.5 or better GPA to apply for admission to the College of Education.

• All education majors and minors must maintain high professional standards and acceptable academic performance (a minimum 2.5 GPA overall and a grade of “C” or better in all content areas and education coursework).

Pass/No-Credit Policy
The University Pass/No-Credit (P/NC) Policy states that students may take up to two courses (eight hours maximum) on a P/NC basis. No course applied to the student’s major, minor or associated requirements may be taken on the P/NC basis. Courses offered with only the P/NC option will not be counted toward this limit on the number of P/NC hours. Students in the College of Education may not take any education course required for teacher certification or in the student’s teaching content area on the P/NC basis, with the exceptions of student teaching and the professional practice seminar.

Teacher Education Program Admission
Students who plan to declare a major or minor in education or who plan to earn a teaching certificate must formally apply for admission to the Teacher Education Program in the College of Education. To be eligible for admission, students must meet, or will meet during the semester in which they apply, the minimum criteria. However, meeting only the minimum criteria does not ensure admission to the Teacher Education Program. According to the criteria, students must:

• Complete a minimum of 54 semester hours of coursework.

• Attain a minimum overall GPA of 2.5 on a minimum of 12 semester hours of coursework at TCU.

• Complete a course in each of the following areas of study: speech communication (OC) and EDUC 20003 (Critical Inquiry) with a grade of “C” or better.

• Complete 12 hours of content area coursework.

• Achieve a grade of “C” or better in all content areas* and education courses taken prior to admission.

• Have a current (within one year) and clear criminal record check.

• Attain required scores on one of the following tests: THEA (TASP), ACT or SAT. These scores must not be older than five years.

*Content area for middle/secondary/all-level education majors/minors includes all coursework related to the content area. Content area for EC-6 majors includes history, government, mathematics, English, lab sciences, geography, fine arts and speech.

Students applying for admission to the Teacher Education Program should do so by March 1 for fall admission and October 1 for spring admission. Late applications will be considered on a space-available basis. Eligibility to apply does not ensure admission to the Teacher Education Program. According to the criteria, students must meet, or will meet during the semester in which they apply, the minimum GPA of 2.5 and no grade lower than a “C”; and have a current (within one year) and clear criminal record check. Students who plan to declare a major or minor in education or who plan to earn a teaching certificate must formally apply for admission to the Teacher Education Program in the College of Education. To be eligible for admission, students must meet, or will meet during the semester in which they apply, the minimum criteria. • Have a current (within one year) and clear criminal record check.

• Attain required scores on one of the following tests: THEA (TASP), ACT or SAT. These scores must not be older than five years.

Texas Higher Education Assessment (THEA)
Students who do not have the required scores on the ACT or SAT must take the Texas Higher Education Assessment (THEA) examination prior to admission to the Teacher Education Program. The test consists of three sections: reading, writing and mathematics, which may be taken together or at separate test administrations. Students are encouraged to take the THEA as early as possible, preferably during their freshman year. Information about the THEA may be obtained in the College of Education or at www.thea.nesinc.com.

Criminal Record Search
In accordance with Article 6252-13c, Texas Civil Statutes, the Commissioner of Education may suspend or revoke a teaching certificate for a person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor for a crime that directly relates to the duties and responsibilities of the teaching profession. At the request of the State Board of Educator Certification (www.sbec.state.tx.us), the College of Education has established procedures for annual criminal background checks for all education majors and minors. The College of Education requires a criminal background check prior to admission, field experiences and student teaching.

Liability Insurance
As students enter public and private schools for observations, tutoring, after school programs and student teaching, it is important to be covered by liability insurance. Under Texas law, both the student intern and teacher can be held responsible for a child’s injury. For this reason, we strongly suggest TCU students be covered with liability insurance. This insurance is offered at low cost to teachers-in-training who belong to a teacher organization. Students can become members of the TCU chapter of the Texas Student Education Association (TSTA-NEA), which covers liability insurance, costs of defending claims and provides the cost of an attorney. Other teacher organizations in the state, such as ATPE, UEA and AFT, offer similar coverage.

Teacher Education Program Retention
Students must maintain acceptable academic performance (a minimum 2.5 GPA overall and a grade of “C” or better in content area and education courses), as well as high professional standards, in order to advance in the program and to student teaching. The College of Education is dedicated to identifying and intervening to assist students who demonstrate difficulties maintaining these standards.

Any faculty member who has a concern with a student’s performance and/or professionalism may initiate the Academic Performance and Professionalism Warning (APPW) process. The process operates as follows:

1. The faculty member fills out the APPW form describing the concerns and indicating potential strategies and solutions to resolve the problem.

2. A conference between the student and two faculty members is required to complete the APPW form. During the conference, the parties discuss the student’s understanding of the concerns, generate potential solutions and agree upon a course of action. The APPW contract is signed by the student and faculty. If the student fails to respond or attend a conference, faculty will complete the form and notify the student via certified mail.

3. The completed form is submitted to the associate dean, the student and the Office of Campus Life.

4. Any student receiving three notices through this process may be considered for dismissal from the College of Education. Except in an unusually severe or critical situation, no one notice will result in dismissal from the college or program. These notices do not become part of a student’s permanent academic record.

Student Teaching Admission
Any student who wishes to be considered for admission to student teaching must meet the following requirements:

• Completion of all content area and education coursework with a minimum GPA of 2.5 and no grade lower than a “C”;

• A minimum overall TCU GPA of 2.5; and

• Successful completion of Senior Seminar EDEC/EDMS/EDSE 30001: Professional Practice Seminar.

Applications for student teaching are due by May 1 for fall student teaching and October 1 for spring student teaching. The Admissions Committee will consider minimum criteria, as well as student performance (professional attitude, demeanor, abilities and preparation) and available space in the program.

Any exception to these admission standards must be approved by the program faculty and the College of Education dean and/or designee.

Prior to admission to the College of Education, students may take EDUC 20003, 30113, 30143 and EDEC 30103. Students are not allowed to register for any other education courses until admitted to the College of Education.

2. A conference between the student and two faculty members is required to complete the APPW form. During the conference, the parties discuss the student’s understanding of the concerns, generate potential solutions and agree upon a course of action. The APPW contract is signed by the student and faculty. If the student fails to respond or attend a conference, faculty will complete the form and notify the student via certified mail.

3. The completed form is submitted to the associate dean, the student and the Office of Campus Life.

4. Any student receiving three notices through this process may be considered for dismissal from the college or program. These notices do not become part of a student’s permanent academic record.

Student Teaching Admission
Any student who wishes to be considered for admission to student teaching must meet the following requirements:

• Completion of all content area and education coursework with a minimum GPA of 2.5 and no grade lower than a “C”;

• A minimum overall TCU GPA of 2.5; and

• Successful completion of Senior Seminar EDEC/EDMS/EDSE 30001: Professional Practice Seminar.

Applications for student teaching are due by May 1 for fall student teaching and October 1 for spring student teaching. The Admissions Committee will consider minimum criteria, as well as student performance (professional attitude, demeanor, abilities and preparation) and available space in the program.

Any exception to these admission standards must be approved by the program faculty and the College of Education dean and/or designee.

Education 4/1 Option
Available only to TCU undergraduates, the 4/1 option allows outstanding students to combine a bachelor’s degree with the Master of Education (M.Ed.) in only five years. Only candidates demonstrating superior undergraduate academic and professional performance with strong recommendations are considered for admission to the 4/1 program.

Students are eligible to apply for admission to the graduate program in the College of Education during the semester they complete 90 hours of undergraduate coursework. To be considered for admission to the 4/1 option students must:

- Submit a Graduate Program Application for admission;
- Fulfill admission requirements;
- Be admitted into the Teacher Education Program; and
- Complete additional hours for certification if fulfilling a minor in education.

If admitted to the 4/1 option, students may complete up to 12 semester hours of the M.Ed. program during their fourth year of undergraduate study. Students should work with their 4/1 adviser to determine how the courses will apply to the undergraduate degree. At the end of the fourth year, assuming that all other graduation requirements are met, students earn the baccalaureate degree. During their fifth year, students complete the remaining semester hours toward the M.Ed. degree.

International Student Teaching Opportunities

Students in the College of Education can participate in the many Study Abroad programs at TCU as well as experience student teaching in Canada, Denmark, England, Finland, Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, and The Netherlands.

Certification

To obtain Texas teacher certification at TCU, students must complete the Teacher Education Program in the College of Education and receive a bachelor's degree. Students must also successfully complete the appropriate state certification exams for the content area and grade level they wish to teach. After graduation the student will be recommended to the state of Texas for teacher certification by TCU upon completion of the following requirements:

- Conferral bachelor's degree;
- Successful completion of the Teacher Education Program, including student teaching experience;
- Passing scores on the required state certification exams; and
- Final GPA of 2.5 with 'C' or better in education and content area coursework.

Texas Examination of Educator Standards (TExES)

All Teacher Education Program candidates applying for Texas certification after graduation must pass proficiency tests (TExES) in their respective field of certification or supplemental area and must pass a professional development test at the appropriate level: EC-6, middle school, secondary school or EC-12. Students who fail to take the appropriate TExES within three years of program completion must present documentation of completion of TExES review or additional coursework prior to receiving permission to test.

To be eligible to take the TExES certification exam, students must pass the practice representative exams, which are offered during the Professional Practice Seminar. Students who do not pass the practice exams must present evidence of test preparation before the exam will be re-administered. A student who receives no credit in the Professional Practice Seminar is not considered a program completer and will not be released to take the TExES.

Title II

Teacher preparation programs at institutions of higher learning are required to report the pass rates of their program graduates on the exams that qualify them for certification in their state. The U.S. Congress, through amendments to the Higher Education Act in October 1998, enacted these new teacher preparation accountability measures. The most recent, complete Institutional Report for TITLE II is available on the College of Education website.

Languages Other Than English (LOTE)

All individuals seeking Texas teaching certification with a major in Spanish or French must take the Languages Other than English (LOTE) state exam along with the EC-12PPR.

Education Major Transfer Work Credit

After enrolling at TCU:

- All education majors must receive prior written approval from their academic adviser and the associate dean before taking courses at another institution. Coursework taken without prior written approval may not be applied to a degree.

- No more than 12 total semester hours, except those earned in an approved study abroad program, may be transferred from other schools.
- No credit may be transferred from a community college once 54 cumulative semester hours have been earned.
- Transcripts of coursework taken elsewhere must reach the Office of the Registrar within 30 days of completion of the coursework.

College of Education Career Services Center

The Career Services Center maintains contact with public and private schools seeking teachers, school counselors, administrators and other types of educational personnel. Registration with the center entitles students to file a summary of their academic records together with requested recommendations from teachers and others acquainted with their qualifications. Former students may use the center in seeking positions. The center provides on-campus interviews with school districts in Texas, as well as outside the state. More than 95 school districts conduct interviews on campus each year.

Education Student Organizations

The College of Education sponsors student organizations for the purpose of promoting professional goals and interests, as well as providing recreation and fellowship among members. An international honor society in education, Kappa Delta Pi, invites to membership juniors, seniors, graduate students and classroom teachers who possess high scholarship ability. TCU's chapter of the Texas Student Education Association provides students with associate membership in the National Education Association and the Texas State Teachers Association (TSEA). TSEA provides students with the opportunity to meet and discuss professional concerns and goals with experienced teachers in the profession. The Council for Exceptional Children pre-professional organization is open to all students interested in special education.

Education Majors, Minors and Certifications

Early Childhood Education Major

The early childhood major is designed for students who plan to teach in early childhood settings (EC through grade 6). Students focus on developmentally appropriate pedagogy for children. Field-based coursework provides prospective teachers with significant experiences in urban schools. Students interested in this major may select one of the following options:

- Generalist EC-6 with ESL Option: This option is designed for students who will teach in diverse early childhood settings, including English as a Second Language classrooms. Students must pass required state examinations in order to be awarded a Generalist EC-6 Teaching Certificate with English as a Second Language qualifications.
- Generalist EC-6 with Special Education Option: This option is designed for students who will teach in special education settings at the EC-6 level. Students must pass the Generalist EC-6 Content Exam and the Special Education Supplemental Exam.
- Generalist EC-6 with Bilingual Option: This option is designed for students who will teach in bilingual (Spanish) early childhood settings. Students wishing to pursue this degree option must demonstrate proficiency in Spanish as a condition for admission to the College of Education. The Department of Spanish and Hispanic Studies conducts the Spanish Language Assessment. Students must pass required state examinations, including the Bilingual Target Language Proficiency Test (BTLPT).

The professional development courses that constitute the 18-hour minor studies minor does not meet the requirements for teacher certification.

Students who major in a content area outside the College of Education to be admitted to the Teacher Education Program. In addition to the above coursework, students are required to complete student teaching in the elementary and secondary schools. Additional teacher certification requirements include:

Middle or Secondary College of Education Pedagogy and Professional Responsibilities Requirements (7 hours):
- EDSE 30001 Professional Practice Seminar (must be completed the semester prior to student teaching)
- EDMS/SE 40980 Student Teaching in the Secondary School

Middle or Secondary College of Education Associated Requirements (9 hours):
- EDUC 20003 Critical Investigation; Teaching and Learning
- EDUC 30113 Introduction to Educational Technology
- EDSP 50663 Motivating and Managing Students in the Classroom

Additional coursework in the content area* and in the Middle or Secondary School Pedagogy (science, English/language arts or mathematics). See adviser and certification officer in the College of Education.

*Content areas include business administration, computer science, dance, French, history, journalism, mathematics, Spanish and communication.

All Level Teacher Certification

All-level certification enables students to teach in grades EC-12. Majors include art, music, theatre, deaf and hard of hearing, and physical education. All-level certification students follow the same sequence of education courses as secondary certification students with the exception of student teaching. All-level certification students complete student teaching in the elementary and secondary schools. Students should contact the certification officer in the College of Education to be admitted to the Teacher Education Program.

The professional development courses that must be taken in education are as follows:
- EDUC 30143 Child and Adolescent Development
- EDUC 30123 Educational Psychology
- EDUC 30113 Introduction to Educational Technology
- EDSP 30603 Study of Exceptional Students
- EDMS/SE 30013 Professional Roles and Responsibilities
- EDSP 50663 Motivating and Managing Students in the Classroom
- EDMS/SE 50023 Effective Teaching and Classroom Implementation
- EDMS/SE 40980 Professional Practice Seminar*
- EDUC 40966 All-Level Student Teaching

*This seminar must be taken the semester prior to student teaching.

English as a Second Language Supplemental Certificate

English as Second Language (ESL) is designed for students who intend to teach learners for whom English is a second or other language. The ESL supplemental certificate may be added to a valid Texas teacher certificate, special education certificate or a vocational education certificate.

The coursework consists of 12 semester hours:
- EDUC 50503 Developing Communication Competencies of Linguistically and Culturally Diverse Students
- EDMS/SE 50223 Practicum in Reading and ESL
- EDUC 50513 Curriculum and Instruction in the Second Language Learning Classroom
- EDUC 50003 Diversity in American Education

In addition to the above coursework, students are required to successfully complete a student teaching experience in an approved ESL classroom. One year of successful classroom teaching experience in an approved ESL or bilingual education program may be substituted for student teaching.

 Concurrent enrollment

Education - Early Childhood Courses

EDEC 20013 - Science for Elementary Teachers

This course is designed to build the content knowledge and skills needed by Pre-Kindergarten through sixth grade teachers. The science content emphasized in this course aligns with the National Science Teachers Association standards as well as the content mandated by the State of Texas. The course will model inquiry teaching, engage students in constructivist science inquiry, and provide students with the materials needed to successfully teach science. It will build student understanding of science concepts through active learning experiences. This course is required for acceptance into the EC-6 program in the college of Education. Texas teacher certification has changed from EC-4 to EC-6, requiring that teachers have additional content knowledge. In response to national reform documents, the content will be delivered using inquiry-based methodology.

EDEC 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

EDEC 30001 - Professional Practice Seminar
Prerequisite: Admission to the Teacher Education Program or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Issues in professional and legal responsibilities and certification standards. This course is available only for Pass/Fail grades. (Offered as EDEC or EDMS or EDSE credit.)

EDEC 30013 - Creative Thinking and Problem Solving: Science
Prerequisites: Admission to the Teacher Education Program or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Concurrent enrollment in Junior 1 courses. This course builds on EDEC 20013, Science for Elementary Teachers. It will use the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) as a framework to help students examine content methodology, skills, and materials used to teach science to children in elementary classrooms. Students will engage in hands-on investigations, class discussions, readings and field placements with emphasis on developmentally appropriate practices in science instruction. Procedures for planning, implementing, and reflecting on science instruction are learned in a school setting. Topics from life, earth/space and physical science will be covered.

EDEC 30023 - Creative Thinking and Problem Solving: Mathematics I
Prerequisites: Admission to the Teacher Education Program or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Concurrent enrollment in Junior 1 courses. This course is designed to prepare students for the challenges of teaching in child-centered environments that support creative development and scientific and mathematical learning through play. The course framework provides a theoretical and research base for supporting creative thinking and play-based learning. Students learn strategies for enhancing creative development, inquiry and expression in the areas of art, music, dance and drama, and apply them in elementary school settings. Additionally, students learn how to plan and manage a classroom environment that fosters self-directed learning and opportunities for play.

EDEC 30073 - Critical Literacy and Children's Literature
Prerequisites: Students should be seeking EC-6 teacher certification. This course offers an introduction to the analytical study of children's literature with a focus on children's books that grapple with difficult social issues. We will explore books that go beyond "happily ever after," learning how authors deal with topics such as 9/11, homelessness, gangs, divorce, race, war, and the Holocaust. We will study novels, picture books, and film. While studying these texts, we will also discuss ways to integrate children's literature throughout the EC-6 curriculum--including a focus on content area reading strategies.

EDEC 30103 - Introduction to Early Childhood Education
Prerequisite for all EC-6 coursework. Directed toward affecting prospective early childhood teachers' insights with regard to classroom behavior in teaching; dealing with the factors of child learning; and examining children's development. Classroom practicum is required.

EDEC 30203 - Education in Elementary Curriculum: Mathematics II
Prerequisites: Admission to Teacher Education or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Concurrent enrollment in Junior II courses. Using the guidelines set forth by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the State of Texas for mathematics instruction, the students will develop pedagogical content knowledge in the basic concepts and skills of mathematics. Topics will include measurement, geometry, and probability and statistics.

EDEC 30213 - Creative Thinking and Problem Solving: Writing
Prerequisite: Admission to the Teacher Education Program or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Concurrent enrollment in Junior I courses. This course examines principles of literacy learning in young children through grade six. The course introduces theories, practices and materials for teaching writing in the elementary through middle level grades (EC-6).
EDEC 41113 - Learner-Centered Teaching: Foundations
Prerequisite: Admission to the Teacher Education Program or written permission of the Dean, College of Education. Concurrent enrollment in Senior I courses. This course explores the foundations of educational thought, practice and policy through the works of influential philosophers. Through lectures, readings, study groups, discussion, and team and individual assignments students learn about perennialist, essentialist, pragmatist, critical pedagogy, and postmodern influences in education. Students also study ethics and legal issues as they apply to professional development of teachers, as well as integrating philosophical inquiry and ethical considerations into the curriculum for young children. This course meets core requirement for the citizenship and Social Values, and Writing Emphasis.

EDUC 30333 - The University: From Scotland to Fort Worth
The Scottish Enlightenment was an "extraordinary outburst of intellectual activity that took place in Scotland in the eighteenth century."

Daiches (1996) notes that "liveliness of mind was an essential condition" for the progress envisioned by the enlightened Scots concerned to "put their new knowledge to work for the benefit of Man." At the heart of this great period in Scottish history were the great universities which not only nurtured this unprecedented outbreak of scholarship, but also formed many of the "Scots teachers in American colonies". While the founders of TCU were not Scottish (their ancestors were Irish, though, so still Gaelic), in many ways they embody the same enlightenment spirit. This course will investigate the university in the Scottish Enlightenment and in TCU on the American frontier.

College of Fine Arts

Since the founding of Texas Christian University more than a century ago, fine arts and related professional studies have been vital and integral parts of the University's educational program. Today, some 850 students concentrate their studies within the three departments and two schools that comprise the College of Fine Arts. Degree programs are available in art and art history; classical and contemporary dance; design, merchandising and textiles; music; and theatre. The academic programs of the college exact an appropriate balance between professional training and liberal arts studies.

Personal counseling and relatively small classes allow the faculty to give attention to the work of each student. College of Fine Arts faculty are dedicated teachers who combine strong academic training with years of professional experience in their disciplines. They pride themselves on their ability to convey to their students the knowledge necessary for successful lives and careers in the 21st century. The college also has visiting faculty, guest artists and performers who interact with students throughout the year, enriching their learning experiences.

Resources available to students include numerous computer labs, lighting and sound systems, specialized libraries and equipment, galleries, art and dance studios, theaters and performance halls. The college’s Walsh Center for the Performing Arts opened in 1999. Importantly, College of Fine Arts programs enjoy close working relationships with the Kimbell Art Museum, The Fort Worth Symphony, Texas Ballet Theatre, and the other visual and performing institutions in the Dallas/Fort Worth Metroplex.

College of Fine Arts Organization

The College of Fine Arts is organized into three schools and two departments, offering 26 major fields of concentration. The departments provide professional training in vocational fields for students planning careers and serious avocational training and for those who wish to attain artistic ability without professional intent.

College of Fine Arts Degrees

The College of Fine Arts offers the following degrees:

- Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) with a major in graphic design, studio art or art education, classical or contemporary dance and theatre.
- Bachelor of Arts (BA) with a major in art history, music or theatre. (The BA degree requires a minor along with the completion of sophomore-level foreign language.)
- The BA degree also requires competency in a foreign language at the sophomore-level.
- Bachelor of Science (BS) with a major in interior design or fashion merchandising.
- Bachelor of Music (BM) with a major in performance, piano pedagogy, theory/composition or church music.
- Bachelor of Music Education (BME)

Multiple Majors

All students majoring in the College of Fine Arts who wish to pursue an additional major in the college must satisfy all degree requirements of the additional major, including courses specified in the TCU Core Curriculum as particular to that degree and major.

Students who wish to pursue an additional degree in another college, if additional majors are permitted in that college, must complete all degree requirements for each major, including courses specified in the TCU Core Curriculum as particular to each degree and major.

Students outside the College of Fine Arts whose home college permits an additional major in the College of Fine Arts must complete all degree requirements for the additional major, including courses specified in the TCU Core Curriculum for that particular degree and major.

Requirements for Graduation

Students must request a degree plan from the College of Fine Arts dean’s office when they have completed 54 semester hours (usually at the end of the sophomore or the beginning of the junior year). The Intent to Graduate form (available from Moudy 119 North) must be completed when a student has finished 96 hours of coursework or two semesters prior to graduation, whichever comes first.

Approval of the department chair is required for all nontraditional courses, i.e., special problems, independent study, research problems, etc.

Beyond the studies specified for each major, the bachelor's degree is built on the TCU Core Curriculum that applies to all University graduates.

Transfer Credit

Students wishing to take courses at another institution, following their admission to TCU must secure approval through the Office of the Dean of the College of Fine Arts before enrolling in them. Additionally, once admitted to TCU, students may only take 12 hours of coursework from another institution. Any exceptions to this rule require permission from students' advisers, department chair/director and assistant to the dean.
Pass/No-Credit Policy
Courses applied toward any major in the College of Fine Arts may not be taken on the Pass/No-Credit basis.

College of Fine Arts Special Programs
The Performance Certificate and the Artist Diploma are available for instrumentalists and vocalists with exceptional performance ability. See the School of Music section on page 101 for details.

School of Art
The School of Art administers the Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree with a major in studio art, art education and graphic design, as well as the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree with a major in art history.

All art courses taken in the major or minor sequences must be passed with a grade of "C" or better to fulfill graduation requirements.

Departmental Requirements
A minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA in art is a required prerequisite to junior and senior-level studio art, graphic design and art education courses. After entrance into upper-division courses, a minimum 2.5 GPA must be maintained as a prerequisite to further advanced enrollment. An annual qualifying portfolio review is required for all students wishing to continue in the Graphic Design Program, whether they are graphic design majors or not; the student may be required to repeat courses or be removed from the Graphic Design Program.

Field Trips
Field trips may be required by instructors as a part of the content of any course. Every effort will be made to ensure that these trips do not conflict with other portions of the student's schedule.

Honors Program
School of Art majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in ART 30003 during their junior year and ART 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Transfer Students
Transfer students must have a 2.5 minimum GPA in art and must present a portfolio or photographs/slides of their work for evaluation by the School of Art at least one week prior to registration or at the time of advisement in order to determine level of competency.

Declaration of a Major
The department requires students to declare a major during or before the second semester of their sophomore year. Students majoring in studio art must also declare a concentration in ceramics, painting, photography, printmaking or sculpture. Students planning to major in studio art or art education must submit a portfolio of work to school faculty. A portfolio that meets with faculty approval is required before permission will be given to register in upper-division classes. Students who do not meet school standards may enroll for ART 20970 for up to six semester hours of credit to improve both GPA and portfolio before making another submission to the faculty. Once a concentration is declared, a faculty adviser from that area will be assigned, and a sequence of courses to be taken will be formulated.

Student Exhibitions
Both graduate and undergraduate student exhibitions take place at various times during the year in the Art Galleries at TCU. No work may be removed from exhibitions without school approval. Students must claim their work at the end of each exhibition. The school cannot accept responsibility for the care, storage or distribution of student work.

Art Courses
AADM 30103 - The Arts Organization
This course begins with a historic overview of the non-profit organization, and continues with an exploration of non-profit structure and governance, and the variety of careers and organizations found within the nonprofit sector. Students will analyze the various factors that influence arts organizations, and how arts organizations, in turn, affect the world around us.

AADM 40103 - Management in the Arts

This course introduces students to the practical skills needed to successfully manage an arts organization. Students will explore internal processes, such as budgeting and accountability, and the external relationships that the arts manager must navigate, such as development and fundraising, marketing and audience development, and education and outreach.

AADM 40903 - Internship in Arts Administration

Prerequisites: AADM 40103, and permission of instructor. Students will be placed in an active role within a local arts organization. 12 hours per week is the expected minimum. Students will also meet monthly with the program administrator.

ART 10043 - Introduction to Art History

A survey of the history of visual arts, with emphasis on (but not limited to) art of the Western tradition. Students are introduced to key monuments, artists, artistic styles and movements, and art historical issues of different periods, as well as with significant relationships between art and its historical and societal contexts. The course also exposes students to different art historical skills, approaches, and methodologies.

ART 10103 - Drawing I

Drawing as a primary art form offers a thorough exploration of the art elements: shape, value, line and texture and the spatial relationship of these art elements. Analytic drawing, perspective drawing as well as expressive approaches are employed. The keeping of a sketchbook is required.

ART 10113 - Drawing II

Prerequisite: ART 10103. Creative drawing based on visual experience and imagination. Assigned problems and experiments with a wide range of drawing materials, the use of mark-making tools and inventive exploration of media.

ART 10123 - Design and Color

Study and application of basic principles of creative design.

ART 10133 - Three Dimensional Design

Emphasis on use of three dimensional media, exploration of materials and introduction to some of the most widely used technical processes relative to contemporary 3-D artists.

ART 10143 - Introduction to Visual Communication

An introduction to and overview of Visual Communication as a career track in the applied arts and communication professions.

ART 10533 - Freshman Seminar in Art

Topics may vary each time it is offered.

ART 10803 - Basics in Art

Basic experiments with variety of materials and techniques for the elementary classroom. Fundamental aesthetic and expressive characteristics of visual arts. (6 hours per week; studio art supplies required).

ART 20003 - Classical Tradition in Art

Focusing on the visual arts of ancient Greece and Rome, this course surveys the impact, importance and influence of classicism on art from Antiquity to Postmodernism.

ART 20013 - Egyptian Art

A survey of Egyptian art and architecture from the Pre-Dynastic period through the Roman Domination.

ART 20063 - Medieval Art

A survey of major Medieval works - architecture, painting, sculpture, religious objects, and illuminated manuscripts - dating from the 3rd century through the 14th century.

ART 20073 - British Art: Medieval-Modern

A survey of British Art from the Middle Ages through the Modern era.

ART 20083 - American Indian Art

This course surveys the indigenous arts and architecture of the three major culture areas of the New World: the Pre-Columbian archaeological traditions of the central Andes (primarily Peru) and Mesoamerica (primarily Mexico and Guatemala) as well as both archaeological and historic traditions of North America. Among the cultures discussed are the Inka, Aztec, Maya, Hopi, Lakota, and Tlingit. All major media are covered.

ART 20093 - Art of Mexico from 1500 to the Present

This course offers a broad overview of the art of Mexico beginning with the joining of Aztec and Spanish traditions in the colonial period, through the independence and revolutionary periods, and continuing until the present day.

ART 20103 - 17th and 18th Century European Art

Survey of European art during the 17th and 18th centuries with emphasis on major stylistic and thematic developments in painting, sculpture and architecture. Artists studied include Caravaggio, Poussin, Bernini, Rubens, Rembrandt, Velasquez, Vermeer and Watteau.

ART 20113 - A New World: Survey of American Art

Survey of American art from its colonial beginnings to the present day. Emphasis is placed on analyzing works of art critically and examining them in light of their historical and social contexts.

ART 20143 - Painting

Prerequisites: ART 10103, 10113. Basic painting procedures in oil and/or acrylic mediums. Introduction to techniques and material use.

ART 20163 - Printmaking (Etching)

Introduction to traditional and contemporary intaglio and relief materials as applied to metal plate etching, single and multi-plate color, collograph and photomechanical processes.

ART 20173 - Printmaking (Lithography)

Traditional and contemporary drawing materials used as an introduction to black and white lithographic printing from stones to plates. Emphasis on conceptual and expressionistic aspects of work.

ART 20183 - Printmaking (Screenprinting)

Introduction to basic applied and photomechanical stencil techniques. Emphasis on conceptual and expressionistic aspects of work.

ART 20213 - Ceramics

Introduction to materials, methods and firing techniques. Wheel thrown and hand-built ceramics.

ART 20243 - Sculpture

Dance

School for Classical & Contemporary Dance
The School for Classical & Contemporary Dance offers the Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree with a major in ballet, modern dance, and ballet and modern dance. Students who want to pursue a double major in both ballet and modern dance must complete two semesters as a single major and request approval of the faculty. An audition is required for entrance to and placement in the program for all incoming dance students. Contact the School for Classical & Contemporary Dance at TCU for audition information.

Dance Teacher Certification qualifies students to teach dance in secondary education (grades 8-12) in Texas. The program is open to TCU ballet and/or modern dance majors. The program aims to produce qualified dance teachers who are technically proficient and theoretically informed. See the College of Education on page 73 for specific requirements.

The School for Classical & Contemporary Dance’s mission is to develop educated dance artists who are prepared to become professionals and leaders in the global dance community.

Departmental Policies
1. Students majoring in ballet and/or modern dance are accepted for a one-year trial period, during which potential and progress are evaluated by the dance faculty to ascertain the feasibility of continuing toward a dance degree. With faculty approval, this trial period may be extended for up to one additional year.
2. It is acceptable for dance majors to pursue two majors, two degrees or a minor at TCU. Students who want to earn a degree in ballet and/or modern dance while simultaneously working toward a second major in the College of Fine Arts, a second degree, a minor or a dance certification should expect to spend more than four years to complete the additional requirements.
3. All incoming dance majors are required to participate in technique placement classes at the beginning of their first semester at TCU.
4. Students with limited technical proficiency may be required to enroll in additional coursework.
5. A minimum 2.0 GPA in the major is required as a prerequisite to upper-division dance courses. A student whose GPA falls below this level may not enroll in upper-division dance courses until the 2.0 average has been achieved. After enrollment in upper-division dance courses, a minimum 2.0 GPA must be maintained as a prerequisite to further advanced enrollment.
6. All dance majors will take at least one technique class daily.
7. Dance majors must achieve Level II by their fourth semester to continue in the major and must earn a minimum of three credit hours in Level III for graduation.
8. Women ballet majors are required to take four semesters of Pointe courses and must achieve the 30110 level by their fourth semester to continue as a ballet major.
9. Dance majors must earn .5 DanceTCU credit hours during their first three semesters and a minimum of 1.5 credit hours for graduation.
10. Dance majors will adhere to policies outlined in the departmental handbook.
11. All majors are required to audition for major productions and participate when cast and/or given a crew assignment. Once a dance major is declared at TCU, students will take .5 credit hour of Dance Production Practicum each semester. Performance and production experiences are a vital part of a dancer’s training, and all dancers qualified to take part in productions will be given the opportunity to do so.
12. All dance majors should maintain a level of health and wellness that allows for full and consistent participation in all levels of required physical activity.
13. Dance majors receive a letter grade for all SCCD courses with the exception of DanceTCU (DANC 20300/DANC 40300) and Dance Production Practicum (DANC 10300/DANC 30300) which are taken on the Pass/No-Credit basis.

This course is the fourth in a series of bodywork courses that provides information and experiences regarding alignment, conditioning, re-patterning, efficient and safe movement. Students will participate in a variety of bodywork methods building on basic principles learned from DANC 20211, Bodywork III.

DANC 20230 - Directed Studies in Modern Dance
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. Independent project supervised by faculty. (0.5-3 semester hours per course.)

DANC 20300 - DanceTCU I
Prerequisite: Dance major permission of instructor. This course is a performance course. Students earn the opportunity - via audition - to perform in either a faculty or guest artist work. Through the performance experience, students utilize dance technique and artistry developed in ballet and modern dance courses. This course may be repeated for credit for 1-8 hours, .5 credit hour per semester (1.5 hours minimum required for dance majors.)

DANC 20303 - Functional Anatomy
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. This course presents the various scientific tools of movement analysis that support and facilitate the work of the dancer and choreographer. Particular emphasis will be put on the qualitative differences in dance performance and the relationship between scientific and aesthetic aspects of movement. Methodologies in this course will be lecture with integrated lab.

DANC 20322 - Choreography I: Elements of Dance Composition
Prerequisite: DANC 10312, and concurrent enrollment in a Ballet and/or Modern Dance technique class, or permission of instructor. Introduction to the craft of choreography. Students are introduced to the elements of dance movement and basic compositional theories, create choreographic studies and engage in critical analysis.

DANC 20333 - Dance Production
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. Dance Production is an introduction to design and production for dance. This course provides broad exposure to design and production with emphasis on their relationship to dance performance. It is a survey of production areas including basic visual design, scenery and costumes, lighting, sound, and video. It also provides an introduction to the mechanics of the tools, lighting instruments, control consoles, sound systems, video projectors, and other technology used in live performance.

DANC 20442 - Jazz Dance I
Study of Jazz Dance techniques. Classes include warm-up, strengthening exercises and progressions. Course content will be drawn from lyrical, contemporary musical theatre and hip-hop styles.

DANC 20452 - Jazz Dance II
Study of Jazz Dance techniques. Classes include warm-up, strengthening exercises and progressions. Course content will be drawn from among lyrical, contemporary musical theatre and hip-hop styles.

DANC 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

DANC 30100 - Classical Ballet Technique and Artistry Level II
Prerequisites: Dance majors, and DANC 20100 or permission of instructor. Training in the theory and practice of Classical Ballet at the intermediate level. (.5-3 hours maximum per semester, 15 hours maximum for dance majors.)

DANC 30110 - Pointe II
Prerequisites: Ballet major or instructor permission and concurrent enrollment in Ballet Technique Level II or Ballet Technique Level III. This course develops the strength, technique and skill specific to pointe work at the advanced level of technique. (Credit 0.5 semester hour. May be repeated for credit.)

DANC 30130 - Teaching Methods-Ballet
Prerequisite: Must be a dance major with junior, senior or graduate standing. Theory, methods of teaching dance with specific focus on ballet (1-3 semester hours.)

DANC 30162 - Ballet Variations I
Prerequisite: Dance major. Practice and performance of ballet variations from the Romantic, Classical and Neo-Classical repertoire.

DANC 30172 - Ballet Variations II
Prerequisites: Dance major; DANC 30162 or permission of instructor. Continuation of DANC 30162 with practice and performance of more complex ballet variations from the Romantic, Classical and Neo-Classical, and/or Contemporary Repertoire.

DANC 30180 - Ballet Partnering
Prerequisites: Women: DANC 30110 or permission of instructor. For men: dance major or permission of instructor. Emphasis on partnering in classical and contemporary ballet. (1-8 semester hours.)

DANC 30200 - Modern Dance Technique and Artistry Level II
Prerequisite: Dance major. Training, theory and practice of modern dance (classical and/or contemporary forms) at the intermediate level. (.5-3 hours maximum per semester, 15 hours maximum for dance majors.)

DANC 30230 - Teaching Methods - Modern Dance
Theory, methods and materials of teaching dance with specific focus on modern dance. (1-3 semester hours)

DANC 30300 - Dance Production Practicum II
Prerequisites: major and DANC 10300, or permission of instructor. Continued practical experience in dance production leadership related to departmental presentations. (Course may be repeated for a maximum of 3 credit hours.)

DANC 30303 - Junior Honors Seminar
Prerequisites: Dance major and Honors standing. A supervised research experience in dance studies. The topic will be determined in consultation with the supervising professor. Topics may be focused on, but are not limited to, aspects of performance, choreography, history, education or aesthetics. Performance may be an aspect of the course. Arrangements for the course, which is offered only as a tutorial, must be made with an instructor prior to enrollment.

DANC 30311 - Frameworks for Action
Prerequisite: Dance major. This seminar course is an exploration of dance-related topics providing frameworks for professional success in the field.

DANC 30330 - Creative Movement for Children
Prerequisites: DANC 30100 or 30200 or permission of the instructor. This course explores the theory and practice of teaching Creative Movement for young children. Students will learn to design and implement classes that harness the elements of dance - body, time, space and energy - to the end of stimulating creative investigation via movement. 1-3 credit hours.

DANC 30332 - Choreography II: Intermediate Dance Composition
Prerequisites: DANC 30222, concurrent enrollment in Ballet and/or Modern Dance technique class, or permission of the instructor. As dance majors further their choreographic skills, focus centers on developing content, defining structure and learning to manipulate choreographic devices. Creativity and critical analysis are essential components of coursework.

DANC 30333 - Lighting and Design for Dance
Prerequisites: Dance major and DANC 20333, or permission of instructor. This course will provide students with the information and practical experience to create and implement lighting design for dance.

DANC 30363 - Study Abroad: Physical Theatre in the United Kingdom
Prerequisites: DANC 20100 and 20200 or permission of instructor. Physical Theatre is a contemporary, hybrid art form developed within European culture. Program participants will move between hands-on practice - developing and testing ideas in the studio - and historical, aesthetic and critical investigation of the form. Study in the UK will be augmented by attendance at an international festival to view and respond to physical theatre in live performance.

DANC 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

DANC 40100 - Advanced Ballet Technique and Artistry Level III
Prerequisite: Dance Major. Training in the theory and practice of ballet (classical and contemporary forms) at the advanced level. (.5-3 hours maximum per semester.)

DANC 40120 - Directed Studies in Ballet
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. Independent project supervised by faculty. (0.5 - 3 credit hours per course.)

DANC 40200 - Modern Dance Technique and Artistry Level III
Prerequisite: Dance major. Training, theory and practice of modern dance (classical and contemporary forms) at the advanced level. (1-3 hours maximum per semester.)

DANC 40220 - Directed Studies in Modern Dance
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. Independent project supervised by faculty. (.5 - 3 credit hours per course.)

DANC 40262 - Contact Improvisation
Prerequisites: DANC 10312 or permission of instructor. This course explores contact improvisation as a duet form grounded in the principles of weight sharing, gravity and momentum. Dancers will work together to hone improvisational skills that include heightened awareness and partnering work that requires commitment, responsiveness, and immediacy.

DANC 40272 - Advanced Performance Practicum
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. Dancers are challenged to enhance performance abilities and further develop artistry.
Design Accreditation (CIDA).

The Interior Design Program is accredited by the Council for Interior Design Accreditation (CIDA).

DANC 40303 - DanceTCU II
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of the instructor. This course is a continuation of DanceTCU I for Junior and Senior dance majors. Students earn the opportunity - via audition - to perform in either a faculty or guest artist work. Through the performance experience, advanced dancers utilize dance technique and mature artistry developed in ballet and modern dance courses. This course may be repeated for credit for 1 - 8 hours. 5 credit hour per semester. (1.5 hours minimum required for dance majors.)

DANC 40303 - Senior Honors Seminar
Prerequisites: Dance major and Honors standing. A supervised research experience with a thesis that is usually based on work completed in DANC 30303. Arrangements for the course, which is offered only as a tutorial, must be made with an instructor prior to enrollment.

DANC 40333 - International Dance Forms
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. This course examines the history, aesthetics, and practice of world dance forms. Specific forms and topics covered are at the discretion of the instructor.

DANC 40343 - Choreography III: Advanced Dance Composition
Prerequisite: DANC 30332. Advanced exploration of the form and content of contemporary choreography culminating in production of original dance works including the integration of theatrical production elements. Critical response skills will be fine-tuned.

DANC 40353 - Choreography IV: Senior Capstone
Prerequisites: Dance major and DANC 40343 or permission of instructor. A capstone course giving the BFA candidate an opportunity to thoroughly explore, develop, edit and produce a project for performance that demonstrates choreographic crafting informed by artistic judgments and personal values. This course requires the integration of theatrical production elements.

DANC 40373 - Dance History I
Prerequisites: Dance major or permission of instructor. This course examines the history of dance from ancient civilizations through the Medieval and Renaissance periods, the Romantic and Classical eras in ballet, to the beginning of the twentieth century. The specific period and topics covered are at the discretion of the instructor.

DANC 40383 - Dance History II
Prerequisites: DANC 40373, dance major or permission of instructor. A continuation of DANC 40373, this course generally examines the history of Western theatrical dance in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Specific topics covered are at the discretion of the instructor.

DANC 50303 - Dance Theory
Prerequisites: DANC 40373 and 40383. This course surveys readings and topics in the theory and philosophy of dance. Specific topics are at the discretion of the instructor, and may include aesthetics of dance, dance historiography, dance and music, dance and feminism, dance and sexuality, and dance and culture.

Design, Merchandising and Textiles

The Department of Design, Merchandising and Textiles offers the Bachelor of Science (BS) degree with two major options:

- Interior Design
- Fashion Merchandising

The Interior Design Program is accredited by the Council for Interior Design Accreditation (CIDA).

Pass/No-Credit Policy
Students majoring in the College of Fine Arts may take up to six semester hours of courses on a Pass/No-Credit (P/NC) basis. No courses applied to a department's major or associated requirements may be taken on the P/NC basis. Courses applied to the minor may be taken on the P/NC basis. Students minoring in lighting are subject to the P/NC policy of their major department.

Minimum Grade Requirement
A 2.5 cumulative GPA is required to declare a fashion merchandising or interior design major. To matriculate to upper-level courses and to graduate with a fashion merchandising major, students must obtain a "C" or better in the following courses: DEMT 10243, 20253, 20263, 20273 and 20283. To matriculate to upper-level courses and to graduate with an interior design major, students must have a "C" or better in all DEMT courses.

Honors Program
Departmental Honors are available. See DEMT 30003, 40003.

Sophomore Portfolio Review
All interior design majors are required to submit a portfolio for Sophomore Portfolio Review during the fall semester of the sophomore year. Successful passage of the sophomore portfolio review is required in order to continue in the major. Students who do not pass sophomore portfolio review are eligible to resubmit a portfolio during the following academic year and may not continue in the major until successful passage of Sophomore Portfolio Review.

Interior Design Requirements
The interior design major prepares the student for a career as a professional interior designer. It educates the student in creativity, design process, technical skills and theory in order to successfully enter the profession. The CIDA-accredited program prepares students for the opportunity to complete the necessary steps to obtain state licensing and NCIDQ certification.

Major Requirements: DEMT 10423, 10413, 10453, 20403, 20453, 20413, 20433, 20443, 30073, 30091, 30413, 30423, 30473, 30483, 30493, 40433, 40453, 40464, 40474, 40493 and 40401.

Related Requirement: ART 10043. Electives to total 124 semester hours.

Minor in Lighting for Visual Presentation
Requirements for the minor in lighting for visual presentation are DEMT 10453, 20283, 40053; THEA 21413 and 41413; and one of the following: DEMT 10413, PSYC 30423, DANC 30333 and ART 20743.

Interior Design Majors Minoring in Lighting
Requirements for interior design major minoring in lighting are DEMT 20283, 40053 and 40970; THEA 21413 and 41413; and PSYC 30423 or DANC 30333 or ART 20743.

Fashion Merchandising Majors Minoring in Lighting
Requirements for fashion merchandising majors minoring in lighting are DEMT 10453, 40053 and 40970; THEA 21413 and 41413; and PSYC 30423 or DANC 30333 or ART 20743.

Transfer Policy
Transfer students wishing to apply for the interior design program must submit a comprehensive portfolio to the attention of the Interior Design Program coordinator after they have been accepted to the University. Detailed portfolio requirements, deadlines and procedure are available from the DEMT main Office. All portfolio decisions are final. It is the transfer student's responsibility to be aware of and comply with departmental procedure.

Senior Show Policy
All interior design majors are required to participate in a group exhibition of student work during their senior year. One exhibition will take place during each spring semester. Students expecting to graduate in May will participate during their final semester. Students whose graduation is expected to be delayed until the following May will participate during the preceding May exhibition.

Retention of Student Work Policy
The Department of Design, Merchandising and Textiles reserves the right to photograph, display and exhibit student work in order that a continuing "body" of work will be available. This policy applies during the completion of the student's undergraduate degree program and for a period of two years following graduation.

Fashion Merchandising Requirements
The fashion merchandising program involves all activities related to the development, buying and selling of merchandise. This major is for students planning a career in retail buying, product development, management, wholesale or retail sales, public relations, event planning or visual merchandising. A supervised internship is required during the senior year.

Major Requirements: DEMT 10243, 20263, 20273, 20283, 30073, 30091, 30253, 30263, 30283, 40013, 40203, 40213, 40223, 40234 and 40263.
Design, Merchandising and Textiles Summer Study Programs

Summer study programs in New York City and Paris are available to merchandising majors. The New York Study Program provides a study of the textile, apparel and merchandising industries, and the significance of New York City as an international business center. The Paris Program offers the study of fashion and design in various museums, and European fashion centers. Each program offers three to six credit hours of undergraduate credit that applies to the major.

Summer study programs in Italy and Scotland are available for interior design majors. The Italian Study Abroad Program exposes students to a broad range of design activity, history and current influences in design education and the profession. The course is available for three to six hours of undergraduate credit toward the major. The TCU in Scotland Program, an interdisciplinary program, focuses on the Scottish Enlightenment. The course is available for three to six hours of undergraduate credit.

Design, Merchandising and Textiles Student Affiliations

Students who demonstrate high scholarship are eligible for membership in the Beta Zeta chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national honor society. The department sponsors the Texas Christian University Interior Design Association, a pre-professional organization. Opportunities are available for students to affiliate with student sections of professional organizations, including The American Society of Interior Designers, International Interior Design Association, Illuminating Engineering Society and Fashion Group International.

Design, Merchandising and Textiles Course Subcategories

DEMT 10423 - Merchandising Principles
Prerequisite: Merchandising major or permission of instructor. A survey of the fashion industry and the dynamics of fashion theory and principles.

DEMT 10413 - Design Fundamentals I
Six studio hours per week. Prerequisite: Declared major in Interior Design; pre-major or permission. A design introduction to the traditions and resources of space, form, light and color perception. The elements and principles of design will be used to create two-dimensional and three-dimensional representations with freehand sketching, lettering and mechanical drawing.

DEMT 10423 - Introduction to Interior Design
An introduction to interior design including the study of cultural, technological and economic influences upon the profession. Topics of study include fundamental design vocabulary and concepts, the historical evolution of interior design and the role of interior design upon the built environment.

DEMT 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Design, Merchandising and Textiles
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

DEMT 10453 - Lighting Fundamentals
Two one-hour lectures, one two-hour lab per week. A series of lectures and laboratory experiments through which students will develop both technical and aesthetic understanding of lighting and space. Special emphasis on the mechanics of light, types of lighting and the electrical systems that support lighting.

DEMT 20253 - Textile Fundamentals
Prerequisites: Merchandising major, a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10243 and sophomore standing in the major. Analysis of fibers, yarns, fabrication structures and processing including fabric dyeing, printing and finishing; physical, optical and chemical testing; textile labeling and legislation; and care of textile products.

DEMT 20263 - Fashion Illustration
Prerequisites: Merchandising major. Use of illustration for merchandise development and promotion.

DEMT 20273 - Clothing Construction
Prerequisites: Merchandising major. Two 1-hour lectures, two 2-hour laboratories per week. Pattern alteration and fitting techniques; basic clothing construction techniques are applied to woven fabrics.

DEMT 20283 - Promotion Principles
Prerequisites: Merchandising major, a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10243 and sophomore standing in the major. An analysis of non-personal selling including direct marketing, advertising, visual merchandising, publicity, special events and fashion shows.

DEMT 20303 - Topics in Design and Merchandising
Prerequisites: Declared merchandising or interior design major and permission of instructor.

DEMT 20403 - Design Fundamentals II
Six lecture/studio hours per week. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10413, 10423, and concurrent enrollment in DEMT 20413. A continuation of Design Fundamentals I to include color theory and the practice of rendering spaces in color and light. Techniques include pencils and markers.

DEMT 20413 - Interior Design Concepts
Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10413 and 10423. A studio course exploring the theories and applications of the design of interiors of 2000 square feet or less. Focus is on developing the problem-solving process which encourages creativity, depth of exploration and solutions with substance and aesthetic beauty. Graphic, written and verbal communication formats are used to express all stages of the design process. of the design thinking process sequence from concept to final conclusions.

DEMT 20433 - Interior Design Illustration
Six studio hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20403, 20413, and concurrent enrollment in DEMT 20443. Shade and shadows. Interior illustration techniques using plans, elevations and perspectives illustrated in marker, line, tone and color.

DEMT 20443 - Interior Design I
Six studio hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20403, 20413, and concurrent enrollment in DEMT 20433 and 30453. Development of a functional approach to interior design stressing physiological and psychological design considerations through small scale commercial projects. Introductory specifications and lighting. Grid one- and two-point design perspectives.

DEMT 30003 - Honors Tutorial in Design, Merchandising and Textiles
Prerequisite: Departmental major and enrollment in the Honors Program. An examination of a significant issue affecting design, merchandising and/or textiles. The specific topic and presentation format oral, written, graphic, model, garment prototype, computer simulation are determined by the student and faculty directing the study. DEMT 30003 is the first of two courses required for departmental honors. Arrangements for this directed study must be made the semester prior to enrollment in the course.

DEMT 30073 - CAD for Apparel and Interiors
Prerequisites: For Merchandising majors, a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20253, 20263, 20273, and 20283; for Interior Design majors, a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 30413. Two 1-hour lectures, one 2-hour lab per week. Overview and application of specialized computer software as they relate to design in the apparel and interior industries.

DEMT 30091 - Career Development
Prerequisite: Junior standing in the major. For merchandising major, prerequisite or concurrent enrollment in DEMT 30253, 30263. A study in careers, requisite to completion of a directed internship. Particular emphasis on self assessment paralleled to career research, employment resources, and skills in career development, i.e., resume writing, interviews, leadership concepts and effective communication and advancement skills.

DEMT 30253 - Merchandising: Buying
Prerequisite: Merchandising major, junior standing in the major, TCU Core Math requirement, ECON 10223 or 10233. An analysis of fashion buying. Emphasis on applied mathematical operations to planning and control procedures in various types of retail organizations, buying techniques and merchandise selection.

DEMT 30263 - Product Development
Prerequisite: Merchandising major, junior standing in the major; a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20253, 20263, 20273 and 20283. The creative process of product development including market research, aesthetic properties and design components, manufacturing processes, quality and cost analysis.

DEMT 30283 - Principles of Textile Testing and Analysis
Prerequisites: Merchandising major; junior or senior standing in the major and DEMT 30263. Two 1-hour lectures, two-2 hour laboratories per week. Emphasis is on testing and analyzing the performance of textile products using industry methods and specifications.

DEMT 30413 - Interior Design II
Six studio hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade if 'C' or better in DEMT 20433, 20443, and 30453. Residential interior space/form problem comprehension and solution with concern for aesthetics, utility and life-styles. Rooms are studied independently as well as relative to each other. Specification, lighting and budget. Mixed illustration techniques.

DEMT 30423 - Architectural Components
Six lecture/studio hours per week. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20443. A study of architectural factors affecting interiors: structural systems, methods of construction, HVAC and electrical systems, cabinet detailing and related building codes.

DEMT 30433 - Rendering Techniques
Six studio hours per week. Prerequisite: A grade if 'C' or better in DEMT 20433. Advanced rendering techniques in timed sketches in graphite pencil and marker as well as refined renderings in colored markers and prismacolor pencil. Includes the illustration of human figures in interior spaces.

DEMT 30453 - Interior Components
Two lecture hours and two lab hours per week. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 20413. Selection and specification of interior materials and finishes for various design situations. Includes textile characteristics of interior materials, decision making criteria and estimating processes and preparation of finish schedules and specification documents.

DEMT 30473 - History of Interiors I
Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10423 or permission. History of the style of architecture, interiors, furnishings and decorative arts from the Stone Age to 1900 A.D. Includes the influence of technology, industrialization, and various modern movements. The designs of architects and interior designers are examined within the context of social history and cultural influences.

DEMT 30493 - Interior Design III
Six seminar/studio hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or higher in DEMT 20453, 30413, and DEMT 30473. Development of an aesthetically and functionally based process for the design of commercial interiors. Emphasis on space planning, furniture selection and layout and programming. Includes interior design theory, research and communication of design solutions, design for the physically limited including the American Disabilities Act and flammability issues.

DEMT 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

DEMT 39990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

DEMT 40003 - Senior Honors Project
Prerequisite: Departmental major, enrollment in the Honors Program and completion of DEMT 30003. The execution of a project or paper reflecting creative investigation or research. Supervision by a three-member faculty committee is required. DEMT 40003 must be completed prior to the student's final semester of undergraduate work. May be based on subject matter explored in DEMT 30003.

DEMT 40013 - Entrepreneurship in Design, Merchandising and Textiles
Prerequisites: Merchandising major, junior or senior standing in the major, and ENGL 20803 or ENGL 20833. The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the opportunities, risks and management problems involved in establishing and operating new enterprises specifically related to Design, Merchandising & Textiles.

DEMT 40053 - Lighting for Visual Presentation
Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 10453, 30253, and THEA 30503 or permission of instructor. The interrelationship between lighting and merchandising with specific concentration on lighting merchandise as three dimensional form, the use of color in merchandising, and the practical applications of lighting as a merchandising tool. Exploration of the impact that interior design, fashion merchandising, and theater have on the way merchandise is illuminated and displayed.

DEMT 40093 - New York Study Program
One week study tour of New York City's textile, apparel and merchandising industries accompanied by two weeks of on-campus study.

DEMT 40203 - Clothing in Society
Prerequisite: Merchandising major, junior or senior standing in the major, ENGL 2083 or ENGL 20833. A global exploration of the sociological, economical, psychological and cultural aspects of apparel and dress.

DEMT 40283 - Fashion Internship
Prerequisites: TCU cumulative 2.5 GPA, Merchandising major, DEMT 30253, 30263, and a grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 30091, junior standing in the major. Supervised full-time work experience in a fashion related establishment. Weekly logs and assigned papers will be required.

DEMT 40433 - Special Purpose Design
Six lecture/studio hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 40453 and 40464. The design of interiors to serve special purposes or populations. Included will be one project entered in a national student competition.

DEMT 40453 - Professional Practices
Six lecture/field trip hours per week. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 40493. Business practices, management and professional procedures for the interior designer. An examination of the design profession within an economic framework.

DEMT 40464 - Interior Design IV
Six studio hours and two seminar hours per week. Prerequisites: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 30423, 30493, 30453, and 30483. Advanced problems in contemporary environments as relevant expressions of technological and cultural change. Includes advanced application of various research methodologies to document design solutions.

DEMT 40474 - Interior Design V
Six studio hours and two seminars per week. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 40464. Large scale design of specialty space with emphasis on program interpretation, space planning, FF&E furniture, fixtures and equipment, themed environment and ADA Americans with Disabilities Act requirements. Course work may be in conjunction with a professional architectural design firm project and firm professionals.

DEMT 40493 - Interior Design Internship
Seminar and work experience hours to be arranged. Prerequisite: A grade of 'C' or better in DEMT 30091 and 30493. Supervised apprenticeship with a professional interior designer or architectural firm. On-the-job experience in an interior design or architectural firm. Students must attend preparatory seminars prior to beginning the internship experience.

DEMT 40970 - Special Problems
Hours to be arranged. Special problems requiring independent research and study within a related area, or field experience in design, merchandising and/or textiles. (1-6 semester hours).

School of Music

School of Music Overview
The School of Music offers the Bachelor of Music degree (BM) with majors in performance, piano pedagogy, theory/composition, and church music; the Bachelor of Music Education degree (BME) with a concentration in vocal or instrumental music in preparation for all-level certification; and the Bachelor of Arts degree (BA) with either a major or minor in music.

Admission
Acceptance to the School of Music requires passing an audition in the primary performance and scholarly area. Before an audition can be scheduled, applicants must submit a completed School of Music Audition Request Application, a résumé highlighting musical activities and an essay discussing a musical topic or experience. An additional requirement for admission includes two separate letters of recommendation attesting to the candidate’s musical accomplishments and ability sent directly to the School of Music office. Applicants unable to visit the campus may submit a video DVD recording and/or copies of original scores and papers. Detailed audition information is available from the School of Music. After satisfying all of the above requirements, final acceptance to the School of Music is contingent on being admitted to TCU.

Pre-Major Status
All incoming music students are designated as music pre-majors (MUPM). A student must complete the above application requirements and pass an audition in the primary performance and scholarly area in order to be eligible for music major status. Once eligible, the student completes and submits a signed Change of Major form to the School of Music office. This form is then sent to the College of Fine Arts where it is processed and the new major is in effect once it appears on the student's my.tcu.edu account. Forms are available in the School of Music office or online at www.music.tcu.edu/Major_Authorization.pdf.

Honors Program
Music majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in the Honors sections of MUSI 30613 and 30623 prior to their senior year. They should enroll in MUSI 40003 the fall semester of their senior year.

School Facilities
The School of Music is housed in historic Ed Landreth Hall, the Mary D. and F. Howard Walsh Center for Performing Arts, Music Building South and Jarvis Hall. The Ed Landreth building includes the music offices and conference room; teaching studios; classrooms, a computer lab; practice and rehearsal facilities; and a 1,200-seat auditorium, once home to the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition. Instrumental resources include numerous upright and grand pianos, four pipe organs, two harpsichords, a clavichord and a collection of authentic Baroque instruments.

The Walsh Center is home to the unique 325-seat PepsiCo Recital Hall, which is well known for its unprecedented acoustical design. The Walsh Center also contains an instrumental rehearsal hall, a choral rehearsal hall, an electronic piano laboratory, piano teaching studios and piano practice rooms all furnished exclusively with Steinway pianos.

Located on the south side of the TCU campus, Music Building South serves the TCU Opera Studio and contains a 100-seat rehearsal studio theater and the John Large Vocal Arts Laboratory. The third floor of the newly renovated Jarvis Hall contains teaching studios, two classrooms, the Upchurch Studio for Electro-Acoustic Music, the Music Education Resource Library and the School of Music student lounge.

In addition to these four buildings, practice rooms and teaching studios are located in Waits and Foster residence halls; and a large, comprehensive music library complete with recordings, reference books, texts, scores, and a listening room is housed in the Mary Couts Burnett Library.

School of Music Requirements

Keyboard Skills
All music majors, unless exempted by testing, register for MUSI 11030, Class Piano, in the first semester, and must continue in classes until they pass the keyboard skills test. This requirement must be met by the end of the sophomore year. Students are not allowed to register for courses in the junior year until this requirement is met. Piano and organ majors meet this requirement by taking MUSI 20071 and 20081, Functional Piano.

Recitals
All music majors participate in school and studio recitals. Students majoring in performance are required to present a half recital during their junior year and a full recital during their senior year. Students majoring in music education are required to present a half recital, typically the semester before student teaching.

Juries
A jury examination takes place each semester for majors and minors in performance courses and annually for theory/composition majors beginning the sophomore year. At the end of the sophomore year, this examination determines whether the student is permitted to enroll in upper-division performance and composition lessons. The junior jury and/or recital determine admission to senior standing for performance majors.

Recital/Concert Attendance
Music majors are required to enroll in and pass MUSI 11000, Recital Hour, each semester. This is a Pass/No-Credit, zero-credit course. Music majors are required to attend a minimum of 15 concerts each semester, with the exception of the student-teaching semester for BME students. Six of these concerts must be from the weekly School of Music Recital Hour Series. The remaining nine may be chosen from faculty and guest artist recitals, TCU and guest ensemble concerts, and student recitals. Students will submit to the School of Music office original printed concert programs signed by a TCU School of Music faculty member in attendance. Programs must be submitted to Ms. Ott in the School of Music office within five days after the event, or they will not be accepted. The deadline to submit programs for concert credit is 5 p.m. on the last day of classes.

All music courses taken in the major or minor sequences must be passed with a grade of "C" or better to fulfill graduation requirements.

An optional minor in arts administration is offered under the College of Fine Arts.

School of Music Special Programs

Artist Diploma (Pre-Baccalaureate)
The Artist Diploma is a program for the most advanced and gifted performers who, by their performance and credentials, demonstrate that they have serious potential to become concert artists. The program is designed to provide intensive study and performance opportunities under the guidance of master teachers in preparation for a concert career.

An audition for the appropriate applied studio faculty is required.

Admission to the program is allowed only upon the recommendation of the appropriate applied studio faculty and the approval of the director of the School of Music.

The Artist Diploma is a three-year program available in both a pre-baccalaureate and a post-baccalaureate track. A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required to maintain satisfactory academic progress in this program.
The Artist Diploma (pre-baccalaureate) requires 33 hours total as follows:

Studio Performance Lessons
- MUSP 40XXX (Upper Division)-26 hours
- Recitals (4 hours):
  - MUSP 30991 Recital I
  - MUSP 40981 Diploma Recital
  - MUSP 40981 Diploma Recital
  - MUSP 40991 Recital II

Chamber Music/Ensemble/Collaborative Piano (3 hours):
- MUSI 10080/100x0/MUSI 21081
- *Appropriate course determined by student's applied music area; specific ensemble assignment determined upon admission

The Performer's Certificate in Piano
- The Performer’s Certificate is a special course of study designed for those undergraduate students with outstanding musical and performance ability who show the promise of becoming concert artists, and who do not choose to include the academic component of the Bachelor of Music curriculum. The program is designed to allow the student maximum time and flexibility to develop his/her performing ability while completing the essential studies for a solid musical background.

To be considered, candidates must have a high school diploma or equivalent and must demonstrate, through an audition for the piano faculty, the promise of becoming a concert performer. Admission to the program is allowed only upon the recommendation of the piano faculty and the approval of the director of the School of Music.

International students must demonstrate proficiency in English by scoring at least 55 on the Test of English as a Foreign Language or by otherwise meeting the TCU English requirement, with no section score less than 55.

The Performer's Certificate is a three-year program. A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 is required to maintain satisfactory academic progress in this program. The Performers Certificate in Piano requires 79 hours total as follows:

Theatre

The Department of Theatre offers two degrees in theatre: the Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) with a major in theatre and an emphasis chosen from acting, design, musical theatre, production or theatre studies; and the Bachelor of Arts (BA) with a major in theatre that permits the student to choose an additional major or minor in another academic field of study. (Note: The BA requires the student to have a minor.) Admission to the BFA program is only available through audition or portfolio review by the theatre faculty. Admission to the BA program is available to any TCU student.

The Department of Theatre functions within the context of a liberal arts university and sincerely believes that the student experience should include areas of investigation beyond the narrowly focused instruction that characterizes most non-university affiliated professional training programs.

The department requires a core of courses in all aspects of the theatre. These courses provide an overall view of the discipline, including acting, directing, history and dramatic literature, design, and technical production. The core provides a strong background for both the liberal arts and pre-professional student.
Honors Program
Theatre majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in THEA 31003 in their junior year and THEA 41003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Departmental Facilities
The Department of Theatre is housed in Ed Landreth Hall and the Walsh Center Complex at TCU. Facilities include the Jerita Foley Buschman Theatre, a 175-seat proscenium arch theatre and the 200-seat Spencer and Marlene Hays Theatre, with a thrust stage. The flexible Studio Theatre (75-100 seats) is in constant use by students involved in producing shows to test the skills they are developing in the classroom. All theatre spaces have state-of-the-art equipment for teaching theatre technology. Theatre productions are supported by a large Scenic Studio in the Walsh Center Complex with a counterweighted paint frame and spray booth for painting scenery and stage properties. A fully equipped Costume Studio for theatre is located in the School for Classical & Contemporary Dance Building. A computer lab is available for students’ use and for teaching various software programs specific to the theatre. Additional classrooms for theatre graphics, acting and academic courses are located in Ed Landreth Hall.

Departmental Requirements
The department requires majors and minors to participate in departmental productions. Participation in both performance and production broadens students’ backgrounds and prepares them for advanced study. Any student on academic probation is not permitted to perform in public productions. Additional departmental policies are explained in a departmental student handbook. All majors and minors are responsible for securing and reading this handbook. Courses in the theatre major or minor must be taken for a letter grade, and must be completed with a grade of "C" or better to fulfill graduation requirements.

Theatre Courses
AADM 30103 - The Arts Organization
This course begins with a historic overview of the non-profit organization, and continues with an exploration of non-profit structure and governance, and the variety of careers and organizations found within the nonprofit sector. Students will analyze the various factors that influence arts organizations, and how arts organizations, in turn, affect the world around us.

AADM 40103 - Management in the Arts
This course introduces students to the practical skills needed to successfully manage an arts organization. Students will explore internal processes, such as budgeting and accountability, and the external relationships that the arts manager must navigate, such as development and fundraising, marketing and audience development, and education and outreach.

AADM 40903 - Internship in Arts Administration
Prerequisites: AADM 40103, and permission of instructor. Students will be placed in an active role within a local arts organization. 12 hours per week is the expected minimum. Students will also meet monthly with the program administrator.

FNRT 20903 - Children, Creativity and the Fine Arts
This multidisciplinary course will provide elementary education, child development and other interested majors with the experiences and tools to design meaningful arts learning experiences for children. Students will spend five weeks in each art content area: visual art, music, and dance. Students will develop their creative capacities in each of these disciplines by examining and critiquing art, creating art and designing elementary art curricula.

FNRT 30900 - Fine Arts Interdisciplinary Course
This course offers students direct experience of the major aspects of contemporary culture in a location abroad. The faculty has structured a variety of field trips to facilitate the investigation of the arts in theatres, museums, galleries, concert halls, and studios and other arts allied spaces. Students will also be able to interview a number of the people who are responsible for the abundance of the arts in the city now.

THEA 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Theatre: Fort Worth Theatre Exploration
Students will explore the varied culture of professional and community theatres in the Fort Worth area.

THEA 10901 - Theatre Production
Practical experience for freshmen and sophomores in all areas of theatre production, related directly to Theatre TCU productions. May be repeated for credit.

THEA 10911 - Theatre Performance
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Practical experience in acting for freshmen and sophomores related directly to roles in Theatre TCU productions. May be repeated for credit.

THEA 11003 - Survey of Theatre
An introductory course in theatre focusing on production, performance, dramatic literature and history.

Texas Christian University was founded as AddRan Male and Female College, and its largest and most central academic unit continues to carry the distinctive name that Addison and Randolph Clark devised for their school.

AddRan College of Liberal Arts also continues TCU's well-developed tradition of emphasis on the liberal arts. The college's faculty and programs provide a sound foundation for a lifetime of intellectual growth and preparation for the multiple careers that most will experience in the 21st century. Courses in the humanities and social sciences form a major part of the core studies of all University students, and concentrated effort in one AddRan area can provide the base for future personal and vocational choices.

Degree programs within AddRan College vary widely. Some provide the solid liberal arts base needed for professional study toward the ministry, law, medicine, business, teaching and related fields. Some have a professional orientation within themselves, with specialized study leading toward specific career objectives. In all of the programs, students find flexibility and freedom balanced by structure and discipline.

AddRan's academic advisement system is part of its intent to help individual students meet their educational needs. Faculty members in each academic program serve as advisers. Students are expected to meet with their advisers at least once each semester as they plan studies for the next term, and appointments are encouraged at other times when students feel the need to discuss their academic options. All first-year students, whether entering freshmen or transfers, are required to see an adviser prior to registering. Names of advisers are available through each of the departments. All freshmen and pre-majors are advised through the Center for Academic Services.

AddRan College Organization

AddRan College is organized into 10 departments, two interdepartmental programs, two units of Reserve Officers' Training Corps and one academic service unit.

Departments
- Criminal Justice
- Economics
- English
- History and Geography
- Modern Language Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Religion
- Sociology and Anthropology
- Spanish and Hispanic Studies

Cooperative Programs
- Master's in Education (3/2 Program with College of Education)

Reserve Officers' Training Corps
- Aerospace Studies, Air Force ROTC
- Military Science, Army ROTC

Academic Service Unit
- English Language Center

Residence Study Abroad
- TCU Summer Study Tours in Europe
- TCU Summer Study Courses in Italy, Great Britain, and Germany

Administrative offices for AddRan College are on the second floor of Scharbauer Hall, which also houses the departmental offices of criminal justice, economics, modern language studies, philosophy, political science, sociology and anthropology, and Spanish and Hispanic studies. English, history and geography are located in Dave Reed Hall, and religion is in Theodore Beasley Hall.

AddRan College Degree Programs

AddRan College administers programs that lead to the Bachelor of Arts (BA) and Bachelor of Science (BS) degrees.

The Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree is offered with majors in:
- Anthropology
- Economics
- English
- Geography
- History
- International Economics
- Modern Language Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Religion
- Sociology
- Spanish
- Writing

The Bachelor of Science (BS) degree is offered with majors in:
- Economics
- Political Science
- Sociology

Professions Program
- Bachelor of Science (BS) in Criminal Justice

Multiple Majors
Students with a first major in AddRan College may declare an additional major in lieu of or in addition to a minor. The additional major may be selected from the other colleges/schools at TCU.

Students seeking an additional major in a school/college other than AddRan must have the approval of the dean of AddRan and the dean of the additional major.

Students with a first major in another TCU school/college may select additional majors from those available in AddRan with the approval of the dean of the school/college of the first major and the dean of AddRan. Students who seek a second major from AddRan, if that major is one approved for the BA, must satisfy the foreign language requirement described below.

The degree awarded will be that appropriate to the major designated as the first major. All degree requirements for each major must be satisfied. These include all TCU Core Curriculum requirements associated with any particular major, as well as all associated requirements.

Pass/No-Credit Option
Students may take up to two courses (eight hours maximum) on a Pass/No-Credit (P/NC) basis. No course applied to the student's major, minor or associated requirements may be taken on the P/NC basis. Courses offered only with the P/NC grade will not be counted toward this limit on the number P/NC hours. The P/NC option is not allowed in any English as a Foreign Language course offered by the English Language Center.

Transfer Credit
Students wishing to take courses at another college or university following their admission to TCU must receive approval of such courses through the office of the dean of AddRan College before enrolling in them.

AddRan Interdisciplinary Courses

ADRN 20101 - Make Your Major Work
Prerequisites: any AddRan major with at least sophomore standing.
This eight-week course will prepare students to enter the job market, and to be effective in their job search. Students will learn how to articulate their marketable skills, to identify their strengths, and to determine what types of jobs are available for their transferable skills and major. They will learn how to create an effective resume and cover letter, and will practice their networking and interviewing skills.

ADRN 20903 - Ideas of Leadership
An examination of the concept of leadership and various ideals of leadership from various points of view in the humanities and social sciences. Models of "the good leader" from a variety of classical and contemporary sources will be analyzed and compared. A number of famous historical leaders will be evaluated in terms of the models presented.

ADRN 30103 - Understanding West Africa: Ghana
This course is aimed at introducing participants to the cultural and socio-political development of Ghana through a four-week intensive, interdisciplinary study and travel-abroad experience in this West African nation. It is expected that participants will come away with a sense of the vast differences manifest in the way human societies work and, at the same time, develop a sincere respect for these differences. Course open to students of all majors. Instructor's permission is required.

AddRan Bachelor of Arts Degree

Students pursuing a program leading to a BA degree must complete a minimum of 124 semester hours, 42 of which must be advanced (30000 level or above) from TCU, with a major selected from the approved list of majors above and a minor chosen in consultation with the student's adviser. The specific number of hours required for the major and minor may be found in the appropriate section of this catalog.

A maximum of 36 semester hours in any one subject field may be counted toward the 124-semester-hour minimum required for the BA degree. ENGL 10803 or 10833 and ENGL 20803 are excluded from the 36-semester-hour maximum for students majoring in English.

In addition, students must complete the TCU Core Curriculum described elsewhere in this catalog.

Notes:
1. No more than eight semester hours of physical education activity courses may be applied toward graduation requirements.
2. Specific courses have been approved to meet the core curriculum. These courses are so identified in the schedule of classes for each term's offerings.
3. No course may be applied to more than one set of major or minor requirements without the express approval of the associate dean of AddRan College.

Foreign Language Requirement
All students pursuing the BA degree in AddRan College must demonstrate competency in a foreign language equivalent to the completion of one of the following:
- CHIN 20063 Intermediate Chinese II
- FREN 20063 Fourth Semester College French
- GRMN 20063 Intermediate German
- GREE 20063 Fourth Semester College Greek (Hellenistic)
- ITAL 20063 Fourth Semester College Italian
- JAPN 20063 Fourth Semester College Japanese
- SPAN 20203 Intermediate Spanish 2
- SPAN 20213 Intensive Intermediate Spanish 2

This requirement may be satisfied by either satisfactory completion of coursework taken at or transferred to TCU or by presenting satisfactory scores on recognized standardized tests (i.e., AP, CLEP or SAT II). Required scores on standardized tests may be found in the Credit by Exam booklet available from the Office of Admission. For languages not currently taught at TCU, six semester hours at the sophomore-level, transferred to TCU from another accredited institution, may be used to satisfy this requirement. Students may also provide evidence of competency in the non-English language by successfully completing one academic year in a secondary or post-secondary institution in which the language of instruction is other than English, for which the student will receive 12 hours of credit.

AddRan Bachelor of Science Degree

Students pursuing a program leading to a BS degree must complete the minimum number of semester hours, 42 of which must be advanced (30000 level or above), specified for their particular major chosen from the list of approved majors for a BS degree above. Specific requirements of each major are to be found in the appropriate section of this catalog. Where a minor is called for, it is to be selected with the assistance of the student's adviser from the list of approved minors.

In addition to the specific requirements, students must complete the TCU Core Curriculum described elsewhere in this catalog.

Notes:
1. No more than eight physical education courses may be applied toward graduation requirements.
2. Specific courses have been approved to meet the core curriculum. These courses are so identified in the schedule of classes for each term's offerings.
3. No course may be applied to more than one set of major or minor requirements without the express approval of the associate dean of AddRan College.

Other Bachelor of Science Degrees
All policies relevant to the BS degree also apply to the degree of BS in Criminal Justice.

AddRan Minors

The following is a list of approved minors in AddRan College:
- Asian Studies
- Anthropology
- British and Colonial/Post-Colonial Studies
- Classical Studies
- Criminal Justice
- Economics
- English
- French
- Geography
- German
- History
- International Economics
- Italian
- Japanese
- Latino/a Studies
- Philosophy
- Political Science
- Religion
- Sociology
- Spanish
- Spanish for the Health Professions
- Urban Studies
- Writing

In addition, minors are accepted from the other colleges/schools at TCU. Students seeking a minor from the College of Education must obtain the approval of the office of the dean of the College of Education.

Aerospace Studies

The U.S. Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) provides women and men at Texas Christian University, Texas Wesleyan University, Dallas Baptist University, University of Texas at Arlington, Weatherford College, and Tarrant County College the education and training necessary to develop the management and leadership skills vital to professional Air Force officers.

Enrollment in the General Military Course (first two years) is voluntary for eligible students and does not obligate non-scholarship students for further military service. The Professional Officer Course (last two years) is also voluntary but competitive. Because the Professional Officer Course leads to a commission in the U.S. Air Force, those selected to continue training will incur military obligation.

Aerospace studies courses are taken concurrently with other degree programs. No degree is offered in aerospace studies, but up to 24 semester hours may be earned in aerospace studies over the four-year period. Some of the classes may be used to meet major elective requirements; students should see their academic adviser for confirmation. Students who enroll in aerospace studies classes must attend both classroom and leadership laboratory classes at TCU, 2800 W. Lowden St., Fort Worth, Texas. The laboratory classes give students first-hand experience in developing leadership and organizational skills while preparing them for enrollment in the Professional Officer Course.

Aerospace Studies Program Requirements

Four-Year Program

This program enables students to take advantage of four years of aerospace studies courses. Each semester, for the first two years, cadets take a one-credit hour academic class and a one-credit hour Pass/No-Credit Leadership Laboratory (LLab). The first two years collectively are referred to as the General Military Course (GMC). Upon successful completion of the GMC and an ensuing four-week Air Force paid field training course, qualified and selected students may elect to enroll in the final two years, referred to as the Professional Officer Course (POC). Each semester in the POC, students take a three-credit hour academic class and a one-credit hour Pass/No-Credit LLab. AFROTC uniforms and textbooks are issued by the unit.

Two-Year Program

This program is commonly known as the Professional Officer Course (POC) and enables eligible graduate and undergraduate students to obtain a commission in the U.S. Air Force. Formal selection for entering the POC requires completion of a summer field training course.

Students elective this option must apply to the professor of aerospace studies early in their sophomore year or before entering a graduate degree program and pass the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test, a physical examination and a physical fitness test prior to attending the field training course. Two-year students enrolled in the POC receive similar benefits and advantages to those enrolled in the four-year program, including the opportunity to apply for various Air Force ROTC college scholarships. Students selected for the POC receive a monthly subsistence allowance.

More detailed information about the Air Force ROTC Program is available through the Department of Aerospace Studies. The department is located at 2800 W. Lowden Street. The telephone number is 817.257.7461, or call 1-800-TCU-FROG and ask for Air Force ROTC.

Aerospace Studies General Qualifications

A student enrolling in AFROTC must:

- Be a full-time student (12 semester hours or more; nine hours for postgraduate students);
- Be a U.S. citizen;
- Be in good physical condition/health;
- Have good moral character; and
- Be no older than 34 years old upon commissioning.

AFROTC Program Benefits

As Air Force ROTC cadets, students are entitled to selective benefits. Social and co-curricular activities, together with leadership and academic training, are all part of Air Force ROTC. Contracted cadets receive a nontaxable subsistence allowance each month during the school year. The detachment sponsors a Civil Air Patrol where cadets can obtain front-seat and back-seat flying time in Cessna aircraft. Drill team, honor guard and Arnold Air Honor Society are just a few social outlets for the cadets. Summer opportunities for cadets can include a paid visit to a military installation for two weeks, freefall parachuting, combat survival training, flight nurse shadowing and cadet training assistant duty at field training.

AFROTC Scholarships

Air Force ROTC offers four-, three-and a half, three, two-and-a-half, two-and one-year (in some situations) scholarships. Scholarships vary in amount based on major and applicant qualifications but all pay a stipend for textbooks and fees, plus a monthly, nontaxable, stipend during the school year. Scholarships are offered in various majors. In addition to meeting the general qualifications mentioned above, scholarship applicants must be at least 17 years of age when the scholarship is activated and must be less than 31 years of age as of the end of their commissioning year. Requirements for each scholarship category may vary; therefore, applicants should contact the Department of Aerospace Studies at 817.257.7461 for specific details.

High school students may apply for a four-year scholarship no later than December 1 of their high school senior year. Scholarship applications for college students are made through the Department of Aerospace Studies in the spring semester. Scholarship applicants are selected using the whole-person concept, which includes objective factors (i.e., GPA and physical fitness), and subjective factors (i.e., personal evaluations). Students who are enrolled in Air Force ROTC generally improve their scholarship selection opportunity.

High school students who are offered an AFROTC scholarship with an SAT of 1750 or ACT of 27, and who attend TCU, may be offered a TCU room and board subsidy. High school students who receive a three-year scholarship with the above scores may also receive an additional semester of tuition paid if attending TCU.

Aerospace Studies Courses

AEST 10001 - Leadership Lab

The Leadership Lab (LLab) also includes studying the environment of an Air Force officer and learning about areas of opportunity available to commissioned officers. The AS3000 and AS4000 LLabs consist of activities classified as leadership and management experiences. They involve the planning and controlling of military activities of the cadet corps; and the preparation and presentation of briefings and other oral and written communications. LLabs also include interviews, guidance, and information which will increase the understanding, motivation, and performance of other cadets.

AEST 10211 - Foundation of the United States Air Force

Air Force AEST 10211 in the fall of 2021 and 10221 in the spring: A survey course designed to introduce students to the U.S. Air Force and Air Force ROTC. Featured topics include: mission and organization of the Air Force, officer and enlisted professionalism, military customs and courtesies, Air Force officer opportunities, group leadership problems, and an introduction to communication skills. Leadership Laboratory 10001 complements this course by providing cadets with followership experiences.

AEST 20211 - The Evolution of USAF Air and Space Power

Air and Space Power (AEST 20211 in the fall and 20221 in the spring): A survey course designed to examine general aspects of air and space power through a historical perspective. Utilizing this perspective, the course covers a time period from the first balloons and dirigibles to the space-age global positioning systems of the Persian Gulf War. Historical examples are provided to extrapolate the development of Air Force capabilities (competencies), and missions (functions) to demonstrate the evolution of what has become today’s USAF air and space power. Furthermore, the course examines several fundamental truths associated with war in the third dimension: e.g. Principles of War and Tenets of Air and Space Power. As a whole, this course provides the student with a knowledge level understanding for the general element and employment of air and space power, from an institutional, doctrinal, and historical perspective. In addition, the students will continue to discuss the importance of the Air Force Core Values with the use of operational examples and leaders and will continue to develop their communication skills. In addition, Leadership Laboratory is mandatory for Air Force ROTC cadets (not special students), and it complements this course by providing cadets with followership experiences.

AEST 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

AEST 30113 - Leadership Studies
Case studies are used to examine Air Force leadership and management situations as a means of demonstrating and exercising practical application of the concepts being studied. A mandatory Leadership Laboratory complements this course by providing advanced leadership experiences in officer-type activities, giving students the opportunity to apply leadership and management principles of this course.

AEST 30123 - Leadership Studies

AFROTC Commissioning
Upon successful completion of the AFROTC Program and baccalaureate or graduate degree, a student is commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. Newly commissioned officers can normally expect to be called into active service within 180 days from the date of their commissioning. In some instances, active service can be delayed by students continuing in post-baccalaureate degree programs.

Anthropology

The anthropology major is administered by the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. It is available as a major on the BA degree and a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Anthropology is the holistic description and analysis of human beings in all their diversity. Anthropology emphasizes a cross-cultural and global perspective, and seeks to understand our species, Homo sapiens, both throughout time and in many different geographical regions. Anthropology is divided into four fields: sociocultural anthropology, archaeology, physical anthropology and linguistic anthropology. Anthropologists study a wide range of topics, including gender and ethnicity, race, material artifacts, human evolution, genetic diversity, medicine and healing, globalization, economic systems and social change, violence and social suffering, sociocultural systems of past societies, the rise of complex civilizations, language and culture, urbanization, religion and ritual, and the effect of the mass media. Anthropologists conduct their research in many different places throughout the world, including Mexico, Brazil, Germany, Japan and the United States.

Anthropology is an important component of a liberal arts education, as it complements a wide variety of other disciplines, encourages analytical thinking and fosters a holistic approach to learning. The undergraduate program in anthropology can provide a foundation for the pursuit of advanced degrees in anthropology and other disciplines such as law, medicine, social work, public health, education and history. Anthropology's focus on understanding different cultures makes it a particularly good preparation for work related to international and global issues, public policy and cultural diversity. Anthropology graduates use their degrees in a wide range of fields such as government service, museums, international organizations, business, education, advocacy, public policy analysis, market research and health care.

ANTH 30633 - Anthropology and Sports
The relationship between social science and the study of sports and other play forms; games and play in cross-cultural contexts; American sports and recreation.

ANTH 30643 - Anthropology and Education
A comparative study of the teaching and learning processes in societies of differing complexity and cultural variability. Empirical data is examined from an anthropological perspective and in the context of theories about culture and perception, world view, rites of passage, culture and personality, and change.

ANTH 30653 - Sex, Gender and Culture
Prerequisites: ANTH 20623 or WOST 20003, or consent of the instructor. Explores the anthropological significance of sex and gender as multifaceted and diverse categories of human experience across a broad range of cultures. Studies of sexual orientation, gender identity, reproduction, cultural politics, health, and sociocultural inequalities.

ANTH 30663 - Environmental Justice, Human Rights, and Agriculture
Discusses the intersection of food and justice. Investigates injustices generated by the current U.S. food system and by global agribusiness against farm workers in Mexico and the U.S. against residents of underprivileged communities in U.S. cities. Explores possible solutions to these injustices, including fair trade, urban agriculture, food banks, and food policy councils. Students will design an experiential, service learning group project in conjunction with TCU and community partners.

ANTH 30673 - Anthropology and Religion
Prerequisites: ANTH 20623, RELI 10023 or RELI 10043 or consent of the instructor. Anthropological findings in the comparative study of religion and culture across a broad range of societies. Studies of sacred experience, myth, ritual, magic, witchcraft, religious language, gender and religion, healing, and relationships between social and religious change.

ANTH 30703 - Archaeology of Mexico and Peru
Prerequisites: ANTH 20613 or 20623 or 20633, or with consent of the instructor. An archaeological survey of the ancient cultures of Mexico and Andean South America, from the first human migrations into the Americas to the Aztec and Inka empires. Anthropological perspectives on developmental sequences and achievements of major indigenous civilizations in both culture areas are discussed and compared.

ANTH 30713 - World Archaeology
Prerequisite: ANTH 20633 or consent of instructor. An in-depth treatment of basic techniques, methods and concepts of archaeology and a continued update in recent archaeological discoveries around the globe. Research using published site reports and professional journals. Site visitations to excavations in process will be initiated whenever applicable.

ANTH 30723 - Ethnology of Selected Areas
Origin and distribution of the native populations of selected areas. The historical development and current perspectives of institutions, belief and value systems, and comparative organization of cultural areas. Possible areas to be examined include Native North Americans, peoples of South America, and peoples of Africa.

ANTH 30773 - Latin American Pop Culture
Prerequisite: ANTH 20623 or consent of instructor. Anthropological perspectives on the relationship of Latin American pop culture to Latin American societies. Examines everyday cultural productions, such as dance, music, soccer, television, soap opera, Carnival, and other festivals. Particular attention given to popular culture as a key site where national, racial, gender, sexual, and class identities are constructed, commodified, contested, and globally circulated. Cultural case studies may include: Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, and Cuba.

ANTH 30783 - Anthropological Approaches to Nature and the Sacred
Explores the complex interrelationships between people's spiritual beliefs and the environment. Comparative, cross-cultural approach to key features of selected work and indigenous religions, such as cosmologies, sacred lands, agriculture, and animals. Also examines emerging approaches to environment and religion, including ecofeminist spirituality; environmentalism as spiritual practice and civic religion; new green religious movements; and contemporary religious responses to the environmental crisis.

ANTH 30823 - Native American Religions and Ecology
Explores religious beliefs related to the environment and subsistence among Native North American Indian peoples. Investigates topics such as sacred stories and folktales, art and dance, rites of passage, health and healing, and hunting and agricultural rituals. Discusses the changing roles Native American religious beliefs have plays among both native and Euro-American peoples since the time of first contact, from the crafting of pan-tribal native identities to New Age appropriations of sweat lodges and vision quests.

ANTH 30923 - Studies in Anthropology
Topics of interest in anthropology, including substantive areas of the discipline.
ANTH 30933 - Studies in Ethno-Archeology
An examination of world cultures based on the results of information secured by technologists and archaeologists working in the field. The topical focus may vary each semester.

ANTH 30943 - Japan: Heritage, Culture, and Globalization
This course provides the student with an overview of Japanese history and major cultural traditions. Japanese society will be looked at from its origins through the Tokugawa period and onto modern Japan. Religious traditions and cultural perspectives will be highlighted. Additionally, the place of modern Japan in the global community will be examined.

ANTH 30953 - Japan: Crime, Criminal Justice and Social Problems
The course provides the student with an overview of the functioning of the Japanese policing, court, and correctional systems. In addition, both Japanese street crime and organized crime will be examined with special emphasis on the organization and history of the Japanese Yakuza. Further, the course will examine the realities of a myriad of social problems in Japanese society both as individual issues and as causes/effects of criminality. These topics include but are not limited to issues of poverty, urbanization, drug use and family structure stresses.

ANTH 30963 - Japan: Environment, Technology, and Sustainability
The course provides the student with an overview of Japan's perspectives on and efforts toward sustainability in relation to the environment and economic/technological growth. Issues of mass transportation, energy production, green architecture, and farming/fishing will be addressed. In addition the place of sustainability as a philosophical dovetail to Japanese religious and cultural traditions will be highlighted.

ANTH 30983 - Anthropological Field Methods
Prerequisite: ANTH 20623, ANTH 20633 or permission of instructor. This course is offered as either a cultural anthropology or archaeology field school. Phases, methods, and problems of collection and processing in field and laboratory of ethnographic and archaeological data. Issues of public interaction, participant-observation, interviewing, survey, and excavation are addressed as appropriate to the setting.

ANTH 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ANTH 40003 - Senior Honors Research Paper
Senior Honors Research Paper

ANTH 40423 - The Anthropology of Violence
Prerequisites: ANTH 20623 or consent of instructor. An anthropological examination of the relationship between violence and culture. Ethnographic cases of violence in many different regions, such as Latin America, sub-Saharan Africa, South Asia, and Western Europe. Topics may include: civil war, ethnic conflict, crime and the structural 'violences' of poverty, racism, gendered violence, famine and disease, and the cultural construction and social consequences of fear.

ANTH 40433 - Transnational Processes: Globalization, Migrations, and Borders
Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructor. This course explores ongoing processes that link economic systems, multinational, supranational institutions, armed conflict, poverty, and prosperity in different parts of the world, combining macro and local, native perspectives. Students learn theoretical frameworks and their application to develop ethics that may orient future endeavors in graduate training and professional life.

ANTH 40523 - Mass Media and Culture
Prerequisite: ANTH 20623 or consent of instructor. An anthropological examination of the relationship between mass media and culture. Particular emphasis on the impact of mass media on the production and consumption of cultural meaning and identities. Inquiry into representations of gender, sexuality, the body, ethnicity, social race, and nationhood in mass media discourses. Case studies of mass media in local spaces and global contexts.

ANTH 40620 - Directed Reading or Research in Anthropology
For upper-division students who undertake projects in anthropology in regular consultation with the instructor, for one to three semester hours credit.

ANTH 50623 - Advanced General Anthropology
An overview of the field, including archaeology, linguistics, ethnology, and physical anthropology. Description and analysis of the profession, its history, theoretical and intellectual leaders and current ethical dilemmas. For advanced undergraduates and graduate students with opportunities to pursue individual interests within the field.

ANTH 50923 - Kinship and Social Organization
Prerequisite: ANTH 20623 or permission of instructor. Principles of descent, kinship terminology and formation of descent groups, including an examination of specific terminological systems in relation to other features of social organization; the adaptive dynamics of family, groups, kinship, and extra-familial associations in simple and complex societies.

Asian Studies

Asian studies is available as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. The minor program offers students multidisciplinary opportunities to study subjects concerning the peoples and cultures of Asia.

Asian Studies Minor Requirements
Students are required to take 18 hours, selected from at least three departments, from a variety of courses focusing on the history and thought of the peoples in Asia. No more than nine hours may be taken in any one department, and at least nine hours must be at the 30000 level or above. Up to six hours of a single foreign language (Japanese or Chinese), at the second semester level or higher, may be applied to minor requirements. The Culture and Civilization courses (CHIN 30113 and JAPN 30113) may be counted in addition to the six language credits.

British and Colonial/Post-Colonial Studies

British and Colonial/Post-Colonial studies is available as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. This minor is designed to provide students with an understanding of the current state and history of Great Britain and its former and current colonies. It is interdisciplinary in nature, drawing upon departments and course offerings throughout the University, as well as the TCU in London Program. Through this minor, students become aware of how different areas of study, including art, film, history, journalism, literature, religion, and social behavioral and natural sciences, coalesce and contribute to the knowledge of a particular region. It also provides students with a framework for investigating issues of globalization, such as the impact of colonization on nations and their history and the state of the former colonies in contemporary life.

British and Colonial/Post-Colonial Studies Minor Requirements

The minor is 18 hours and requires completion of two core courses, a disciplinary concentration consisting of three courses, and one elective course. The designated core courses draw from a variety of disciplines and are selected to provide students with:

- Foundational knowledge about Great Britain, its history and culture, and the processes of change over time.
- An introduction to the critical issues of Colonial/Post-Colonial studies (see list below).

The disciplinary concentration allows students to develop an area of specialization—arts and humanities or natural and social sciences—within the minor. For further information, contact the program director.

Restrictions

Courses must draw from at least three different departments with no more than nine hours completed in one department. No more than six hours can be completed at the 10000/20000 level. A maximum of 12 hours completed through the TCU in London Program or any other TCU Study Abroad Program can count toward the minor, but no more than six of those 12 hours can be London Internship hours. The program director must approve the application of any transfer credit to the minor requirements.

Specific Requirements

1. Three hours in a foundations course selected from this list or any other relevant course submitted and approved by program director:
   ART 20073 British Art: Medieval to Modern
   ART 30073 Modern British Art
   ENGL 20403 Major British Writers
   ENGL 30113 British Literature to 1800
   ENGL 30123 British Literature since 1800
   ENGL 30413 British Literature to 1500
   HIST 30503 History of England to 1603
   HIST 30513 History of England and Great Britain since 1603
   HIST 30523 Tudor-Stuart England, 1485-1714
   HIST 30593 Making of Modern England

2. Three hours in a Colonial/Post-Colonial studies course selected from this list or any other relevant course submitted and approved by program director:
   ECON 40413 U.S. Economic History-The Founding Eras
   ENGL 30443 20th-Century Irish Literature
   ENGL 30473 WildeYears: Oscar Wilde and the 1890s
   ENGL 30683 Post-Colonial Anglophone Literature
   ENGL 30693 Post-Colonial Anglophone Literature
   ENGL 30773 India: Texts and Traditions
   HIST 30533 England, 1815-1901, Politics, Prudery and the Pax Britannica

3. Nine hours of disciplinary concentration in one of the following two groups, with courses taken from at least two different departments within that group. Courses may be selected from the list in 1. or 2. above, or any other course relevant to the minor. While students may take courses for the concentration from their major department, no course may be applied to both major and minor requirements.
   - Arts and Humanities: art history, communication studies, design, English, journalism, music, philosophy, religion, FTDM, theatre.
   - Natural and Social Sciences: economics, education, geography, geology, history, political science, psychology.

4. Three elective hours selected from the list of courses in 1. or 2. above or any relevant course in any participating department.

The following courses taught at the London Centre and the London Internship may be applied toward the minor:
   ART 20603 Art in London
   ART 20003 Art and Culture of Ancient Greece
   BRST 40920 London Internship
   ENGL 30973 London and Literature in the 20th Century

Brit & Col/Post-Colonial Studies Courses

BRST 30990 - International Residential Study

This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

BRST 40003 - Senior Seminar: British Colonial/Post-Colonial Study

This is a capstone course for the minor, and includes readings in British and colonial/postcolonial studies and an independent project. The independent project is pursued in consultation with the program director, and aims to reflect on the student's work in the minor, to synthesize the skills developed through the student's coursework, and to consider how they might be applied after graduation. Projects may include: an original creative performance; a scientific investigation; a portfolio of critical writing; or a U.S.-based internship with an employer with substantial interests in Britain or the former colonies. All projects also require a journal documenting and reflecting on the student's progress.

BRST 40900 - Internship in Political Science/British Studies

Washington Center or at the TCU in London Program. Full-time internships with a public or private agency in Washington, D.C. or in London, England, offered either through the Washington Center or through the TCU in London Program. The internship will allow students to integrate theory and practice in a supervised professional setting, up to 12 semester hours credit. (Offered as BRST or POSC credit.)

BRST 40920 - London Internships

3-day or 4-day per week interns with public or private agencies in London, England, offered through the TCU in London Program. Offered during the fall and spring terms, these internships accommodate students' long-term professional objectives. Internships are offered for either 9 or 12 semester hours credit. Most of the London internships also take one or two classroom courses while in London. (Offered either for BRST or POSC credit.)

Classical Studies

Classical studies is available as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.
Classical Studies Minor
The minor in classical studies requires 18 semester hours, with a six-hour minimum of upper-division courses, selected from at least three areas. Up to nine hours of Greek/Latin can be counted toward the minor (including applicable AP/CLEP credit). Other courses may be applied to the minor with the approval of the minor coordinator or the AddRan associate dean. Students are encouraged to take part in a study abroad program relevant to the minor. Current approved courses include:

- ANTH 30923 Studies in Anthropology: Archaeology of Greece and Rome
- ART 20003 Classical Tradition in Art
- ENGL 20633 Mythology
- ENGL 50253 Classical Rhetoric
- GREE 40970 Directed Studies in Greek
- GRMN 20973 Honors: The Afterlife of the Greek Tradition
- GRMN 20983 Honors: The Afterlife of the Roman Tradition
- HIST 30003 The Greek World
- HIST 30133 The Roman Republic and Empire
- PHIL 40213 History of Ancient and Medieval Philosophy
- POSC 30203 Topics in Political Theory (when topic-appropriate)
- RELI 30113 Jesus and the Gospels
- RELI 30123 Paul and the Early Church
- THEA 30103 Theatre History I

Students who minor in classical studies are subject to the Pass/No-Credit Policy of their major department.

Criminal Justice
Criminal justice is available as a major on the BS degree and as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. Criminal justice serves the academic needs and career objectives of a variety of students. The major in criminal justice can serve as preparation for further formal education in graduate or law school, as well as for immediate entry into careers in the criminal justice system. Courses may be selected to emphasize any of the three components of the criminal justice system: police, courts or corrections. Alternatively, students may choose courses that provide exposure to special issues and problems in criminal justice. In addition, the internship program provides students opportunities to experience working in the criminal justice field.

Transfer students may receive a maximum of nine hours credit in the major for criminal justice courses taken at accredited colleges and universities. A maximum of six hours may be counted toward the minor. The chair of the Criminal Justice Department determines the applicability of such coursework to the program's degree requirements.

Honors Program
Criminal justice majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in CRJU 30003 during their junior year and CRJU 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Criminal Justice Major Requirements
The BS with a major in criminal justice requires a total of 124 semester hours. The degree does not require a foreign language. The major requires 42 hours in criminal justice courses and 3 hours in associated courses:

- The 42 semester hours in criminal justice (CRJU) must include:
  - Required Criminal Justice Courses (21 hours)
    - CRJU 20413 Introduction to Criminal Justice
    - CRJU 20423 Critical Issues in Crime and Justice
    - CRJU 20873 Criminal Justice Research Methods I
    - CRJU 20883 Criminal Justice Research Methods II
    - CRJU 30313 Criminology
    - CRJU 30423 Courts and Judicial Procedure
    - CRJU 40963 Internship in Criminal Justice
  - Law Enforcement (3 hours)
    - CRJU 30613 Police in a Free Society or
    - CRJU 30633 Federal Law Enforcement
  - Law (3 hours)
    - CRJU 30433 Criminal Law or
    - CRJU 30443 Cyber Law or
    - CRJU 30903 Law and Society
  - Corrections (3 hours)
    - CRJU 30393 Sociology of Corrections or

- Diversity (3 hours)
  - CRJU 30853 Multiculturalism in the Criminal Justice System
  - CRJU 40463 Juvenile Delinquency or
  - CRJU 40503 White Collar Crime

- Electives (9 hours)
  - Associated Requirement (3 hours)
    - SOCI 20213 Introductory Sociology or
    - SOCI 20223 Social Problems

Although taught regularly, not all required courses are scheduled every semester. It is the students' responsibility to complete the major requirements for graduation as early in their tenure as possible. Exemptions to the major requirements will not be made because of student failure to complete coursework in a timely fashion.

Criminal Justice Minor
The minor in criminal justice requires 18 hours. Required courses for the minor are CRJU 20413 and 30313.

Alpha Phi Sigma
The Criminal Justice Program sponsors a chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, the national honor society in the discipline. Any criminal justice major or minor with a 3.2 overall GPA and a 3.2 in criminal justice-related courses is eligible.

Criminal Justice Courses

CRJU 20413 - Introduction to Criminal Justice
An examination of the history, theory, and structure of the criminal justice system in the United States, with an emphasis on the various components of the criminal justice process including police, the courts, corrections.

An introduction to criminal justice research procedures, with emphasis on the analysis and interpretation of data.

CRJU 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CRJU 30003 - Honors in Criminal Justice
For Honors students and other selected superior students with permission of the Chair of the Criminal Justice Department. Studies, reports, and discussions of the literature of criminal justice. Examination of significant problems and trends.

CRJU 30223 - Contemporary Topics in Criminal Justice
An examination of topics of current interest in crime and justice. Topics change, therefore this course may be taken more than once.

CRJU 30233 - Sustainability: Environmental, Social & Economic Issues
The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the concept of sustainability from a multidisciplinary perspective. Sustainability includes a focus on the environment, social justice issues, and economic development that provides the basic needs for sustaining an acceptable quality of life. A focus on the global implications will be stressed and students will explore the connections between sustainability and citizenship and social values.

CRJU 30313 - Criminology
Prerequisite: SOCI 20213 or SOCI 20223, or permission of instructor. An examination of sociological and criminological theories of crime, criminality, and crime control. (Offered as CRJU or SOCI credit.)
CRJU 30323 - Cultural Criminology
This course offers an overview of the field of cultural criminology, from its theoretical and historical foundations to its current developments. The course explores the various intersections of culture, crime, and crime control, including criminal subcultures, crime and consumer culture, crime as pleasure and performance, and crime and crime control as public display. (Offered as CRJU or SOCI credit.)

CRJU 30393 - Sociology of Corrections
The examination of correctional agencies and programs, including the social structure of prisons and its impact on the offender, deterrent and treatment effects of correctional practices, probation and parole, and an examination of various experiments in institutional and community based corrections. (Offered as CRJU or SOCI credit.)

CRJU 30423 - Courts and Judicial Process
An examination of the American court system. Special topics will include a comparison of state and federal court systems, socialization processes within the legal profession, and an evaluation of the impact of politics on the judicial process.

CRJU 30433 - Criminal Law
Prerequisites: CRJU 20413. An examination of the major issues in criminal law and procedure emphasizing the basic elements of crime, search and seizure, interrogation, right to counsel, evidentiary concepts, pretrial release, and the appeals process.

CRJU 30443 - Cyber Law
Prerequisites: CRJU 20413. This course introduces students to legal issues in the Internet environment. Sociological and criminological perspectives are used to examine the challenges that the American legal system today faces in this new crime environment. This course satisfies the department of criminal justice's law requirement.

CRJU 30453 - Juvenile Justice

Economics

Economics is available as a major or a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. It is also available on the BA degree in international economics. Students who plan to pursue a graduate degree in economics should be certain to meet early and often with their faculty adviser to ensure that appropriate supplemental coursework is completed.

The Department of Economics is part of AddRan College of Liberal Arts and, thus, has a liberal arts focus. The program fosters an intellectual community, based on critical inquiry, that explores the human condition while enabling students to develop the capacity to "think like an economist," thereby providing the skills necessary for meaningful work, citizenship and leadership. Upon completion of the undergraduate degree programs, students majoring in economics should be able to analyze human action and interaction in economic terms, formally model economic phenomena, and apply core economic concepts to novel situations.

Honors Program
Economics majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in ECON 30003 during their junior year and ECON 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Minimum Grade Requirement
To graduate with a major in economics or international economics, students must earn a grade of "C" or better in all courses applied to the major, including associated requirements. In addition, a grade of "C" or better must be earned in any course serving as a prerequisite for a subsequent course in economics.

Course Scheduling
Although taught regularly, not all required courses are scheduled every semester. It is the students' responsibility to complete the major requirements for graduation as early in their tenure as possible. Exceptions to the major requirements or to course prerequisites will not be made because of student failure to complete coursework in a timely fashion. In particular, since they serve as prerequisites to many advanced courses, the foundations courses and associated requirements should be completed as early as possible in a student's academic career.

Economics Major Requirements

Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Economics
The BA with a major in economics requires 30 semester hours in economics, 24 of which must be at the 30000 level or above, plus a minimum of six semester hours in associated requirements. Prerequisites: ENGL 10803 or 10833, and one 20000-level ENGL course. A course for teachers of English combining theories of composition with practical pedagogy and classroom strategies for the teaching of writing. Not applicable toward degree requirements for the Ph.D. in English.

ENGL 50253 - Classical Rhetoric

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing, permission of instructor. This course examines the emergence of rhetoric in Antiquity and traces the impact of classical rhetoric up to the Middle Ages. A substantial amount of the course is devoted to learning about the relationship between oral and written discourse, the impact of literacy, and the adaptability of systems of communication to technology and society. The implications of such phenomena are examined in different periods in an effort to develop an historical perspective about the relationship between cognition and expression within cultural conditions.

ENGL 50973 - Directed Study in English

Prerequisites: ENGL 10803 or 10833, and one 20000-level ENGL course. Directed Study in English.

English as a Foreign Language

English as a Foreign Language (ENFL) courses offer elective credits for international students who have been admitted to TCU. These courses are designed to provide additional help in composition, reading and general study skills development.

Placement

Placement in these courses is based on the results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) section scores; the Test of Written English (TWE); and/or other standardized English proficiency exams, which are given to new students during their orientation. Those required to take any ENFL course(s) must successfully complete the course(s) before they will be allowed to continue their academic program.

Credit

Elective credit for ENFL courses is granted only for a grade of "C" or better. Students who make a "D" will receive a grade of "NC" (no credit) and must repeat the course. A student who receives an "F" must also repeat the course if eligible to enroll. The Pass/No Credit grading option is not permitted for ENFL courses.

Foreign Language Requirement

Students may demonstrate competency in a language other than English by meeting the TCU non-English language undergraduate requirement (and earn credit for this requirement) in a variety of ways. First, the student may meet the requirement by successful completion of coursework at TCU or by approved transfer credit from another institution.
institution, as specified in each academic major and receive the number of credit hours earned in those courses. Additionally, a student may provide evidence of competency in the non-English language by:

- Scores on standardized tests approved by the University, for which the student will receive three to 12 hours of credit depending on the examination score; or
- Successful completion of one academic year in a secondary or post-secondary institution in which the language of instruction is other than English, for which the student will receive 12 hours of credit.

English as a Foreign Language Courses

ENFL 10003 - Reading/Study Skills
A course designed to introduce and reinforce the reading and study skills necessary for success in the U.S. university.

ENFL 10103 - Intermediate Composition Skills
A course designed for students who first language is other than English; students should have an intermediate level of ability to write in English. The course fosters improvement of composition skills by writing ethnography (or the writing of American academic culture particularly). Concurrent enrollment in ENGL 10803, Introductory Composition: Writing from Sources or ENGL 10833 Comp: Freshman Seminar is expected. The TWE is required as a final exam.

ENFL 10113 - Advanced Composition Skills
A course designed for students whose first language is other than English; students should have an advanced level of ability to write in English. The course fosters improvement of composition skills by writing ethnography (or the writing of American academic culture particularly). Concurrent enrollment is expected in one of the following courses: ENGL 10803 Introductory Composition: Writing from Sources; ENGL 10833 Comp: Freshman Seminar; or ENGL 20803 Intermediate composition: Writing within communities. The TWE is required as a final exam.

General Studies

A program leading to the Bachelor of General Studies (BGS) degree is available for students whose educational goals may not be realized by traditional degree programs of the University. This program does not include a major or minor, but does require that a student satisfy all general University requirements and have an emphasis of at least 24 hours. Emphasis areas are restricted to those that allow non-majors to take advanced-level (30000 or above) courses. Degree plans must be approved by the director of general studies.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor’s Degree section of the University requirements.

General Studies Major Requirements

In addition to satisfying the TCU Core Curriculum requirements, students must take:

- A total of 124 semester hours with at least 45 semester hours taken at TCU.
- A minimum of 24 semester hours in an emphasis area approved by the director of general studies.
- Thirty-six semester hours at the advanced level (30000 level or above) with 24 or more of these advanced hours being taken at TCU. A minimum of 12 semester hours must be in the emphasis area.

The last 30 semester hours for the degree must be taken at TCU.

Geography

Geography is available as a major on the BA degree and as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. The program is administered by the Department of History.

Geography Major Requirements
The BA with a major in geography requires 30 semester hours. No grade lower than "C" can be applied to the major.
- GEOG 10003 World Regional Geography
- GEOG 20013 Human Geography
- GEOG 30503 Topics in Regional Geography
- GEOG 30513 United States
- GEOG 30523 Latin America
- GEOG 30533 Western Europe

At least six hours of the following systematic courses:

- GEOG 30703 Topics in Systematic Geography
- GEOG 30713 Urban Geography
- GEOG 30723 Cultural Geography

At least three hours of the following geology courses:

- GEOL 30113 Weather and Climate
- GEOL 40493 Geomorphology

A maximum of six hours from the following list of approved courses may be applied toward the major:

- ANTH 30723 Ethnology of Selected Areas
- BIOL 50313 Biogeography
- GEOL 40393 Soils in the Environment
- GEOL 50493 Physical Hydrology
- GEOL 50723 Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
- GEOL 50731 Remote Sensing Technology
- GEOL 50741 Image Processing
- GEOL 50751 Image Interpretation
- GEOL 50863 Spatial Analysis

Geography Minor

The minor in geography requires 18 semester hours, including GEOG 10003, 20013; nine semester hours of upper-division geography courses; and three semester hours from GEOL 10113, 30113 or 40493. No grade lower than "C" can be applied to the minor.

Geography Courses

GEOG 10003 - World Regional Geography
A survey of the world’s primary regions and the human and physical geography that shape them. Interactions between natural environment, cultural geography, geopolitics, history, land use, and economic geography are highlighted.

GEOG 20013 - Human Geography
The systematic subdivisions of human geography are surveyed, including urban, cultural, political, economic, historical, agricultural, and population geography. Within each subdiscipline, applications of geographic concepts and processes are emphasized.

GEOG 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

GEOG 30503 - Topics in Regional Geography
An analysis of the human and physical geography of a specific region. Examples of regions include Texas, Sub-Saharan Africa, and Eastern Europe. Regional characteristics investigated may include economic, political, historical, and cultural components as well as topography, climate, and natural resources. May be repeated for credit provided the specified region changes.

GEOG 30513 - Geography of the United States
An exploration of the human and physical geography of the United States. Areas of the country, such as the Pacific Northwest and New England, will be surveyed, analyzing the physical, historic, cultural, and economic characteristics that embody their unique regional identities.

GEOG 30533 - Geography of Western Europe
An exploration of the human and physical geography of Western Europe. Countries and regions of the realm will be surveyed, analyzing their economic, political, language and religious characteristics as well as topography, climate, and natural resources. Themes may include the impact of population trends, environmental problems, trade and economic development, interactions between ethnic groups, and geopolitical change.

GEOG 30703 - Topics in Systematic Geography
Concepts, principles, patterns, and processes associated with a specific subdiscipline in geography. Examples of topics include Economic Geography, Geopolitics, Medical Geography, and Physical Geography. May be repeated for credit provided the specified subdiscipline changes.

GEOG 30713 - Urban Geography
Urban Geography is the geographical study of cities. Examples of topics include: urban ecosystems; the role of physical geography in the origins and growth of cities; theoretical models of urban size, location, and land use structure; the internal geography of urban economic and social activity; and international and historical variation in the form, functions, and degree of urbanization.

GEOG 30723 - Cultural Geography
Cultural Geography is the study of human culture from the perspectives of its five geographic themes: culture region, diffusion and migration, cultural ecology, cultural landscape, and cultural integration. Each theme is applied to a variety of topics, which may include religion, language, cultural conflict, folk culture, popular culture, and demography.

GEOG 30970 - Topical Studies in Geography
Topical studies in Geography.

GEOG 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

GEOG 40010 - Field Studies in Geography
An intensive field study in the regional and systematic geography of a selected area. Examples include France, Central America, and the American West. May be repeated for credit provided the selected area changes.

GEOG 50970 - Special Studies in Geography
Supervised reading, research, and preparation of a substantial paper focused on a specific regional analysis or topical subdiscipline of geography. Regional characteristics investigated may include economic, political, historical, and cultural components as well as topography, climate, and natural resources. Examples of topics include advanced studies in Urban Geography, Cultural Geography, Geopolitics, and Historical Geography.

History

History is available as a major on the BA degree and as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Honors Program
History majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in HIST 30153 during their junior year and HIST 40103 during the fall semester of their senior year.

History Major Requirements
The BA with a major in history requires 30 semester hours in history courses, which include the following:

- A minimum of 9 hours of survey courses, drawn from at least three out of the following four categories:
  - U.S.: HIST 10603, 10613 (or the Honors equivalents 20603, 20613)
  - Europe: HIST 10203, 10213, 10223 (or 20203, 20213, 20223)
  - Latin America: HIST 10923, 10933 (or 20923, 20933)
  - Asia: HIST 10943, 10953 (or 20943, 20953)

- A maximum of 12 hours (at any level) in any one of these geographic areas may be counted toward the requirements for the major. Geographic association is indicated by the abbreviations U.S., EU, LA and AS. Students who complete the Honors intellectual traditions track (HHT 10113, 20123, 20133) may count these toward a history major or minor in lieu of the European survey courses.

- A minimum of 12 hours taken in courses numbered 30000 or above.

- History majors must take one History Major Seminar. The department offers one of the four seminars each semester. They are:
  - HIST 49963 History Major Seminar in the History of the United States
  - HIST 49973 History Major Seminar in the History of Europe
  - HIST 49983 History Major Seminar in the History of Asia
  - HIST 49993 History Major Seminar in the History of Latin America

The department recommends that this course be taken during the junior year; students are encouraged to take it prior to the semester in which the student plans to graduate. It is available to history majors only. Students pursuing Departmental Honors, with the approval of the adviser, substitute a History Major Seminar for the Juniors Honors Tutorial (HIST 30153) as preparation for completing the honors thesis.

History Minor
The minor in history requires 18 hours, to be distributed as follows:

- A minimum of nine hours of survey courses, drawn from at least three out of the following four categories:
  - U.S.: HIST 10603, 10613 (or the Honors equivalents 20603, 20613)
  - Europe: HIST 10203, 10213, 10223 (or 20203, 20213, 20223)
  - Latin America: HIST 10923, 10933 (or 20923, 20933)
  - Asia: HIST 10943, 10953 (or 20943, 20953)

- Three hours from HIST 10203, 10213, 10223 and three hours from HIST 10603, 10613 are recommended, but are not required.

- Students who complete the Honors intellectual traditions track (HHT 10113, 20123, 20133) may count these toward a history major or minor in lieu of the European survey courses.

- Six hours must be 30000 or above.

History Secondary Certification
To earn the history secondary certificate, students must complete 24 semester hours, which include two of the three European survey courses (HIST 10203, 10213 or 10223), HIST 10603 and 10613 or 10903 and 10913, HIST 40743, and nine semester hours at the 30000 level or above.

History Honor Society
The Department of History sponsors the Eta Kappa Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, national honor society in the discipline of history.

History Courses
HIST 10003 - History of Civilization: A Survey to 1500
This course provides an introduction to all the social sciences. It is required of all history majors. Examination of the developments of the foundation pillars of western civilization. Topics include the rise of civilization in the Near East, ancient Greece and Rome, the rise of Christianity, the impact of the Germanic invasions, Europe in the High Middle Ages, the Renaissance, the beginnings of overseas expansion. (NW)

HIST 10013 - History of Civilization
The development of European society from the Reformation to the twentieth century. Topics include the Protestant and Catholic Reformations, cultural encounters with the New World, the rise of absolutism, the Enlightenment and democratic revolutions, industrialization, the emergence of liberalism, capitalism and socialism, and the two world wars. (NWH)

HIST 10203 - Origins of Western Civilization: Europe to 1348

This course will explore the path of European history from the origins of civilization to 1348. Its principal elements include the early societies of Mesopotamia, Egypt and Israel, the political and cultural contribution of Greece and Rome, the rise of Christianity and Islam, the characteristics of the medieval world, and the Black Death.

HIST 10213 - The World Expanded: Europe 1348-1789

This course will explore the history of Europe in the early modern period, bracketed by the Black Death and the French Revolution. Principal themes include the artistic achievements of the Renaissance, the expansion of education and literacy, the invention of the printing press, the religious conflicts of the Reformation, the growth of centralized nation-states, the dramatic discoveries of the Scientific Revolution, and the creation of a global framework for the European experience.

HIST 10223 - Modernization and its Discontents: Europe 1789 to the Present

This course examines the history of Europe in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, and will identify, explore, and define the developments of modern European history. The course will focus on the common heritage and themes that make it possible to speak of 'European' history, while at the same time developing an appreciation for regional and cultural variations.

HIST 10533 - Freshman Seminar in History

Topics may vary each time it is offered.

HIST 10603 - United States History: A Survey to 1877

Review of evolution of the American nation from the discovery of the New World to the end of the Civil War era, with emphasis on major forces shaping its development. (WH)

HIST 10613 - United States History: A Survey since 1877

Review of the emergence of the American nation through the transitional crises of the past hundred years, with emphasis on the roots of movements persisting into the modern period. (WH)

HIST 10703 - African American Experience Since 1619

Comprehensive survey of African Americans in the United States from 1619 to 1968 with special emphasis on the internal changes (such as citizenship, work, family, culture, religion, and community) and external challenges (such as slavery, racial segregation, urbanization, industrialization, major wars, and mass migrations) faced by African Americans from the start of the Transatlantic Slave Trade to the culmination of the Civil Rights Movement.

HIST 10803 - Introduction to Islamic Civilization

This course surveys the history of the Middle East from the rise of Islam to the end of the sixteenth century. Students will be introduced to basic aspects of the political, social, and cultural dimensions of Islamic civilization from Spain to Iran as they changed over time. Central themes include the emergence of Sunni and Shi'i identities, the relationship of Muslims and non-Muslims, and the unique material and intellectual contribution of Islamic civilization to world history and other societies.

HIST 10813 - Introduction to the Modern Middle East

This survey course is an introduction to the history, politics, culture and societies of the modern Middle East. To understand how and why the Middle East changed from a relatively peaceful region into a radicalized environment, we will study the Middle Eastern experiences with European imperialism, authoritarian rule, the challenges of the social and economic development, the rise of political Islam, the Arab-Israeli conflict, the oil, and the role of the United States in the region.

HIST 10903 - Ethnic Elements of American History

Comprehensive survey of the Old World antecedents, migrations, and socioeconomic contributions of the various ethnic groups comprising the American nation - Indians, Africans, Iberians, French, Dutch, English, Scots, Irish, German, Italians, Scandinavians, Eastern Europeans, Mexicans, and Asians - with emphasis on the continuing quest for identity, assimilation, and acculturation in the 20th century (WH) Note: Credit will not be awarded for both 10603 and 10903 or for both 10613 and 10913.

HIST 10913 - Ethnic Elements of American History

Comprehensive survey of the Old World antecedents, migrations, and economic contributions of the various ethnic groups comprising the American nation - Indians, Africans, Iberians, French, Dutch, English, Scots, Irish, German, Italians, Scandinavians, Eastern Europeans, Mexicans, and Asians - with emphasis on the continuing quest for identity, assimilation, and acculturation in the 20th century (WH) Note: Credit will not be awarded for both 10603 and 10903 or for both 10613 and 10913.

HIST 10923 - Latin American History: Colonial Period

Hispanic and native backgrounds of the Spanish Conquest; a description and analysis of the evolution of colonial institutions; the independence movements in Hispanic America. (WH)

HIST 10933 - Latin American History: National Period

The colonial inheritances which influenced national development; political and economic trends of the nineteenth century; revolutionary trends in the twentieth century; inter-American relations. (WH)

HIST 10943 - Asian Civilization to 1500

This course is an introduction to the history and culture of traditional Asia from Neolithic times to approximately 1500. We will focus on the major political, economic, cultural, religious and intellectual trends of the people of East, South and Southeast Asian states as China, Japan, Korea, Pakistan, Indonesia and Vietnam. Students in this course will pursue a greater knowledge and understanding of Asian history and civilization through a combination of readings, lectures, videos, discussion and writing assignments.

HIST 10953 - Asian Civilization Since 1500

This course is an introduction to the history and culture of modern Asia from approximately 1500 to 1989. We will focus on the internal changes and external challenges faced by the people and governments of such East, South and Southeast Asian states as China, Japan, Korea, Pakistan, Indonesia and Vietnam. Students in this course will pursue a greater knowledge and understanding of modern Asian history and civilization through a combination of readings, lectures, videos, discussion and writing assignments.

HIST 20003 - Honors Western Civilization to 1500

* Prerequisite: Membership in the Honors Program. In the first semester of the western civilization track, students examine a) the cultural frameworks and development of ideas about human nature; b) the political structures; c) the social and economic patterns as they evolved in the first civilizations of the near east and the creation of civilization in Europe. As the same issues are examined in the Greco-Roman world, in the Middle Ages and in the Renaissance, students analyze the development of a world-view that is peculiar to the West and its Judeo-Christian heritage. Extensive analysis through discussion and writing.

HIST 20013 - Honors Western Civilization from 1500

* Prerequisite: Membership in the Honors Program. In the second semester of the western civilization track, students continue to examine the distinctive development of the West. Problems include the Reformations, the rise of capitalism, the causes and consequences of European expansion and its subsequent encounters with Africa, Asia and the Americas, industrialism, the rise of new political philosophies in the wake of democratic revolutions including liberalism and socialism, the challenges posed to those ideas by the ideas and experiences of the twentieth century. Extensive analysis through discussion and writing.

HIST 20203 - Origins of Western Civilization: Europe to 1348 (Honors)

This course will explore the path of European history from the origins of civilization to 1348. Its principle elements include the early societies of Mesopotamia, Egypt and Israel, the political and cultural contributions of Greece and Rome, the rise of Christianity and Islam, the characteristics of the medieval world, and the Black Death.

HIST 20213 - The World Expanded: Europe 1348-1789 (Honors)

This course will explore the history of Europe in the early modern period, bracketed by the Black Death and the French Revolution. Principal themes include the artistic achievements of the Renaissance, the expansion of education and literacy, the invention of the printing press, the religious conflicts of the Reformation, the growth of centralized nation-states, the dramatic discoveries of the Scientific Revolution, and the creation of a global framework for the European experience.
HIST 20223 - Honors Modernization and its Discontents: Europe 1789 to the Present
A survey of the history of Europe in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, which examines the development of the political, social and economic systems that characterize the modern world. This course will identify, explore, and define the developments of modern European history; question why they happened, and evaluate their impact.

HIST 20603 - The American Mind (HON)
HIST 20603 covers the same era as HIST 10603 but emphasizes interdisciplinary themes of intellectual history developed in Honors Intellectual Traditions or Honors Western Civilization courses. The course will focus upon how ideas translated from the European experience to influence American history and helped create a distinctly American mind. Though a strong historical narrative will be evident, the course will include literature, politics and philosophy.

HIST 20613 - The American Mind since 1877 (Honors)
Prerequisites: Honors standing. HIST 20613 covers the same era as HIST 10613 but emphasizes interdisciplinary themes of American intellectual history developed in Honors Intellectual Traditions or Honors Western Civilization courses. The course will focus upon how various ideas and issues within the American experience following the Civil War and national westward expansion influenced U.S. history and helped create a distinctly American culture and intellectual tradition. Though a strong historical narrative will be evident, the course will include literature, politics, sociology, religious studies, demography, and philosophy.

HIST 20763 - U. S. Military History
Traces the role of the armed forces in American society through a study of the origins and developments of military institutions, traditions, and practices. Traces principal wars, including their causes, course, and effects, and treats the effects of leadership and new technologies. (WH)

Military Science

Military science offers opportunities to develop confidence, self-esteem, and leadership and life skills to succeed in college and beyond. It is an academic curriculum that supplements a student's major and is designed to prepare qualified, high-potential students for service as commissioned officers in the U.S. Army and its Reserve components (the Army Reserve and Army National Guard).

The Military Science Program is composed of a two-year Basic Course, a two-year Advanced Course, and a four-week Leadership Development and Assessment Course (LDAC) summer program. Non-scholarship students enrolling in only freshman- and sophomore-level classes incur no obligation to serve in the military after graduation.

Upon completion of the requirements for the baccalaureate or master's degree and military science training requirements, students are commissioned as second lieutenants.

Four-year, three-year and two-year programs are offered. Each program includes the option for qualified students to benefit from a tuition and fees scholarship, and TCU offers room and board grants for qualified ROTC scholarship winners.

Four-Year Program
The four-year program is divided into two portions, each consisting of four classes normally taken in sequence. The first is the Basic Course, which is usually completed during the freshman and sophomore years. The second portion of the four-year program is called the Advanced Course; it is normally completed during the junior and senior years. To enroll in the Advanced Course, students must:

- Successfully complete the Basic Course (or be given equivalent credit by the professor of military science);
- Be of good moral character;
- Have a minimum of two years remaining as a full-time student;
- Have a minimum GPA of 2.0 and;
- Be physically qualified.

A paid and highly adventurous four-week training session (LDAC) between the junior and senior years is a critically important part of the Advanced Course. All Advanced Course students (both scholarship and non-scholarship) receive a monthly cash allowance while participating (full-time) in on-campus instruction. This allowance can be collected up to 10 months each year.

Two-Year Program
The two-year program is designed for students who either transfer into TCU or elect to begin pursuing a commission in the fall of their junior year. It includes a paid four-week summer training session between the sophomore and junior years and the Advanced Course described under the four-year program. Application for the two-year program is normally made during the second semester of the sophomore year. However, the two-year program is also open to juniors and seniors planning attendance at graduate school. The monthly cash allowance for students in the two-year program is the same as for other students in the Advanced Course. Numerous full tuition and fees scholarships are available for qualified two-year program applicants.

Military Science Scholarships
Four-year, three-year and two-year scholarships are available to qualified applicants. Scholarships are full tuition. Scholarships can be applied toward tuition and mandatory fees, and provide $1,200 per year for books. The scholarship also provides a cash stipend for each month the student participates in full-time on-campus instruction (limited to 10 months each year). The stipend amount varies by class year, ranging from $300 for freshman to $500 for seniors.

Four-Year Scholarships
High school students wishing to compete for a four-year scholarship should apply during the summer between their junior and senior years. Outstanding candidates can be notified of their selection as early as November of their senior year. Students who wait until their senior year to apply must apply early. Completed applications must be received at the evaluation center before January 10 of the student’s senior year in high school.

Three-Year Scholarships
Freshman students enrolled at TCU or students planning to transfer into TCU at the beginning of their sophomore year may apply for three-year scholarships. Students applying for the three-year scholarship must have at least 27 semester hours credit at the beginning of the sophomore year and meet the other specified eligibility criteria.

Two-Year Scholarships
Any student, presently enrolled or planning to transfer to TCU, who will have at least 14 semester hours completed by the end of the next fall semester may apply for a two-year scholarship. To validate their scholarships, recipients are required to satisfactorily complete a paid four-week summer training session prior to entering school in the fall semester.

Nursing Scholarships
The Army ROTC provides four and a half-, four-, three- and two-year scholarships for students interested in becoming officers in the U.S. Army Nurse Corps. Application forms and information about these scholarships may be obtained by calling 817.257.7455, or writing:

Modern Language Studies

Majors are available in modern language studies with specializations in German and French. Minors are available in French, German, Italian and Japanese. Language study is also available in Chinese. Classical Greek is taught under the auspices of the Department of Religion.

Placement
Students with academic or life experience in a foreign language are urged to enroll at a level appropriate to their skills. In order to encourage students to enroll in a first course appropriate to their ability, TCU offers the following incentive-based placement policy:

Students whose first language class at TCU is beyond the first semester level may earn additional language credit (if credit has not already been awarded for transfer, CLEP or AP work) as follows:

- If the first foreign language class is at the second semester level (10163) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, as a reward for superior work, three semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first-semester course (10153).
- If the first foreign language class is at the third semester level (20053) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, as a reward for superior work, six semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first and second semester courses (10153 and 10163).
- If the first foreign language class is at the fourth semester level (20063) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, as a reward for superior work, nine semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first, second and third semester courses (10153, 10163 and 20053).
- If the first foreign language class is beyond the fourth semester level (numbered 30000 or above) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, as a reward for superior work, nine semester hours credit will also be awarded for the second, third and fourth semester courses (10163, 20053 and 20063).

If the student takes a foreign language class at a level beyond the first one and earns a "C" or "D," no additional credit will be awarded, but the student will be deemed to have satisfied the foreign language requirement of the University Core Requirements consistent with the level of the course passed. For example, if a student's first foreign language class at TCU is at the fourth semester level (20063), and the student earns a "C" as the final grade, the student will not receive additional credit, but will have satisfied the foreign language requirement at the sophomore level.

To determine proper placement level, students should consult with an adviser in the Department of Modern Language Studies and take the computerized CAPE examination, available through the department.

Additional credit may also be earned by means of exams administered by the College Board (AP or CLEP). Consult the TCU Credit by Exam booklet, available through the Office of Admission, for details. Note: Students entering the program at a certain level may not receive credit for coursework taken below that level.

Lower division courses taught in the target language are not open to heritage and native speakers. For upper-level courses, see individual course listings for specific limitations.

Resident Study Abroad
The Department of Modern Language Studies strongly supports study abroad. Department members lead summer study programs to France, Germany, Italy and Japan. Semester-long study abroad programs are available through TCU's Center for International Studies. For additional information, consult the department chair and the foreign study adviser. A maximum of nine credit hours transferred from study abroad programs may be counted toward the French minor.

Modern Language Studies Major Requirements
The BA with a major in modern language studies requires 30 semester hours in a combination of modern language courses and area studies courses. Each student forms a program of study in consultation with a faculty adviser in the Department of Modern Language Studies. Students may concentrate in German or French.

General Requirements
To earn a major in modern language studies, students must complete a total of 30 hours in language courses and interdisciplinary courses from other departments. Students must complete 15-18 hours in their language of specialization at the 30000 level or above. In order for these courses to count toward the major, they must be taught in the relevant language.

In addition, students must complete 12-15 hours of courses that are thematically related to their language of specialization. These courses may be chosen from the list of approved courses in each language field, but others may also be counted, with the approval of the major adviser. These courses must come from a minimum of two departments.

German Specialization Courses
15-18 hours of German at the 30000 level or above, plus 12-15 hours to be selected from:

- COMM 30253 Communicating Interculturally *
- ECON 30453 Economics of the European Union
- GEOG 30533 Geography of Western Europe
- HIST 10213 The World Expanding: Europe 1348-1789
- HIST 10223 Modernization and Its Discontents: Europe 1789 to the Present
- HIST 20213 Europe 1348-1789: Honors
- HIST 20223 Europe 1789-Present: Honors
French Minor

The French minor requires a minimum of 18 semester hours, exclusive of courses on the 10000 level, and including at least one 4000-level course with literary or cultural content.

German Minor

The German minor requires a minimum of 18 semester hours, exclusive of courses on the 10000 level. GRMN 30053-30063 are prerequisites to all higher-numbered courses. All courses in the language sequence except GRMN 10153 require as prerequisite either satisfactory completion of the previous semester or the appropriate score on the CLEP Test, AP exam, G-CAPE placement test, or permission. Only one German course taught in English (for example, GRMN 20973 Honors: The Afterlife of the Classical Greek Tradition) may be counted toward the minor.

Japanese Minor

The Japanese minor requires 18 semester hours, including language courses JAPN 10153, 10163, 20053, 20063, 30123 and 30113. All courses in the language sequence require as prerequisite satisfactory completion of the previous semester.

Italian Minor

A minimum of 18 semester hours in Italian, exclusive of courses on the 10000 level.

French Teacher Certification

Students seeking Texas teaching certification with an elementary specialization or secondary teaching field in French must take the Texas Oral Proficiency Test (TOPT). This test must be taken in addition to the ExCET exams required. Candidates who attain the TOPT’s passing standard of advanced oral proficiency or higher will be recommended for certification. Candidates who do not meet the TOPT’s passing criteria, but who have met all other coursework and certification requirements, may be recommended for a general elementary certificate or a single secondary teaching field.

Candidates seeking teacher certification and preparing for the ExCET and TOPT exams are strongly encouraged to take advantage of the Resident Study Abroad Program (French 30173). They are also advised to include Advanced French Conversation (French 30043) and French Culture and Civilization (French 30153 and 30163) in their course of study.

Students seeking certification for teaching French at the secondary school level should be advised by the departmental secondary certification adviser. Specific requirements for French as a teaching field are:

- FREN 10153 First Semester College French
- FREN 10163 Second Semester College French
- FREN 20053 Third Semester College French
- FREN 20063 Fourth Semester College French
- FREN 30053 Intermediate Reading and Writing
- FREN 30063 Readings in selected French genres

Select six hours from the following:

- FREN 30033, 30043, 40073, 40083, 40093, 30153, 30163, 30253, 40123, 40163, 40173, 40970, 50033 (when available)

Total hours: 18-24

For more information regarding elementary and secondary teacher certification in French, see the College of Education section on page 73 of this catalog.

ITAL 20123 - Italian Culture from Unification to the Present
By taking a detailed look at the social and historical backdrop to major moments and events in the modern history of Italy, this course will examine Italian culture through a historical filter, from the period of Unification to today. We will look at historical and cultural readings; literature; films; newspaper articles; high and low art; and political manifestos; as well as secondary readings that interpret and/or criticize these primary texts. The course seeks to enhance students' reading, analytical, and writing skills. The language of instruction is English and all readings will be in English. Films are in Italian with English subtitles.

ITAL 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ITAL 30053 - Intermediate Conversation and Composition
Prerequisites: ITAL 20063 with a grade of C- or better, or permission. Continuing development of the language skills acquired in ITAL 10153-10163 and 20053-20063. This course focuses on the review and expansion of grammar topics, with an emphasis on oral presentation and practice in conversational Italian at an intermediate level. Students build their vocabulary through authentic readings. Assignments will include compositions and presentations.

ITAL 30063 - Italian Culture as Reflected in Italian Cinema
Prerequisites: ITAL 20063 with a grade of C- or better, or instructor's permission. This course is a study of Italian culture as reflected in Italian cinema. The course, conducted in Italian, has as a primary goal the improvement of students' knowledge of both contemporary and historical Italy. Spoken and written Italian skills are developed through authentic readings, class discussions and individual presentations. Italian cinema from the 1940's to the present will be covered, emphasizing major directors, such as Visconti, De Sica, Fellini, Tornatore, and Benigni. Topics to be addressed include: the unification of Italy, the North-South divide, fascism, the realities of "La Dolce Vita" or sweet life, regional identity, racism, gender relations, the mafia and immigration.

ITAL 30083 - La Novella Italiana: Topics in the Italian Short Story
Prerequisites: ITAL 30053. This course examines the genre of the novella, the Italian short story. In this course, we will explore the development of the genre within a specific time period (for example: Medieval-Renaissance, Baroque-early 19th Century, or mid-19th Century-present) and socio-cultural backdrop of the Italian literary scene of that period. This course fulfills the (WEM) writing emphasis core requirement, as well as the (LT) literature traditions core requirement; thus, requirements include several short papers and a longer research paper in the field of Italian literature. This course counts toward the minor in Italian. This course is taught entirely in Italian.

ITAL 30163 - Southern Italy as Reflected in Italian Cinema
Prerequisites: ITAL 20063, or the equivalent. This course examines stereotypes of southern Italy as depicted in Italian cinema from neorealism to the present. Spoken and written Italian skills are developed through authentic readings, class discussion and student presentations. Taught in Italian.

ITAL 30176 - Study Abroad in Italy: Language and Culture
Prerequisites: ITAL 10163 with a grade of C- or higher. A summer course conducted by TCU in Italy. The course offers students the opportunity to improve linguistic and cultural proficiency by interacting directly with culture and native speakers. Students will study topics related to the region in which the program is held.

ITAL 30623 - Topics in Italian Cinema
Investigation of the historical and cultural developments of Italian cinema including the examination of film structure and aesthetics in the selected cultural setting particular to Italy. This course is taught in English.

ITAL 30970 - Independent Study in Italian
Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Independent work in specially designed projects not covered by regular course offerings. (1-6 semester hours, 3 hours maximum per semester.)

ITAL 30980 - Independent Study in Italian
Prerequisites: ITAL 20063 with a grade of C- or better, or permission. This course offers the opportunity for a student to pursue independent studies in Italian culture, language or literature. Topic and credit hours to be arranged by supervising faculty member and student.

ITAL 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. Japanese Courses
JAPN 10153 - First Semester College Japanese
No prerequisite. A beginning course in Japanese intended for students with no previous knowledge of the language or insufficient knowledge to qualify for placement in a more advanced course. Aural comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing are taught, with emphasis on Japanese as it is spoken today in Japan. Japanese kana will be introduced.
JAPN 10163 - Second Semester College Japanese
Prerequisite: JAPN 10153 with a grade of C- or better, or permission. Continues JAPN 10153.

JAPN 20053 - Third Semester College Japanese
Prerequisite: JAPN 10163 with a grade of C- or better, or permission, or acceptable score on appropriate competency test. Continues JAPN 10163. Further develops aural comprehension, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Assignments will include written work in Japanese.

JAPN 20063 - Fourth Semester College Japanese
Prerequisite: JAPN 20053 with a grade of C- or better, or permission. Continues JAPN 20053.

JAPN 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

JAPN 30113 - Japanese Culture and Civilization
No prerequisite. This course emphasizes modern Japan from a sociocultural perspective, focusing on contemporary Japanese life and perceptions of the West. So as to allow maximum class time for discussion, substantial reading assignments are required. Taught in English.

JAPN 30123 - Japanese for Daily Use
Prerequisite: JAPN 20063 with a grade of C- or better, or permission. This course is designed to advance students' overall ability in Japanese. Journal writing and speech making are emphasized.

JAPN 30990 - International Residential Study

JAPN 40970 - Directed Study: Japanese
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Opportunity for work on one's own under supervision. (1-6 semester hours).

Modern Languages Courses
MOLA 20141 - Intercultural Perspectives for Study Abroad
Prerequisites: Enrollment in the Certificate for International Studies Program. 2 hours per week for eight weeks. Intercultural learning is an area of research, study and application of knowledge about different cultures in order to raise awareness and to improve interactions. In this seminar, intercultural learning is approached from various disciplines in order to introduce the breadth and depth of knowledge and skills needed to become interculturally competent. The course is intended to help prepare students for a future study abroad experience. The course will address both theoretical information and practice applications, such as learning to live with people from different cultures, understanding cultural and global issues, learning to communicate with people from various cultures, and viewing global issues from varying viewpoints. (Pass/No Credit grading.)

MOLA 30023 - Introduction to Linguistics
Prerequisite: Junior standing. Survey of major areas of linguistics: sound systems, language universals, and language in society as well as an introduction to psycholinguistics and how the brain processes language.

MOLA 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. Philosophy
Philosophy is available as a major on the BA degree and as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. Philosophy is the systematic study of fundamental life issues. It deals with the application of logical reasoning to topics such as human nature, ethics, mind and knowledge. Students who study philosophy have the opportunity to acquire superior skills of logical analysis, argumentation, and written and oral expression. Although approaching these issues with the rigors of the philosophical method is both new and challenging to beginning students, most of those who study philosophy usually find the experience both an interesting and rewarding one. They also take with them numerous lessons from their studies that enable them to live in a way that is both more successful and more fulfilling.

Honors Program
Philosophy majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in PHIL 30003 during their junior year and PHIL 40000 during the fall semester of their senior year. (Note: PHIL 30003 may be included in the 24 semester hours required for the major, but PHIL 40000 may not.)

Philosophy Major Requirements
The BA with a major in philosophy requires 24 semester hours in philosophy with at least six in topical studies, six in historical studies and three in logical studies. At least 12 hours must be at the 40000 level or above. An accompanying minor should be chosen in consultation with the adviser for the Department of Philosophy. PHIL 10003 must be completed prior to taking almost any other philosophy course except for those in logical studies. After completion of PHIL 10003, it is generally required that students take one or more 30000-level courses, where more detailed and rigorous treatment of specific areas as well as initial instruction in philosophical writing will be provided. Successful completion of courses at the 30000 level should prepare students for 40000-level courses, most of which (except for logical studies) satisfy the TCU Core Curriculum writing emphasis requirement (see this catalog’s core curriculum section on page 41 on writing emphasis).

Philosophy Minor
The minor in philosophy requires 18 semester hours in philosophy with at least three hours in each of the three divisions (topical, historical and logical studies). At least nine hours must be at the 40000 level or above. Selection of courses should be made in consultation with the designated adviser for the Department of Philosophy.

Philosophy Courses

PHIL 10003 - Philosophy One
(Subtitle and content may vary in different sections.) This course focuses on the basic human concerns treated under the classical core elements of philosophical inquiry, and prepares students for more detailed treatments of these areas in courses at the 30000 level. Major topics include ethics, epistemology, metaphysics and the philosophies of religion, science, art and mind, and introductory logic.

PHIL 10103 - Mind, Meaning and Morality
This course provides an introduction to philosophy focused on the metaphysical and ethical questions: What (who) are we? What should we do? and What makes life meaningful? Answers from various figures in Western thought will be compared and evaluated, providing a basis for further study of these areas at the 30000 level. Note: Credit not awarded for both PHIL 10003 and PHIL 10103.

PHIL 10113 - Freedom, Determinism and Objectivity
Prerequisite: PHIL 10103. This course is a continuation of PHIL 10103 (Mind, Meaning, and Morality) and provides an exploration of various conceptions of freedom, determinism, and objectivity, particularly as they emerge out of ancient and modern explanations of human agency and purpose into 19th and 20th Century attitudes towards the self, moral responsibility, socio-political organization, scientific knowledge, and the natural world.

PHIL 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Philosophy
Topics may vary each time course is offered.

PHIL 10533 - Freshman Seminar in Philosophy
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

PHIL 20103 - Critical Reasoning
How to detect, analyze, and critically evaluate reasoning in ordinary language and its technical counterparts found in business, economics, etc. The course is designed to enhance skills for handling arguments in a variety of texts. Understanding the arguments and theories encountered in one’s situations is stressed, along with how one can improve one’s own expression of arguments and theories, especially in writing. Topics include techniques of reconstruction and evaluation in a process of self-editing, detection of fallacies, and distinguishing correct from incorrect reasoning.

PHIL 20213 - Philosophy and Film
Students will examine and critically evaluate important philosophical ideas as they are expressed in film. Students will watch films and read accompanying philosophical texts that deal with perennial philosophical questions.

PHIL 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

PHIL 30003 - Junior Honors Seminar
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

PHIL 30113 - Symbolic Logic I
An introduction to the scope and limits of modern logic. The nature of logical systems and the various areas of logic are discussed. Alternative proof- procedures in propositional logic and predicate logic are presented. (Crosslisted as MATH/PHIL 30113.)

PHIL 30143 - Symbolic Logic II
Prerequisite: PHIL 30133. A continuation of 30133, with an emphasis on predicate logic, nonstandard logic, and metalogic. (Crosslisted as MATH/PHIL 30143.)

PHIL 30313 - Moral Problems
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. An examination of contemporary moral issues. Typical topics include abortion, euthanasia, discrimination, preferential hiring, the enforcement of community standards, the morality of war, punishment, the rights of distant peoples and future generations, and environmental ethics.

PHIL 30323 - Philosophy of Religion
RELI 30633 Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123, or any religion course. Philosophy of Religion today is centrally concerned with issues relating to the rationality and justification of religious convictions. There is also an interest in the coherence of religious concepts. In this course various philosophical models for understanding and evaluating religious convictions and practices are examined and applied.

PHIL 30333 - Asian Philosophy
Prerequisite: PHIL 10003. A survey of the three intellectual traditions of Asia: Japanese, Chinese, and Indian philosophy. Topics include causality, concepts of the individual and Nature, and the nature of reality and knowing.

PHIL 30353 - Political Philosophy
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. An introduction to the classical systems and central issues in political philosophy. The approach is largely historical, and selected major thinkers of most recent four centuries form the focus of the course.

PHIL 30363 - Bioethics
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123, or permission of the instructor. An examination of some of the ethical issues that arise in the field of medicine. Topics typically include the moral status of abortion, euthanasia, stem cell research, informed consent, cloning, and the just distribution of scarce medical resources.

PHIL 30373 - Existential Philosophy
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. This course offers students an opportunity to reflect on such topics as alienation, the search for meaning, freedom, embodiment, authenticity, love, and ethics as they are dealt with in texts by major writers in the 19th and 20th century movement known as existentialism.

PHIL 30393 - Philosophy of Mind
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. A survey of past and present accounts of human mentality. Beginning with the classical ideas of the soul the course concentrates on the major theories of mind advanced by Western philosophers in the last four centuries.

PHIL 30403 - Environmental Philosophy
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. This course surveys several contemporary approaches for understanding our moral obligation to the environment, including intuitionism, utilitarianism, deontology and feminism. By applying these approaches to concrete environmental issues, the course illustrates how efforts to preserve the environment raise special difficulties for traditional moral categories, such as intrinsic and instrumental value. The course also explores the peculiarly aesthetic dimension of environmental ethics, including claims about the value of natural beauty and unspoiled wilderness.
PHIL 30413 - Introduction to Philosophy of Law
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. An examination of the basic issues in Legal Theory. Topics typically include the nature of legal reasoning, the relationship between law and morality, and classical theories of law.

PHIL 30423 - Introduction to Epistemology
Prerequisites: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy, or permission of the instructor. A systematic examination of the central issues in epistemology (e.g., the nature and structure of knowledge, and external-world skepticism), focusing on a series of papers by leading philosophers in epistemology.

PHIL 30433 - Introduction to the Philosophy of Science
Prerequisites: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or permission of the instructor. A systematic examination of the central issues in the philosophy of science (e.g., theory confirmation in science, and scientific explanation), focusing on a series of papers by leading philosophers in the philosophy of science (for instance, Carl Hempel and Thomas Kuhn).

PHIL 30970 - Philosophical Studies
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Topics vary as announced. May be repeated for credit. 1-6 hours

PHIL 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

PHIL 40000 - Senior Honors Research Paper
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. 1-3 hours

PHIL 40103 - Seminar in Logic
Prerequisite: PHIL 30133 or MATH 20524 (or permission of instructor). Advanced topics in logic. Course content to vary by semester and will include areas such as formal languages, mathematical logic, deontic logic, modal systems, and philosophy of language.

PHIL 40203 - Seminar in Metaphysics
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Course content to vary by semester and will include such areas as philosophy of mind, philosophy of history, action theory, ontology, process philosophy and continental philosophy.

PHIL 40213 - History of Ancient and Medieval Philosophy
Prerequisites: Any 10000 level and any 30000 level PHIL course. A survey of the major figures in Western thought between 600 BCE and 1500 CE. Among those included are the Presocratics, Plato, Aristotle, Plotinus, Augustine and Aquinas.

PHIL 40220 - Contemporary Philosophy
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. An historical study of one or more philosophical movements in the twentieth century. Topics vary and include analytic, existential, phenomenological and process philosophy. May be repeated for credit. (3-6 hours).

PHIL 40223 - History of Modern Philosophy
Prerequisites: Any 10000-level PHIL course, and any 30000-level PHIL course, or permission of instructor. A survey of the major figures in Western thought from 1500 to 1800. Among those included are Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz, Locke, Berkeley, Hume and Kant.

PHIL 40233 - History of Continental Philosophy in the 19th and 20th Centuries
Prerequisites: PHIL 10003 and 40223. The philosophical tradition after Kant developed in different ways in Continental Europe from the ways it did in English speaking countries. This course examines those developments, especially in Germany and France. Such thinkers as Hegel and the German Idealists, Kierkegaard and Nietzsche, Husserl and Heidegger, Sartre and Merleau-Ponty, Gadamer, Ricoeur and Derrida are discussed.

PHIL 40243 - Anglo-American Philosophy
Prerequisites: PHIL 10003 and 40223. A historical study of either the analytic or pragmatic tradition. Such figures as Carnap, Neurath, Schlick, Moore, Russell, and Ayer; or Royce, Peirce, Mead, James, Dewey, and Quine; or a combination of philosophers are studied.

PHIL 40253 - Seminar in History of Philosophy
Prerequisites: PHIL 10003, and permission of the instructor. A philosophical study of one or more philosophers or philosophical movements of the ancient, medieval, or modern periods. Course content will vary by semester. Course may be repeated for credit.

PHIL 40303 - Seminar in Value Theory
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Course content to vary by semester and will include such areas as metaethics, phenomenology of values, philosophy of religion, legal philosophy, philosophy of sport and aesthetics.

PHIL 40323 - Philosophy of Science
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123, or permission of the instructor. A rigorous examination of specific issues in legal theory and jurisprudence. Topics may include the nature of law, legal adjudication, law and economics, theories of punishment, and legal responsibility and obligation.

PHIL 40353 - Seminar in Political Philosophy
Prerequisites: At least one of the following courses: PHIL 30313, PHIL 30353, or PHIL 30413, or permission of instructor. A philosophical analysis of some selected topics that are central to political philosophy. Topics may include a discussion of the nature of human rights, the nature and limit of political authority, analysis of the problem of political obligation, the moral value of freedom and autonomy, and the meaning and nature of justice.

PHIL 40373 - Art and the Aesthetic
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123. Philosophical theories are presented regarding the nature of art and aesthetic experience. The concepts of representation, expression, formalism, the work of art, intention, meaning, truth, and criticism are discussed along with how they contribute to answering the question, "What is art?"

PHIL 40383 - Advanced Topics in Human Nature
Prerequisite: Any 10000-level course in Philosophy or HHIT 20123, and PHIL 30383 or PHIL 30393. Critical analysis of contemporary theories of human nature advanced by philosophers, psychologists, biologists, cognitive scientists and others. The thinkers under consideration will vary but examples would include E. O. Wilson, B. F. Skinner, Sigmund Freud, John Searle and Daniel Dennett.

PHIL 40393 - Ethical Theory
Prerequisites: PHIL 30353 or PHIL 30313 or PHIL 30363. A systematic treatment of basic issues in moral theory, critically examining such issues as the possibility of providing rational foundations for moral belief, and the nature of moral judgments and moral reasoning, focusing on the work of major historical and contemporary figures.

PHIL 40403 - Seminar in Epistemology
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Course content to vary by semester and include areas such as theories of perception, theories of truth, analytic philosophy, philosophy of science, phenomenology, pragmatism and empiricism.

PHIL 50970 - Directed Studies in Philosophy
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
Political Science

Political science is available as a major and a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. The Department of Political Science offers students options for course concentrations in the following subfields:

- American Politics
- Political Theory
- International Politics
- Comparative Politics
- Public Law
- Research Methods
- Public Affairs Internships

Honors Program

Political science majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in POSC 30003 during their junior year and POSC 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Political Science Major Requirements

Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Political Science

The BA with a major in political science requires 30 hours of political science courses passed with a grade of "C" or better and a maximum of 13 hours below the 30000 level.

The degree requires POSC 20203 and any two of the following: POSC 20093, 20303, 20403, 20503 and 20123 or POSC 20144. (Students cannot receive credit for both POSC 20123 and 20144.) The degree also requires POSC 32xx3 plus any 15 adviser-approved, 30000-level political science hours and one three-hour political science elective. Any "topics" courses may be repeated provided the specific subject matter changes.

Students intending to do graduate work in international or comparative fields are encouraged to continue foreign language study beyond the 20000 level. No more than six hours of internship credit may be counted. The three-hour seminar taken in conjunction with the Washington Center Internship Program may be counted in addition to six hours of internship. A minor is required; any minor approved for the BA degree is acceptable.

Bachelor of Science with a Major in Political Science

The BS with a major in political science requires 30 semester hours of political science courses passed with a grade of "C" or better and a maximum of 13 hours below the 30000 level.

The degree requires POSC 20093, either POSC 20123 or 20144 (students cannot receive credit for both POSC 20123 and 20144), and one of the following: POSC 20203, 20303, 20403 or 20503. The degree also requires an upper-division American Politics course (any POSC 31xx3) and an upper-division Political Science Methodology course (any POSC 39xx3), plus any 12 adviser-approved, 30000-level political science hours and one three-hour political science elective.

6 hours of Associated Requirements:

- ECON 10233 Introductory Macroeconomics
- Three hours from: INSC 20153 Statistical Analysis
- MATH 10043 Elementary Statistics
- MATH 10283 Applied Calculus
- MATH 10524 Calculus I

Students intending to do graduate work in the social sciences or business are encouraged to take the BS degree program. It is also recommended for students interested in employment in government and politics. Any "topics" courses may be repeated provided the specific subject matter changes. Students intending to do graduate work in international or comparative fields are encouraged to study relevant foreign languages. No more than three hours of internship credit may be counted. The three-hour seminar taken in conjunction with the Washington Center Internship Program may be counted in addition to six hours of internship. A minor is required; any minor approved for the BS degree is acceptable.

Bachelor of Arts in Political Science with Emphasis in International Relations

The BA in political science with emphasis in international relations requires 30 hours of political science courses passed with a grade of "C" or better and a maximum of 13 hours below the 30000 level.

The degree requires POSC 20203 and 20303 or 20503, and one of the following: POSC 20093, 20123 or 20144. (Students cannot receive credit for both POSC 20203 and 20123.) The degree also requires either POSC 39xx3 or POSC 32xx3. The degree also requires POSC 35xx3 and POSC 33xx3, plus any nine adviser-approved, 30000-level political science hours and one three-hour political science elective.

Any "topics" courses may be repeated provided the specific subject matter changes. No more than six hours of internship credit may be counted. The three-hour seminar taken in conjunction with the Washington Center Internship Program may be counted in addition to six hours of internship.

This emphasis requires either the Asian studies minor, the British and Colonial/Post-Colonial studies minor or an interdisciplinary minor, which consists of 18 semester hours selected from the following groups:

- Third-year foreign language (up to six hours—six hours required if the student has no foreign language minor);
- Upper-division international ECON or adviser-approved, upper-division ECON (at least three and up to six hours); and
- Upper-division, international-related courses from ANTH, GEOG, HIST, JOUR or RELI, selected with adviser approval (at least nine hours).

Students also pursuing a foreign language minor may count their third year foreign language courses toward this interdisciplinary minor.

The department strongly encourages students to participate in an international educational experience; it especially encourages an international educational experience in a setting where the student's language of study is used.

Political Science Minor

A political science minor requires 18 semester hours in political science passed with a grade of "C" or better. No more than three semester hours may be earned at the 10000 level and no more than 10 semester hours may be earned below the 30000 level. Students must take either POSC 20093 or 20203. Any "topics" course may be repeated provided the specific subject matter changes. No more than six hours of internship credit may be counted. The three-hour seminar taken in conjunction with the Washington Center Internship Program may be counted in addition to six hours of internship.

Political Science Teaching Certification

Students interested in teaching political science/government at the secondary or middle school level must acquire a secondary and middle school social studies certificate. Interested students should consult with an adviser in the College of Education regarding specific certification requirements.

Political Science Honor Society

The department sponsors the Beta Lambda Chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, national honor society in political science. Membership in Pi Sigma Alpha requires completion of a minimum of 10 semester hours of political science courses (at least six of which must be in regular classroom courses on TCU's campus and at least three of which must be advanced, i.e., 30000-level or above) and members must have at least a 3.0 GPA in political science courses and at least a 3.5 GPA overall. Applicants need not be political science majors or minors.

Washington Internship Program

TCU is affiliated with the Washington Center, which provides placements, supervision and housing for students who seek a professional experience in a public or private organization in the nation's capital. Students selected for the program are required to have a minimum GPA of 3.0 and must return to TCU for at least one semester after internship. Students apply each fall, a year in advance of their internship, and are required to attend a non-credit preparatory seminar in the spring. Students may earn up to 15 hours of credit through this program, which is multidisciplinary and available to students in any major field.

Undergraduate Catalog
POSC 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

POSC 31003 - Topics in American Politics
Topics related to the study of American political institutions, processes, behavior, and policy, such as Congress, the Presidency, political parties and elections, interest groups, social and defense policy, and Texas politics.

POSC 31113 - Campaigns and Elections
This course focuses primarily on campaigns and elections for national offices (especially Congress), however comparisons are made with state and local situations when appropriate. The class surveys the significant components of elections and campaigns to illuminate the implications of changes in the recent past, and the impact of these changes on governance in the United States.

POSC 31123 - Public Opinion
This course examines the origin, content, and measurement of the American public’s views toward political matters. Topics include the values that unite us; the controversies that divide us; the social, historical, and psychological roots of contemporary American public opinion; the science of polling; and the responsiveness of the government.

POSC 31133 - Political Participation
This course is an overview of the factors that influence political participation with a focus on the United States and comparison to other democracies. Models of participation, the role of demographic characteristics, and the influence of the political system and culture are analyzed. Political participation is examined at the individual and aggregate levels.

POSC 31143 - Political Psychology
The course examines the psychological aspects of the political behavior of individuals, including the general public, elites, and activists. It analyzes their consequent political behaviors in various groups and institutional contexts. Topics may include the development and functioning of ideology, political communication, decision-making, perception, and the impact of experiences on psychological states and processes.

POSC 31213 - Congress
This course looks at the organization, behavior, and impact of the U.S. Congress. Some of the topics that will be considered are the recruitment and election of members, congressional organization and procedures, legislative policy-making, executive-legislative relations, and congressional reform.

POSC 31223 - Presidential Leadership
This class examines presidential leadership, the constitutional basis of presidential power, presidential elections, and presidential interactions with other branches of government.

POSC 31233 - Congress and the Presidents
This course explores the relationship between Congress and the presidency. Topics include the effect of events and individual personalities upon the ebbing and flowing relationship that exists between the legislative and executive branches of our government, and the principle problems and achievements of the most recent presidential administrations.

POSC 31313 - Parties and Interest Groups
This course focuses primarily on American political parties and interest groups by comparisons are made with several other democracies. The historical development of political parties and their current organizational structure, strengths and weaknesses, and the role in elections and in governing are analyzed. The role of interest groups in shaping public policy and influencing electoral politics is also critically examined.

POSC 31323 - Media and Politics
This course shines a critical light on the American news media by explaining how political news is made, exploring its effect on political institutions and process, and critiquing its role in American democracy.

Topics include ideological bias, press norms and constraints, corporate ownership, media effects, and new media.

POSC 31413 - Public Policy
This class is an overview of the policy process in the United States and includes analysis of major issues associated with domestic public policy, including elements of economic and social policy.

POSC 31423 - Health Care Policy
In this class, the centrality of health care policy is examined. Topics covered include interest group behavior in health care, the core policies related to health care, and the challenges that remain in health care policy.

POSC 31433 - Aging and Social Policy
An interdisciplinary perspective on the major problems associated with population and individual aging as well as the major public policies developed in response to these problems.

POSC 31513 - Women and Politics
This course examines how the political system, through the policies it establishes and enforces, affects women and their families. It also examines the role of gender in the political arena itself. The course considers what public policy is and what legal, political and social rights women have had in the past and have now.

POSC 31613 - Texas Politics in Comparative Perspective
This class examines Texas Politics in a comparative perspective. We will examine Texas's historical role in the national government, its constitution, politics and policies alone and in comparison to other states, and its political environment.

POSC 31623 - Urban Issues and Policies
This course examines the essential public policy issues specific to urban areas. Topics include governance of large cities, the units of government with responsibility for addressing urban issues, and the competition of political forces as they relate to urban public policy.

POSC 31713 - Freedom, Order and Equality in American Politics
The class will examine the perennial dilemmas between freedom, order and equality especially as they pertain to political ideology and public policy. To understand the dilemmas, we will examine the basic structure of our government with special attention paid to the structural tensions that augment these dilemmas. Next we will look at how the dilemmas surface in contemporary debate among liberals and conservatives and how the dilemmas impact the definition of policies in the United States.

POSC 32003 - Topics in Political Theory
Prerequisites: POSC 20203. Topics will be selected from varying periods of Western history: ancient, medieval, modern, and contemporary. Topics may focus on individual thinkers (Hobbes), groups of thinkers (the Liberal Tradition), or on policy questions (Human Nature and Public Policy or Assessing Normative Theories of Politics.)

POSC 32013 - Western Political Thought: Renaissance to the Age of Ideology
Prerequisites: POSC 20203. The course examines new directions in political thought that emerged with the Renaissance and the Reformation, and traces the development of modern political theory through the Enlightenment. Attention is given to the relationship between theory innovation and "modernizing revolutions."

POSC 32023 - Distributive Justice
Prerequisite: POSC 20203. Examines contrasting concepts of distributive justice and their rival theoretical bases from Aristotle to the present.

POSC 32033 - Applied Ethics
Prerequisites: POSC 20203. This course examines what it means to apply rival general ethical systems (i.e., consequentialism, deontology and virtue ethics) in everyday life, contrasting the relative strengths and weaknesses of these distinctive conceptions of ethics in the process.

POSC 32990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

POSC 33003 - Topics in International Politics
Topics studied include such areas as foreign policy, globalization, international political economy, diplomacy and bargaining, and various regional issues.

POSC 33013 - United Nations Institutions and Processes
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. This course is the first of a two-part series of classes for students participating in Model United Nations. Students will study the history of the United Nations, UN institutions, and current issues that the UN addresses. Students are expected to critically analyze the factors that lead to both successful and unsuccessful action by the UN.

POSC 33023 - International Organizations Research
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. This course is the second of a two-part series of classes for students participating in Model United Nations. Students will engage in primary-source research on international issues as assigned by the course instructor from the perspective of a country also assigned by the instructor.

POSC 33033 - Conflict and Negotiation
This class is a theoretical examination of interstate (international) and intrastate (civil) war. In particular, the class will examine whether or not the factors that lead states to fight wars are related to the factors that lead states to negotiate an end to conflicts. After a theoretical introduction to the causes of war and peace, the class will draw on historic and present conflicts to evaluate the various theoretical explanations presented in class.

POSC 33103 - Feminist International Relations Theory
The objective of this course is to examine the theories of International Relations through a gender-sensitive lens that takes into consideration the role of feminist theory and the positions of women. Throughout the semester students will discover what it means to use gender as a lens for viewing and understanding the world, and how that lens can be used to deconstruct issues of power.

POSC 33113 - Globalization and Political Economy
"Globalization" is often used to describe the increasing interconnectedness of the world in terms of communication, culture, economics, politics, and technology. This course examines the origins and dilemmas associated with globalization and the transnational institutions established to cope with this process. In addition, we will discuss the various theories with regard to globalization and its effects on international political economy.

POSC 33123 - Globalization
This course is designed to provide a forum for analysis and discussion of some of the most significant and vexing issues of global politics and political economy in the post-Cold War and the Post-Modern era in the context of globalization, and the intellectual debates surrounding it. Some of the concepts discussed include globalization, environmental degradation, the impact of high-tech and global economic interdependence, inequality, migration, hybrid identity and religious revivalism.

POSC 33503 - Contemporary U.S. Foreign Policy
Examines contemporary challenges and opportunities for U.S. foreign policy.

POSC 33513 - United States Foreign Policy Making
Examines the processes by which U.S. foreign policy is made and the actors and motivations involved.

POSC 33523 - U.S. Foreign Policy in Film
Examines the major events shaping U.S. foreign policy from the end of World War II to the present. The course augments a traditional lecturer and discussion format with the use of selected feature films to convey an emotional understanding of the period under study.

POSC 33603 - International Relations of East Asia
This course serves as an introduction to the international relations (IR) of East Asia. We will begin with an introduction to Asia’s distinct historical and cultural traditions and review some of the commonalities that can be drawn across states in the region. Next, we will focus on some of the key actors in Asia - China, Japan, North and South Korea - examining how they interact with each other as well as how they engage other important actors such as the US. Finally, we will examine economic development, institutions, and security concerns as they relate to the strategic interests of the region and individual states.

POSC 33613 - The International Relations of Japan
This course examines Japan's relationship with the rest of the world. We begin with a focus on World War Two, but most of the class focuses on Japan's postwar relationships, as they relate to trade, international security, and international norms.

POSC 33623 - Chinese Foreign Policy
This course will examine China's foreign relations from the founding of the People's Republic of China (PRC) in 1949 to the present. We will explore the theories and concepts involved in the study of foreign policy, followed by an in-depth examination of the domestic factors shaping China's foreign policy goals and implementation.

POSC 33633 - Russian Foreign Policy
Examines Russian foreign policies and how and why particular policies are (or have been) formulated and implemented from the end of the Cold War to the present.

POSC 33703 - Mideast Conflicts
Examines the major conflicts shaping the modern Middle East, from the 1890s to the present and seeks to understand these conflicts, their root causes, and the possibilities for peace in the region.

POSC 34003 - Topics in Public Law
The course sequence includes Judicial Process, International Human Rights, and several courses on American Constitutional Law. A simulation of the U.S. Supreme Court may be offered in alternate years.

POSC 34023 - Due Process in the Criminal Courts
An overview of the 4th Amendment (searches and seizures,) the 5th Amendment (double jeopardy, privilege against self-incrimination and federal due process of law), the 6th Amendment (speedy trial, confrontation of witnesses, and right to counsel), the 8th Amendment (excessive bail, cruel and unusual punishment, and the 14th Amendment (state due process.)

POSC 34033 - Constitutional Law: Amendment One
An overview of the rights of the First Amendment, including speech, press, religion, association, assembly and petition.

POSC 34043 - Equality Under the Law
An overview of cases involving categorical discrimination under the 14th Amendment's Equal Protection Clause.

POSC 34053 - Comparative Judicial Politics
This course explores how courts abroad operate, including organization of courts, selection and appointment mechanisms, judicial independence, judicial review, human rights and the role of courts in the larger political system.

POSC 34063 - International Human Rights and Humanitarian Law
An overview of rights recognized under the principle of customary law and under several international or transnational covenants and conventions.

POSC 34073 - Moot Court
Prerequisite: Must be selected as a member of the TCU Intercollegiate Moot Court Team. Appellate advocacy involving cases taken from the current or recent dockets of the Supreme Court of the United States, as well as the current case problem set by the American Collegiate Moot Court Association.

POSC 34083 - Constitutional Law: Rights and Liberties
This constitutional law course explores how the Supreme Court has defined and applied the rights contained in Amendment I, Amendment XIV and other rights implied from the first nine amendments. The focus is on the Court as a policy-making branch of the U.S. government.

POSC 34093 - Judicial Politics
An overview of law, courts and politics in the United States and the various theories that have been proposed to explain decision-making by judges, prosecutors, law enforcement and juries.
POS 35003 - Topics in Comparative Politics
European politics, Asian politics, Latin American politics, Middle Eastern politics, developing political systems, etc.

POS 35013 - Comparative Democratic Systems
Examines the rationales for democracy, contrasts the institutional variation among contemporary persistently democratic societies, and introduces rival explanations for this variation.

POS 35023 - Comparative Social Movements
Why do people join together in protest, often at great cost to themselves in money, time, and/or risk of serious personal injury? This course will examine this and other questions related to social movement organization, strategy, and impact. It will look at these questions on a theoretical level and as they apply to a variety of real world social movements in different national contexts.

POS 35033 - Islam and Politics
This course presents a study of Islam and politics. It attempts to shed light on how Islamic theology molds and provides legitimacy for political discourse of resistance as well as power politics. More specifically, the focus is on politics of Islam and how it sets the political agenda. Among topics of interest would be a discussion of Islam and terrorism, Islam and Human rights, and the prospects for relations between the Muslim World and the West.

POS 35043 - Politics of Developing Nations
This course focuses on the political problems associated with development: the problems of poverty, economic development - the colonial heritage, economic dependence, and the character of the Third World state; the problems of political development - clientelism, corruption, and centralized state power; and the problem of establishing a stable form of government - transition from authoritarian rule, democracy, liberalization and democratization.

POS 35103 - Distinction Program Capstone Course
Prerequisite: membership in good standing in the department's Distinction Program. Identifies the rationales for democracy, contrasts the institutional variation among contemporary persistently democratic societies, examines rival explanations for this variation, and oversees students' development of formal proposals for their senior thesis research projects.

POS 35503 - The Politics and the Culture of the Middle East and North Africa
This course would present a historical analysis of the rise and decline of the Middle East. We would stress power and authority relationships, the role of political culture in evolution of regional politics. Special emphasis will be placed upon the capacity of Middle Eastern political systems to confront the related challenges of modernization, political development and democratization.

POS 35613 - The Politics of Japan
This class will introduce students to Japan's postwar political system. In addition to learning how the political system works in the abstract, we also examine the way that the political system has actually functioned, particularly in regards to the relationship between the state and society, economic governance, and foreign policy.

POS 35623 - Politics of China
This course will examine the social, economic and institutional elements that shape the politics of the People's Republic of China. The issues covered in the course include: political culture, civil society, political elites, democracy, development, and environmental politics.

POS 35633 - Contemporary Issues in China
This course is designed to be an introduction to Chinese history, politics, economics, and civilization where students will spend two weeks in China with site-enhanced visits. The primary location is Beijing, where students will have an opportunity to visit the Forbidden City, Summer Palace, Lama Temple and several other sites to see how the city blends tradition with modernization. We will have special excursions to migrant schools and an environmental agency, and meet with a representative of the National People's Congress to learn about some of the political and social dilemmas the country is currently facing. In addition, we will have three short trips outside of the city. Students will do an overnight hike on the Great Wall, visit the terracotta soldiers in Xian, and hike Wutaishan, one of China's five sacred Buddhist Mountains. Through these experiences students will gain a better understanding of China and see how one of the world's most rapidly developing countries is adjusting to the demands of globalization.

POS 35703 - Politics of Western Europe
This course introduces students to the various institutions, political cultures and decision-making apparatus of the nations of Western Europe and the European Union.

POS 35713 - Politics of the European Union
An exploration of the creation and functioning of the European Union and its effects on politics of the Member States.

POS 35723 - Political Life in Central Europe
This course is onsite, and is offered as a part of the TCU Summer study abroad program. It is intended to provide a forum for discussion and analysis of post-Communist transition in Hungary and Czech Republic since the 1989 revolution that overthrew Communism.

POS 35803 - Latin America: The Challenge of Democratic Consolidation
The course examines key factors (patterns of conquest, inter-American relations) that have shaped Latin American politics historically and then focuses concentrated attention to the factors that affect Third Wave democratization in the region. Much of the course is centered on case studies.

POS 39003 - Topics in Political Science Methods
Prerequisites: POSC 20093 or consent of the instructor. Topics include political science methods applied to various research problems such as political behavior, public policy analysis, and program evaluation.

POS 39013 - Survey Research
Prerequisites: POSC 20093, MATH 10043 or its equivalent. This is a course that will study the use of surveys in political science. Students will learn to assess surveys for their quality, to write a survey, to take the survey from concept to fruition, to analyze survey data, and to write a research paper from the analysis they do.

POS 39023 - Game Theory in International Relations
Prerequisites: POSC 20093. This class is designed as a workshop to introduce students to the use of game theory in international relations. The first part of the class will provide students with basic instruction on game theory and formal models, including how to create a decision tree, how to find equilibrium points in a game, and how to design a basic game. The second part of the class will be a writing workshop as students progress in their original research and writing in pursuit of a written project that incorporates formal methodology.

POS 39033 - Foreign Policy Analysis
Prerequisites: POSC 20093. Teaches the skills associated with traditional decision-making analysis applied to a foreign policy setting.

POS 40003 - Senior Honors in Political Science
The writing of a substantial research paper under the supervision of a three person faculty committee. A grade of Incomplete will be carried in this course until the paper is completed. The sequence of POSC 30003 and 40003 must be planned so that 40003 is taken prior to the student's final semester of undergraduate work.

POS 40900 - Internship in Political Science/British Studies
Washington Center or at the TCU in London Program. Full-time internships with a public or private agency in Washington, D.C. or in London, England, offered either through the Washington Center or through the TCU in London Program. The internship will allow students to integrate theory and practice in a supervised professional setting, up to 12 semester hours credit. (Offered as BRST or POSC credit.)

POS 40910 - Washington Internships
Full time internships with a public or private agency in Washington, D.C. offered in collaboration with the Washington Center. Offered during the Fall term only, these internships help students to integrate theory and practice in a supervised professional setting for up to 12 semester hours credit.

POS 40920 - London Internships
3-day or 4-day per week internships with public or private agencies in London, England, offered through the TCU in London Program. Offered during the fall and spring terms, these internships accommodate students' long-term professional objectives. Internships are offered for either 9 or 12 semester hours credit. Most of the London interns also take one or two classroom courses while in London. (Offered either for BRST or POSC credit.)

POSC 40950 - Internship in Political Science
Individually arranged local internship for 3 semester hours credit. Students expected to spend 150 hours in a local placement (in a regular term that would amount to 10 hours per week.)

POSC 40960 - Civic Literacy Internships
Offered as a follow-up to POSC 20123, Civic Literacy for 3 semester hours credit. These are supervised internships in local settings, with bi-weekly meetings to reflect on a variety of experiences of the students. Students are expected to spend 150 hours in a local placement (in a regular term that would amount to 10 hours per week.)

POSC 40970 - Independent Study in Political Science
Prerequisite: A specific program of study approved by instructor prior to enrollment. (1-6 semester hours)

Religion

Religion is available as a major on the BA degree and as a minor on the BA, BS and BBA degrees.

The meaning of human existence in relation to ultimate reality has been a concern of all cultures past and present. Any adequate understanding of human culture must take seriously the phenomenon of religion. The academic study of religion, therefore, is a central part of a liberal arts education, at home among the disciplines called the humanities. The Department of Religion provides an informed understanding of various aspects of religious traditions. More broadly, it supports the University’s commitment to multiculturalism and education from a global perspective through study of the cultural diversity apparent in the world’s religious traditions. Interdisciplinary and foreign studies contribute to the development of such awareness, and the department encourages students to explore those possibilities.

Courses in the department approach religious traditions historically, textually, aesthetically, philosophically and comparatively, and consider the role of religion in society, culture and individual life. These courses introduce students to various methods and issues in the study of religion; familiarize them with the beliefs and practices of various religious traditions; develop their critical thinking, reading and writing skills; and encourage them to explore and evaluate their own culturally conditioned self-understandings and ultimate commitments. Students will find the multidimensional study of religion to be fertile ground for developing habits of mind that are excellent foundations for professional life. Those planning for seminary, graduate study in religion or other disciplines, or church-related vocations will be well prepared by department courses and well supported by faculty advisement.

Writing Proficiency
The development of writing proficiency is a vital component of the educational process. Both majors and minors are encouraged to utilize faculty and the resources of the Writing Center to achieve that goal.

Honors Program
Religion majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in RELI 30003 during their junior year, and RELI 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year. Note: RELI 30003 substitutes in the major for the required Senior Seminar, RELI 40603.

Religion Major Requirements

The BA with a major in religion requires 30 semester hours, distributed as follows:

An introduction to various theories of mass media and to current research on the effects of mass media on the human self in particular and society as a whole. The media as an agent of socialization, social control, and social discourse. Examination of videotapes of news, entertainment, sports, advertising and special events, interspersed with lectures and discussions.

SOCI 30463 - Popular Culture
This course examines how groups of people create alternative and novel forms of cultural expressions (popular culture), and how such expressions eventually are filtered through media, either oral, electronic or print. It also considers how the meaning of popular cultural expressions both influence and are influenced by broader and institutionalized societal arrangements.

SOCI 30483 - Death and Dying: Sociological Viewpoints
An examination of the process of death from a social psychological perspective. Topics will include the dying process as an interactional event, how survivors cope with loss, the life chances of people to live an extended live before dying, and how death serves as a symbol and metaphor for lived experience. The course will also focus on death as it has an impact on survivors and how survivors learn from the experience of another’s death.

SOCI 30523 - Self and Society Through Film
An examination of social psychological theories of the self and how social selves are represented in various American films from the 1940s to the present. The course will combine lectures on concepts and processes associated with the presentation of the social self in everyday life with passages from films that provide detail about concepts and processes. Film displays will include processes of impression management and characteristics of social types - ranging from violent/impulsive to rational/strategic selves. Further, lectures and film passages will address the various portrayals of human relationships that involve self-display and self-disclosure.

SOCI 30543 - Unveiled: The Sociology of Weddings
This course will introduce students to the role of the wedding not only as a ceremonial rite of passage, but also as a multi-billion dollar industry in American society. Beginning with a historical overview of the role of the wedding in society, the course will address issues ranging from the emotion work of wedding work, bride power, the role of the wedding industry in a culture of divorce and the impact of the illegal diamond trade on war torn nations in Africa. A global comparison of wedding rituals will be included in the analysis, as well as a cross ritual/industry comparison of the funeral industry.

SOCI 30563 - Deviance and Social Control
Prerequisites: SOCI 20213, or 20223 or permission of instructor. Theoretical and empirical literature on deviance and social control, showing how deviation arises from social interaction. Specific attention to forms of deviance including substance abuse, sexual deviance and violent behavior.

SOCI 30573 - Corporate and Governmental Deviance
An examination of corporate and governmental deviance addressed from a sociological perspective. Emphasis is placed on the nature, extent, and costs of corporate and governmental deviance, with special attention on the social, structural, and organizational forces which give rise to such deviance. For example, we will examine the Ford Pinto case, Cold War Human Radiation Experiments, political corruption, Enron, and many other recent and historical cases.

SOCI 30643 - Sociology of Aging
The sociological and social psychological examination of the impact of aging on the individuals and on society. Focus is on defining demography of aging, the problems, public perceptions and stereotypes, concepts and theoretical perspectives on aging, age norms and constraints, adjustment patterns and changing lifestyles in old age, retirement, death and dying, exploitation, and politics of aging. Societal issues that confront older Americans are discussed. The course is primarily concerned with aging in the United States.

SOCI 30653 - Sociology of Food
Prerequisites: SOCI 20213. This course deals with the social context in which individuals experience food, with particular emphasis on how food influences, and is influenced by society. From the rituals of dinner and Americans' obsession with diet food, to global food production regimes, the role of food in patterns of social life, social institutions, social inequality and social change will be explored.

SOCI 30683 - Sociology of Religion
Prerequisite: SOCI 20213, or SOCI 20223 or permission of instructor. An introduction to understanding the role of religion in society and to sociological methods for the study of religion. The course will introduce theories and research pertaining to types of religious experience, conversion and commitment, denominationalism, secularization and fundamentalism. Class, gender, race and ethnicity will also be addressed as they influence religion in society. (Offered as RELI or SOCI credit.)

SOCI 30743 - Men, Women and Society
Critical examination of new ideas, data and theories about the roles of men and women in contemporary society. Focus is on a sociological analysis of gender stratification in our society.

SOCI 30783 - Sociology of the Body
This course will examine the body, not through the lens of the physical or biological sciences, but as the product of complex social arrangements and processes. We will study the body as the container and expression of the self, as the object of social control, and as the repository of shifting race, gender, and sexual categories.

SOCI 30803 - Victimology
An examination of the major aspects of victimology. Topics include the historical role of victims, the nature of victimization in modern America, the victimization experience, legal aspects of victimization, victimization and the political process, solutions to victimization, and the future of victims’ rights and victimology. (Offered as CRJU or SOCI credit.)

SOCI 30833 - Sociological Theory
Prerequisite: SOCI 20213 or permission of instructor. An exploration of the foundations of sociological theory through the works of the classical theorists e.g. Marx, Durkheim, and Weber, assessing the impact of their work on current sociological thinking and practice and on society itself. Attention will be paid to the intellectual heritage of the thinkers, their historical context and their biographical selves.

SOCI 30903 - Law and Society
An examination of the relationship between legal institutions and social processes. Topics include the nature of law, historical evolution of legal systems, creation and organization of law in modern societies, social functions of law, and the limits of law as an instrument of social control. (Offered as CRJU or SOCI credit.)

SOCI 30913 - Social Psychology of Crime
Prerequisite: CRJU 20413, SOCI 20213 or PSYC 10213 or equivalent. An examination of the social psychological theories and research relevant for understanding criminal behavior. Course will also address societal and victim responses to crime.

SOCI 30923 - Social and Cultural Contexts of Leadership
This is a seminar-style, site-based course taught in London as part of Leadership London, a TCU summer study abroad program. The city of London will provide the backdrop for studying social and cultural influences on leadership. Case studies are used to critically examine the nature and practice of leadership and explore the ways that social and cultural contexts shape leader-follower relationships. Course is designed to illuminate diverse perspectives on leadership and provide a knowledge base for evaluating and making informed judgments about leadership.

SOCI 30943 - Japan: Heritage, Culture, and Globalization

This course provides the student with an overview of Japanese history and major cultural traditions. Japanese society will be looked at from its origins through the Tokugawa period and onto modern Japan. Religious traditions and cultural perspectives will be highlighted. Additionally, the place of modern Japan in the global community will be examined.

SOCI 30953 - Japan: Crime, Criminal Justice and Social Problems

The course provides the student with an overview of the functioning of the Japanese policing, court, and correctional systems. In addition, both Japanese street crime and organized crime will be examined with special emphasis on the organization and history of the Japanese Yakuza. Further, the course will examine the realities of a myriad of social problems in Japanese society both as individual issues and as causes/effects of criminality. These topics include but are not limited to issues of poverty, urbanization, drug use and family structure stresses.

SOCI 30963 - Japan: Environment, Technology, and Sustainability

The course provides the student with an overview of Japan’s perspectives on and efforts toward sustainability in relation to the environment and economic/technological growth. Issues of mass transportation, energy production, green architecture, and farming/fishing will be addressed. In addition the place of sustainability as a philosophical dovetail to Japanese religious and cultural traditions will be highlighted.

Contribution of sociologists to theory and research in social psychology, including theory of conformity, reference groups, and symbolic interaction.
For coursework taken below that level. Students entering the program at a certain level may not receive credit students with no previous study of the language.

Notes: Spanish for Beginners 1 is strictly designed and reserved for SPAN 31103, 31203, 31403: for students who are ready to begin at SPAN 20203: for students who have a good grasp of Spanish SPAN 10103: for students who have never studied Spanish.

Earned Advanced Placement Credits According to Entrance Level

Students whose first foreign language class at TCU is beyond the first-semester level may earn additional language credit (if credit has not already been awarded for transfer, CLEP, or AP work) as follows:

- If the first foreign language class is at the second semester level (SPAN 10203) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, three semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first semester course. That is, the student will earn a total of six hours of credits for taking a three-credit course.
- If the first foreign language class is at the third semester level (SPAN 20103) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, six semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first and second semester courses. That is, the student will earn a total of nine hours of credits for taking a three-credit course.
- If the first foreign language class is at the fourth semester level (SPAN 20203) and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, nine semester hours credit will also be awarded for the first, second and third semester courses. That is, the student will earn a total of 12 hours of credits for taking a three-credit course.
- If the first foreign language class is above SPAN 20203 and a grade of "B-" or higher is earned, nine semester hours credit will also be awarded for the second, third and fourth semester courses. That is, the student will earn a total of 12 hours of credits for taking a three-credit course.

Policy on Grades

Courses taken Pass/No-Credit and courses in which the student earns below a "C" will not count toward the major.

Study Abroad

Study abroad is strongly recommended for all majors of Spanish. In addition to the enormous improvement students will gain in their speaking ability, the international experience will enhance their career opportunities and cross-cultural competence. Fifteen credits of the Spanish major may be earned in study abroad programs. If the student earns six of those credits while on a TCU-sponsored summer program, then the student may still apply nine credits to the major from a semester-long program.

In order to receive credit, the student must meet with the Spanish department’s study abroad adviser as well as the Center for International Studies prior to departure to obtain approval for coursework abroad to transfer to TCU.

Spanish Minor

The Spanish minor consists of 21 credits at the level of 20103 and above. The following courses are strongly recommended for all minors:

- 31103 (Oral Communication) – for non-heritage speakers
- 31203 (Writing in Spanish) and/or 31403 (Advanced Spanish Grammar)
- 32003 (Culture & Civilization of Spain) or 32103 (Culture & Civilization of Latin America)

SPAN 43303 (Spanish Topics in English Translation) does not count toward the minor.

Spanish for the Health Professions Minor

The minor in Spanish for the health professions is designed to provide students (especially those in nursing) the ability to communicate in Spanish in the area of health care. The minor engages the student into two courses designed especially for students in the health professions. Opportunities are offered for electives to boost oral communication and knowledge of Spanish-speaking communities within the United States and beyond. Options are also available for off-campus service learning and study abroad.

Requirements

The minor in Spanish for the health professions consists of 21 credit hours, as follows:

Native and Heritage Speakers
Native and heritage speakers will not receive credit for Spanish 31103 (Oral Communication in Spanish); they should select SPAN 32103 or another course at the 30000 level and above. (A native speaker is considered to be someone whose primary and/or secondary education took place in a Spanish-speaking country. A heritage speaker is someone who was primarily educated in U.S. schools, but who speaks Spanish in the home and with friends and co-workers.)

Policy on Grades
Courses taken pass/no-credit and courses in which the student earns below a "C" will not count toward the minor.

Study Abroad
Study abroad is recommended for all minors of Spanish for the health professions. In addition to the enormous improvement they will gain in their Spanish ability, students will enhance their career opportunities and cross-cultural competence through the international experience. Up to nine of the 21 required credits may be taken at an approved study-abroad site. In order to receive credit, students must meet with advisers from the Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences, the Department of Spanish & Hispanic Studies and the Center for International Studies prior to departure to obtain approval for coursework abroad to transfer to TCU.

Spanish Secondary Teacher Certification
Students seeking certification for teaching in Spanish at the secondary school level should be advised by the departmental secondary certification adviser.

All individuals seeking Texas teaching certification with an elementary specialization (including bilingual education) or secondary teaching field in Spanish must take the TOPT (Texas Oral Proficiency Test). This test must be taken in addition to the ExCet exams required. Candidates who attain the TOPTs passing standard of advanced oral proficiency or higher will be recommended for certification. Candidates who do not meet the TOPTs passing criteria, but who have met all other coursework and certification requirements, may be recommended for a general elementary certificate or a single secondary teaching field.

Students who plan to earn a teaching certificate requiring a passing score in the TOPT must submit a language assessment from the Department of Spanish when applying to the Teacher Education Program of the University.

Sigma Delta Pi Honor Society
The department annually recognizes its outstanding students by inviting them to join Sigma Delta Pi, the national honor society for Spanish scholars.

Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A study of the works of Miguel de Cervantes, with special attention to the Quijote and the Novelas ejemplares within the context of the Renaissance.

SPAN 41303 - Modern Spanish Literature
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A study of the literary culture and of outstanding writers from the Generation of 1898 to the present. Course may focus on a specific genre, group of authors, or themes associated with Spanish society since the early twentieth century.

SPAN 41403 - Latin American Poetry and Theatre
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. The study of poetry and theatre in Latin America in the post-1900 era. Includes works by well-known authors, but also works written by less known ones, particularly women, indigenous, and Afro-Hispanic authors.

SPAN 41503 - Latin American Short Story
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. Exploration of major fictional trends in the contemporary short story in Latin America. Development of writing and analytical skills based on the study of the works of authors.

SPAN 41503 - Advanced Spanish for the Health Professions
Prerequisite: SPAN 31503. This course builds on knowledge acquired in the introductory course on Spanish for the Health professions. Course provides the student with advanced oral, written and reading skills in Spanish for healthcare purposes, as well as an understanding of cultural differences. Students will develop lexical knowledge related to the medical field and discuss current medical events. Experiential/service-learning in local hospitals is part of the course whereby students will begin to apply the information learned in the course to enhance their communication with patients.

SPAN 41603 - Latin American Novel
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A study of the literary culture and representative contemporary novels of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries from Latin America.

SPAN 41703 - Contemporary Mexican Indigenous Literatures
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A study of Mexico's contemporary, multicultural reality as reflected in the prose, poetry, and drama of writers from major cultural groups: Mayans, Nahua, Zapotec, among others.

SPAN 41803 - Afro-Hispanic and Caribbean Literature
At least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A study of works by Spanish-speaking writers of African descent from the Caribbean and other parts of Latin America. Racial constructs and the way in which the peoples of African descent respond to the question of racial identity and politics. Course also explores Hispanic literary productions in the West African nation of Equatorial Guinea.

SPAN 41903 - Hispanic Women Writers
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. An overview of literary works written by women in the Spanish-speaking world, beginning in the 16th century, with an emphasis on the post-1900 era. The course places women's literary imaginings within the context of their situation in society.

SPAN 42003 - Hispanic Literature in USA
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. An exploration of literary expressions of the Hispanic cultural community in the United States, especially the Chicano, Cuban-American, and Puerto Rican. Emphasis is laid on issues involving gender, identity, religion, and cultural conflict. Readings, discussions, and examinations are in Spanish.

SPAN 42103 - Luso-Brazilian and Hispanic Studies
Prerequisite: At least one 32000-level Spanish course or SPAN 40103. A comparative study of the literature and culture of the Spanish and Portuguese-speaking worlds. Emphasis could be on Europe, Latin America, Africa, or any combination of Spanish and Portuguese-speaking peoples. Taught in Spanish.

SPAN 43103 - Senior Honors Thesis
Prerequisites: SPAN 30003 (Junior Honors Seminar) and at least one 32000-level Spanish course. Independent projects in literature or linguistics or cultural studies resulting in a Senior Honors Thesis.

SPAN 43203 - Senior Seminar
The Spanish capstone course, bringing together the student's study of language, culture, and literature. In-depth study of a pre-announced topic that varies each semester. Required for Spanish majors; this course must be taken in residence at TCU during the senior year.

SPAN 43303 - Hispanic Topics in English Translation
Occasional course on a selected topic related to the history, literature, and culture of Spanish-speaking countries. Taught in English. Course cannot be taken to fulfill the requirements of the Spanish major and minor.

SPAN 49003 - Special Topics in Hispanic Literature and Culture
Prerequisites: at least one 32000-level Spanish course. Occasional course on a selected topic related to the literature, history, and culture of Spanish-speaking countries. Different course titles may be repeated for credit.
SPAN 50203 - Graduate Study in Hispanic Topics
Special topics in Hispanic literature, culture, language, or pedagogy. May be repeated for credit, up to 9 credits. Taught in Spanish.

Portuguese Courses

PORT 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average. Urban Studies

Urban studies is available as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees. A minor in urban studies will enable students to complete an interdisciplinary set of courses addressing urban living and environments.

Urban Studies Minor Requirements

Urban Studies Minor Requirements
The urban studies minor requires 21 hours, selected from at least three different disciplines with a maximum of nine hours from any one discipline, to include:

1. A minimum of six hours to be selected from the following core courses:
   - ANTH 30623 Urban Anthropology
   - ECON 40463 Regional and Urban Economics
   - GEOG 30713 Urban Geography
   - POSC 30103 Topics in American Politics: Urban Issues and Policies

2. A minimum of three hours with a service learning or independent research component. These courses would include, but would not be restricted to:
   - CRJU 40963 Internship in Criminal Justice
   - POSC 20144 Practicing American and Texas Politics

3. A minimum of three hours of coursework in which urbanization is studied in an international, global or comparative context. Students are encouraged, but not required, to satisfy this component of the minor through an appropriate study abroad experience.

4. Nine additional hours of relevant coursework to be completed subject to the distributional requirements noted above. A minimum of three hours must be selected from approved humanities courses.

5. No course may be applied to both a student's major and minor requirements. If one of the above courses is required for a student's major (e.g., CRJU 40963 or POSC 20144), the student may substitute another approved course in the minor. The student would not be required to complete a second internship or service learning course.

Urban Studies Approved Courses

Other relevant courses may be applied to the minor with the approval of the associate dean of AddRan College.

Writing

Writing is available as a major on the BA degree and a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Honors Program
Writing majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors College and enroll in ENGL 30003 in their junior year and ENGL 40003 in the fall semester of their senior year.

Writing Major Requirements
Each student forms a program of study in consultation with a faculty adviser in English.

General Requirements
To earn the BA with a major in writing, students must complete 31 hours in English (exclusive of ENGL 10803, 10833, 20803 and 20833). Of these, at least 25 hours must be in upper-division English courses (30000 level and above). No more than six hours of lower-division credit may be applied to the major.

All writing majors are required to take ENGL 40831 (Senior Seminar) after they have attained senior standing and completed 21 hours in English courses (exclusive of ENGL 10803, 10833, 20803 and 20833).
ENGL 30973 and 50970, courses in special topics that change from semester to semester, usually satisfy one or more of the requirements for majors. Consult the department for information on these courses or check the department's website at www.eng.tcu.edu.

Specific Requirements
To earn a major in writing, the following distribution requirements
apply:
A. Three hours of craft, selected from ENGL 10203, 30233, 30263,
30343, 30353, 30363, 40133, 40203, 40213 and 40223;

TCU has a long history of offering courses and degrees that contribute to the health and well-being of the community. Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences enhances that tradition by uniting the departments of Nursing, Communication Sciences and Disorders, Kinesiology and Social Work. The degree programs offered by Harris College build on a strong liberal arts foundation and prepare graduates to practice in complex and varied professional settings. Many of the courses offered in Harris College allow students to learn through practice in professional and clinical settings encountering multiple and diverse disciplines, practitioners and clients. In both classroom and practice environments, students develop skills essential to finding information, using technology and solving problems.

By integrating clinical practice, professional and community service, and research activities, Harris College faculty demonstrate their commitment to academic excellence and leadership. They create an atmosphere where learning is a part of the lives of all members of the Harris College community. Faculty are committed to providing individual attention to students in order for them to achieve and grow, and are actively involved in teaching research and work closely with students in laboratory and clinical experiences at both undergraduate and graduate levels. Faculty members also serve as advisers providing career and professional guidance.

Mission
The mission of Harris College is to enhance the human condition by preparing graduates who think and practice as ethical leaders, and by advancing knowledge of health and human development within the global community. Faculty fulfill this mission by offering a dynamic curriculum that is responsive to the local and global communities. Students are prepared for a variety of professional roles, including clinical and generalist practice, teaching, or further study in graduate programs. Faculty provide exemplary education in the context of the highest standards, preparing students to enter careers that will benefit society.

Harris College Degrees and Majors

Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences offers the following degrees and majors:
- Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN)
- Bachelor of Science in Social Work (BSSW)
- Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training (BSAT)
- Bachelor of Science (BS) with majors in:
  - Habilitation of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing
  - Speech-Language Pathology
  - Health and Fitness
  - Movement Science
  - Physical Education
  - Sport Psychology

Curriculum
Students seeking the Bachelor of Science degree must fulfill all University degree requirements described in this catalog. This includes completion of the minimum number of credit hours, typically 124, specified by their majors in the following categories:

Core Curriculum (CC): 39-57 credit hours
- Essential Competencies: 12 credit hours plus six hours writing Emphasis
- Human Experiences and Endeavors: 27 credit hours
- Heritage, Mission, Vision and Values: 18 credit hours that may overlay with other elements of a student's degree requirements

Curriculum Requirements of the Major: variable credit hours

Multiple Majors
Students with a first major in Harris College may declare an additional major on the BS degree. Approval by the department and college of both majors is necessary. The degree awarded will be that of the first major. All degree requirements for each major must be satisfied, including all TCU Core Curriculum requirements associated with any major.

Transfer Credit
Students must receive approval of courses they wish to take at another college or university following admission to TCU. Students should gain course recommendations from department advisers, seek approval of the department chair or director, and then seek approval from the Office of the Dean of Harris College. No more than a total of 12 semester hours, except those earned in an approved study abroad program, may be transferred from other schools, after admission to TCU. No credit may be transferred from a community college once 54 cumulative semester hours have been earned.

Degree Plan and Notification of Intent to Graduate
Students must request a degree plan in the Office of the Dean of Harris College, typically after completing 60 hours. After a degree is awarded, no further work may be applied to the degree. Students must also file an Intent to Graduate in the Office of the Dean at the beginning of the last year of coursework.

Academic Advisement
Students are responsible for meeting degree requirements of the major. It is essential that students understand their degree plans and maintain communication with their departments. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with a departmental adviser on a regular basis for the purpose of reviewing progress toward the degree.

Communication Sciences and Disorders

Communication Sciences and Disorders (COSD) Degrees
Available on the Bachelor of Science (BS) degree with a major in habilitation of the deaf and hard of hearing (DHH) or speech-language pathology.

Honors Program
COSD majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in COSD 30003 during their junior year and COSD 40003 during their senior year.

Habilitation of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing
The BS with a major in habilitation of the deaf and hard of hearing requires a total of 124 semester hours as follows:

I. Core Curriculum: 39 to 63 semester hours
II. Habilitation of the DHH: 39 semester hours
III. College of Education: 27 semester hours (includes student teaching)
IV. Associated Requirements: 16 semester hours (13 within the major)

In addition to the academic credit distribution, students must meet the following requirements:
1. No COSD course in which the student receives a "D" may be counted toward the major or as a prerequisite for subsequent courses.
2. Prior to serving as junior clinicians in a clinical setting, students must present satisfactory evidence of acceptable results from a criminal background check arranged by the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders. Background checks must be completed within the 30 days prior to the start of that academic semester.
3. Complete 75 hours of clinical practice, at least two semesters of COSD 40340 and one semester of COSD 40350.
4. TCU cumulative GPA of at least 2.5 and a 2.5 GPA in COSD courses before enrolling in COSD 40340.
   - Students must be recommended for enrollment in COSD 40350 by COSD faculty. Recommendation is based on fulfillment of expectations specified in the clinic handbook and on:
     - Performance in COSD coursework;
     - Previous clinical experience and performance; and
     - Fluency in sign language as judged by course instructor.
5. Students must be successfully admitted into the College of Education.

Speech-Language Pathology
The BS with a major in speech-language pathology requires a total of 124 semester hours as follows:

I. TCU Core Curriculum: 39 to 63 semester hours
II. Speech-Language Pathology: 33 semester hours
III. Psychology/Approved Electives: 9 semester hours
IV. Supporting Areas: 9 semester hours
V. Electives: 16 to 34 semester hours

In addition to the academic credit distribution, students must meet the following requirements:
1. No COSD course in which the student receives a "C" may be counted toward the major or as a prerequisite for subsequent courses.
2. Complete at least 25 hours of supervised clinical observation prior to enrolling in COSD 40300.
3. Prior to serving as junior clinicians in a clinical setting, students must present satisfactory evidence of acceptable results from a criminal background check arranged by the Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders. Background checks must be completed within the 30 days prior to the start of that academic semester.
4. Complete 50 hours of clinical practice, at least one semester of COSD 40300 and two semesters of COSD 50300.
   - TCU cumulative GPA of at least 2.5, a 2.5 GPA in COSD course and a grade of "C" or above in all COSD coursework before enrolling in COSD 40300 and 50300.
5. Students must be recommended for enrollment in COSD 50300 by COSD faculty. Recommendation is based on fulfillment of expectations specified in the clinic handbook and on:
   - Performance in COSD coursework;
   - Previous clinical experience and performance.

(Note: This should be viewed as a pre-professional degree. Students selecting this major will need to continue studies at the graduate level in order to meet standards for licensure as a speech-language pathologist and for certification by the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA). The graduate program in speech-language pathology at TCU is accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation of ASHA. Admission to the program is competitive and based on applicant qualifications.)

Communication Disorders Minor
A minor requires 18 hours and may include an emphasis in habilitation of the deaf and/or speech-language pathology. This minor requires COSD 10303 and 10343 plus 12 additional hours approved by a COSD faculty adviser. A minimum of six hours must be at the 3000 level or above. No COSD course in which the student receives a "D" may count toward the minor or as a prerequisite for subsequent courses.

Communication Sciences & Disorders Courses
COSD 10303 - Survey of Communication Disorders
Survey of disorders of articulation, language, stuttering, voice and hearing.

COSD 10343 - Basic Sign Language
An introductory course in signing expressively and understanding basic sign language, receptively. Included is basic information on hearing loss and its effects on children and adults. Recommended for students majoring in special education and service-oriented fields.

COSD 20303 - Speech and Hearing Science
An introduction to acoustic and physiological aspects of the speech and hearing mechanisms.
COSD 20313 - Voice and Articulation Improvement
Practical application of techniques for articulation, pronunciation, and efficient voice production for effective speech. Emphasis on acceptable standards of speech for students preparing for professional careers.

COSD 20323 - Clinical Methods in Speech-Language Pathology
Prerequisite: COSD 10303, 20333, and 30333, or permission of instructor. Principles and procedures in the assessment and treatment of communication disorders.

COSD 20333 - Phonetics
Required of all majors and elective to others. Emphasis on speech perception and sound discrimination. Intensive work in transcription using the International Phonetic Alphabet.

COSD 20343 - Intermediate Sign Language
Prerequisite: COSD 10343 or permission of instructor. Further development and refinement of receptive and expressive skills in Signed English and American Sign Language. Emphasis on vocabulary development for classroom use, ability to sign fluently, and the psychosocial aspects of deafness, including the sociolinguistics of sign language.

COSD 30003 - Junior Honors Seminar
Prerequisite: Junior standing and membership in the Honors Program. Under the guidance and supervision of a faculty member, current issues in communication sciences and disorders are explored.

COSD 30303 - Anatomy and Physiology of the Speech and Hearing Mechanisms
Structure and function of the normal mechanisms required for speech and hearing.

COSD 30323 - Speech Sound Disorders
Prerequisites: COSD 10303 and 20333 or permission of instructor. Basic principles of diagnosis and treatment for individuals with developmental or functional speech sound disorders of articulation.

COSD 30333 - Language Development in Children
Normal acquisition and development of language in children from infancy through adolescence.

COSD 30343 - Aural Rehabilitation
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Overview of management and rehabilitation of persons with hearing loss. Focus on amplification, cochlear implants, assistive devices, speech training, speech reading, auditory training and language development.

COSD 30353 - Teaching Elementary School Subjects to DHH Children
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Curriculum materials and teaching methods for meeting specialized needs of DHH children, in the learning of reading and developing concepts and relationships in arithmetic and science.

COSD 30363 - Audiology
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Basic audiomteric techniques and interpretation of audiograms as related to problems of communication of persons with hearing loss.

COSD 30373 - Language Disorders in Children
Prerequisite: COSD 30333. Introduction to the causes, characteristics, assessment and treatment of children with language disorders.

COSD 30383 - American Sign Language I
Prerequisite: COSD 10343 or permission of the instructor. An introductory course in American Sign Language ASL which will introduce students to the grammatical aspects of ASL, inclusive of receptive and expressive signing skills with laboratory practice. Recommended for students in special education and service related fields of study.

COSD 30393 - Language Development of DHH
Prerequisite: COSD 30333, or permission of instructor. Principles of language development as applied to DHH students; survey of principal methods in use; methods used in beginning language development with young DHH children.

COSD 30390 - Independent Study
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Independent study of specially designed topics not addressed in regular course offerings. 1-6 hours, 3 hours maximum per semester.

COSD 40003 - Senior Honors Research Project
Prerequisite: COSD 30003, senior standing, and membership in the Honors Program. The completion of a research project related to a current issue in normal and/or disordered communication.

COSD 40300 - Clinical Practicum in Speech-Language Pathology I
Prerequisite: COSD 20323, 30323, 30373, a cumulative TCU GPA of 2.5 or higher, and permission of instructor. One semester is required. Supervised clinical experiences in the management of speech and language disorders.

COSD 40323 - Advanced Language Development for DHH
Prerequisite: COSD 30393, or permission of instructor. Language principles and usage for intermediate and advanced levels with the deaf and hard of hearing.

COSD 40333 - Teaching Spoken Language to Persons with Hearing Loss
Prerequisite: COSD 30333 or permission of instructor. Development of spoken languages, including articulation, prosody, and voice production for children and adults with hearing loss.

COSD 40340 - Clinical Practicum in Teaching DHH Students I
Prerequisite: COSD 30393 and 40333, a cumulative TCU GPA of 2.5 or higher, and permission of instructor. A minimum of two semesters required. Observation and supervised clinical teaching of DHH children and adults in an individual setting.

COSD 40350 - Clinical Practicum in Teaching DHH Students II
Prerequisite: COSD 40340 and a cumulative TCU GPA of 2.5 or higher. Students must be recommended for enrollment by COSD faculty. Observation and supervised clinical teaching of DHH students.

COSD 40383 - American Sign Language II
Prerequisite: COSD 30383 or permission of the instructor. This course is a continuation of the ASL I COSD 30383 with emphasis on deaf cultural aspects and the grammatical structure of ASL. This course utilizes extensive sign productions. Recommended for students in special education and service-related fields of study.

COSD 50300 - Clinical Practicum in Speech-Language Pathology II
Prerequisite: COSD 40300, and a cumulative TCU GPA of 2.5 or higher. Student must be recommended for enrollment by COSD faculty. A minimum of two semesters required for undergraduate students. A maximum of three semesters is allowed. Graduate students with less than 30 clinical hours will be considered for enrollment in COSD 50300. Supervised clinical experience in management of the most common speech and language disorders.

COSD 50323 - Counseling Special Populations and Their Families
Prerequisite: Senior or graduate standing. Theories, principles and practices in counseling special populations and their families with a focus on the communicatively impaired. Appropriate counseling strategies and techniques are explored with practical application experiences included.

COSD 50342 - Advanced Aural Rehabilitation
Prerequisite: Senior standing and COSD 30343 and 30363, or graduate standing, or permission of instructor. Theories of assessment and intervention in identification and aural rehabilitation of hearing-impaired and deaf children and adults. Includes methods of evaluation and training in the areas of audition, amplification, speech, language, speech-reading, assistive listening devices, cochlear implants, and communication modes and strategies.

COSD 50350 - Clinical Practicum in Audiology
Prerequisites: Senior or graduate standing. Students must be recommended for enrollment by the Communication Disorders CD faculty. Such recommendations are based on the student's: 1) performance in COSD coursework with a grade of "C" or better expected in all COSD courses; and 2) previous clinical experience and performance with students expected to complete two semesters of COSD 40300 with a grade of "C" or better. A laboratory course in basic for the Bachelor of Science degree. The department emphasizes curriculum and elective courses to accumulate a minimum of 124 hours. In addition to the major requirements, students must take core courses (11-27 hours).

II. Major courses specific to each area (18-37 hours)

Kinesiology

- The Department of Kinesiology offers programs of study designed to provide students with the educational background necessary for the pursuit of careers in a variety of movement-based professions. The Bachelor of Science degree is offered with majors in:
  - health and fitness
  - movement science
  - physical education
  - sport psychology

The Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training (BSAT) degree is offered to majors in athletic training. The Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE) accredits the BSAT. In addition, the department offers minors in movement science, health and physical education. The athletic training major is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE) accredits the BSAT.

The curriculum for each major academic area is comprised of the following components:

I. Kinesiology core courses common to all majors (16 hours)

II. Major courses specific to each area (18-37 hours)

III. Emphasis courses (6-18 hours)

IV. Associated requirements intended to supplement the departmental courses (11-27 hours)

In addition to the major requirements, students must take core curriculum and elective courses to accumulate a minimum of 124 hours for the Bachelor of Science degree. The department emphasizes learning experiences beyond the classroom environment. Students are required and/or encouraged to participate in research, internships, clinical experiences and special projects that are arranged through academic advisers.

Pass/No-Credit Option

No kinesiology core, major, emphasis or associated requirements courses may be taken on a Pass/No-Credit basis.

Kinesiology Degrees

The Department of Kinesiology offers the BS degree with majors in health and fitness, movement science, physical education and psychosocial kinesiology as well as the Bachelor of Science in Athletic Training (BSAT) for athletic training majors.

Health and Fitness

The health and fitness option provides students with the educational foundation required for pursuit of fitness-related careers. Students gain an understanding of the exercise prescription and assessment of general and athletic populations. In addition, students learn the planning, organization and administration of fitness and athletic conditioning programs and facilities.

Physical Education

The physical education option provides students with the educational preparation for a career in the teaching profession. Students receive all-level certification (K-12) upon successful completion of the major and a state-administered exam. In order to graduate with a PEAL degree, students must maintain a 2.5 or better cumulative GPA, earn a "C" or better in all courses required to complete the major, be in good standing academically with the University and comply with University policies. In order to earn a teaching certification, students must meet and comply with the PEAL requirements and the requirements described in the Teacher Education Program section of this catalog. Specific requirements involve criteria for admission and retention to the teacher education program and admission to student teaching. See the College of Education section on page 73 of the catalog for admission and retention criteria.

To be retained in the Athletic Training Program, students must maintain a 2.75 or better cumulative GPA, earn a 2.75 or higher semester GPA, earn a "C" or better in all courses required to complete the major, complete the clinical proficiencies assigned for the semester, and be in good standing academically with the University and comply with University and program policies. Failure to meet the requirements for retention could delay the student's clinical education progress and ultimately the student's date of graduation.

Probation. Probation will serve as a warning to students that their progress in the program is not satisfactory. Students will be placed on probation if one or more of the requirements for retention are not met in a given semester. Students receiving a deficient grade in a course required for the major must repeat the course the next time the course is offered during the regular academic year (fall or spring semesters). Students may elect to repeat the course in the summer immediately following the academic year in which the deficient grade was received. Tutor sessions (if available) for a repeat course will be required during the semester the course is repeated. Students not currently on probation, who do not meet the cumulative GPA requirement, will be limited to 25 hours per week in the athletic training room and will be required to complete five hours of study hall per week, and may not travel to away competitions. Students not meeting semester GPA requirements will be limited to 25 hours per week in the athletic training room and will be required to complete five hours of study hall per week. Students receiving a deficient grade in a course required for the major will be limited to 25 hours per week in the athletic training room and will be required to complete five hours of study hall per week. Students receiving a deficient grade in a course required for the major must repeat the course the next time the course is offered during the regular academic year (fall or spring semesters).

Suspension. Students not meeting the cumulative GPA requirement for a second semester (consecutive or non-consecutive) and/or receiving a deficient grade in a course required for the major upon retaking the course may be suspended from the program. Students on suspension will not be given a clinical assignment and will be required to complete weekly study hall hours and tutor sessions as assigned by the program director. Students will be removed from suspension if the requirements for retention are satisfied at the completion of the semester. Students removed from suspension may be required to complete weekly study hall hours as assigned by the program director for a minimum of one additional semester.

Dismissal from the Program. Students who have not met the requirements for retention following a semester on suspension will be considered for dismissal from the program. Other circumstances (e.g., sacrificing patient confidentiality, not adhering to program policies and procedures) may result in a student being considered for immediate dismissal and will be handled on a case-by-case basis.

The program director, in consultation with the chair of the Department of Kinesiology and the program faculty/staff, will make decisions regarding the dismissal of a student from the program. The program director will meet with the student to discuss the decision and reason(s) for dismissal. A letter will be placed in the student's file. A copy will be sent to the student and the chair of the Department of Kinesiology. Students shall not continue in the athletic training major (ATTR) and will be required to file a change of major form with the dean's office. Students must return all clothing issued to them as a result of their involvement in the Athletic Training Program. Failure to return clothing in a timely manner will result in a hold being placed on the student's TCU account.

Kinesiology Minors

The Department of Kinesiology offers academic minors in movement science, health, physical education and fitness. The minors offered by the department may not be taken by students majoring in any one of the five majors offered by the department.

Movement Science Minor

The minor in movement science requires 19 hours as follows:

KINE 10102 Foundations of Athletic Training
KINE 20102 Clinical Education I
KINE 20202 Clinical Education II
KINE 20303 Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries

* Recommended for students entering medical or allied health fields.

Physical Education Minor

This minor is designed for individuals who want to teach physical education as a second teaching field. This minor alone will not suffice for certification. To obtain Texas teacher certification, students must hold or achieve a bachelor's degree in another teaching field and have completed the 31 additional course hours in the Teacher Education Program of the University. Students must also have successfully completed the appropriate state certification exams for the subject and grade level they wish to teach.

The minor in physical education requires 18 hours as follows:

KINE 10603 Anatomical Kinesiology
KINE 20403 Physical Education for Elementary School Children
KINE 30634 Adapted Physical Activity: School-based Perspective
KINE 40623 Physical Education for Secondary School Youth

Health Courses

HLTH 10603 - Anatomical Kinesiology
A study of the gross structure of the human body with an emphasis on the relationship of anatomy to the study of physical activity, physical fitness, sport and exercise. (Offered as KINE or HLTH credit.)

HLTH 20203 - Health and Wellness Concepts
A survey course designed to study basic health concepts and information relative to general areas of health. Relation of these concepts to personal lifestyles and healthy decisions.

HLTH 20613 - Measurement and Evaluation
Introduction to basic measurement and evaluation concepts and processes in Kinesiology and health. (Offered as KINE or HLTH credit.)

HLTH 30203 - Health and Stress Management
A study of physiological, psychological, and sociological aspects of stress as related to overall health. Responses such as anger, fear, and depression with their underlying mechanisms in sates of health and disease will be examined. Emphasis is on identification of stressors and methods of prevention and coping with them.

HLTH 30213 - Health Aspects of Human Sexuality
Sexuality as a normal aspect of life and as a source of creative energy. Study of physical, mental, emotional, social, and psychological phases of human sexuality as they are affected by male and female relationships.

HLTH 30233 - Sport and Exercise Pharmacology
Prerequisite: KINE 10603, BIOL 20214, or consent of instructor. The study of the pharmacological effects of various classifications of drugs commonly utilized to treat and manage various types of hypokinetic diseases such as cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and obesity. The interaction between various drugs and exercise will be examined. In addition, the pharmacological effects of various nutritional supplements commonly used by athletes and other exercising individuals as ergogenic aids will be studied.

HLTH 30423 - Nutrition and Physical Activity
A study of the roles that nutrition and physical activity play in maintaining health and fitness, with an emphasis on evaluating personal nutrition and physical activity habits, and developing an individualized plan for healthful eating and exercise.

HLTH 30634 - Exercise Physiology
Prerequisite: KINE 10603; Kinesiology majors only: KINE 10103; MOSC, ATTR, and HEFI only: BIOL 20214. Physiological responses of the systems of the human body with an emphasis on the energetics, metabolism, cardiovascular responses, thermoregulation, and muscular function associated with acute and chronic exercise. (Offered as KINE or HLTH credit.)

HLTH 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

HLTH 40203 - Study of Human Disease
An overview of the processes in human disease. The etiology, symptoms, treatment, and preventive measures of various diseases. Concepts of wellness are discussed.

HLTH 40213 - Instructional Strategies in Health Education
Selection and application of teaching methods, materials and content, action-oriented classroom strategies and resources appropriate for Health Education at the various educational levels.
KINE 30102 - Clinical Education III
The review and evaluation of selected National Athletic Trainers' Association educational competencies and clinical proficiencies.

KINE 30202 - Clinical Education IV
The review and evaluation of selected National Athletic Trainers' Association educational competencies and clinical proficiencies.

KINE 30303 - Orthopedic Assessment I
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 and KINE 20303 or consent of instructor. This course is designed to provide advanced knowledge and clinical skills in the assessment of sports related injuries to the lower extremity and lumbar spine. This course will also serve to enhance the student's decision making skills in initial injury management.

KINE 30313 - Orthopedic Assessment II
Prerequisites: KINE 30303. This course is designed to provide advanced knowledge and clinical skills in the assessment of sports related injuries to the upper extremity, head and neck. This course will also serve to enhance the student's decision making skills in initial injury management.

KINE 30423 - Motor Development
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 or consent of instructor. Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. An examination of human motor behavior from birth to adulthood. Emphasis placed on the development of fundamental skills and their effect on future motor performance.

KINE 30503 - Fitness Assessment
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 or consent of instructor. Practical experience in aspects of physical fitness and prescription. Students receive hands on experience in areas of testing required for ACSM health/fitness instructor certification.

KINE 30513 - Health and Fitness Management
Prerequisites: Kinesiology majors only -- KINE 10103. This course is designed to provide students interested in careers in the health and fitness industry with the knowledge necessary to develop and operate a fitness facility. The design and operation of health/wellness programs and facilities will be presented, including program design and administration, facility design, organizational development, management theory, marketing, financial management, legal issues, strategic planning, and evaluation models. Through a major simulation project, students will participate in all phases of program and facility development, such as budget development, recruiting and retaining employees and clients, market niche, and conflict resolution.

KINE 30603 - General Pathology and Applied Pharmacology
Prerequisites: ATTR major. This course will provide an advanced level of knowledge and clinical skills in the signs, symptoms, and management of general medical conditions commonly seen by the practicing athletic trainer and discuss common pharmaceuticals used in the treatment of these conditions.

KINE 30623 - Biomechanics
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 or consent of instructor. Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. Mechanical foundation and analysis of human movement. Emphasis is placed on the concepts of linear and angular kinetics to include forces and torques that act on the human body during movement.

KINE 30634 - Exercise Physiology
Prerequisite: KINE 10603; Kinesiology majors only; KINE 10103; MOSC, ATTR, and HEFI only; BIOL 20214. Physiological responses of the systems of the human body with an emphasis on the energetics, metabolism, cardiovascular responses, thermoregulation, and muscular function associated with acute and chronic exercise. (Offered as KINE or HLTH credit.)

KINE 30713 - Psychology of Sport
Prerequisite: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. Selected theories and practical applications germane to the understanding of psychological aspects of human behavior in sport and exercise settings.

KINE 30723 - Sociology of Sport
Prerequisites: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. The sociology of sport focuses on examining the interaction between society and sport. In particular, the course examines issues such as youth sport, violence in sport, commercialization of sport, the media and sport, politics and sport, religion and sport, and the role of gender, race, and socioeconomic status within sport.

KINE 30733 - Exercise Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213 or 10514, or permission of instructor; Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. Selected theories and practical applications germane to the understanding of psychological aspects of human behavior in exercise settings.

KINE 30753 - Curriculum and Program Design in Secondary Physical Education
Prerequisite: KINE 10103. The development of goals, objectives, and scope of secondary physical education. Emphasis is placed on the systematic process of designing and evaluating curriculum in secondary schools.

KINE 30803 - Adapted Physical Activity
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 or consent of instructor; Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. An overview of common disabilities and the relationship to appropriate physical activity experiences. Stress is placed on learning how to develop and adapt programs for individuals with disabilities primarily in school physical and special educational settings.

KINE 30833 - Physical Activity and Disability
Prerequisite: KINE 10603 or consent of instructor; Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103.

KINE 40102 - Clinical Education V
The review and evaluation of selected National Athletic Trainers' Association educational competencies and clinical proficiencies.

KINE 40103 - Seminar in Kinesiology
Prerequisite: Consent of instructor. An examination of current issues in the field of Kinesiology. Emphasis is on a critical examination of research processes, and the application of research finds relevant to disciplines within Kinesiology.

KINE 40202 - Clinical Education VI
The review and evaluation of selected National Athletic Trainers' Association educational competencies and clinical proficiencies.

KINE 40301 - Senior Seminar in Athletic Training
Prerequisites: KINE 30303, 30313, and 40533. This course will serve as a comprehensive overview of athletic training. This course will provide the senior level athletic training student the opportunity to synthesize coursework and discuss the care of athletic injuries from the time of injury until return to play. An overview and discussion of national, district, and state athletic training organizations will also be included.

KINE 40303 - Organization and Administration in Athletic Training
Prerequisite: KINE 20303; this course provides the student with the background and skills necessary to administer and manage an Athletic Training Program. Topics such as athletic training program management, budget, insurance, facility design, legal issues, and ethics in the profession of athletic training will be discussed.

KINE 40313 - Individual and Dual Sports
Prerequisite: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. The development of knowledge, skill and play relative to selected individual and dual sports and activities in the field of Physical Education and recreation. Focuses on phases of skill development and teaching progression.

KINE 40343 - Team and Group Sports
Prerequisite: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. The development of knowledge, skill, and play relative to selected team and group sports and activities in the field of Physical Education and Recreation. Focuses on various phases of skill development and teaching progression.

KINE 40503 - Fitness Programming
Prerequisites: KINE 10603 and KINE 30503 or consent of instructor. Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. Theoretical and practical applications of exercise assessment and exercise prescription in commercial fitness, community fitness, and cardiac rehabilitation.
KINE 40513 - Principles of Strength and Conditioning
Prerequisites: KINE 30503 or instructor permission. This course will provide students with the theoretical and practical applications of strength training and conditioning. The successful students will acquire a level of proficiency in the development of sport and event specific strength and conditioning programs and plans based upon: athlete / client specific fitness assessment characteristics, sports specific performance demands; and individual performance optimization. Programs shall be based upon the performance requirements associated with the specific sport or event and include, but not be limited to: musculoskeletal symmetry, strength, and flexibility; body composition; cardiovascular endurance, and nutritional recommendations.

KINE 40523 - Therapeutic Modalities
Prerequisite: KINE 20203 and current Athletic Training majors. The purpose of this course is enhancement of the athletic training student's understanding of the proper role of physical agents in the rehabilitation of sports related injuries. Emphasis is placed in the physiological effects, indications and contraindications, and clinical application of thermal, electrical, and mechanical agents. Appropriate selection of modalities for therapeutic intervention in connective tissue repair will be discussed.

KINE 40533 - Therapeutic Exercise
Prerequisite: KINE 30303 and current Athletic Training majors. This course is designed to teach the student to plan and implement sport-specific functional rehabilitation programs. Emphasis is placed on development of comprehensive, individualized rehabilitation protocols incorporating open and closed kinetic chain activities, proprioceptive training techniques, plyometrics, core stability, and other functional activities based on predetermined therapeutic goals and objectives.

KINE 40623 - Physical Education for Secondary School Youth
Prerequisite: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. Examination of scope and value of Physical Education in the secondary schools. Factors essential to curriculum planning and instruction included. On-site clinical experiences.

KINE 40633 - Teaching Outdoor Education in the Secondary School
Prerequisites: KINE 10103 and 20403. This course will prepare students to teach a state outcome-based outdoor education course in the secondary public schools. It will prepare students in the areas of group and individual initiatives, low and high ropes initiatives, leadership activities, orienteering and overnight camping skills.

KINE 40700 - Practicum in Adapted Physical Activity
Prerequisite: Kinesiology majors only need KINE 10103. This course will provide hands-on teaching opportunities at schools servicing a variety of individuals with disabilities. Students will participate in the planning and implementation of appropriate physical activity programs. On-site clinical experiences.

KINE 40760 - Practicum in Kinesiology
Prerequisite: Senior standing and consent of department. Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. Practical experience in an area of Kinesiology (1-3 semester hours.)

KINE 40780 - Special Problems in Kinesiology
Prerequisite: Senior standing and consent of department; Kinesiology majors only also need KINE 10103. Individual study involving research or other scholarly work in Kinesiology under the direction of a faculty member (1-3 semester hours.)

KINE 40793 - Senior Research in Kinesiology
Prerequisite: Senior standing and consent of department. Students work with individual faculty on a research project in an area of interest. The project involves formation of hypotheses, collection of data, and data analysis and interpretation.

KINE 40903 - Senior Internship
Prerequisite: Senior standing and consent of department. Internship for the movement based professions. Students work with local professionals in an area related to their career interest.

KINE 50970 - Special Topics in Kinesiology
Prerequisite: Approval of adviser and course instructor.

Nursing

The Harris College, Nursing, enabled by a trust fund established by the late Dr. Charles Houston Harris, was organized as an academic unit of TCU in 1946. The nursing program is accredited by the Texas Board of Nursing (BON), P. O. Box 430, Austin, TX, 78767-0430; 512.305.7400. Graduates are eligible to sit for the examination for licensure as a registered nurse (R.N.) in Texas or any other state in the United States. Successful completion of the National Council Licensure Examination in one state qualifies graduates to apply for licensure in any other state. Harris College, Nursing, first achieved national accreditation in 1952, and has remained accredited since that time. In addition to the BNE accreditation, the program is accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE), One Dupont Circle, NW, Suite 530, Washington, DC, 20036-1120; 202.887.6791.

In compliance with the policy of the Texas Board of Nursing (BON), all applicants are informed that completion of the BSN degree offered through Harris College does not guarantee eligibility for the registered nurse licensure examination. Professional character is necessary for an individual to conform to the requirements of the Nurse Practice Act. Individuals should seek special advising prior to enrolling in any professional nursing program in Texas if they have a personal history involving conditions that may endanger the health and safety of a person. Such conditions include but are not limited to a felony conviction involving acts likely to affect professional practice; a misdemeanor conviction involving moral turpitude; or physical or mental disability/illness, including prior or continued drug or alcohol abuse that influences the ability to practice professional nursing. (Texas Board of Nursing, excerpts from the Rules and Regulations Relating to Professional Nurse Education, Licensure, Peer Assistance and Practice, Texas Administrative Code, Title 22, Part 11, Chapters 215 and 217). Clinical facilities in the Dallas-FortWorth area require criminal background checks and drug screenings of students. A positive drug screen or criminal background may prevent the student from practicum course enrollment or completion. Further licensure information is available at:

The Office of the Director
Harris College, Nursing
Texas Christian University
TCU Box 298620
Fort Worth, TX 76129

Fort Worth, TX 76129

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), a description of the abilities required for admission to and completion of the BSN curriculum is available upon request from the director of nursing.

Mission
Harris College, Nursing, endorses the mission and vision of TCU. The mission of the nursing program is to prepare professional nurses to identify and respond with competence to multiple, complex human health care needs. Graduates serve society through professional nursing roles and provide ethical leadership in practice, administration, teaching and scholarship. The Harris College, Nursing, is dedicated to professional nursing education based on a foundation of liberal arts, sciences and humanities, and the promotion of an environment that encourages lifelong learning. The Harris College, Nursing, further affirms a commitment to professional competence and civic and professional responsibilities in a global society. The nursing program is designed to meet the needs of those interested in obtaining the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree.

Philosophy
The faculty of Harris College, Nursing, an academic unit of TCU, affirms that individuals are holistic beings who possess inherent worth. The faculty believes that the education of the professional nurse should prepare a graduate who exhibits qualities of mind and character that are necessary to live a fulfilling life, act in the public interest locally and globally, and promote health and the nursing profession. The teaching/learning process is multidimensional and interactive, involving affective, cognitive and psychomotor changes. A liberal educational foundation assists persons to think critically and to seek improvement in themselves, the profession and society. A liberal education provides the basis for the development of core competencies and knowledge of professional nursing. The faculty embraces the professional values of altruism, autonomy, human dignity, integrity and social justice. Nursing practice, conduct and relationships are guided by professional standards and the ANA Code of Ethics for Nurses. Sound clinical judgments characterize the practice of the professional nurse in providing safe, humanitarian care of individuals, families and groups in and across diverse environments.

Portions of the above are based on the Essentials of Baccalaureate Education for Professional Nursing Practice, published by the American Association of Colleges of Nursing (1998), Washington, D.C.
Program Goals
The program goals of Harris College, Nursing, are to:
- Support the University's mission, vision, core values and goals.
- Prepare graduates who are competent to meet the unique, multiple and complex human health needs of a global society.
- Promote values and behaviors that encourage respect for diversity, acknowledge human worth and dignity, and support professional nursing practice.
- Foster an appreciation for the necessity of learning, thinking critically, and continuing to grow personally and professionally.
- Contribute to the nursing profession and society by engaging in scholarship, leadership and service.

Nursing Degrees
The Harris College, Nursing, offers the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN).

Nursing Major Admission
TCU Continuing Students (entered TCU as a freshman; major-nursing)
Continuing TCU nursing majors should file an intent to enroll in first practicum courses by October 1 for the spring semester and February 1 for the fall semester. Forms are available in the Harris College, Nursing, administrative office.

Change of Major Students (entered TCU as a freshman; major other than nursing)
A TCU student may change to the nursing major if the student is not on academic warning or probation and has a 2.5 TCU cumulative GPA. It is strongly recommended the change of major be completed as soon as possible, but at least one semester prior to the first semester of nursing practicum courses. Permission to enroll in practicum courses is determined by the availability of clinical placement slots in clinical facilities. The student should file an intent to enroll in first practicum courses by February 1 for the fall semester and October 1 for the spring semester prior to practicum coursework. The student must meet the requirements for graduation based upon the published TCU catalog at the time of entry into the major.

Transfer Students (a student who has been out of high school for at least one full semester and has attempted college or university work elsewhere for credit)
Transfer students must apply for admission to TCU and the nursing program. Individuals who plan to apply as transfer students are urged to contact the TCU Office of Admission and Harris College, Nursing, in order to receive current information. The number of new transfer students admitted to practicum courses each semester is determined by the availability of faculty, facilities and the number of qualified continuing TCU students. Selection of transfer students for initial entry into practicum courses is based upon indicators of the applicant's likelihood of success in the nursing program and in professional practice.

Deadlines for application for initial entry into practicum courses by transfer students are February 1 for the fall semester and October 1 for spring semester. Admission Assessment (A2) scores are required with the application. Transfer applicants are advised to contact Harris College, Nursing, as early as possible in the application process.

Transfer students are not permitted to pursue a nursing major at TCU if they have been previously enrolled in another nursing program and were not in good standing upon exit or are not admissible to the previous program(s). All transfer student applicants who have been previously enrolled in another nursing program and were not in good standing upon exit or are not admissible to the previous program(s) will be discontinued from the major.

Program Goals
Harris College of Nursing & Health Sciences

mid-May and graduate mid-August the next year. Applicants must hold a previous baccalaureate degree and possess a GPA of 3.00 or higher to meet eligibility. Admission is competitive; it is based on academic record, entrance exam scores, and completion of all prerequisite courses and core curriculum. Students must also comply with other admission requirements as listed above. Those interested should contact Harris College, Nursing, for admission requirements unique to this program.

Nursing Re-enrollment
A student who has been a nursing major and leaves TCU must apply for re-enrollment after an absence of a full fall or spring semester. If the student meets enrollment criteria, the Office of the Registrar will contact Harris College, Nursing, to receive approval for the student to re-enroll as a nursing major. The student must meet the requirements for graduation based upon the published TCU catalog at the time of re-entry into the nursing major. Re-entering students may be required to pass comprehensive mastery exam(s). Re-enrollment is dependent on clinical space availability in practicum courses.

Nursing Major Requirements
Students must meet the following requirements to enroll in the first practicum semester of nursing coursework.

1. The following prerequisite courses must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher before entering the first practicum nursing courses.
   - Anatomy and Physiology I (BIOL 20204 / Lab) 4
   - Anatomy and Physiology II (BIOL 20214 / Lab) 4
   - Microbiology (BIOL 20233 / Lab) 3
   - Lifespan Growth and Development (NURS 10303) 3
   - Introductory Psychology (PSY 10213) 3
   - Introductory Sociology (SOCI 20213) 3
   - Math - Elementary Statistics (MATH 10043) 3
   - Nutrition (NDTD 20403) 3

2. Enrollment in all nursing courses limited to the nursing major requires at least a 2.5 TCU cumulative GPA. Students who are repeatedly unable to achieve or maintain a 2.5 GPA prior to enrollment in practicum courses will be discontinued from the major.

3. Current cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) for health care providers card. Online CPR courses do not meet this requirement.

4. Documentation of required immunizations (contact Harris College, Nursing, for list).

5. No more than 18 credit hours of core curriculum that have not been completed.

6. Completion of Admission Assessment (A2) (contact Harris College, Nursing, to schedule; transfer student must submit scores with application).

7. Documentation of health insurance.

8. Drug screen and criminal background check as required by health care agencies.

Nursing Curriculum Plan
Harris College, Nursing, has an innovative curriculum designed to prepare graduates to work in a wide variety of agencies, clinics, home care agencies, and other community facilities in addition to hospitals and extended-care facilities. Emphasis in classrooms and patient care settings is on the development of critical thinking, logical reasoning and decision making. Students are expected to assume considerable responsibility for their own learning. They are expected to become increasingly independent in the exercise of clinical judgment and in application of nursing process to a variety of nursing problems and situations.

Nursing courses constitute approximately one-half of the four-year program. The sequence of nursing courses provides learning experiences in all major practice areas and in a variety of institutions and agencies in and around the Fort Worth and Dallas Metroplex.

Typical Schedule
Schedules for TCU Core Curriculum courses may vary for individual students.

All of the nursing courses listed below in addition to all courses designated with # must be completed with grades of “C” or above.

Grading System:
- A 2.0 cumulative GPA for all coursework completed at TCU;
- Completed 124 credits including all nursing courses required for the major with grades of "C" or higher or "Pass";
- Completed all core curriculum requirements.

Multiple Majors
Nursing students may, with prior approval of appropriate academic deans, pursue an additional major concurrent with nursing. Such students must declare nursing as the first major and complete all degree requirements for both nursing and the additional major. Students interested in this option are encouraged to meet with advisers from both majors as soon as possible to develop an academic plan.

Finances
Students enrolled in the nursing program are responsible for all related fees. Each practicum course carries a laboratory fee. Fees are charged for standardized achievement tests per semester. All students planning licensure as a registered nurse in the state of Texas are required to submit the required fee directly to the Board of Nursing and to the national company who administers the test during the last semester of nursing coursework. Purchase of uniforms is required. Professional liability insurance is generally required each year the student is enrolled in practicum coursework. Students are responsible for the cost of the urine drug screen and the criminal background check.

Transportation
Limited city bus service is available for transportation to some practicum facilities. Plans should be made for the use of a car beginning with the first practicum nursing course.

Employment
Students may be employed on or off campus, as opportunities are available and the course load and schedule permits. Work schedules should allow sufficient time for study. Because nursing is a demanding academic major, students are cautioned to carefully balance the number of work hours with the nursing course requirements. Students employed in clinical agencies may not wear the name tag or Harris College patch during such employment. Students who are employed in a clinical setting must not sign their names as nursing students.

Learning Center
The Learning Center in the Annie Richardson Bass Building is available to nursing students to enhance independent learning and provide access to computers, audiovisual materials and a practice lab for mastering clinical skills. In the Learning Center, students become an active participant in an environment that facilitates both individual and small-group learning situations. Computer-assisted instruction and practical learning experiences enhance the students' knowledge gained through classroom lectures. Students are required to use the labs for practice and demonstration of nursing skills.

Students must have a TCU cumulative GPA of 2.5 to progress to the next semester of practicum coursework.

Students may repeat one nursing course if less than a "C" or a "No-Credit" (NC) grade is earned.
Testing Program
Students are required throughout the program to sit for standardized achievement tests. Results of these tests provide a basis for review of individual student achievement as well as program effectiveness.

Honors Program
Nursing majors who plan to pursue departmental honors must be members of the University Honors Program and are advised carefully for such achievement. Harris College, Nursing, supports and encourages participation in the Honors Program.

Nursing Scholarships and Grants-in-Aid
A variety of scholarships and grants-in-aid are available to high school graduates and students who have completed one or more years of college work. In addition, loans and tuition reimbursement are available from some area hospitals. Applications are made through the director of financial aid, who can provide further information upon request.

Nursing Student Association
The organizational branch of the Texas Student Nurses’ Association and the National Student Nurses’ Association provide students opportunities to participate in local, state and national affairs. These organizations are concerned with the role of the nursing student, the role of the nurse in the community and the future of nursing. Meetings take place throughout the semester and regional meetings can be attended each semester. Participation is strongly encouraged.

Harris Associates
A group of select nursing students assist in promoting Harris College, Nursing, through various leadership activities. Students at all levels of the nursing program are recommended by the Harris College, Nursing, faculty and administration to serve.

Sigma Theta Tau International
Since 1970, the Beta Alpha Chapter of the International Honor Society for Nursing, Sigma Theta Tau, has selected members from Harris College, Nursing, student body on the basis of academic merit. Qualified students are invited to join during their junior or senior years.

Nursing Courses
NURS 10043 - Survey of Professional Nursing
Open to all majors. Exploration of key factors influencing development and practice of professional nursing. Emphasis on culture, ethics, values, and history as context of health care and professional practice. Includes legal foundations of practice, essential knowledge, behaviors, and skills of professional nursing.

NURS 10303 - Human Development
Open to all majors. Prerequisite: a C or better in PSYC 10213. Introduces the student to principles of growth and development throughout life cycle from conception to death. Provides an overview of the major theories of human development.

NURS 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Nursing
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

NURS 20033 - Teaching Strategies for Professional Practice
Open to all majors. Prerequisite: NURS 10303 or concurrent with permission from the instructor. Introduces theoretical framework for health education and change. Describes the health teaching/learning system and provides opportunity for practical application in multiple settings.

NURS 20041 - Genetics and Genomics in Nursing
Prerequisites: BIOL 20214, 20233, and PSYC 10213. Provides the student with introductory knowledge of genetics and genomics as applied to current and future aspects of nursing practice. Includes lecture, programmed instruction, and online learning.

NURS 20163 - Pharmacotherapeutics
Prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 10043; concurrent: NURS 20224, 20284. The study of specific classifications of medication and their mechanism of action, pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics, indications, contraindications, adverse reactions and nursing implications. The course contains a laboratory component, which addresses basic terminology, mathematical dosage calculations and psychomotor skills employed in medication administration.

NURS 20224 - Fundamental Nursing and Health Assessment: Concepts
Prerequisites: BIOL 20204, 20214, 20233, NURS 10303, NTDT 20403; concurrent: NURS 20284; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 10043. Principles of health assessment, health promotion and nursing process in the care of adult and older adult clients are addressed. Assessment of the integumentary, musculoskeletal, cardiovascular, respiratory, gastrointestinal, genitourinary, visual, auditory and neurologic systems is covered. Application of health promotion is emphasized.

NURS 20231 - Special Problems in Nursing
Supervised study for students who transfer into Nursing or for students who exhibit special needs during the freshman or sophomore years.

NURS 20232 - Special Problems in Nursing
Supervised study for students who transfer into Nursing or for students who exhibit special needs during the freshman or sophomore years.

NURS 20284 - Fundamental Nursing and Health Assessment: Practicum
Concurrent: NURS 20224, 20163; concurrent or prerequisite: NURS 10043. Acquisition and application of health assessment, health promotion, fundamental nursing skills and the nursing process in the care adult clients.

NURS 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

NURS 30002 - Junior Honors Seminar
Prerequisite: Junior status. Students with GPA of 3.4 or above will be invited to enroll. Seminar related to contemporary issues related to health practices and behaviors relevant to professional nursing. Research studies emphasized.

NURS 30063 - Global Perspectives in Health
The course examines selected cultures in an international setting. Social and scientific factors are related to health beliefs and practices and health care delivery systems of the country visited and examined. Critical analysis of selected topics will be accomplished. Open to all majors. Usually taught in summer abroad program.

NURS 30313 - Maternity and Women's Health Nursing: Concepts
Prerequisites or concurrent: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813, 30882; concurrent: NURS 30382. Nursing process and theories will be examined and applied to childbearing-age clients. Selected women's health issues will also be examined. The role of nursing in the promotion, maintenance and restoration of health by cooperative relationships with these individuals and groups will be emphasized. Scientific challenges, legal issues, research findings, socio-cultural differences and implications, and ethical issues important to nursing practice in the field of maternity/women's health will be examined using a variety of teaching and learning strategies.

NURS 30330 - Directed Study in Nursing
Variable credit, 1-3 hours. Prerequisites: Faculty permission required; junior standing. Directed readings or projects in nursing requiring independent or small group study in consultation with a faculty.

NURS 30331 - Dosage Calculations for Nurses
Prerequisite: NURS 20163 and permission of instructor. A one-semester hour course of supervised study for students who exhibit special needs during the junior or senior year in dosage calculation. Offers instruction to the student who needs continued guided learning and practice in the calculation of dosages and solutions. The student will concentrate on the performance of the necessary math skills for calculation, the importance of accuracy and application to specific kinds of nursing situations. This course is taught as a module during the first 6 weeks of the semester. Course completion can range up to 6 weeks depending on concurrent practicum course enrollment and expectations.

NURS 30340 - Directed Study in Nursing
Prerequisite: Permission of faculty. Designed for students who undertake readings or projects in nursing in consultation with faculty. Letter graded and variable credit of 1-3 credit hours.
NURS 30382 - Maternity Nursing: Practicum
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813, 30882; concurrent: NURS 30313. Application of the nursing process to assist in health restoration of high risk childbearing women and their families. Emphasis will be placed on case management of families, collaboration with the health care delivery team and families, and a systems approach to the delivery of care.

NURS 30413 - Pediatric Nursing: Concepts
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813, 30882; concurrent: NURS 30482. The nursing process will be applied to children experiencing acute and chronic disruptions to their health. The role of nursing in the restoration of health by cooperative relationships with the child and family will be emphasized. Legal, research, socio cultural, and ethical implications of nursing practice will also be considered.

NURS 30482 - Pediatric Nursing: Practicum
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813; concurrent: NURS 30413. Application of the nursing process to assist in health restoration of children experiencing chronic and acute disruptions to health. Emphasis will be placed on collaboration with the family and the health care delivery team and the family, and a systems approach to the delivery of care.

NURS 30503 - Issues in Women's Health
Open to all majors. Prerequisite: Junior status or permission of instructor. An overview of women's health issues using various social frameworks for analysis. Emphasis includes prevention, self-care, and social parameters of issues related to reproduction, aging, stress, and roles.

NURS 30533 - Forensic Nursing
Prerequisite: Must be a Nursing major. This course provides an introduction to forensic nursing and prepares the student to recognize and manage forensic patients in the healthcare setting and community at large.

NURS 30543 - Family Health Nursing
Provides an introduction to family systems theory, family dynamics and their application to practice in nursing and allied health disciplines. Emphasis is on family assessment. Family diversity, families with a chronically ill or disabled member and informal caregiving are examined. Students will critically evaluate family health practices, including hospice, home-based care, and families in crisis. (Offered for NURS or SOWO credit.)

NURS 30583 - Aspects of Oncology
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, or permission of instructor. This course provides the student an introduction to oncology nursing with clinical opportunities in various oncology settings. It will serve as the first course for students interested in an oncology clinical focus.

NURS 30632 - Gerontological Nursing
Prerequisites: NURS 20033, 30813, 30882, 30783, 30714; concurrent: NURS 30313, 30382, 30413, 30482. Issues relating to an aging population such as demographics, ageism, attitudes, and intergenerational concerns. Focuses on healthy aging as well as the specialized needs and nursing care of older persons based on the common physical and psychosocial changes that occur during the aging process. The impact of selected physical and mental health conditions is discussed. Includes observational experiences with older persons in a variety of community settings.

NURS 30714 - Adult Nursing I: Concepts
Prerequisites: NURS 20163, 20224, 20284; concurrent: NURS 30783, prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 20033. Application of nursing process and theories to the health restoration of clients and families experiencing acute disruptions of selected body systems. Concepts of pathophysiology, pharmacology, and nutrition are integrated.

NURS 30783 - Adult Nursing I: Practicum
Prerequisites: NURS 20163, 20224, 20284; concurrent: NURS 30714; Concurrent or prerequisite: NURS 20033. Students use nursing process, theories, and research findings in caring for adult clients and families with acute disruptions of selected body systems.

NURS 30813 - Psychiatric-Mental Health Nursing: Concepts
Prerequisites: NURS 20224, 20284, 20163; Concurrent: NURS 30882; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 20033. Concepts and principles of individual, family, group and community systems experiencing psychopathology will be explored. Discussion of mental health alterations and the human responses evoked from those alterations will be introduced. The use of nursing strategies and actions in the promotion of mental health will be emphasized.

NURS 30882 - Psychiatric-Mental Health Nursing: Practicum
Prerequisite: NURS 20224, 20284, 20163; Concurrent: NURS 30813; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 20033. Application of the nursing process with individuals, families, and groups experiencing psychosocial alteration or pathology.

NURS 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

NURS 31003 - Applied Nursing Concepts and Learning Strategies
Prerequisites: NURS 20024. Emphasizes application of nursing concepts and encourages development of learning strategies and self improvement techniques to foster success in the undergraduate nursing program. This course is offered to selected students in all clinical levels based on individualized assessments. Department permit required.

NURS 39043 - Survey of Professional Nursing for Registered Nurses
Prerequisite: Admission to ADN-MSN program. Exploration of key factors influencing development and practice of professional nursing. Emphasis on culture, ethics, values, and history as context of health care and professional practice. Includes legal foundations of practice and essential knowledge and competencies of professional nursing. The role of the nurse as a patient educator is stressed.

NURS 39113 - The Discipline and Practice of Professional Nursing
Prerequisites: Admission to Accelerated BSN Track; NURS 20163; concurrent: NURS 39123, 39184. Examines humanitarian aims and scientific principles that underpin professional nursing. Explores nursing phenomena in relation to complex adaptive systems theories. Nursing philosophy and praxis are compared with other ways of knowing and being-in-the-world. Emphasizes formal health care delivery systems, professionalism, legal issues, ethics, cultural competence, teaching strategies, and health promotion.

NURS 39123 - Nursing Fundamentals
Prerequisites: Admission to Accelerated BSN Track; NURS 20163; concurrent: NURS 39113, 39184. Examines the science fundamental to professional nursing. Health assessment and the nursing process in care of adult clients are explored using a human needs framework. Assessment of the cardiopulmonary, gastrointestinal, genitourinary, integumentary, musculoskeletal, and neurosensory systems is emphasized. Psychosocial integrity, human sexuality, and spirituality are considered. Highlights the professional nurse's role as an effective communicator.

NURS 39184 - Reflective Practice and Clinical Inquiry I
Prerequisites: Admission to Accelerated BSN Track; NURS 20163; Concurrent: NURS 39116. Combines dialogical reflection and clinical practice opportunities in health promotion and assessment. Human responses to disease and disability are examined. Includes acquisition and application of nursing arts. Explores the professional nurse's responsibilities in medication administration. Provides a solid foundation in the values, knowledge, and skills requisite to professional nursing.

NURS 39285 - Reflective Practice and Clinical Inquiry II
Prerequisites: NURS 39116, 39184; concurrent: NURS 30714, 30813, 30312, 304632. Combines dialogical reflection and clinical practice opportunities in nursing care of individuals and families responding to episodic crises, life transitions, or disabling conditions. Acute and chronic models of illness are applied. Explores personal and societal impact of medicalization normal developmental processes, such as birth and death. Family guidance and teaching receive emphasis.
NURS 4001 - NCLEX (National Council Licensure Examination in Nursing) Review
Prerequisites: Completion of NURS 40114 and 40183; instructor permission. This course will reinforce and complement prior knowledge gained in the nursing curriculum. Students will utilize the nursing process and critical thinking skills to review previously learned nursing concepts. Completion of the course will assist students to further prepare for the National Council Licensure Examination in Nursing (NCLEX). Second semester senior nursing (Senior 2) students scoring below 850 on the Evolve Reach/HESI Exit Exam will be required to take this course concurrently with their Senior 2 courses.

NURS 4003 - Senior Honors Project
Prerequisites: Completion of junior honors seminar; grade point average 3.4. Scholarly project is required involving an area of nursing for in-depth investigations.

NURS 4053 - Critical Inquiry into Health Care Delivery
Prerequisite or concurrent: ENGL 10803, 20803. Open to all majors with Senior status or with permission of the instructor. Focuses on society, values, rights, and responsibilities of individuals and groups within the health care delivery systems of the United States and selected countries. Students analyze the economic, human, and physical resources necessary and available for health care.

NURS 40114 - Adult Nursing II: Concepts
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813, 30882; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 30632, 30313, 30382, 30413, 30483; concurrent: NURS 40183. Application of nursing concepts and nursing process to adult clients and families who are experiencing complex acute or chronic disruptions of selected body systems. Concepts of related to chronic and terminal illness, rehabilitation and quality of life issues will be examined. Concepts of pathophysiology, pharmacology, and nutrition are integrated.

NURS 40183 - Adult Nursing II: Practicum
Prerequisites: NURS 30714, 30783, 30813, 30882; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 30632, 30313, 30382, 30413, 30483; concurrent: NURS 40114. Students use the nursing process, nursing concepts and research-based nursing interventions in caring for adult clients with complex acute, chronic, or terminal disruptions of selected body systems and their families. Students work with interdisciplinary teams in providing acute and chronic care. Students will have experiences in critical, chronic care, and at a hospice or home health agency.

NURS 40213 - Civic Engagement and Leadership Supporting Healthy Communities
Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. Students will explore health care systems in relationship to ethical responsiveness, civic engagement, and social responsibility. Using models of leadership and service learning, diverse population health care needs will be identified. The course provides content and service learning opportunities which support students' becoming ethical leaders and global citizens.

NURS 40543 - Critical Aspects of Pediatric Nursing
Nursing elective. Fifteen class hours and 90 practicum hours. Prerequisite: NURS 40213, 40283, 40713, 40783. Designed to allow the student optimum opportunity for in-depth exploration of aspects of pediatric nursing of particular individual interest to the student.

NURS 40632 - Research and Theory in Nursing Practice
Prerequisite: MATH 10043; NURS 20224, 20284. The use of theory and research in the construction of a scientific knowledge base for nursing practice will be discussed. Research as a process for developing and examining clinically-based nursing questions will be examined. The importance of evidence-based practice will be emphasized.

NURS 40813 - Community Health Nursing: Concepts
Prerequisites: ENGL 10803, 20803; NURS 30313, 30382, 30413, 30482, 40114, 40183, 40483, 40632; concurrent: NURS 40882. The concept of communityaggregate as client is examined. Methods of communityaggregate assessment, diagnoses, planning, implementation, and evaluation are analyzed. Roles in Community Health Nursing are explored. Nursing's role in meeting the health care needs of a total population is examined. Systems theory, epidemiology, levels of prevention, and the nation's objectives for health are analyzed.

NURS 40882 - Community Health Nursing: Practicum
Prerequisite: 40053, 40114, 40183, 40632; concurrent: NURS 40813. The nursing process is applied to communityaggregate as client. Communities/aggregates are assessed; communityaggregate diagnoses are identified, macro-level interventions planned, implemented, and evaluated. Systems theory, epidemiology, levels of prevention, and the nation's objectives for health are discussed.

NURS 40892 - Community Health Nursing Practicum for Registered Nursing
Prerequisites: NURS 40053, 40114, 40183, and 40632; concurrent: NURS 40813. The nursing process is applied to communityaggregate as client. Communities/aggregates are assessed; communityaggregate diagnoses are identified, and evaluated. Systems theory, epidemiology, levels of prevention and the nation's objectives for health are discussed. Students also plan, implement and evaluate an aggregate focused teaching intervention. The course requires 120 practicum hours.

NURS 40913 - Role Development and Nursing Management: Concepts
Prerequisites: NURS 30313, 30382, 30413, 30482, 40053, 40114, 40183, 40483; concurrent: NURS 40984; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 40813, 40882. Theories and principles of leadership and management, which provide the foundation for management of self, health care providers, multiple clients and the profession in the delivery of health care are introduced. Career paths, job seeking skills and professional responsibilities are explored. The Texas Nurse Practice Act and ANA Standards of Practice are analyzed in depth. Management roles within various health care settings are reviewed within the context of selected theories and research publications.

NURS 40984 - Role Development and Nursing Management: Practicum
Prerequisites: NURS 30313, 30413, 30382, 30482, 40053, 40114, 40183, 40483; concurrent: NURS 40913; prerequisite or concurrent: NURS 40882, 40813. Students assume professional roles that require application of leadership principles and management skills for the provision of care to a group of clients and the management of a group of health care providers in a variety of clinical settings.

NURS 49385 - Reflective Practice and Clinical Inquiry II
Prerequisites: NURS 30313, 30714, 30813, 39285, 40312, 40632; concurrent: NURS 30413, 30632, 40114, and 40813. Combines dialogical reflection and clinical practice opportunities in nursing care of adults and children with complex health alterations. Dynamic interaction between human development across the lifespan and advanced biomedical and information technologies is addressed. Explores continuum of care among client aggregates. Partnerships with selected communities promote and maintain public health.

NURS 49488 - Professional Residency
Prerequisites: NURS 30413, 30632, 40114, 30313, 40913, 49385; concurrent: NURS 40913 or elective. Provides intensive opportunities for reflective practice highlighting students' clinical strengths and professional interests. Rotation through selected service areas diversifies experiential learning and grounds students in clinical practice. Application of leadership principles and management theories enhances role transition. Controversies in contemporary nursing practice are examined. Emphasis is given to hospital-as-culture and diverse client populations.

NURS 50003 - Advanced Pathophysiology
Prerequisites: Admission to Graduate Program or permission of instructor. Provides an understanding of advanced knowledge base of pathophysiologic processes underlying human illness. Content includes systems approach to pathophysiologic processes associated with altered health states in adults and children.

NURS 50013 - Advanced Health Assessment
Prerequisites: Admission to Graduate Program or permission of instructor. This course focuses on developing comprehensive health assessment knowledge and skill required for advanced practice nursing practice across the life span. Diagnostic and inferential skills are emphasized through systematic approaches. The course includes didactic and practicum experiences.

NURS 50022 - Advanced Practice Roles
Prerequisites: Admission to Graduate Program. Provides a foundation for transition to the role of the nurse in advanced practice. Includes... roles within advanced practice, theories of change, concepts of negotiation, collaboration, interdependence, advocacy and autonomy, and titling, certification and licensure issues. Clinical nurse specialist role is extensively examined.

NURS 50053 - Advanced Pharmacotherapeutics

Prerequisites: Admission to Graduate Program or permission of instructor. Emphasizes pharmacological principles fundamental to the selection of pharmacologic agents in altered health states in adults across the lifespan. Includes the pharmacodynamic, pharmacokinetic and pharmacotherapeutic properties of drug categories and specific agents, clinical responses to the use of pharmacologic agents, efficacy and cost-effectiveness issues, client education, and adherence.

Social Work

TCU’s Department of Social Work does not discriminate on the basis of age, gender, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, handicap, veteran status, political beliefs or sexual orientation.

Social work is one of the human service professions. Social workers help individuals, groups or communities solve or relieve life problems using a variety of professional skills. The educational program integrates liberal arts courses with preparation for professional practice. The primary objective of the department is to prepare students as generalists for entry to beginning social work practice. An additional objective is to prepare students for admission to graduate schools of social work (eligible for advanced standing in most master’s degree programs).

The curriculum includes content in social welfare policy and services, human behavior and the social environment, social work practice, research and field education. It focuses on values and ethics, populations at risk and diversity. Concurrent with their academic work, students are provided service-learning opportunities in several classes. During the senior year, students complete a block placement (12 academic hours) of field education ("internship" in one semester in a public or private social agency selected in accord with the student’s area of social work interest and educational needs.) Graduation with a BSSW requires a "C" or better in all social work courses.

The Department of Social Work and the social work major (not the minor) are fully accredited at the baccalaureate level by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE.).

Gatekeeping

The academic arm of the social work profession has the legal and ethical responsibility to protect both society and the profession by assessing students’ readiness to work with clients. This gatekeeping responsibility is outlined and enforced through the Department of Social Work’s Professional Code of Ethics. One way the department meets this objective is, as a faculty team, discussing students’ professional development and readiness to interact with clients.

Admission to Advanced Standing and Field Education

Students may declare the social work major at any time. Admission to advanced standing in the Department of Social Work and field education requires that students:

- Have attained junior status;
- Have a 2.25 or higher overall GPA;
- Complete a minimum of nine hours of social work courses, including 10833;
- Have a 2.5 GPA in social work and a “C” or better in all social work (SOWO) courses; and
- Make written application and receive faculty approval based on the application and a student-faculty conference (Junior Evaluation) to evaluate readiness for field education. Field Education may be postponed or denied if the faculty finds the student insufficiently prepared or lacking required knowledge, skills or values.

Honors Program

Social Work majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in SOWO 30003 during the spring semester of their junior year and SOWO 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Interdisciplinary Studies

Students may undertake an interdisciplinary program with a double major in Social Work and another major, even when different degrees are involved (e.g., B.A. and B.S.). Programs such as Social Work and Religion Studies, Social Work and Psychology, and others require faculty advisers in both fields to coordinate course and degree planning.

Transfer Credit

Most core curriculum and related coursework from accredited universities will transfer. However, all courses used to satisfy the cultural awareness, global awareness, or citizenship and social values components of the TCU Core Curriculum must be taken at TCU. Social work courses from CSWE-accredited social work programs will be accepted toward the social work degree.

Study Abroad

Students are encouraged to study abroad. The Department of Social Work requires that students take SOWO 30883 in the spring semester prior to entering Field Education (SOWO 40886) at TCU, so students need to schedule study abroad accordingly.

Social Work Degrees

The Bachelor of Science in Social Work (BSSW) degree is available. Social work is also available as a double major on the BS degree and as a minor on most degrees.

Requirements for the BS with a major in social work total 124 semester hours and include:

- Three hours of human biology: BIOL 1003 Contemporary Issues in Human Biology (may be applied to the core curriculum).
- Three hours of statistics: MATH 1043 (may be applied to the core curriculum).
- Three hours of psychology: PSYC 10213 General Psychology.

The following 12 hours are considered foundation courses and should be taken according to course prerequisites and requirements:

Foundation Courses—12 semester hours, including:

- SOWO 10833 Introduction to Social Work
- SOWO 20813 Social Work Research
- SOWO 20863 Issues in Social Welfare Policy
- SOC 20213 Introduction to Sociology or SOC 20223 Social Problems

Social Work Courses—45 semester hours:

- SOWO 30883 Generalist Practice with Individuals
- SOWO 30884 Generalist Practice with Groups and Families
- SOWO 30885 Generalist Practice with Diverse Populations
- SOWO 30886 Field Education I
- SOWO 30896 Field Education II

Six hours chosen from SOWO electives:

- SOWO 10533 Freshman Seminar in Social Work
- SOWO 30003 Honors Tutorial in Social Work
- SOWO 30523 Addictions
- SOWO 30533 Counseling Skills and Crisis Intervention in the Criminal Justice System
- SOWO 30543 Family Health
- SOWO 30553 Social Work with Adolescents
- SOWO 30563 Social Work and the Media
- SOWO 30573 Child Welfare
- SOWO 30580 International Study in Social Work
- SOWO 30583 Issues in Diversity
- SOWO 40003 Senior Honors Research Project
- SOWO 40510 Directed Study in Social Work
- SOWO 40513 Interdisciplinary Approaches to Healthy Aging
- SOWO 40520 Contemporary Topics in Social Work
- SOWO 40523 Law and Social Work
- SOWO 40543 Social Work with Older Adults
- SOWO 40563 Death and Dying

The following courses are to be taken sequentially for all social work majors:

- SOWO 30883 Generalist Practice with Individuals
- SOWO 40883 Generalist Practice with Diverse Populations
- SOWO 30813 Research Methods in Social Work
- SOWO 30893 Generalist Practice with Communities and Organizations
ongoing professional development. The following courses are to be taken concurrently following successful completion of junior evaluation and acceptance into the major:

- SOWO 40873 Capstone: Professional Identity Development
- SOWO 40886 Field Education I
- SOWO 40896 Field Education II

Social Work Minor
A minor in social work requires 18 hours of SOWO courses, including 10833, 10843 or 10853, 10863, and 30843 or 30853. Additional courses are to be selected from the social work curriculum, excluding 40886 and 40896.

Social Work Honor Society
The department sponsors the Iota Xi chapter of Phi Alpha, the national Social Work Honor Society. Membership is open to students who achieve a 3.0 overall GPA and a 3.25 GPA in social work.

Social Work Licensing
Students are eligible to be licensed as social workers in Texas upon graduation. Licensing is generally transferable to other states. All students will sit for the Texas State Licensing Examination prior to graduation.

Student Association of Social Workers (SASW)
Student Association of Social Workers (SASW) is a recognized organization of the University with membership open to all TCU students who are interested in social work. The original organization began in the spring of 1978 in order to:

- Promote knowledge about social work at TCU
- Facilitate communication among students and between students and faculty
- Provide mutual support among students
- Promote social action and community service

SASW sponsors activities at TCU such as Hunger Week's Heal Hunger Run, Fort Worth Civic Orchestra's Teddy Bear Concert, Student Day at the Texas Legislature, and Social Work Day at the United Nations. We hold monthly meetings with speakers, games and discussion groups. Additionally, SASW provides information to the general campus about the profession of social work and the TCU Department of Social Work at our "Get Social with Social Work" and "Social Workers Make Change" events.

As SASW students, we are involved on campus in many ways. We are RA's, leaders in groups like Invisble Children and the Hunger Campaign, and members of honor societies, sororities, fraternities and athletics. Besides the 480 hours seniors commit to their required internship in non-profit, private and government agencies in the community, most students volunteer in the community as well. With these activities, SASW students make a major impact on TCU and the surrounding area. What SASW accomplishes is impressive, and speaks volumes about the quality of social workers who graduate from TCU.

- SOWO 30523 - Addictions
  Definitions and various forms of addiction; biological, psychological, social and family changes resulting from addiction; and intervention strategies. Emphasis is on how social workers use this information to address the problems of addiction through social work intervention with clients.

- SOWO 30533 - Counseling Skills and Crisis Intervention in the Criminal Justice System
  An examination of theories and methods of professional intervention with emphasis on those professionals with clients in the criminal justice system. Focus is on the development of skills that can be applied to individuals, families, and groups in both community-based and institutional settings. This course is primarily for Criminal Justice majors and Social Work majors and minors. (Offered as CRJU or SOWO credit.)

- SOWO 30543 - Family Health Nursing
  Provides an introduction to family systems theory, family dynamics and their application to practice in nursing and allied health disciplines. Emphasis is on family assessment. Family diversity, families with a chronically ill or disabled member and informal caregiving are examined. Students will critically evaluate family health practices, including hospice, home-based care, and families in crisis. (Offered for NURS or SOWO credit.)

- SOWO 30553 - Social Work with Adolescents
  Prerequisite: SOWO 10833 or permission of instructor. The problems and stresses of biological, psychological and social changes affecting adolescents are discussed. Emphasis is on how social workers use this information to address the problems of adolescent clients through intervention.

- SOWO 30563 - Social Work and the Media
  Prerequisite: SOWO 10833 or permission of instructor. Introduces students to issues in American society, the social welfare system and the profession of social work as seen through film and other media forms.

- SOWO 30573 - Child Welfare
  Prerequisite: SOWO 10833. The social welfare system as it affects children in American society. The historical development of the system, the existing structure and the processes through which present policies have been established. Child welfare agencies and programs, principles and policies on which children's services are based, social and legislative issues relevant to children and children's programs, and specific techniques for working with children are included.

- SOWO 30580 - International Community Service (Mexico)
  Provides the opportunity for students to study the language, culture and social service delivery system of Mexico.

- SOWO 30583 - Issues in Diversity
  Prerequisites: previous or concurrent enrollment in SOWO 10833, or permission of instructor. This course helps students distinguish between myth and reality about cultural, ethnic, gender, sexual orientation, age and ability differences by thinking critically about diversity. Applications to American and global societies are made and experiential content is stressed.
appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses

SOWO 30823 - Ethics in Social Work Practice
Prerequisites: SOWO 10833, or permission of instructor. This course helps students become more aware of the ethical base of social work practice and strengthen their commitment to ethical behavior in impending practice and collegial relationships.

SOWO 30843 - Human Behavior and Social Environment I
Prerequisite: SOWO 10833 and BIOL 10003, or permission of instructor. Theories of human development and functioning within societal and family contexts. The life cycle of the individual from conception to adulthood. Theories of diversity and problem behavior. Effects of ethnicity, gender, ability, sexual orientation, lifestyle, socioeconomic status, age marginality and oppression on human development and social functioning.

SOWO 30853 - Human Behavior and Social Environment II
Prerequisite: SOWO 10833 and BIOL 10003, or permission of instructor. Theories of human development and functioning within societal and family contexts. The life cycle of the individual from adulthood to old age. Theories of diversity and problem behavior. Effects of ethnicity, gender, ability, sexual orientation, lifestyle, socioeconomic status, age, marginality and oppression on human development and social functioning.

SOWO 30883 - Generalist Practice with Individuals
Prerequisites: SOWO 10833, 20813, 20863, and concurrent enrollment in SOWO 40883, or permission of the instructor. Knowledge, skills and value base used in the generalist practice of social work. Ecological approach using concepts, principles, and system perspectives applicable to a range of problem-solving situations requiring social work intervention. Individual, group and community interventive methods are presented. Study of case material and role playing exercises. Must be taken in the spring semester prior to enrollment in SOWO 40886: Field Education I. If students postpone Field Education I, they are required to audit SOWO 30883 prior to entrance into the internship.

SOWO 30893 - Generalist Practice with Communities and Organizations
Prerequisites: SOWO 10833, 20863, 30883 or permission of instructor, and concurrent enrollment in SOWO 30813, 40893. That practice aspect of social work concerned with the organization, planning and administration of social work services (as distinguished from provision of services directly to clients), and with the analysis and evaluation of policy and practice within the profession.

SOWO 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

SOWO 40003 - Senior Honors Research Project
Offered fall only. A supervised research experience culminating in the writing of a research paper typically based on the subject matter studied in SOWO 30003. The course is offered on a directed study basis and this must be arranged prior to the semester enrolled.

SOWO 40510 - Directed Study in Social Work
Designed for students who undertake readings or projects in social work in consultation with an instructor.

SOWO 40513 - Approaches to Healthy Aging
Provides students the opportunity to explore interdisciplinary approaches to working with older adults, their families, and the larger community. Involves a required service learning component in which students will develop skills, attitudes, and knowledge that will assist them in learning to value and promote healthy aging and quality of life with older adults.

SOWO 40520 - Contemporary Topics in Social Work
Topics of current interest in social work. Possibilities include Crisis Intervention, Suicide, Discrimination, Play Therapy, Intervention Techniques, AIDS, and Social Work with Special Client Populations.

SOWO 40523 - Law and Social Work
Aspects of law relevant to social work practice: family relationships, legal offenders, the mentally ill, consumer protection, what constitutes negligence and malpractice by the social worker, law and ethics of confidentiality, collaboration with the legal profession and related issues.

SOWO 40533 - Advanced Generalist Practice with Families
Prerequisite: SOWO 30883, or permission of instructor. The family as a system for social work intervention. Family forms, theories of family interaction, models of family intervention, and interventive skills are considered.

SOWO 40543 - Social Work with Older Adults
Provides an opportunity to explore practice with older adults and their families. Explores direct practice roles, selected practice settings, and social policy issues.

SOWO 40563 - Death and Dying
This course will give students an opportunity to explore and understand their perceptions and beliefs of death and dying and how individual cultural differences influence that experience and will prepare them for working with clients on grief and loss.

SOWO 40873 - Capstone: Professional Identity Development
Prerequisites: Concurrent enrollment in SOWO 40886 and 40896. This capstone course uses analysis and synthesis of course work to allow students to demonstrate professional learning and identity development appropriate to professional social work practice.

SOWO 40883 - Generalist Practice with Diverse Populations
Prerequisite: SOWO 10833, 20813, 20863, and concurrent enrollment in SOWO 30883, or permission of the instructor. Study of social work practice theory, methods, and skills for working with diverse and oppressed populations. Concepts and principles related to culturally competent practice in a range of situations will be covered. Case materials and role playing exercises are included.

SOWO 40886 - Field Education I
Prerequisites: SOWO 40883, 40893 and concurrent enrollment in 40896; 2.25 TCU GPA; 2.5 GPA in social work; faculty approval. Supervised field learning within a social work agency, providing the student an opportunity to learn the structure, function, and policies of social work agencies and apply his or her social work knowledge to the development of skills in human service delivery. The student will spend 16 hours per week for 15 weeks in an assigned agency (240 hours). Students also attend a weekly university-based seminar that helps students integrate classroom and field learning. There are additional fees associated with this course.

SOWO 40893 - Generalist Practice with Groups and Families
Prerequisite: SOWO 30883 or permission of the instructor, and concurrent enrollment in SOWO 30813, 30893. A continuation of the study of the methods, skills, and value base used in the practice of social work. Concepts and principles applicable to a range of situations requiring social work intervention to deepen understanding of the interventive process with groups and families. Further study of case material and role playing exercises is included.

SOWO 40896 - Field Education II
Prerequisites: SOWO 40883, 40893, concurrent enrollment in 40896; 2.25 GPA; 2.5 GPA in social work; faculty approval. Field Education I which helps to extend and deepen, under professional guidance, the development of practice skills with clients. The student will spend 16 hours per week for 15 weeks in an assigned agency (240 hours). Students also attend a weekly university-based seminar which helps students integrate classroom and field learning. There are additional fees associated with this course.
The College of Science & Engineering supports the mission of TCU and:

- Integrates the research and undergraduate teaching missions;
- Prepares graduates for careers and further study in science, mathematics and engineering;
- Assists in the preparation of highly qualified K-12 mathematics and science teachers; and
- Provides experiences for all TCU students that will facilitate their becoming and continuing to be scientifically and mathematically literate citizens.

The college offers the Bachelor of Science degree with majors in eighteen fields of study and the Bachelor of Arts degree with majors in seven fields. Minors in the college are available in fourteen fields.

The college is responsible for the Pre-Health Professions programs (pre-dentistry, pre-medicine, pre-veterinary medicine).

College of Science & Engineering faculty are committed to teaching and are actively engaged in scholarly activity that contributes to their profession and informs their teaching on all levels. Opportunities for participation in research exist in every department and program of the college. Many faculty members involve undergraduates in their research programs. These students often work jointly with graduate students and post-doctoral associates in departments where graduate programs exist. To assist in these activities, the college houses SERC (Science and Engineering Research Center) to serve as a gateway of support for undergraduate and graduate research activities. Students may also join ASPIRE, the student-run research organization.

Multiple Majors

Students with a first major in the College of Science & Engineering may declare an additional major in lieu of or in addition to a minor on either a BA. or BS degree. The additional major may be selected from the College of Science & Engineering’s list of approved majors or may be selected from majors available in other TCU schools and colleges. Students seeking an additional major in a school or college other than the College of Science & Engineering must have the approval of the dean of the College of Science & Engineering and the dean of the College of Science & Engineering's list of approved majors or may be advanced (30000 level or above) from TCU, with a major and a minor selected from the approved list of majors and minors. The degree awarded will be that appropriate to the major designated as the first major. All degree requirements for each major must be satisfied. These include TCU Core Curriculum requirements and all associated requirements.

Courses applied to the requirements of one major may only be applied to the associated requirements of another major.

Transfer Credit

Students wishing to take courses at another college or university following their admission to TCU must receive approval of such courses through the office of the dean of the College of Science and Engineering before enrolling in them.

Pass/No-Credit Option

See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor’s Degree section of the University requirements. See the department of the major for any additional restrictions.

College of Science & Engineering Organization

The College of Science & Engineering is organized into eight departments and one school.

Departments

- Biology
- Chemistry
- Computer Science
- Engineering
- Mathematics
- Nutritional Sciences
- Physics and Astronomy
- Psychology
- The School of Geology, Energy and the Environment (SGEE)

Sid W. Richardson houses the departmental offices of chemistry, environmental science, geology, physics and astronomy and the Institute for Environmental Studies. Biology and psychology are in Winton-Scott Hall. Nutritional sciences is in the Annie Richardson Bass Building. College administrative offices; departmental offices for computer science, engineering and mathematics; and the TCU Energy Institute are located in the Tucker Technology Building.

Interdepartmental Programs

- Neuroscience (Psychology)
- Pre-Health Professions

College of Science & Engineering Degrees

The College of Science & Engineering administers programs that lead to the following baccalaureate degrees:

- The Bachelor of Arts degree with majors in:
  - Biology
  - Chemistry
  - Child Development (Psychology)
  - Geology
  - Mathematics
  - Physics
  - Psychology
- The Bachelor of Science degree with majors in:
  - Astronomy and Physics
  - Biochemistry (Chemistry)
  - Biology
  - Chemistry
  - Child Development (Psychology)
  - Computer Information Technology (Computer Science)
  - Computer Science
  - Dietetics (Nutritional Sciences)
  - Engineering
  - Environmental Science (SGEE)
  - Environmental Earth Resources (SGEE)
  - Food Management (Nutritional Sciences)
  - Geology (SGEE)
  - Mathematics
  - Neuroscience (Psychology)
  - Nutrition (Nutritional Sciences)
  - Physics
  - Psychology

College of Science & Engineering Bachelor of Arts

Students pursuing a program leading to a Bachelor of Arts degree must complete a minimum of 124 semester hours, 42 of which must be advanced (30000 level or above) from TCU, with a major and a minor selected from the approved list of majors and minors. The specific number of hours required for the major and minor are found in the appropriate section of this catalog.

In addition, students must complete the TCU Core Curriculum.
Foreign Language Requirement
All students pursuing the Bachelor of Arts degree in the College of Science & Engineering must demonstrate competency in a foreign language equivalent to the completion of one of the following:
- CHIN 20063 Intermediate Chinese II
- FREN 20063 Fourth Semester College French
- GERM 20063 Intermediate German
- GREE 20063 Fourth Semester College Greek (Hellenistic)
- ITAL 20063 Fourth Semester College Italian
- JAPN 20063 Fourth Semester College Japanese
- SPAN 20203 Intermediate Spanish II
- SPAN 20213 Intensive Intermediate Spanish II

This requirement may be satisfied by either satisfactory completion of coursework taken at or transferred to TCU or by presenting satisfactory scores on recognized standardized tests (i.e., AP, CLEP or SAT II). Required scores on standardized tests may be found in the Credit by Exam booklet available from the Office of Admission. For languages not currently taught at TCU, six semester hours at the sophomore level, transferred to TCU from another accredited institution, may be used to satisfy this requirement. Students may also provide evidence of competency in the non-English language by successfully completing an academic year in a secondary or post-secondary institution in which the language of instruction is other than English, for which the student will receive 12 hours of credit.

College of Science & Engineering
Bachelor of Science

Students pursuing a program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree must complete the minimum number of semester hours (typically 124 or 132), 42 of which must be advanced (30000 level or above) from TCU, specified for their particular major. Specific requirements of each major are found in the appropriate section of this catalog. Where a minor is called for, it is to be selected with the assistance of the student’s advisor from the list of approved minors.

In addition to the specific requirements, students must complete the TCU Core Curriculum.

College of Science & Engineering
Minors

The College of Science & Engineering offers minors in:
- Astronomy
- Biology
- Chemistry
- Child Development (Psychology)
- Combined Science
- Computer Information Technology
- Computer Science
- Energy Technology and Management (SGEE)
- Environmental Science (SGEE)
- Geology (SGEE)
- Health Care Ethics
- Mathematics
- Nutrition
- Physics
- Psychology
- Psychology of Leadership

Minors for students majoring in the College of Science & Engineering are also accepted from AddRan College of Liberal Arts, College of Fine Arts, College of Communication, College of Education, M.J. Neeley School of Business (General Business) and Harris College of Health & Human Sciences.

Only associated requirements of the major may be applied to the requirements of a minor. Courses applied to the requirements of one minor may not be applied to the requirements of another minor.

Biology

Biology is available as a major or minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

The BA is provided for the student who has a general interest in the biological sciences, but who does not plan to pursue advanced work in graduate school or undertake professional achievements in biological sciences. Students who may plan a graduate program in biological sciences should enroll in the BS curriculum. Those who plan to apply to a medical school, dental college or other professional program must meet additional requirements of such schools.

Prerequisites
BIOL 10504-10514 or the equivalent are prerequisites to all other courses in the department except BIOL 20204-20214, 20233, 30233, 30613 and 30803. Credit is not given for both BIOL 20233 and 30303.

Honors Program
Biology majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in BIOL 40001 during their junior year and BIOL 40033 during the fall semester of their senior year. They will be given an incomplete in BIOL 40033 during the end of the fall semester and will receive credit for the course in the spring after successfully completing a senior honors research project.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Biology Major Requirements

BS with a Major in Biology
The program of study requires a minimum of 36 semester hours in biology as follows: BIOL 10504 and BIOL 10514; BIOL 30403, BIOL 30603; BIOL 40021; 21 additional hours in biology, including a minimum of three courses with laboratories. A maximum of six hours in independent research courses (BIOL 40033, 40803 or 40900) is permitted within the 21 additional hours.

Associated Requirements: CHEM 10113, 10125 or 10123 and CHEM 20123, 30123, 30122 and 30133; PHYS 10154, 10164; MATH 10043 or 10524; additional courses in mathematics, computer science or statistics are encouraged.

A total of 132 hours is required for the BS degree.

BA with a Major in Biology
The program of study requires a minimum of 27 semester hours of biology as follows: BIOL 10504 and 10514; BIOL 30403; BIOL 30603; BIOL 40021; 12 additional approved hours in biology, including a minimum of two courses with laboratories (excluding BIOL 40033, 40803, and 40900). Of the 12 additional hours, a maximum of three hours will be allowed for any combination of the following courses: BIOL 40033, 40300, 40310, 40803 or 40900. Students without credit for a high school course in chemistry will take two semesters of college chemistry. One year of high school or two semesters of college physics is also advised. A total of 124 semester hours is required for the BA degree.

Biology Minor
The program of study requires a minimum of 21 semester hours of biology, including a minimum of three upper-division (30000 or above) courses.

For the combined science minor on the BA degree, the following courses may be applied: BIOL 10504-10514, 20204, 20214, 20233 (or 30303), 30104, 30504, 30603 and 40223.

Sigma XI Honor Society
The department is a sponsor of Sigma XI, the Honor Society for Research in the Natural Sciences.

Biology Courses

BIOL 10003 - Contemporary Issues in Biology
Two hours lecture and one two-hour laboratory period per week. A study of biology spanning contemporary issues in the biological sciences from the cellular and molecular to the ecosystem and biosphere levels of biological organization. Laboratory experiences are conducted in the biology computer lab. Designed for non-science majors.

Biol 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Biology
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

Biol 10504 - Introductory Biology I
Three hours lecture and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite: A senior high school course in Biology or Chemistry. Understanding organisms from the molecular level to that of the eukaryotic cell. Introduces the basic principles of evolution, molecular organization, and function of the cell, cell cycle, mitosis, meiosis, metabolism, Mendelian, and molecular genetics. This course is prescribed for each student declaring a major interest in Biology and/or with an interest in pre-health programs.

Biol 10514 - Introductory Biology II
Three hours lecture and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite: BIOL 10504. An introduction to the diversity, evolution, anatomy, and physiology of eukaryotic organism (protists, fungi, plants, and animals). Topics covered include the principles of evolution by natural selection, population genetics, speciation, and taxonomy. This course is prescribed for each student declaring a major in Biology and/or with an interest in pre-health programs.

Biol 10970 - Special Problems: Lower Division
Special problems.

Biol 20204 - Anatomy and Physiology
Three hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. The structure and function of cells and tissues; the architectural plan of the human body, and the integumentary, skeletal, and muscular systems. Not available for students who are Biology majors or minors or are in the pre-medical/pre-dental program.

Biol 20214 - Anatomy and Physiology
Three hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Prerequisite: BIOL 20204 or permission of instructor. Structure and function of the nervous, circulatory, digestive, respiratory, excretory, reproductive and endocrine systems of the human body. Not available for students who are Biology majors or minors or are in the pre-medical/pre-dental program.

Biol 20233 - Basic Microbiology
Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Microorganisms and the manner in which they affect health; characteristics, growth requirements, methods of transfer, and reactions of the body toward invading organisms and the principles underlying immunity. Not available for students who are Biology majors or minors or are in the pre-medical/pre-dental program.

Biol 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

Biol 30003 - Biological Issues in Public Health
Prerequisites: BIOL 10504 and 10514. Examination of the biological basis behind a variety of current issues in public health. Critical analysis of these issues through lectures, class discussion and debate.

Biol 30104 - Comparative Invertebrate Zoology
Three hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Advanced study of ecology, phylogeny, and comparative morphology of invertebrate animals.

Biol 30233 - Economic Botany
Prerequisite: 10504, 10514. The economic importance of plants for food, building, material, clothing, fuel, medicine, oils, dyes and other products.

Biol 30303 - Microbiology
Prerequisite: CHEM 10113-10123, or CHEM 10113-10125, or CHEM 10114-10124. A general course in microbiology. Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week.

Biol 30403 - Ecology and the Environment
Prerequisites: BIOL 10504-10514. Three hours lecture per week. Principles and concepts of ecology and their application to environmental biology and conservation. Topics will include human impacts on the environment and current issues of importance to global sustainability.

Biol 30404 - Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
Three hours lecture and one laboratory per week. This course focuses on the form and functional significance of anatomical structures in vertebrate animals. The objectives of the course are to introduce students to the anatomical evidence for evolution and to help students develop an understanding of vertebrate anatomy that will prepare them for graduate or medical gross anatomy courses.

Biol 30463 - Introductory Neuroscience
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, 10514, 10524 or its equivalent. Study of the nervous system, action systems, and sensory systems as background for the physiological bases of discrimination, motivation, emotions, and learning. (Crosslisted as PSYC 30463.)

Biol 30504 - Plant Biology
Three hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Study of the morphology, life history, physiology, ecology, evolution and socio-economic aspects of plants. Coverage includes the cyanobacteria, fungi and algae.

Biol 30603 - Cellular, Molecular, and Developmental Biology
Prerequisites: BIOL 10504-10514. Three hours lecture per week. Basic structure and function of plant and animal cells; molecular genetics of cells and organisms; mechanisms governing cell reproduction and differentiation.

Biol 30613 - Natural History
Two hours lecture and one hour of laboratory per week. A survey of some of the diverse habitats and life forms on earth, with an emphasis on North American ecosystems. Arctic tundra, forests, swamps, aquatic habitats, deserts, and mountains are considered in light of the unique adaptations required for associated fauna and flora, and especially some of the challenges they face in the modern world. The course is designed for students with broad interests in science, especially environmental science and education majors and is also suitable for non-science majors. This course cannot be applied toward the biology course requirements for a biology major.

Biol 30703 - Plant Systematics
Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Characteristics of the major groups and families of flowering plants. Basic history and general principles of taxonomy and fundamental concepts of phylogeny and plant evolution. Identification of plants represented in the local flora.

Biol 30843 - Biomedical Imaging
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484 or 10164. An introduction to image formation for molecular and medical applications. This course covers the fundamentals of optic, x-ray and MRI, image creation, detectors, basics of image processing, quantitative analysis and a variety of applications in biophysics and in medicine. Includes off-campus lab work. (Cross-listed as BIOL PHYS 30843.)

Biol 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

Biol 33990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

Biol 40001 - Honors Seminar
Honors Seminar.
BIOL 40011 - Honors Seminar

Honors Seminar.

BIOL 40021 - Introduction to Biological Research

One hour lecture per week acquainting students with the diversity of research approaches and techniques used in the field of biology. All students enrolled in the course will take the Major's Field Test in Biology. Prerequisites: BIOL 10504, 10514, 30403 and 30603.

BIOL 40033 - Senior Honors Research in Biology

This course is only for students in the Honors College. Field and laboratory research experiences for advanced students. Nine clock hours per week are required for a total of 135 hours. The results will be written in the form of a senior honors research thesis to be presented to the Honors College. A student may receive credit for this course only one time. Credit will not be given for both 40033 and 40803.

BIOL 40123 - Genetics

Prerequisites: BIOL 10504-10514, 30603; pre- or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 30123. Three hours lecture per week. Survey course in the study of mechanisms of inheritance with particular emphasis on molecular genetics.

BIOL 40133 - Molecular Biology of Eukaryotes

Prerequisites: BIOL 10504-10514, 30603; CHEM 30123 (or concurrent enrollment) or permission of instructor. Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. A study of the molecular mechanisms of basic biological processes in eukaryotes with emphasis on gene regulation, the structure and function of macromolecules, cell growth and differentiation, mechanisms of diseases and applications in biotechnology.

BIOL 40143 - Genetics Laboratory

Two three-hour laboratories plus associated lectures each week. Prerequisites: BIOL 30603 and 40123. Experiments that illustrate the basic principles of transmission and molecular genetics.

BIOL 40153 - Conservation Genetics

Prerequisites: BIOL 10504, 10514, 30403, and 30603. Genetics plays an important and diverse role in the preservation of biological diversity. This course consists of two one-hour lectures and one three-hour laboratory each week and covers genetic theory and methods that are utilized in modern conservation efforts. Laboratory exercises focus on 1) the practical aspects of DNA extraction methods, molecular markers, PCR, sequencing, and capillary electrophoresis, and 2) analyzing the resulting genetic data.

BIOL 40163 - Ornithology

Prerequisites: Six semester hours in Biology. This course consists of two one-hour lectures and one three-hour laboratory each week. Lectures cover major topics in avian biology including evolution, anatomy and physiology, life histories, behavior, and conservation. The laboratory portion of the course includes identifying birds with molecular methods, analyses of vocal communication, and field trips to identify common species of Texas birds in different habitats.

BIOL 40203 - Histology

Prerequisite: BIOL 30603 or permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. Study of basic tissues of the vertebrate body and how they differentiate.

BIOL 40223 - Developmental Biology

Prerequisite: BIOL 30603 or permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. An introduction to developmental biology and embryology. Modern molecular and genetic techniques will be combined with classic anatomical embryology.

BIOL 40253 - Immunology

Prerequisites: CHEM 30123, BIOL 30303 or 20233 or permission of instructor. Two hours lecture and one laboratory period per week. The immune system, characteristics of antigens; antibodies and their reactions; cellular and humoral aspects of immunity; immune disorders.

BIOL 40300 - The Teaching of Biology

Prerequisite: Written permission of the instructor of the course in which the student plans to serve. Students attend laboratory-staff meetings and serve as laboratory instructors of one section per week in various courses. For 1.5 semester hours credit.

BIOL 40310 - The Teaching of Biology

Prerequisite: Written permission of the instructor of the course in which the student plans to serve. Students attend laboratory-staff meetings and serve as laboratory instructors of one section per week in various courses. For 1.5 semester hours credit.

BIOL 40313 - Biogeography

Prerequisite: BIOL 30403 or permission of instructor. Three hours lecture per week. An ecological approach to the study of the distribution of plant and animal communities.

BIOL 40322 - Teaching of Biology

Prerequisite: Written permission of the instructor of the course in which the student plans to serve. Students attend laboratory staff meetings and serve as laboratory instructors of one section per week in various courses. This course is intended only for undergraduate Teaching Assistants in courses above the freshman level. Not to exceed four hours credit on the major and six hours credit total.

BIOL 40403 - Mammalian Physiology

Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisites: BIOL 30603 and CHEM 30123, 30122, 30133, or permission of instructor. Basic functions of the major mammalian systems will be studied in terms of physical and chemical principles and system interactions.

BIOL 40443 - Environmental Biology

Prerequisites: BIOL 30403 or approval of instructor. Introduction to contemporary issues in environmental biology such as the biological consequences of global climate change, extinction, contaminants in the environment, and overfishing. The course includes discussions of primary literature and students will complete a major writing assignment in the form of a literature review.

BIOL 40503 - Basic Biochemistry

See Chemistry Prerequisite: CHEM 30123 or equivalent. Three hours lecture per week. Fundamental chemical properties, analysis techniques, metabolism and clinicopathology of proteins, lipids, carbohydrates, enzymes and hormones.

BIOL 40603 - Virology

Prerequisites: BIOL 10504, 30603, 40123. Three hours lecture per week. Survey of viruses, molecular biology of virus life cycles, viral pathogenesis and gene therapy using viral vectors.

BIOL 40703 - Natural History of the American Southwest

Prerequisites: BIOL 10514 or BIOL 30613. The Natural History of the American Southwest course is a hands-on 3 week, 5000 mile experience that allows students to acquire a working knowledge of major ecosystems of this region. Instruction is focused on the botany, zoology, ecology, geology and anthropology of regions visited. Two written exams are administered, completion of a field journal is required, and a summary paper is expected that ties together the principles, structural, and functional properties of ecosystems studied. This is an upper-level field biology course.

BIOL 40800 - Special Topics in Biology

Prerequisites: BIOL 30403 and BIOL 30603, or permission of the instructor. This three or four credit course will deal with a specific topic in Biology that is appropriate for Biology majors.

BIOL 40803 - Biological Research and Writing

Field and laboratory research experiences for advanced students. Nine clock hours per week are required total 135 hours per semester. Upon completion of an independent research project, the results will be written in a format suitable for publication in the scientific literature. A student may receive credit for this course only one time. Credit will not be given for both BIOL 40803 and BIOL 40003 for the same project.

BIOL 40900 - Independent Research in Biology

Field and laboratory problems for advanced students. Nine clock hours per week of laboratory and/or field work are required for each semester hour of credit, for up to three semester hours any given semester. For a maximum total of six semester hours of independent research, this course can be repeated or taken in combination with 40803 or 40033.

BIOL 50103 - Terrestrial Ecosystems

Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: BIOL 30403 or permission of instructor. Concepts, principles, and mechanisms of the function of terrestrial ecosystems, including ecophysiology of component species, nutrient cycling, energy flow, ecosystem stability and global ecology.

BIOL 50123 - Biostatistics
Prerequisites: BIOL 30403 and 30603 or permission of instructor. Three hours lecture per week. Students will gain knowledge and understanding of how statistical methods are applied to biological research. The course will emphasize hypothesis testing, study design, and the concepts, application, and interpretation of statistical results. Basic probability theory, parametric statistics, correlation, regression, analysis of variance, and non-parametric statistics will be introduced.

BIOL 50133 - Biochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM 30133 and 40123 or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. A general survey of structure and function of biologically important compounds with methods of analysis. (Crosslisted as BIOL 50133.)

BIOL 50143 - Biochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM or BIOL 50133. Biosynthesis, replication of DNA, synthesis and processing of RNA and proteins, and special topics e.g. brain and muscle functions, hormones and signal transduction, cancer, development, etc. (Crosslisted as BIOL/CHM 50143.)

BIOL 50153 - Medicinal Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisites: CHEM or BIOL 50143, or permission of the instructor. Molecular mechanism of drug actions, and methods of drug design, discovery and development. (Crosslisted as BIOL/CHM 50153.)

BIOL 50246 - Biodiversity
Prerequisites: Two semesters of college-level biology courses. This course introduces skills to describe and study the diversity of life. It is immersion, field-intensive instruction. General concepts include patterns of global biodiversity, biogeography of the Southern Plains, conservation biology, pressures on biodiversity, and national/international biodiversity protection efforts and policies. Field skill instruction starts with context description, emphasizing vegetation structure, followed by plant community description. Subsequent modules focus on inventorying animal communities, starting with insects and continuing with freshwater invertebrates, fish, amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals. The field skill component of the course concludes with a week-long exercise in habitats outside of north-central Texas. Biodiversity information management is learned by developing a relational database coupled with a local Geographic Information System.

BIOL 50303 - Evolution
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: BIOL 10504 and 10514. Concepts and principles of organic evolution. Topics include natural selection, adaptation, quantitative genetics, sexual selection, kin selection, life history characters, speciation, and phylogeny.

BIOL 50324 - Techniques in Cell and Molecular Biology
Three hours lecture and one 3-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: Concurrent enrollment in BIOL or CHEM 50133 or equivalent and permission of instructor. Survey of techniques central to molecular and cellular biology, including centrifugation, chromatography, electrophoresis, spectrophotometry and radioisotopes.

BIOL 50463 - Functional Neuroanatomy
Prerequisite: Graduate or senior standing or approval of the instructor. The fundamentals of functional neuroanatomy and neurophysiology with an emphasis on experimental and theoretical analysis of the basic brain behavior relationships. (Crosslisted as BIOL/PSYC 50463.)

BIOL 50472 - Laboratory in Physiological Psychology and Neuroscience
Prerequisite: PSYC 30463 or its equivalent or PSYC 50653 or its equivalent, or concurrent registration in either PSYC 50436 or PSYC 30463. One lecture and one laboratory per week. Emphasis will be on scientific information from the biological literature. May be repeated for credit with different topics to a maximum of 3 times (one semester hour per topic). 2. Acquainting the student with the preparation and presentation (oral and/or written) of scientific information from the biological literature. May be repeated for credit with different topics to a maximum of 3 times. (One semester hour per topic.)

Chemistry

Chemistry is available as a major or minor on the BA and BS degrees. Biochemistry is available as a major on the BS degree.

Honors Program
A student may obtain Departmental Honors in chemistry by successfully completing six hours of senior honors research (CHEM 40003 and 40013) or three hours of senior honors research plus three hours of study in a course approved by the department as one promoting the student's development as a research scholar. Such a course should be in addition to those normally required to achieve the baccalaureate degree. Requirements also include the writing of a Senior Honors Research paper, which is approved by an appropriate committee, and the achievement of an overall GPA of 3.5 or greater.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Chemistry Major Requirements

BS with a Major in Chemistry
The program of study requires a minimum of 38 hours, on a 132-hour degree, consisting of CHEM 10113-10125 (or 10113, 10123, and 20123), 30123-30133, 30122-30132, 40091, 40123-40133, 40121-40131, 50163, 50172 or 50162, 40200 (3 hours) or 40003-40113, and one additional advanced course selected from CHEM 50282, 50133 or 50223. Professional certification by the American Chemical Society requires the inclusion of CHEM 20123, 40172, 50162, 50133 and 50282, resulting in a minimum of 43 hours of chemistry.
Associated Requirements: PHYS 10154 and 10164 (or 20474 and 20484); MATH 10524 and 20524. MATH 30524 is recommended for CHEM 50282.

BA with a Major in Chemistry
The program of study requires a minimum of 24 hours consisting of CHEM 10113-10125, (or 10113, 10123, and 20123), 30123, 30122, 40121, 40091 and suitable electives chosen from upper-level courses (30000 or above) with the exclusion of 40503, 50111 and 50120. No more than two hours of research (40200 or 40003-40013) may contribute to the 24-hour minimum.

Associated Requirement: MATH 10524
Any minor approved by the College of Science & Engineering is acceptable. The BA degree in chemistry is devised for students with a general interest in the field who do not plan to pursue graduate studies in chemistry. Students planning a professional career in chemistry are strongly advised to satisfy the requirements of the BS degree.

BS with a Major in Biochemistry
The program of study requires a minimum of 38 hours, on a 132-hour degree, consisting of CHEM 10113-10125 (or 10113, 10123, and 20123), 30123-30133, 30122-30132, 40091, 40123, 40121, 40200 (3 or 4 hours) or 40003-40013, 50163, 50133-50143, and 50502. Professional certification by the American Chemical Society requires the inclusion of CHEM 20123, 40172, 40133, 40131, and 50162 resulting in a minimum of 46 hours of chemistry.

Associated Requirements: BIOL 10504, 10514, 30603 and one of the following: BIOL 40123, 40133, or 40040. PHYS 10154 and 10164 (or 20474-20484); MATH 10524 and 10043 or 30803.

Chemistry Minor
The program of study requires a minimum of 18 semester hours to include CHEM 10113-10125 (or 10113, 10123, and 20123), 30123-30122 and suitable electives chosen from CHEM 30133, 30132, 40091, 40123, 40121, 50133 and 50163.

Sigma XI
The department is a sponsor of the TCU Chapter of Sigma XI.

Chemistry Courses
CHEM 10113 - General Chemistry
Three lecture hours per week. Introduction to the principles of chemistry, illustrating the central position of the discipline among the sciences.

CHEM 10114 - General Chemistry (Honors)
Three hours lecture and one 3-hour laboratory per week. A study of chemical structure, states of matter and chemical dynamics with emphasis on the quantitative nature of the science of chemistry.

CHEM 10122 - General Chemistry Laboratory
One lecture and one 3-hour laboratory session per week. Prerequisites: CHEM 10113 and prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 10123.

CHEM 10123 - General Chemistry
Three lecture hours per week. Introduction to the principles of chemistry, illustrating the central position of the discipline among the sciences. (Successful completion of CHEM 10113 or the equivalent is a prerequisite for CHEM 10123.)

CHEM 10124 - General Chemistry (Honors)
Three hours lecture and one 3-hour laboratory per week. A study of chemical structure, states of matter and chemical dynamics with emphasis on the quantitative nature of the science of chemistry.

CHEM 10125 - General Chemistry with Laboratory
Three hours lecture, one 3-hour laboratory, and one 1-hour lab lecture per week. Prerequisites: CHEM 10113. The second of a two-semester sequence in introductory chemistry. Selected concepts regarding chemical equilibria, kinetics, electrochemistry, and introductory organic chemistry.

CHEM 10163 - General Chemistry for Non-Science Majors
Three hours lecture, and one three-hour laboratory period per week. Topics of interest to students e.g. drugs, AIDS, etc. and national and international problems such as air and water pollution will be examined to understand their chemical origins and potential solutions.

CHEM 20123 - Quantitative Analysis
Prerequisites: CHEM 10113, and prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 10123. One hour lecture and two laboratory periods per week. Exposure to techniques, theory, and laboratory practice of quantitative chemical analysis, focusing on gravimetric and volumetric analysis. Students will also gain an introductory understanding of instrumental methods of chemical analysis.

CHEM 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CHEM 30122 - Organic Chemistry Laboratory
One hour of lecture and one 4-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 10122-10123, 10124, 10125, or 20123 and prior or concurrent registration in CHEM 30123. Techniques of purification, characterization, and synthesis of organic compounds.

CHEM 30123 - Organic Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 10122-10123, 10124, 10125, or 20123. A survey of the classes of organic compounds with regard to nomenclature, structure, and reactions.

CHEM 30132 - Organic Qualitative Analysis
One hour of lecture and one 4-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 30123, 30122 and 30133 or concurrent registration. Chemical and instrumental means of identifying unknown organic substances.

CHEM 30133 - Organic Chemistry Three
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 30123. Stereochemistry, organic reaction mechanisms, and synthesis of organic compounds.

CHEM 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CHEM 33990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CHEM 40003 - Senior Honors Research Project
A project in chemical research carried out under the direction of a member of the chemistry faculty and designed to partially fulfill the requirements for Departmental Honors in Chemistry. Hours arranged.

CHEM 40013 - Senior Honors Research Paper
A project in chemical research carried out under the direction of a member of the chemistry faculty and designed to partially fulfill the requirements for Departmental Honors in Chemistry. Hours arranged.

CHEM 40091 - Senior Seminar
The chemical literature, modern research techniques and recent developments in chemistry are discussed. This is a capstone course to be taken by Chemistry and Biochemistry majors in the fall semester of their senior year.

CHEM 40121 - Physical Chemistry Lab I
One 4-hour laboratory period per week. Prerequisite: Prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 40123. Laboratory experiments designed to convey fundamental principles of physical chemistry, especially measurements relevant to selected biomolecules.

CHEM 40123 - Physical Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 10125, prior or concurrent enrollment in MATH 10524. Studies of the fundamental physical principles relating to the field of chemistry, with an emphasis on thermodynamics and electrochemistry.

CHEM 40131 - Physical Chemistry Lab II
Prerequisites: Prior or concurrent enrollment in CHEM 40133. One 4-hour laboratory period per week. Laboratory experiments designed to establish the principles of physical chemistry and methods of physical chemical measurements.

CHEM 40133 - Physical Chemistry II
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisites: CHEM 40123, MATH 20524, PHYS 20483 or PHYS 10163 (or concurrent enrollment). Continuation of studies of the fundamental physical principles relating to the field of chemistry, with an emphasis on quantum chemistry, spectroscopy, and kinetics.

CHEM 40172 - Chemical Instrumentation
One hour lecture and one four-hour lab period per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 40123 and CHEM 40121. Theory and application of instrumental methods relevant to the analysis of small molecules and useful macromolecules. Includes electronic, vibrational, NMR, and mass spectroscopic techniques.

CHEM 40200 - Undergraduate Research
A project in chemical research carried out under the direction of a member of the chemistry faculty. The student must have permission from the supervising faculty member prior to registration. (1-3 semester hours).

CHEM 40503 - Basic Biochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM 30123 or equivalent. Three hours lecture per week. Fundamental chemical properties, analysis techniques, metabolism and clinicopathology of proteins, lipids, carbohydrates, enzymes and hormones. Available for chemistry credit only to majors in Nutritional Sciences.

CHEM 50001 - Laboratory Safety
Required of all graduate students in chemistry and undergraduate students who are conducting independent laboratory research, this course deals with the safe handling of chemicals, the inventory and safe disposal of chemicals, safe handling of radioactive materials and lasers as well as details of federal, state and city regulations that apply to safety in academic and industrial laboratories. The course is also required of students who will be handling radioactive materials and is highly recommended for all other graduate students in the physical sciences.

CHEM 50111 - Laboratory Glassblowing
One 4-hour laboratory period per week. An introduction to the preparation of laboratory research equipment constructed of sodium and borosilicate glass.

CHEM 50120 - Teaching of Chemistry
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Members of this class act as Chemistry laboratory assistants. Techniques of laboratory instruction are illustrated and the importance of laboratory safety is stressed. 1-3 semester hours.

CHEM 50133 - Biochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM 30133 and 40123 or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. A general survey of structure and function of biologically important compounds with methods of analysis. (Crosslisted as BIOL 50133.)

CHEM 50143 - Biochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM or BIOL 50133. Biosynthesis, replication of DNA, synthesis and processing of RNA and proteins, and special topics e.g. brain and muscle functions, hormones and signal transduction, cancer, development, etc. (Crosslisted as BIOL/ CHEM 50143.)

CHEM 50153 - Medicinal Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisites: CHEM or BIOL 50143, or permission of the instructor. Molecular mechanism of drug actions, and methods of drug design, discovery and development. (Crosslisted as BIOL/CHEM 50153.)

CHEM 50162 - Advanced Inorganic Chemistry Laboratory
One hour lecture and one 4-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 50163 or concurrent registration. The laboratory emphasizes the synthesis, characterization and transformations of inorganic species.

CHEM 50163 - Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 40123 or permission of the instructor. A survey of topics in modern inorganic chemistry with emphasis on synthesis, bonding and the mechanisms of reactions.

CHEM 50182 - Biophysical Chemistry Laboratory
Two 4-hour laboratory periods per week. Prerequisite: Prior or concurrent registration in CHEM 50183. Physical chemical principles applied to biochemical systems.

CHEM 50183 - Biophysical Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 40123 and prior or concurrent registration in CHEM 50143. Biological systems are discussed from the viewpoint of physical chemical theories and methods.

CHEM 50223 - Advanced Organic Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 30132, 30133 or permission of instructor. A detailed study of stereochemistry, important organic reactions and mechanisms, organic syntheses and fundamentals of synthetic design.

CHEM 50230 - Special Problems in Chemistry
Advanced work in biochemistry, inorganic, organic and physical chemistry to be determined by the previous preparation and interests of the individual student.

CHEM 50263 - Physical-Organic Chemistry
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 30133 and prior or concurrent registration in CHEM 40123. An introduction to modern structural theory and reaction mechanism. Includes a discussion of physical methods.

CHEM 50273 - Inorganic Reactions
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 50163 or permission of the instructor. An advanced study of the preparative and derivative chemistry of important classes of transition metal and main group element compounds.

CHEM 50282 - Advanced Physical Chemistry
Two hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: Chemistry 40133. An introduction to Quantum Chemistry and Statistical Thermodynamics is presented. Continuation of Chemistry 40123-40133.

CHEM 50290 - Chemical Thermodynamics
Three hours lecture per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 40123 or permission of instructor. An introduction to the applications of thermodynamics in chemistry. 1-3 hours of variable credit

CHEM 50303 - Chemical Kinetics
Three lecture hours per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 40123. Phenomenological and theoretical aspects of the subject are stressed. Emphasis is placed on the study of rates of reaction as a means of elucidating reaction mechanisms. The study of specific gas phase and solution reactions is undertaken to illustrate basic theoretical principles as well as to distinguish molecular, ionic and free radical pathways, applications of isotope effects, activation parameters, medium effects and linear free-energy relationships are considered. Selected topics in conventional and enzyme catalysis are discussed.

CHEM 50502 - Biochemistry Laboratory
Two four-hour laboratory periods per week. Prerequisite: CHEM 50143 or concurrent registration. (Crosslisted as BIOL/CHEM 50502.)

CHEM 50783 - Environmental Chemistry
Prerequisites: CHEM 10114-10124 or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. Chemistry of water, soil, energy, and air as related to environmental problems. Subjects include: nutrients and eutrophication, fluorocarbons, sulfur and nitrogen oxides, Eh-pH relationship, natural carbonate reactions, and cation exchange phenomena. Cross as CHEM/GEOL 50783.
The child development major and minor is administered by the Department of Psychology.

Child development is available as a major and a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

The child development major is a multidisciplinary program drawing upon the strengths of four colleges and nine disciplines:
- Child Development
- Communication Sciences and Disorders
- Sociology
- Criminal Justice and Anthropology
- Education
- Nutritional Sciences
- Nursing
- Psychology
- Social Work

Its interdisciplinary focus is designed for students who wish to go into jobs or areas of study in child development, such as children’s mental health, preschools or Head Start, as well as provide comprehensive jobs or areas of study in child development, such as children’s mental

As well as provide comprehensive insight into the issues of child development. The major will also work well for students who wish to double major in areas such as psychology, social work, criminal justice, communication sciences and others. This major provides students who want to work with children in these disciplines an edge in their chosen field of study.

Students who wish to major in child development must have either a minor OR a second major and must apply to the program. Program requirements include a sophomore standing, a minimum 2.5 GPA, a criminal background check and a completed application. Applications are available at www.child.tcu.edu or in the Department of Psychology, Winton-Scott Hall Room 240.

BS with a Major in Child Development

The BS with a major in child development requires 45 hours plus associated requirements as follows:

Associated Requirements
MATH 10043 Elementary Statistics
SOWO 10833 Introduction to Social Work
PSYC 10213 General Psychology
PSYC 10514 Principles of Behavior I and/or

Child Development Minor

The child development minor is a multidisciplinary program drawing upon the strengths of four colleges and eight disciplines, listed alphabetically, that include:

- Communication Sciences and Disorders
- Sociology and Criminal Justice
- Education
- Nutritional Sciences
- Nursing
- Psychology
- Social Work

Students wishing to earn the child development minor are required to take 18 hours of coursework, selected from the courses listed below. Courses must be selected from at least three different departments and may include the department of the student’s major. No more than six hours may be taken from one department, and no more than three hours may be taken from Independent Studies and Special Topics courses combined. Case Studies in Child Development will be the only required course for students in the minor. Its interdisciplinary focus is designed to give students in the minor comprehensive insight into the issues of child development. Faculty are available within each of the departments to monitor availability and suitability of Special Topics courses and other special opportunities. Advising is available within the Child Development Program.

Required Course (3 hours)

CHDV 50533 - Case Studies in Child Development

Elective Courses (15 hours)

Choose five courses; no more than six hours may be taken from any one department.

Child Development Courses

CHDV 25053 - Children in the Global Community

This course is designed to increase awareness about children's issues in the global community both historically and currently. It will focus on children's issues as well as intervention efforts across the globe. Along with class lectures, readings, and video supplements, students will be expected to participate in class discussions and presentations. This course is designed to build insight and competency in students who desire to work with children in their future careers.

CHDV 35053 - Professional Development in Careers with Children

This course is designed to prepare students with professional competencies and knowledge in working with children and families. The course will be taught as a seminar style course with visiting professionals and professors teaching on topics such as: Crisis Prevention Intervention (CPI), Child CPR, Child Abuse Prevention and Reporting, Cultural Competencies, Communication Skills, Professional Ethics, Therapeutic Boundaries. At the end of the course, students will have skills and preparation for a variety of careers with children.

CHDV 50433 - Vulnerable Child I: Theory

The Vulnerable Child is a two-part series of multidisciplinary courses which investigate the challenges faced by families and professionals who work with children who have emotional, behavioral, and/or physiological challenges. The Vulnerable Child I: Theory will focus on the theory and research which is the basis of these challenges. If our Hope Connection summer camp for adopted children is taking place, both Vulnerable Child courses are required before students can work in it.

CHDV 50443 - Vulnerable Child II: Practice

Prerequisites: PSYC/CHDV 50433. The Vulnerable Child is a two-part series of multidisciplinary courses which investigate the challenges faced by families and professionals who work with children who have emotional, behavioral, and/or physiological challenges. The Vulnerable Child II: Practice will focus on the training students need to evaluate and apply intervention strategies for these families and children based on the theory and research learned in the first course. Both Vulnerable Child I & II are required for students wishing to apply for Independent Studies' hours to work in The Hope connection summer camp for at-risk adopted children.

CHDV 50533 - Case Studies in Child Development

This course is designed to present an integrated and comprehensive overview of numerous issues in child development as well as treatments/solutions for those issues. This diverse array of developmental problems will be presented in a series of case-studies by professors from several departments as well as by community professionals who specialize in children’s issues. This course is a requirement for the Child Development Minor as well as an elective course in Psychology.

Combined Science

Combined science is available as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Combined Science Minor

Requirements for the minor follow one of two patterns:

1. Three sequences, 6-8 hours each, from three different departments chosen from Group I below, plus two Group II courses, 6-8 hours, in one of these three departments, or
2. Two sequences, 6-8 hours each, from two different departments chosen from Group I below, followed by 6-8 hours in each of these two departments chosen from Group II.

At least six semester hours of the combined science minor must be in courses numbered 30000 or higher.

Group I

Biology: 10504-10514
Computer Science: 10403 and 20203
Chemistry: 10113-10125 or 10123-20123 or 10114-10124
Geology: 10113 and 10123 or ENSC 10143
Mathematics: 10524, 20524
Computer Information Technology

Computer information technology is available as a major on the BS degree and as a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Honors Program
Computer science and computer information technology majors who are members of the Honors Program and who have a minimum 3.5 GPA in the major may pursue Departmental Honors by enrolling in COSC 50970 during the fall of their senior year and preparing a senior honors project.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Computer Information Technology Major Requirements
The BS with a major in computer information technology requires 40 semester hours of computer information technology and computer science to include COSC 10403, 20203, 20803, 30603; CITE 30103, 30153, 30333, 30533, 30553, 40643, 40993 and seven hours of approved COSC or CITE electives. No more than four hours of CITE 20970 may be counted toward these requirements.

Additional requirements include:
- MATH 10043 or INSC 20153
- MATH 20123
- MATH 10283 or 10524
- COMM 10123 or 20103
- INSC 20283
- MARK 30653
- MANA 30653
- MANA 40653

A minimum of 124 semester hours is required for this degree.

Computer Information Technology Minor
The minor in computer information technology requires 18 hours of COSC and CITE courses, including COSC 10403, 20203, 20803; CITE 30553; and an additional six hours selected from 30000 and 40000 courses.

Computer Information Technology Student Organizations
Association for Computing Machinery
The department sponsors a student chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), an international organization for computer scientists.

IEEE/CS
The department sponsors a student chapter of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers/Computer Society, an international organization for computer scientists.

Upsilon Pi Epsilon
The department sponsors a chapter of Upsilon Pi Epsilon, the Electrical and Electronics Engineers/Computer Society, an IEEE/CS computer scientists.

Sigma Xi
The department is a sponsor of the TCU chapter of Sigma Xi, the Honor Society for Research in the Natural Sciences.

Computer Information Technology Courses
CITE 10003 - Applying Technology to Disasters, Failures, and Other Dangerous Things
This course focuses on how we can develop technological solutions to problems by applying the scientific method to the study of major technological accidents and failures. The lecture material will be augmented by laboratory experiences where the student will be able to experiment with some common everyday complex systems and study their failures under carefully controlled conditions.

CITE 10303 - Internet for Everyone
Introduction to the layout and design of Web Pages and Web Sites, along with the effective use of image editing tools, email, and search engines. Legal issues will be discussed. This course is intended for non-majors. Students cannot receive credit for both CITE 10303 and INSC 10013.

CITE 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Computer Information Science
Topics may vary each time the course is offered.

CITE 20503 - Multimedia Authoring
Prerequisites: COSC 20203. A general introduction to the history, theory, and technologies that relate to electronic communication. Topics will include the fundamental multimedia elements of text, graphics, sound, video, and animation. Students will participate in team projects designed to create materials for publication on the Internet and CD-ROM.

CITE 20970 - Topics in Computer Information Technology
Prerequisite: COSC 20203. Topics of current interest. May be repeated for credit when the topic changes. (1-3 semester hours)

CITE 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CITE 30023 - The Digital Explosion: A Cultural Transformation
Prerequisites: Junior standing. This course examines the cultural, social, ethical, and legal implications of the transforming power of the explosive growth of data and the technologies involved in producing, storing, utilizing, and communicating that data. The associated distinctions of age, gender, ethnicity, and class along with their impact on the propensity to access and utilize the products created from various technologies will be explored as well. These technological products include but are not limited to online/offline computer games, blogs, wikis, instant messaging, text messaging, as well as web sites for online dating and social networking. Students will study the cultural, social, ethical, and legal implications of the transforming power of the explosive growth of data and the technologies involved in producing, storing, utilizing, and communicating that data. The associated distinctions of age, gender, ethnicity, and class along with their impact on the propensity to access and utilize the products created from various technologies will be explored as well. These technological products include but are not limited to online/offline computer games, blogs, wikis, instant messaging, text messaging, as well as web sites for online dating and social networking.

CITE 30103 - System and Network Administration
Prerequisites: COSC 20203. Overview of operating system services and objectives. Installation and maintenance of Unix, Windows, and Macintosh operating systems. Issues in heterogeneous and homogeneous network maintenance and resource sharing. Introduction to scripting.

CITE 30153 - Interface Design and Scripting Fundamentals
Prerequisites: COSC 20203. Fundamental principles of interface design. Using scripts to assemble existing programs into new applications. Topics include GUI and web site design, and CGI-bin applications utilizing platform independent scripting languages.

CITE 30333 - Database Administration
Prerequisite: COSC 30603. Introduction to the database administration in both small and large-scale database operations. Course focuses on the setup, analysis and maintenance of relational databases used in modern applications.

CITE 30363 - Web Technologies
Prerequisite: COSC 30603 or consent of instructor. This course will provide an overview of current web technologies. The student will study both client-side and server-side technologies and will learn about web... authoring, site management, and distributed web-based applications. The course will include a review of XHTML, CSS, client and server-side processing followed by in-depth coverage of JSP and Java Servlets, database connectivity, and distributed web applications. XML, web streaming technologies, topics on the wireless web will also be included. Projects will be required that demonstrate the student's understanding of these technologies and that utilize several of the commercially available software packages.

CITE 30533 - Computers, Technology and Society
Prerequisite: none. In addition to the benefits from the introduction of new technologies, the costs and risks of such changes should be considered. Building on an overview of informal logic, class discussions will examine the social, political, legal, and ethical aspects of technology, with an emphasis on computer technology. Experimental activities and selected readings will provide a basis for the discussion. Credit will not be given for both COSC 10433 and CITE 30533.

CITE 30703 - Instructional Systems Development
Prerequisites: CITE 30153. This course provides students with a foundation in the history, theory, organization, technologies and instructional procedures used in distance education/training. Various delivery systems that pertain to distance learning will be investigated as will future trends in training/instructional applications.

CITE 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

CITE 40133 - Operations Research I
Prerequisites: MATH 10524 and a course in statistics (either MATH 10043 or MATH 30853 or MATH 30803;) additionally either COSC 30603 or ENGR 20613 is required. The principles and practice of Operations Research Methods as a tool for decision-making are studied. In particular, the course focuses on deterministic mathematical programming techniques such as linear programming (the Simplex Method, concepts of duality and sensitivity analysis), network optimization (transportation and assignments problems), and dynamic, and integer programming.

CITE 40353 - Computer Hardware Concepts
Prerequisites: COSC 20203 and MATH 20123. Introduction to the design and operation of hardware systems that include embedded microcontrollers and/or microprocessors, and the programming techniques required to control hardware systems. After providing an overview of analog and digital circuit theory, the course focuses on the design and operation of the interfaces between the controller(s)/processor(s) and the rest of the hardware.

CITE 40453 - Computing Internship
Prerequisites: Junior standing, 2.5 GPA in major, and approval of department chair. Practical experience in computer and information science. Must include a minimum of 280 work hours in approved practical experience situation. Includes 7-8 hours of class meetings. This course may only be taken pass/no credit. Open to CISC, CITE and COSC majors only.

CITE 40643 - Issues in Project Management
Prerequisites: Credit for, or concurrent enrollment in COSC 30603. This course presents an introduction to the issues involved in managing projects that are technology-based. Principles of project development, trade-off issues through the project life-cycle, and professional ethics will be covered. Team projects are included.

CITE 40773 - Administering Computer Resources
Prerequisites: CITE 30103. Tasks of the computer center manager are studied in the context of the role of administrative decision maker. Management processes, models for tradeoff decisions, behavior concepts, leadership, team dynamics, and infrastructures are covered. Both centralized and distributed models with multiple platforms and networked delivery are considered.

CITE 40913 - Advanced Topics in Computer Information Technology
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Advanced topics of current interest. Students will study current literature. May be repeated for credit when the topic changes.

CITE 40993 - Senior Development Project
Prerequisite: CITE 40643. Senior computer information technology majors are required to demonstrate their mastery of several computer science and information technology topics and their ability to communicate the results of their efforts to others. They are required to identify and analyze a computer development task, develop and implement a workable solution for its development, and then document the results of their efforts.

Computer Science

Computer science is available as a major on the BS degree and as a minor on the BA and BS degrees.

The program in computer science is accredited by the Computing Accreditation Commission of ABET. 111 Market Place, Suite 1050, Baltimore, MD 21202-4012, telephone: (410) 347-7700.

Honors Program
Computer science and computer information technology majors who are members of the University Honors Program and who have a minimum 3.5 GPA in the major may pursue Departmental Honors by enrolling in COSC 50970 during the fall of their senior year and preparing a Senior Honors Project.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Computer Science Major Requirements
Students must fulfill 45 semester hours of computer science, of which 39 hours must be COSC 10403, 20203, 20803, 30203, 30253, 30353, 30403, 30603, 40203, 40603, 40943, 40993 and CITE 30533; six hours of approved computer science electives shall be selected from courses at the 30000 level or above.

Mathematics and Science Requirements: Students are required to complete 32 hours, which must include 17 hours of mathematics (MATH 10524, 20123, 30123, 30224 and 30803), and a two-semester science sequence (including laboratories) plus two additional one-semester science courses. All science courses must be selected from biology, chemistry, environmental science, geology or physics. Courses for non-science majors may not be counted in this category.

A minimum of 132 semester hours is required for the degree. A computer science major must have a minimum 2.2 GPA in all computer science coursework to graduate.

Computer Science Minor
Students must fulfill 18 hours of computer science, including COSC 10403, 20203, 20803, 30203 and an additional six hours selected from 30000 and 40000 level courses.

Computer Science Student Organizations

Association for Computing Machinery
The department sponsors a student chapter of the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), an international organization for computer scientists.

IEEE/CS
The department sponsors a student chapter of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers/Computer Society, an international organization for computer scientists.

Upsilon Pi Epsilon
The department sponsors a chapter of Upsilon Pi Epsilon, the international organization for computer scientists.

Sigma Xi
The department is a sponsor of the TCU chapter of Sigma Xi, the Honor Society for Research in the Natural Sciences.
Computer Science Courses

COSC 10203 - Computer Literacy
Two hours lecture and one and a half hours of laboratory per week. Introduction to the history of computers, computer organization, and principles of operation. Hands-on experience utilizing a variety of computer software tools including word processing, database management, graphics, spreadsheet, and Internet applications.

COSC 10403 - Introduction to Programming
Prerequisite: Two years of high school algebra or Math 10023. Introduction to computers, problem solving, algorithm design, and programming techniques. Includes what a computer is and is not, problem organization, data representation, and how to utilize the computer to solve problems. Numerical and non-numerical problems are solved in a high-level programming language.

COSC 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Computer Science
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

COSC 10503 - Introduction to Programming for Engineering and Science
Prerequisite: MATH 10524 or concurrent. Introduction to computer programming and to problem solving techniques using computer programs with applications in engineering and the physical sciences.

COSC 10533 - Freshman Seminar in Computer Science
Topics may vary each time class is offered.

COSC 20101 - Assembler Fundamentals
Prerequisite: COSC 10403. Computer structure, machine language, instruction execution, addressing modes, and internal representation of data. Several assembler language programming assignments are required.

COSC 20203 - Techniques in Programming
Prerequisites: COSC 10403 or equivalent and MATH 10052 or equivalent. A study of program design, development and programming techniques. Structured programming with problems selected from list processing, string processing, and file manipulation.

COSC 20803 - Data Structures
Prerequisites: COSC 20203. Basic concepts of data. Linear lists, strings, and arrays. Representation of trees and graphs. Storage systems and structures. Symbol tables and searching techniques, sorting techniques. Formal specification of data structures and data structures in programming languages.

COSC 20970 - Topical Studies in Computer Science
Prerequisites: COSC 20203. Courses dealing with a particular area of investigation in computer science. The topics will be changed from semester to semester and the course may be repeated when the topic is different. (1 - 3 semester hours.)

COSC 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

COSC 30203 - Computer System Fundamentals
Prerequisite: COSC 20803. Introduction to assembly language and the corresponding machine representation, assemblers, linkers, and loaders. Study of the design and implementation of 2-pass assemblers with special attention to symbol tables and the problems of resolving forward and external references.

COSC 30253 - Computer Organization
COSC Prerequisites: COSC 30203 (may be concurrent) and MATH 20123, or, ENGR prerequisites: ENGR 30444. Corequisite: COSC 30101. Treatment of sequential and combinatorial circuits including flip-flops, multiplexers, decoders, adders, registers, counters. Design of functional components, of a computer including memory, ALU, control unit, busses. The tradeoffs of alternative architectural features such as word size, instruction sets, addressing modes. (Crosslisted as COSC 30253/ENGR 30573.)

COSC 30353 - Microprocessor Based Digital Systems
Prerequisite: COSC 30253. Introduction to the design of microprocessor based digital systems including the study of processor control signals, address decoding and memory interfacing, interfacing to serial and parallel ports, A/D conversion, and interrupt processing. Features of state-of-the-art microprocessors will be discussed. Both hardware and software assignments will be required. (Crosslisted as COSC 30353/ENGR 30583.)

COSC 30403 - Programming Language Concepts
Prerequisite: COSC 20803. A study and comparison of the concepts and constructs of major programming language paradigms. Topics include evolution of programming languages, formal definition (syntax and semantics), data types, scope, subprograms, data abstraction. Students will review a published paper in the area of programming languages. Lab assignments are given in languages selected to illustrate paradigms.

COSC 30453 - Computer Architecture
Prerequisite: COSC 30253. The logical organization and functional behavior of digital computers are studied. Fundamental principles in the design of the CPU, memory, I/O devices, and bus structures are presented. Performance enhancement topics such as caching, memory interleaving, interconnection schemes, pipelining, memory management, reduced instruction sets (RISC) and multiprocessing are discussed. (Crosslisted as COSC 30453/ENGR 30593.)

COSC 30503 - Advanced Systems Programming
Prerequisite: COSC 30203. Introduction to the systems software features provided by a modern operating system. The techniques and problems associated with the use of concurrent execution of multiple tasks (spawning new tasks from within a task; intertask communications, synchronization, and termination; the use of low-level I/O primitives; and methods for dealing with mutual exclusion, race conditions, and deadlock). Students will be required to develop command language procedures and write programs which invoke operating system services.

COSC 30603 - Database Systems
Prerequisite: COSC 20803, and MATH 20123. Introduction to the design, implementation, and use of relational database systems. Topics include entity-relationship modeling, dataflow modeling, relational algebra and tuple calculus, normalization, SQL, external data structures, query optimization, and transaction processing.

COSC 30703 - ADA Software Development and Programming
Prerequisite: COSC 20803. Introduction to the problems associated with the development of large software systems and the features of the Ada programming language that can be used to attack many of these problems. Emphasis will be on those features of Ada that distinguish it from most other programming languages including the use of packages, formal specifications of interfaces, use of private types, operator overloading, tasking, representation clauses, exception handlers, and generics.

COSC 30803 - Simulation Techniques
Prerequisites: COSC 20803. Discrete event simulation programming and analysis techniques for simulation experiments. Includes experimental sampling and model development in a special purpose simulation language.

COSC 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

COSC 40003 - Computer Networks
Prerequisite: COSC 30253. Introduction to basic data communications concepts, including hardware and software aspects of protocols, asynchronous and synchronous communication, network configurations, and error detection. This course includes the study of both local area networks and long haul networks, the 7 layer ISO network model, the architecture of networks, and network communication protocols. Local and wide area networks including the internet and world wide web will be discussed.
COSC 40103 - Graphics
Prerequisites: COSC 30253 and a knowledge of linear algebra MATH 30224. A basic course in graphics systems. Considers the equations of lines, planes, and surfaces; hidden line algorithms; rotations, scaling, and cutaway transformations; 3-D images and the use of shading and perspective; animation; and color graphics.

COSC 40203 - Operating Systems
Prerequisites: COSC 30253 and MATH 30123. Introduction to operating systems principles. Includes management of CPU, memory, peripherals, and information; the problems associated with communications and controlling concurrent processes; and the differences in batch, time-sharing, and real-time operating systems.

COSC 40303 - Image Processing Fundamentals
Prerequisites: MATH 10524 and COSC 10403 or 10503, and either COSC 20803 or ENGR 40574. The study and practice of the principles, the algorithms and the techniques of image processing such as editing, analysis, segmentation, recognition and classification. Students will use Java to implement and test various image processing algorithms.

COSC 40403 - Analysis of Algorithms
Prerequisites: COSC 20803, MATH 30123, and a knowledge of probability and statistics. Topics concerning what can and cannot be proven about computational complexity, including algorithm design methodology, techniques for analysis of space and time requirements, and P and NP completeness.

COSC 40503 - Artificial Intelligence
Prerequisite: COSC 30603. Introduction to knowledge representation and methods for intelligent search. Fundamental topics include state space search, logic, and inference engines. AI languages Prolog, Lisp, and Clips will be used to explore additional topics selected from two-person games, expert systems, automated theorem proving, planning, and machine learning.

COSC 40603 - Compiler Theory
Prerequisites: COSC 30203, COSC 30403, and MATH 30123. Formal description of algorithmic languages, such as Pascal, and the techniques used in writing compilers for such. Topics include syntax, semantics, storage allocation, code generation, error handling and diagnostics, code optimization, etc. Includes the definition and writing of a compiler for a simple programming language.

COSC 40803 - Advanced Topics in Computer Hardware
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Advanced topics of current interest in computer hardware, such as computer design, computer networks, advanced computer graphics. Students will study current literature. May be repeated for credit when topic changes.

COSC 40903 - Advanced Topics in Computer Software
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Advanced topics of current interest in computer software, such as natural language programming, advanced operating systems, advanced compiler design, file structures, advanced database. Students will study current literature. May be repeated for credit when topic changes.

COSC 40943 - Software Engineering
Prerequisite: Senior standing. Stages of the software development lifecycle (requirements analysis, specification, design, implementation, testing), evolution, and quality assurance. Classical and alternative process models and techniques are described and discussed. Management issues, professional responsibilities, and ethics of the profession are covered. Includes team projects and individual requirements analysis effort.

COSC 40993 - Senior Design Project
Prerequisite: COSC 40943. Senior computer science majors are required to demonstrate their mastery of several computer science topics and their ability to communicate the results of their efforts to others. They are required to identify and analyze a computer science problem, develop and implement a workable solution to the problem, and then document the results of their efforts.

COSC 50123 - Object-Oriented Design and Programming
Prerequisite: COSC 30403 or permission of instructor. Introduction to object-oriented techniques including design methodologies and programming language support. Survey of new languages and extensions to existing languages which provide support for encapsulation, inheritance, and polymorphism.

COSC 50133 - Formal Languages
Prerequisites: COSC 40603. Languages and grammars which can be characterized in formal terms, for the purpose of constructing models for artificial (computer) languages. Topics will include finite automata, pushdown automata, Turing machines, solvable and unsolvable problems, etc.

COSC 50970 - Special Topics in Computer Science
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. (1-6 semester hours).

Energy Technology and Management

Energy Technology and Management Minor
This minor is intended for any major wishing to also minor in energy technology and management. It will help provide students with an understanding of the current/emerging technologies and management strategies associated with the energy business. The minor requires 18 credits from the programs and departments listed below. No more than two courses from any program or department listed below may count for this minor. No more than two courses for this minor may be taken P/NC. No grade lower than a "C" may be applied to the minor. Any course substitutions or exceptions must be approved by the program adviser of the Energy Institute.

Engineering
The Department of Engineering mission statement is to educate individuals to be proficient in the art and science of engineering. In support of the mission, the course of study is designed to meet the following four educational objectives:
1. Engineering graduates should be able to apply scientific and mathematical fundamentals to solve engineering problems;
2. Engineering graduates should be able to lead, work and communicate within teams;
3. Engineering graduates should be able to work professionally and ethically; and
4. Engineering graduates should be able to continue to learn.

Available as a major on the BS degree with the choice of either an electrical or mechanical emphasis. All programs of study include a solid liberal arts component and a fundamental core of engineering courses that provide a strong interdisciplinary background in engineering. They conclude with a three-semester design sequence, which is common to students in both areas of emphasis. The Engineering program is accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of ABET, 111 Market Place, Suite 1050, Baltimore, MD 21202-4012, telephone: (410) 347-7700.

The programs of study are identical for the first three semesters with an emphasis choice required during the second year. A minimum total of 128 hours of TCU Core Curriculum, engineering and associated courses is required for the BS degree with a major in engineering. All programs are based on a strong background in mathematics and the basic sciences. Suggested four-year course sequences are available from the Department of Engineering.

Honors Program
Engineering majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in ENGR 30003 during their junior year and ENGR 40003 during their senior year.

Transfer Students
Transfer applicants should refer to General Policies in the Admission section of this catalog for general admission requirements and deadlines. A degree plan is prepared for each transfer student during the student's first semester of enrollment at TCU. The application of previous coursework to an engineering degree at TCU is based upon equivalency of content with TCU courses. Special approval is required to complete any engineering emphasis courses outside of TCU. A maximum of 15 semester hours of transfer credit may be applied to the engineering core. All engineering courses must be from programs with ABET accreditation, unless otherwise pre-approved. Contact the Department of Engineering for additional information on its transfer policy and procedures.

Pass/No-Credit Option
All courses used to meet TCU Core Curriculum, associated and engineering program requirements must be taken on the letter grade system. An exception may be approved if a specific course is only available on a Pass/No-Credit basis.

Engineering Major Requirements
The BS with a major in engineering requires 48 semester hours in the engineering core, including ENGR 10032, 10033, 10042, 20404, 20603, 20613, 30014, 30444, 30623, 30704, 30903, 40203, 40484, 40903 and 40913; and a minimum of 19 semester hours in an engineering emphasis.

The electrical emphasis requires include ENGR 20413, 30454, 30503, 30543 and a set of approved elective courses.

The mechanical emphasis requires include ENGR 20623, 30634, 30714, 30861, 40861, 40871 and a set of approved elective courses. All electives must be approved by an engineering faculty adviser to ensure that each student's program of study meets both University and engineering accreditation criteria.

Associated Requirements: MATH 10524, 20524, 30524, 30613, 30853; PHYS 20474, 20484; CHEM 10113 or 10114; and COSC 10403 or 10503.

TCU Core Curriculum Electives
The humanities and social science components of engineering programs should exhibit both breadth and depth in the subject areas. The Department of Engineering provides a list of suggested TCU Core Curriculum elective options that address this issue. All University Core Curriculum electives must be selected with the advice and approval of an engineering academic adviser.

Engineering Electives
The electrical and mechanical emphasis engineering electives must be selected to assure an adequate content for the total program. All engineering electives must be selected with the advice and approval of an engineering academic adviser.

Engineering Student Organizations
Several engineering and computer science student organizations have been established at TCU for the purpose of promoting professional goals and interests, and to provide fellowship and recreation for the members. Student chapters of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), American Society of Mechanical Engineers (ASME), American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), Association of Computing Machinery (ACM), American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics (AIAA), and Society of Women Engineers (SWE) are active on campus. These groups meet regularly to participate in plant tours or to entertain speakers on topics of current interest to engineering students. All engineering students are encouraged to join one of the student organizations and participate in campus activities, as well as the activities of the affiliated local professional engineering societies. Students may also choose to become student members of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers (TSPE) and participate in their local chapter activities.

Fundamentals of Engineering Examination
The Fundamentals of Engineering (FE) Examination is administered twice each year by the National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying (NCEES). Review sessions are offered by the engineering faculty during the fall semester. All engineering students are encouraged and advised to take the fundamentals examination prior to graduation.

Engineering Courses
ENGR 10032 - Static Mechanics
Prerequisites: ENGR 10033; corequisite: MATH 10524. Force systems and resultants, equilibrium, friction, structural analysis, geometric properties and distributed loadings, internal forces.

ENGR 10033 - Engineering Design and Graphics

ENGR 10042 - Principles of Digital Logic
Number systems. Arithmetic, Boolean algebra and logic operations. Timing diagrams. Introduction to the design and analysis of combinational and sequential logic circuits.

ENGR 10053 - A Hands-On Introduction to Engineering Design
Introduction to some of the principles of engineering design. Simple microcontroller programming. Basic machine component design. Student teams design and construct autonomous mobile robots to accomplish an assigned task.

ENGR 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Engineering
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

ENGR 20404 - Network Analysis I

ENGR 20413 - Network Analysis II

ENGR 20603 - Solid Mechanics I
Prerequisites: ENGR 10032, MATH 10524. Fundamental topics in static structural analysis, concepts of stress and strain, and stress-strain-temperature relations. Stresses and deformations due to axial, torsional, and bending loads. Transverse shear. Combined loadings.
ENGR 20613 - Dynamics and Vibrations I

ENGR 20623 - Solid Mechanics II

ENGR 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned during a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ENGR 30003 - Honors Tutorial
Prerequisite: Junior standing and membership in the Honors Program. An examination of an important topic in mechanical or electrical engineering determined in consultation with an instructor. This course is offered on a directed study basis and must be arranged prior to the semester enrolled.

ENGR 30014 - Materials Science
Prerequisite: CHEM 10113 or CHEM 10114. Introduction to the physical, chemical, mechanical, electrical, and optical properties of metals, semiconductors, ceramics, and polymers. Emphasis on the relationship between these properties and how performance is influenced by microstructure and processing. Atomic bonding. Crystal structure. Phase equilibria. Deformation and fracture. Composite materials. Electronic, magnetic, dielectric and optical properties. Laboratory methods for characterizing materials emphasized. (Crosslisted as ENGR/PHYS 30014.)

ENGR 30113 - Energy in Society
Prerequisites: junior standing or permission of instructor. This course is designed for any major at TCU who wants to develop a better understanding of how energy is produced, transported and marketed in the metroplex and across the country. Industry professionals will also visit to discuss current and developing technologies they are using to provide energy for the future. This course does not count toward the major requirements in engineering.

ENGR 30444 - Electronics I
Prerequisite: ENGR 20404. Fundamentals of solid-state, discrete-component microelectronic devices, including the pn-junction diode, bipolar junction transistor, and field-effect transistors. The integrated circuit operational amplifier and its use in analog applications is emphasized. Utilization of pn-junction diodes and transistors as electronic switches for digital logic applications is stressed. Computer-aided analysis and design tools. Laboratory applications.

ENGR 30454 - Electronics II

ENGR 30503 - Signals and Systems
Prerequisite: ENGR 20413 or instructor approval. Signal and system representations. Convolution. Fourier series and transforms and applications. Laplace transforms and applications. Z-transforms and applications.

ENGR 30543 - Engineering Electromagnetics

ENGR 30573 - Computer Organization
COSC Prerequisites: COSC 30203 (may be concurrent) and MATH 20123, or, ENGR prerequisites: ENGR 30444. Corequisite: COSC 30101. Treatment of sequential and combinatorial circuits including flip-flops, multiplexers, decoders, adders, registers, counters. Design of functional components, of a computer including memory, ALU, control unit, busses. The tradeoffs of alternative architectural features such as word size, instruction sets, addressing modes. (Crosslisted as COSC 30253/ENGR 30573.)

ENGR 30583 - Microprocessor Based Digital Systems
Prerequisite: COSC 30253. Introduction to the design of microprocessor based digital systems including the study of processor control signals, address decoding and memory interfacing, interfacing to serial and parallel ports, A/D conversion, and interrupt processing. Features of state-of-the-art microprocessors will be discussed. Both hardware and software assignments will be required. (Crosslisted as COSC 30353/ENGR 30583.)

ENGR 30593 - Computer Architecture
Prerequisite: COSC 30253. The logical organization and functional behavior of digital computers are studied. Fundamental principles in the design of the CPU, memory, I/O devices, and bus structures are presented. Performance enhancement topics such as caching, memory interleaving, interconnection schemes, pipelining, memory management, reduced instruction sets (RISC) and multiprocessor are discussed. (Crosslisted as COSC 30453/ENGR 30593.)

ENGR 30613 - Dynamics and Vibrations II

ENGR 30623 - Control Systems I

ENGR 30634 - Manufacturing I

ENGR 30704 - Thermal Sciences I
Prerequisites: MATH 10524, CHEM 10113, PHYS 20473 or 20474. An introduction to thermodynamics, fluid mechanics and heat transfer. System and control volume concepts in analysis. First and second laws in thermodynamics. Thermodynamics cycles. Fluid statics and steady flow of fluids. Introduction to topics in conduction, convection, and radiation heat transfer.

ENGR 30714 - Thermal Sciences II
Prerequisite: ENGR 30704. Continuation of ENGR 30704. Further topics in thermodynamics and fluid mechanics. Applications of the first and second laws to power and refrigeration cycle analysis, psychrometrics and reacting mixtures. Conservation equations. Inviscid and viscous incompressible flow. Introduction to compressible flow.

ENGR 30861 - Mechanical Systems Lab
Prerequisite: ENGR 20603. Experimental, computational and analytical studies of phenomena in solid mechanics, dynamics and vibrations. Data acquisition, transmission, and analysis.

ENGR 30871 - Thermal Systems Lab I
Corequisite: ENGR 30704. Experimental, computational and analytical studies of phenomena in fluid flow, heat transfer, thermodynamics, refrigeration, and mechanical power systems. Data acquisition, transmission, and analysis.

ENGR 30903 - Issues in Engineering Design
Prerequisite: Junior Standing. Examination of various issues inherent in engineering design. A review of the engineering method. Ethical issues of engineering design such as: product liability, risk assessment, intellectual property, competitive bidding, and the environmental and social impacts of design decisions. Project management, topics in engineering economy, and probabilistic concepts in design.

ENGR 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ENGR 40003 - Senior Honors Research Paper
Prerequisite: ENGR 30003. A supervised research experience culminating in the writing of a research paper based on the subject matter studied in ENGR 3003 Honors Tutorial. The course is offered on a directed study basis and must be arranged prior to the semester enrolled.

ENGR 40203 - Engineering Economic Analysis
Prerequisites: MATH 10524 or MATH 10283. Development and use of time value of money interest relationships. Comparison alternatives including present worth, annual worth, rate of return and payout period methods. Decision making among independent, dependent, capital-constrained, and unequal-lived projects. Replacement, break-even, and minimum cost analyses. Depreciation and depletion methods and their effect on corporate income taxes, leading to after-tax cash flow analysis.

ENGR 40213 - Sustainable Energy
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484, and MATH 30524 or 30613. This course introduces concepts that are needed to understand a range of diverse energy initiatives, and discusses resources available to supply energy to both developed and developing nations. Energy sources of interest include geothermal, fossil fuels (coal, oil, gas), nuclear, wind, solar, hydropower, biofuels, conservation, hybrid energy systems, etc. The broad perspective helps the student develop an expanded knowledge base, and become a steward of the earth's natural resources.

ENGR 40223 - Petroleum Reservoir Management
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484 and MATH 30524 or 30613. Modern petroleum reservoir management relies on teams of people from a variety of scientific and engineering disciplines. This course will introduce concepts and terminology for topics that are often encountered by members of petroleum reservoir management teams. Topics from geology, geophysics, petrophysics, and petroleum engineering are discussed. A case study is used to integrate the material in the course.

ENGR 40303 - Petroleum Industry Overview
Prerequisites: ECON 10223, ENGR 40203, MATH 10524 or MATH 10283, or permission of instructor. This course will cover the upstream side of the petroleum industry. It will start with geology, the formation of oil and gas, and the geophysical characteristics which characterize the location of oil and gas. Next, the drilling process for both exploration and production will be considered. Finally, the actual production of oil and gas from the reservoir will be developed. Economic considerations will be developed throughout the process.

ENGR 40454 - Semiconductor Device Electronics

ENGR 40464 - Theory and Fabrication of Microelectronic Devices
Prerequisites: ENGR 30444. This course provides a theoretical background and a practical laboratory experience in modern microelectronic device fabrication technologies and processes. The students will learn the theory of the nested set of microelectronic processing techniques used to manufacture microelectronic devices. Each student will actively participate in a laboratory whose focus is to fabricate and test the performance of silicon-based microelectronic devices, including: metalized and diffused resistors, pn-junction diodes, metal-oxide-semiconductor (MOS) capacitors, and MOS field-effect transistors (MOSFETs).

ENGR 40484 - Electromechanics
Prerequisites: ENGR 20404, and PHYS 20483/20481 or PHYS 20284. Electromechanical energy conversion principles. Magnetic circuits. Balanced three-phase system analysis. Development and applications of the circuit models for transformers, induction machines, synchronous machines, and DC machines. Laboratory exercises emphasize measurement of machine model parameters and comparison of predicted and observed steady-state performance.

ENGR 40514 - Communication Systems

ENGR 40544 - Optical Fiber Communications
Prerequisite: ENGR 30543 or PHYS 40653. Waveguiding and signal transmission properties of optical fibers. Optical sources. Power launching and coupling. Photodetectors. Optical receivers. Optical fiber transmission systems. Laboratory exercises emphasize the measurement of waveguiding characteristics.

ENGR 40574 - Digital Signal Processing
Prerequisite: ENGR 30503. Sampling and quantization effects. Digital filter design. Structures for realizing discrete time systems. Discrete Fourier transform and fast Fourier transform. Laboratory exercises emphasize digital signal processing techniques to applications in audio signal processing and telecommunications.

ENGR 40613 - Machine Component Design

ENGR 40623 - Control Systems II

ENGR 40633 - Manufacturing II
Prerequisite: ENGR 30634. A continuation of ENGR 30634.

ENGR 40723 - Heat Transfer

ENGR 40733 - Fluid Mechanics

ENGR 40743 - Thermal Systems Design

ENGR 40753 - Advanced Engineering Dynamics

ENGR 40763 - Advanced Engineering Vibrations
Prerequisites: ENGR 20613, MATH 30613. Free and forced vibration of single-degree-of-freedom and multiple-degree-of-freedom systems. Vibration of continuous systems, such as cables, beams and plates. Engineering applications of vibration theory. Special topics.
ENGR 40861 - Mechanical Systems Lab II
Prerequisite: ENGR 30623. Experimental, computational and analytical studies of phenomena in solid mechanics, dynamics and vibrations. Data acquisition, transmission, and analysis.

ENGR 40871 - Thermal Systems Lab II
Prerequisites: ENGR 30714. Experimental, computational and analytical studies of phenomena in fluid flow, heat transfer, thermodynamics, refrigeration, and mechanical power systems. Data acquisition, transmission, and analysis.

ENGR 40903 - Systems Design I
Prerequisite: ENGR 30903. Two-semester interdisciplinary team projects. Application of analysis and design principles and techniques to the synthesis, modeling, optimization, fabrication, and testing of electrical, mechanical and electromechanical systems. Individual and team oral and written reports.

ENGR 40913 - Systems Design II
Prerequisite: ENGR 40903. Continuation of ENGR 40903

ENGR 40920 - Senior Design Projects
Prerequisite: Instructor approval. Individual design and development projects in fundamental or applied aspects of electrical or mechanical engineering 1-4 hours.

ENGR 40970 - Special Topics in Engineering
Prerequisite: Instructor approval. 1-6 hours.

Environmental Earth Resources

The major in environmental earth resources is administered by the School of Geology, Energy and the Environment (SGEE) and available as a major on the BS degree. It is intended for students seeking a degree that combines environmental geology, GIS and satellite imagery for mapping earth resources.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Environmental Earth Resources Major Requirements

The BS with a major in environmental earth resources requires 34 hours in geology and 17 hours from related science/math departments.

Required Geology/Environmental Science courses: 20 hours
ENSC 10143 Contemporary Environmental Issues
GEOL 10113 Understanding the Earth
GEOL 30213 Mineralogy
GEOL 30423 Structural Geology
GEOL 40393 Soils in the Environment
GEOL 50713 Environmental Geology
GEOL 50721 Geographic Information Systems
GEOL 50731 Remote Sensing Technology
GEOL 50901 Computer Applications in Geology

14 more required hours from the following options:
ENSC 40193 Computer Applications in Geology
GEOL 30113 Weather and Climate
GEOL 30133 Earth History I
GEOL 30143 Earth History II
GEOL 30153 Geology of National Parks
GEOL 30203 Catastrophes, Controversies, Genesis and Geology
GEOL 30223 Petrology
GEOL 30233 The Rock Cycle
GEOL 30243 Sedimentology
GEOL 40413 Map Interpretation
GEOL 40493 Geomorphology
GEOL 40893 Senior Thesis
GEOL 40970 Special Problems in Geology
GEOL 50361 Basic Well Log Interpretation
GEOL 50423 Petroleum Geology
GEOL 50493 Physical Hydrology
GEOL 50553 Integrating and Interpreting Subsurface Geological Data
GEOL 50563 From Prospect to Production
GEOL 50593 Hydrologic Modeling
GEOL 50863 Spatial Analysis

Environmental Sciences

Environmental sciences is available as a major on the BS degree through the School of Geology, Energy and the Environment (SGEE) and a minor on the BA or BS degrees.

Administration and Counseling
Each student prepares an individual program of study (POS) designed specifically for the student's particular background and goals. The POS is prepared in consultation with the chair of the Department of Environmental Sciences and the student's advisor.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Environmental Sciences Major Requirements

The BS with a major in environmental sciences requires 46 semester hours from the following:

The Core (22-24 semester hours)
BIOL 10003 Contemporary Issues in Biology and BIOL 30613 Natural History or BIOL 10504 Introductory Biology I and
BIOL 10514 Introductory Biology II
GEOL 10113 Understanding the Earth
ENSC 30133 Concepts of Environmental Sciences
BIOL 30403 Ecology
GEOL 40393 Soils in the Environment
ENSC 40193 Environmental Stewardship Seminar
ENSC 40001 Environmental Presentations

Electives (24 semester hours)
Students must select 24 hours of coursework with an emphasis in the biological, geological or environmental sciences.

Associated Requirements (19 semester hours)
CHEM 10113 Freshman Chemistry
CHEM 10125 General Chemistry with Lab
PHYS 10154 General Physics I

MATH 10524 Calculus I (or equivalent)

The total required for the B.S with a major in environmental sciences is 132 semester hours.

Environmental Sciences Minor

The minor in environmental sciences requires a minimum of 18 semester hours of biology, geology or environmental sciences courses, including a minimum of three upper-division (30000 or above) courses.
Environmental Science Courses

ENSC 10143 - Contemporary Environmental Issues
Two hours lecture and two hours of laboratory per week. This course introduces students to the major environmental/resource problems that confront humanity in the 21st century. The course seeks to both develop a fundamental scientific knowledge and understanding of the concepts and principles that underlie current environmental problems, as well as to engage in critical and reflective thinking about our resources, the environment and our place within it. Field trip required.

ENSC 10243 - Environmental Context: Natural History of North-Central Texas
This course is part of the Integrated Academic Community, one of five freshman courses run in tandem. It introduces environmental history, which integrates earth sciences, ecology, natural history, and environmental literature. Assignments are designed to increase awareness about how the regional environment has been shaped by interactions among cultural and natural processes. There also is emphasis on understanding the complex cosmology assembled from the various European imperialism, and urban ecology. The course centers upon five all-day field trips in the vicinity of Fort Worth. Trips include presentations and exercises representing different expert perspectives, designed both to showcase individual enthusiasms and to explore how disciplinary knowledge can be integrated into a richer understanding of the local environment. Whenever possible, readings from both scientific and literary sources are used to interpret the same landscapes and phenomena. Students practice describing environments in different modes, in order to cultivate the breadth of perspective required for environmental literacy. Each trip is framed during 2-hour evening sessions to discuss assigned readings, insights from the previous trip, and relevant concepts for the next trip.

ENSC 10433 - A Sense of Place: TCU's Environment
This first-year seminar offers an introduction to field observation, personal journaling, and the domain of Environmental Studies, which includes earth sciences, ecology, environmental history, and environmental literature. Assignments are designed to promote awareness about how an environment is shaped by interaction among cultural and natural processes. The course is centered upon five all-day field trips in the vicinity of Fort Worth. Trips include presentations and exercises conducted by various experts, designed both to showcase individual enthusiasms and to explore how disciplinary knowledge can be integrated into a richer understanding of the local environment. Whenever possible, people with differing expertise, and readings from both scientific and literary sources are used to interpret the same landscape. Students practice describing environments in different modes, in order to cultivate the breadth of perspective required for environmental literacy. Each trip is preceded by a 2-hour evening session to discuss assigned readings, insights from the previous trip, and relevant concepts for the next trip.

ENSC 3003 - Junior Honors Seminar in Environmental Science
Prerequisite: Permission of Instructor.

ENSC 30133 - Concepts in Environmental Science
Prerequisites: CHEM 10113 or concurrent enrollment, and an introductory Biology course. Three hours lecture per week. This course provides students with the basic scientific principles underlying major environmental/resource problems that confront the global community. The course will help develop the scientific knowledge and understanding of the major environmental problems associated with the air, water, land, and biota, as well as issues associated with population, biodiversity, energy, sustainability, and urbanization.

ENSC 30313 - Environmental Issues in Costa Rica
In this course, students spend three weeks in Costa Rica examining environmental issues and the case for environmental stewardship, defined as the need to make informed and responsible decisions with regard to the planet. Costa Rica provides a unique opportunity for students to engage in critical and reflective thinking about our resources, the environment, and our place within it.

ENSC 30390 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ENSC 33990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

ENSC 30003 - Junior Honors Seminar in Environmental Science
Prerequisite: Permission of Instructors.

ENSC 30133 - Concepts in Environmental Science
Prerequisites: CHEM 10113 or concurrent enrollment, and an introductory Biology course. Three hours lecture per week. ENSC 40001 - Scientific Presentations
Prerequisites: must be an Environmental Science major. The goal of this course is to acquaint the student with the organization, preparation and effective delivery of scientific seminars.

ENSC 40003 - Senior Honors Research in Environmental Science
A research study and paper, under faculty direction, in some area of environmental science.

ENSC 40013 - Environmental Internship
Prerequisites: Students must have a C or better in at least 9 hours of approved courses in the minor or degree, plus permission of instructor and program advisor. Students must spend at least 135 hours in approved practical work experience with an organization or company approved by the program director.

ENSC 40193 - Environmental Stewardship Seminar
Three hours lecture per week. This course examines the case environmental stewardship, defined as the need to make informed and responsible decisions with regard to the planet. Students meet in a seminar-type format and cover broad, integrating themes that then serve as a foundation for topics that address more specific environmental problems, such as global warming, deforestation, sustainable development, and energy depletion. The course exposes students to the foundations necessary to enable them to develop their own environmental ethic.

ENSC 40503 - Environmental Methods and Statistics
Environmental Methods and Statistics is a laboratory- and field-based course that presents essential general science and specific environmental methods, techniques, and theory. Students are exposed to the basic tools of environmental science - observation and notation, data gathering, using statistics, sampling, lab and field techniques, surveying, and safety. Specific environmental methodologies relating to soil, water, and ecological systems are explained. The course presents a wide cross-disciplinary range of techniques and information with a unique environmental perspective.

ENSC 40970 - Special Problems
Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Field and laboratory problems for advanced undergraduate students. Fifty clock hours of laboratory and field work for each semester hour credit. 1-6 semester hours.

ENSC 50003 - Applied Projects Partnership Program
Prerequisites: Must have C or better in at least 9 hours of approved courses in the minor or degree, plus permission of instructor and program advisor. ENSC faculty will identify opportunities for students to partner with local businesses, industry and consulting firms to solve real-world problems and create professional deliverables. Students will be matched with the positions that are available, based on observed talents and the type of experience they seek. This is a student-lead project.

ENSC 50203 - Riparian and Wetland Diversity
Prerequisites: Six hours of biology, geology, or environmental science courses. Note: Students who enroll in this course may not enroll in ENSC 50246 for credit. This field-intensive course introduces skills to study the diversity of riparian and wetland habitats of North Central Texas. The curriculum introduces methods of sampling a site in terms of its macroinvertebrates, flora, vegetation, soils, and hydrologically relevant landforms. The field modules are macroinvertebrates, plant zonation, and description of substrates, topography, and landscape context. Some exercises may be done in conjunction with the Wetland Delineation class. The field trips run Thursday evening through Sunday, and are required for all students.

ENSC 50213 - Territorial Envirodiversity

Prerequisites: Six hours in biology, geology, or environmental science. Note: students who enroll in this course may not enroll in ENSC 50246 for credit. This field-intensive course introduces students to the diversity of terrestrial life and landscapes. The curriculum introduces methods of sampling a site in terms of its macroinvertebrates, flora, vegetation, rocks, soils, and landforms. Collections of invertebrates and plants are required. Field skill instruction includes context description, emphasizing vegetation structure correlated with soils, geology, and landforms. The three field modules are terrestrial invertebrates, plant communities, and geology-landforms-soils description. These field trips run Thursday evening through Sunday, and are required for all students.

ENSC 50246 - Biodiversity

Prerequisites: Two semesters of college-level biology courses. This course introduces skills to describe and study the diversity of life. It is浸沉式, field-intensive instruction. General concepts include patterns of global biodiversity, biogeography of the Southern Plains, conservation biology, pressures on biodiversity, and national/international biodiversity protection efforts and policies. Field skill instruction starts with context description, emphasizing vegetation structure, followed by plant community description. Subsequent modules focus on inventing animal communities, starting with insects and continuing with freshwater invertebrates, fish, amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals. The field skill component of the course concludes with a week-long exercise in habitats outside of north-central Texas. Biodiversity information management is learned by developing a relational database coupled with a local Geographic Information System.

ENSC 50503 - Wetlands Delineation and Management

Prerequisites: major field of study within the College of Science & Engineering, graduate enrollment, or permission of instructor. To develop a working understanding of the wetland delineation process using the 1987 U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Wetland Delineation Manual and regional supplements. Students will be taught how to measure the three parameters required for a jurisdictional wetlands. In addition, students will learn a basic understanding of wetland ecology. At the end of the course students will be able to use the manual to assist in delineating wetlands.

ENSC 50513 - Wetlands Restoration

Prerequisite: major field of study within the College of Science and Engineering, graduate enrollment or permission of instructor. To develop a working understanding of stream and wetland riparian ecology, methods to evaluate and categorize streams and wetlands, and methods to restore, enhance and create streams and wetlands. Students will be taught the various methods of stream/wetland evaluations and categorization and will apply these methods on an actual stream and wetland. Students will evaluate and develop a working plan for stream and wetland restoration. In addition, students will visit various restoration projects in the region.

ENSC 50523 - Introduction to Geographic Information Systems

Basic introduction to GIS by use of ESRI-ArcGIS. Elements of spatial data, mapping, data representation, and geodatabases. Training in use of a GIS system to infer relationships among spatial features. Cross-listed as ENSC/GEOL 50523.

ENSC 50703 - Environmental Compliance

This course is designed to teach the basics of environmental compliance for students seeking a career in either environmental consulting or environmental compliance for industry. At the completion of the course, students will understand the basics of environmental regulatory framework, how environmental regulations interrelate, federal versus state or local regulatory agency authority, basic permitting processes, and the fundamentals of compliance auditing. Students will have the opportunity to apply the knowledge they gain to re-life situations throughout the class.

ENSC 50713 - Phase I and Phase II Environmental Site Assessment

Prerequisites: Must be a Science and Engineering major, grad student, or have permission of the instructor. This course is designed to teach the basics of Phase I and Phase II Environmental Site Assessments for students seeking a career in environmental consulting. At the completion of the course, students will understand the basics of performing environmental site assessments, the environmental regulatory framework, and the fundamentals of site investigation. Students will have the opportunity to apply the knowledge they gain to real-life situations throughout the class.

ENSC 50723 - Water and Wastewater Technology

Prerequisites: Major field of study within the College of Science & Engineering, graduate enrollment or permission of the instructor. This course is designed to teach the basics of water and wastewater treatment technology, including regulations, for students seeking a career in environmental consulting. At the completion of the course, students will understand the basics of water and wastewater treatment, the regulations affecting water and wastewater treatment and pretreatment programs. Students will have the opportunity to apply the knowledge they gain to real-life situations throughout the class.

ENSC 50733 - Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response

Prerequisites: Must be a Science and Engineering major, grad student, or have permission of the instructor. This course is designed to teach the basics of worker protection for those who will work with hazardous substances during clean up operations and emergency response. The course is designed to meet the requirements of OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Administration) regulations under 29 CFR 1910.120. At the completion of the course, students will understand the basics of hazardous materials/substances, routes of exposure, personal protective equipment, and permissible exposure limits. Students who complete the entire 40 hours of instruction will receive an occupational certification for the 40-hour initial course in accordance with 29 CFR 1910.120.

ENSC 50743 - Environmental Impact Statements

Prerequisites: Must be a Science and Engineering major, grad student, or have permission of the instructor. This course is designed to teach the basics of Environmental Impact Statements and the NEPA process for students seeking a career in environmental consulting. At the completion of the course, students will understand the basics of evaluating federally-funded development projects for impacts to the environment. Students will be able to evaluate if the project qualifies for a categorical exclusion, and perform environmental assessment (EA) and environmental impact state (IES). Students will have the opportunity to apply the knowledge they gain to real-life situations throughout the class.

ENSC 50753 - Environmental Management Systems

Prerequisites: ENSC 50703 or permission of instructor. This course is designed to provide an overview of environmental management systems (EMS) and how EMS can support environmental improvements at facilities that are subject to environmental regulations. At the completion of the course, students will have an understanding of how an EMS allows an organization to systematically manage its environmental and health safety matters. Students will also understand the state and federal requirements for an EMS and how an EMS compares with ISO14001 certification.

ENSC 50763 - Groundwater Hydrology

Prerequisites: major field of study within the College of Science & Engineering, or permission of instructor. This course is designed to teach the basics of groundwater hydrogeology including hydrologic cycle, aquifers, groundwater flow, groundwater recharge, water chemistry and groundwater contamination. At the end of this course, students will be able to understand the relationship between surface water and groundwater, groundwater protection, field methods, and groundwater development.

ENSC 50773 - Introduction to Environmental Law

Three hours lecture per week. Introduction to and analysis of selected federal statutes regulating environmental degradation and environmental clean-up, including the National Environmental Policy Act and regulation of air quality, water quality, wastes, hazardous and toxic substances and enforcement. (Crosslisted as BIOL/ENSC/GEOL 50773.)
GEOL 10113 - Understanding the Earth
Three hours lecture and two hours of laboratory per week. A study of the physical environment of the planet Earth, its makeup, the processes that mold its surface features and an introduction to the resources that it provides.
GEOL 30203 - Catastrophes, Controversies, Genesis and Geology
Three hours lecture per week. The workings of science and scientists considered by examining the emergence of geology as a science in the late 18th and early 19th centuries and its development through the Victorian Age, including the rise and demise of scriptural geology and the impact of geologic thought on social mores and religious beliefs.

GEOL 30213 - Mineralogy
Prerequisite GEOL 10113 or permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. A composite course consisting of an introduction to crystallography and a study of the common minerals.

GEOL 30223 - Petrology
Prerequisite: GEOL 30213. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. A basic course in the origin and identification of igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic rocks. Field trip required.

GEOL 30233 - Rock Cycle
Prerequisite: GEOL 10113 or permission of the instructor. Field seminar on the megascopic aspects of igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic rocks. Description and interpretation of features seen at scales between that of the individual outcrop and that of an entire basin.

GEOL 30243 - Sedimentology
Prerequisite: GEOL 30223 or permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. Principles and techniques of facies analysis, including the description and origin of sedimentary textures and sedimentary structures, and the collection and analysis of paleocurrent data. Field trips required.

GEOL 30253 - Scotland and the Scots
Prerequisites: Junior standing or permission of instructor. This course is a three-week immersion in the land and people of Scotland. It will acquaint you with the landscape and the culture of this small country and the enormous contributions of its peoples to Western civilization and American society. After taking this course you will be able to understand and evaluate the contributions of Scottish culture to Western Europe and the world.

GEOL 30423 - Structural Geology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. An introductory study of the deformation of the Earth’s crust. Field trips required.

GEOL 30573 - Stratigraphy
Prerequisite: Geol 10123 and/or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture. An introduction to the practical and theoretical aspects of stratigraphy and depositional systems. This course uses practical examples and field- and literature-based projects to familiarize students with the basic theoretical stratigraphic framework in which geology exists. An off-road field trip will be required.

GEOL 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

GEOL 33990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student’s official transcript have been included in the student’s grade point average.

GEOL 40013 - Honors Research
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. The student is required to do independent research on a geologic problem, submit a paper and give an oral presentation of the findings. A faculty supervisor will be appointed for each research problem.

GEOL 40313 - Invertebrate Paleontology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. Major groups of invertebrate fossils, their morphology, classification, paleoecology, geologic distribution and phylogeny. Field trips required.

GEOL 40331 - Basic Seismics
Prerequisites: GEOL 30143, 30223, 30423. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. An introduction to techniques of gathering, processing and interpreting seismic data.

GEOL 40351 - Seismic Stratigraphy
Prerequisites: GEOL 40331 or equivalent. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. An introduction to the principles of seismic stratigraphy and their application in oil and gas exploration.

GEOL 40361 - Basic Well Log Interpretation
Prerequisite: GEOL 30243. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. An introduction to the use of borehole geophysical logs in formation evaluation, correlation and subsurface facies analysis.

GEOL 40933 - Soils in the Environment
Prerequisite: one year of chemistry, GEOL 10143, or permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. This course covers the formation, distribution, and classification of soils: major soil properties; field evaluation of soils; the use of soil survey information; and soil hydrology. The emphasis is on the study of soils as products of biophysical processes, and on soil properties of interest to geoscientists and natural resource managers.

GEOL 40413 - Map Interpretation
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. The construction and interpretation of geological maps.

GEOL 40423 - Petroleum Engineering
Prerequisite: GEOL 50423. Petroleum engineering concepts and technology that are needed to find and produce oil and gas are discussed. This course focuses on drilling and production operations for non-engineers. Industry professionals will visit to discuss current technologies for producing hydrocarbon fluids.

GEOL 40493 - Geomorphology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one two hour laboratory per week. Endogenic and exogenic processes and land forms; geologic control; short-term, long term and human-imposed landscape development; morphometric analysis and study of recent movements; environmental geomorphology.

GEOL 40516 - Summer Field Course in Geology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Field investigations and mapping. Those planning to enroll should contact the Department of Geology by March 1 of the year in which enrollment is contemplated. Field work in rough and robust terrain required; a high degree of physical fitness recommended.

GEOL 40893 - Senior Thesis
Prerequisites: junior or senior status, a grade point of at least 3.00, and/or permission of instructor. Three hours independent study with a focus on original research. The student is required to produce a bound thesis in a form suitable for publication in a scientific journal. Students are strongly recommended to enroll for this course in the penultimate semester of their degree plan with the expectation that the work may take more than a semester to complete.

GEOL 40970 - Special Problems
Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Field and laboratory problems for advanced undergraduate students. Fifty clock hours of laboratory and field work for each semester hour credit. 1-6 semester hours.

GEOL 50233 - Optical Mineralogy and Petrography
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. Analysis of the behavior of light in crystalline substances, complete treatment of crystal optics and the identification of non-opaque, rock-forming minerals. Endogenic and exogenic processes and land forms; geologic control; short-term, long term and human-imposed landscape development; morphometric analysis and study of recent movements; environmental geomorphology.

GEOL 50251 - Scanning Electron Microscopy
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Use of the S.E.M. in geological applications.
GEOL 50341 - Interpreting Seismic Data
Prerequisite: GEOL 30243. Three hours laboratory per week for five weeks. A practicum in interpreting seismic data. Prerequisites: GEOL 50331 or equivalent.

GEOL 50413 - Global Tectonics and Basin Analysis
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. Explores the relationship between plate motion and the evolution of sedimentary basins.

GEOL 50423 - Petroleum Geology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Origin, migration and entrapment of hydrocarbons, exploration and production techniques used in the petroleum industry.

GEOL 50493 - Physical Hydrology
Prerequisite: Geol 10113 and permission of instructor. Two hours lecture and two hours of laboratory per week. A study of the occurrence, movement, and exploitation of water in the hydrologic cycle including surface-atmosphere, groundwater, and surface water processes.

GEOL 50523 - Introduction to Geographic Information Systems
Basic introduction to GIS by use of ESRI-ArcGIS. Elements of spatial data, mapping, data representation, and geodatabases. Training in use of a GIS system to infer relationships among spatial features. Cross-listed as ENSC/GEOL 50523.

GEOL 50543 - Sedimentary Environments and Facies
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. Facies analysis and facies models applied to the problem of interpreting stratigraphic sequences and reconstructing paleogeography.

GEOL 50553 - Integrating and Interpreting Subsurface Geological Data
Prerequisites: GEOL 50331 and 50361, or permission of instructor. A workstation-based practicum on managing and integrating geologic data. Students will become familiar with one or more widely-used software packages for handling multiple data sets used in oil and gas exploration and field development.

GEOL 50563 - From Prospect to Production
Prerequisite: Advanced standing in geology or permission of instructor. A broad overview of the geologic, engineering and business sides of the oil and gas industry. The course will acquaint students with all the steps in the production of oil and gas from developing a prospect to delivering a product: how geologists decide where to drill, how mineral rights are acquired, how contracts are structured, and how financing is obtained for oil and gas deals. Includes the study of drilling and completion operations and the technology required to produce oil and gas. Students will also be acquainted with the legal, regulatory and environmental issues encountered in drilling for oil and gas.

GEOL 50593 - Hydrologic Modeling
Prerequisites: GEOL 50493, or permission of instructor. Elements of surface and ground water modeling with applications. Topics covered include: modeling procedures, selection of appropriate model, and presentation of results. Class consists of 2 hours lecture, and 2 hours hands-on computer modeling laboratory.

GEOL 50603 - Introduction to Geochemistry
Prerequisite: CHEM 10114-10124 or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. Application of basic chemical principles to understanding the origin, distribution and migration of chemical elements in the earth’s lithosphere, hydrosphere, atmosphere and biosphere.

GEOL 50613 - Igneous and Metamorphic Petrology
Prerequisite: GEOL 50233, or permission of instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. Petrogenesis of igneous and metamorphic rocks based on field, petrographic, chemical and isotopic data. Inferences on the evolution and dynamics of the crust and mantle. Involves use of microscope.

GEOL 50623 - Volcanology
Prerequisite: GEOL 50233, or permission of instructor. Two hours lecture and one three hour laboratory period per week. Types and processes of volcanic eruptions; characteristics of modern volcanic products; recognition and significance of ancient volcanic deposits in the stratigraphic record. Involves use of microscope. Field trip required.

GEOL 50713 - Environmental Geology
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Two hours per week of lecture, and three hours per week of laboratory work. Geologic processes, earth resources and engineering properties of crustal materials in the activities of society.

GEOL 50731 - Remote Sensing Technology
Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. An introduction to the technology used in remote sensing, including MSS, TM and SPOT, thermal scanners and radar imaging.

GEOL 50741 - Image Processing
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. An introduction to processing techniques used to enhance the display of remote sensing images with emphasis on those techniques useful in resource mapping.

GEOL 50751 - Image Interpretation
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. Geologic and resource mapping and environmental monitoring using satellite images.

GEOL 50773 - Introduction to Environmental Law
Three hours lecture per week. Introduction to and analysis of selected federal statutes regulating environmental degradation and environmental clean-up, including the National Environmental Policy Act and regulation of air quality, water quality, wastes, hazardous and toxic substances and enforcement. (Crosslisted as BIOL/ENSC/GEOL 50773.)

GEOL 50813 - Meteorites, Asteroids, and Planets
Prerequisites: GEOL 30213 or PHYS 30493, or permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week. An interdisciplinary course exploring the history and formation of the Solar System from the Big Bang through the formation and evolution of the planets. (Crosslisted as GEOL/PHYS 50813.)

GEOL 50863 - Spatial Analysis
Prerequisites: GEOL 50723, MATH 10043 or equivalent. Application of spatial methods to interpolate surfaces from point measurement, obtaining new spatial attributes on continuous fields, and the ability to defend hypothesis based on spatial information. This course provides analytical capabilities beyond GEOL 50723.

GEOL 50901 - Computer Applications in Geology
Prerequisites: COSC 10403 or equivalent and permission of the instructor. Three hours lecture per week for five weeks. The use of microcomputers in Geology.

GEOL 50912 - Statistical Applications for Microcomputers
Prerequisite: GEOL 50901. Three hours lecture per week for ten weeks. Statistical treatment of directional data and the use of multivariate and special regression techniques, analysis of variance, discriminate function analysis and factor analysis in solving geologic problems.

GEOL 50922 - Mapping Applications for Microcomputers
Prerequisite: GEOL 50901. Three hours lecture per week for ten weeks. Selecting and using mapping and drafting software.

Health Care Ethics
Health care ethics is available as a minor. It requires 18 semester hours, with courses to be taken from at least three different academic units, as follows:

Health Care Ethics Minor

Required Courses (9 hours)
PHIL 10003 Philosophy One
NURS 30053 Critical Inquiry into Health Care Delivery
SOCI 20223 Social Problems

Effective Courses (9 hours)
HIST 40803 History of Medicine and Public Health
NURS 40113 Ethical Dilemmas in Health Care
PHIL 30313  Moral Problems
PHIL 30363  Ethic and Health Care
PHIL 40393  Ethical Theory
RELI 30083  Religion and Environmental Ethics
RELI 30723  Religion and Science
SOCI 30223  Contemporary Topics in Sociology
SOCI 30483  Death and Dying
SOCI 30643  Sociology of Aging
SOCI 40523  Health, Illness and Medicine
SOWO 40520  Contemporary Topics in Social Work

Mathematics

Math is available as a major and a minor on both the BA and BS degrees.
Factors that determine a student’s placement include:
• High school credits presented;
• Scores achieved in the SAT, ACT or other appropriate examination;
• Performance in advanced placement examinations. Advanced placement, with credit, is available for MATH 10054, 10524 and 20524.

Students majoring in business ordinarily select from a MATH • 10273 - Applied Precalculus
MATH 10524, 20123, 20524, 30224 and 30524. An additional nine semester hours from among mathematics courses at or above the 30000 level are required. Also required are COSC 10403 or 10503. In either the first or second semester the recommended sequence for the first four semesters is MATH 10524, 20123 and courses at or above the 30000 level; COSO 10403 or 10503 is also required.

All actuarial students need to work closely with an adviser to plan course schedules and understand the requirements of the Society of Actuaries.

Mathematics Minor

The mathematics minor requires 18 semester hours of mathematics with a grade of "C" or better, including MATH 10524, 20524 and 30524, and an additional six semester hour sequence chosen from either MATH 30603 and 30623, or MATH 30803 and 40603. ECON 10223 and 10233 are also required.

Students planning to do graduate work in mathematics should work closely with an adviser in the College of Education.

Honors Program

Mathematics majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program. A minimum 3.5 GPA in the major is required. Coursework must include at least three of MATH 40353, 40663, 50253, 50323, 50403, 50503, 50613, 50623 and 50703, or substitutes approved by the department. Students should enroll in MATH 30000 during their junior year and MATH 40000 during the fall semester of their senior year. Departmental Honors further require satisfactory presentation of thesis results to faculty.

Pass/No-Credit Option

See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor’s Degree section of the University requirements.

Mathematics Major Requirements

For a student taking a major in mathematics (BA or BS), the recommended sequence for the first four semesters is MATH 10524, 20524, 30224 and 30524. In either the first or second semester the student should also complete COSC 10403 or 10503. In addition, MATH 20123 should be taken in one of the first four semesters.

Students planning to do graduate work in mathematics should work closely with an adviser to plan their upper-division electives. Credit is not allowed for both MATH 10283 and 10524.

BA with a Major in Mathematics

The BA with a major in mathematics requires 28 semester hours of mathematics with a grade of “C” or better, of which 19 must consist of MATH 10524, 20123, 20524, 30224 and 30524. In either the first or second semester the student should also complete COSC 10403 or 10503. In addition, MATH 20123 should be taken in one of the first four semesters.

Students planning to do graduate work in mathematics should work closely with an adviser to plan their upper-division electives. Credit is not allowed for both MATH 10283 and 10524.

BS with a Major in Mathematics

The BS with a major in mathematics requires 40 semester hours of mathematics with a grade of “C” or better, of which 28 must consist of MATH 10524, 20123, 20524, 30224, 30524, 30803, 50253 and 50503. An additional 12 semester hours from among mathematics courses at or above the 30000 level are required. Also required are COSC 10503 or 10403 and PHYS 20474 and 20484.

A minimum of 124 semester hours is required for the degree.

Mathematics Actuarial Concentration

This program may be pursued under either the BA or BS option as described above. Mathematics coursework for the actuarial concentration must include MATH 30603, 30803, 30853 and 40603. Additional required courses outside the Department of Mathematics are ECON 10223, 10233, 30223 and 30233, as well as ACCT 20153, 20163 and FINA 30153. Students seeking the BA degree are advised to consider a minor in economics. All actuarial students need to work closely with an adviser to plan course schedules.

Actuarial Mathematics Minor

The actuarial mathematics minor requires 18 semester hours of mathematics with a grade of “C” or better, including MATH 10524, 20524 and 30524, and an additional six semester hour sequence chosen from either MATH 30603 and 30623, or MATH 30803 and 40603. ECON 10223 and 10233 are also required.

All actuarial students need to work closely with an adviser to plan course schedules and understand the requirements of the Society of Actuaries.

Mathematics Courses

MATH 10023 - Fundamentals of Algebra

Operations with polynomials. Fractions and exponents. Linear and quadratic equations, with applications. Arithmetic, geometric, and binomial series. Note: This course does not satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement.

MATH 10033 - Topics in Mathematics

Prerequisite: MATH 10023 or two years of high school algebra and one year of geometry. A selection of topics of general interest and some degree of applicability, such as apportionment, voting methods, graph theory, tilings and polyhedra, mathematics of finance, probability, and statistics.

MATH 10043 - Elementary Statistics

Prerequisite: MATH 10023 or two years of high school algebra. Empirical frequency distributions, binomial and normal distributions. Regression and correlation. Statistical inference. Students may not receive credit for both MATH 10043 and INSC 20153.

MATH 10054 - Precalculus with Trigonometry

Prerequisites: MATH 10023 or 2 years of high school algebra and one year of geometry. Precalculus treatment of polynomial, rational, exponential, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions with particular emphasis on topics needed for MATH 10524. Note: Credit will not be given for both MATH 10273 and MATH 10054. Note: This course does not satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement or the UCR in mathematics.

MATH 10273 - Applied Precalculus

Prerequisites: MATH 10023 or two years of high school algebra. Precalculus treatment of polynomial, rational, exponential and logarithmic functions. Additional special applications from the mathematics of finance and probability. NOTE: Credit will not be given for both MATH 10054 and MATH 10273. This course does not satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement or the UCR in mathematics.
MATH 10283 - Applied Calculus
Prerequisite: MATH 10273 with a grade of C or better, or MATH 10054 with a grade of C or better, or high school precalculus and a score of 600 or higher on the SAT Math exam. The elements of calculus, with applications to business and economics. Note: credit will not be given for both MATH 10283 and MATH 10524.

MATH 10524 - Calculus I
Prerequisite: MATH 10054 with a grade of C or better, or AP Calculus AB or BC score of 3 or better, or SAT Subject Test (SAT II), Mathematics Level 1 (1C) with a score of 560 or better, or SAT Subject Test (SAT II), Mathematics Level 2 (IIC) with a score of 520 or better, or a passing grade on the Calculus Placement Test. Differential and integral calculus of elementary functions, including exponential, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions. Applications. Note: credit will not be given for both MATH 10283 and MATH 10524.

MATH 20043 - Mathematics for Elementary Teachers
Prerequisites: Completion of the Core curriculum Mathematical Reasoning requirement. A mathematics content course for EC-6 Education Majors. The basic foundations of mathematics will be stressed in the development of problem-solving skills and an understanding of the operations and properties of the real number system and basic topics in geometry. Note: this course may not be counted toward a major or minor in Mathematics, nor does it satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement.

MATH 20053 - Mathematics for Middle School Teachers I
Prerequisites: completion of the Core Curriculum Mathematical Reasoning requirement. A mathematics content course for Middle School Mathematics Education Majors. Topics will be selected from: an introduction to mathematical reasoning, sets, relations and functions, development of the real number system, systems of enumeration, change of base, elementary number theory. Note: May not be counted toward a major or minor in Mathematics. This course does not satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement or the UCR in mathematics.

MATH 20063 - Mathematics for Middle School Teachers II
Prerequisite: Completion of the Core Curriculum Mathematical Reasoning requirement. A mathematics content course for Middle School Mathematics Majors. Topics will be selected from: an introduction to the geometry of polygons, circles, polyhedra and spheres, transformations, similarity, constructions, measurement, coordinate geometry, networks, logic. Note: may not be counted toward a major or minor in Mathematics. This course does not satisfy the core mathematical reasoning requirement or the UCR in mathematics.

MATH 20123 - Discrete Mathematics I
Prerequisite: MATH 10054 or two years of high school algebra. An introduction to discrete methods used in mathematics and computer science. Topics covered include formal logic, sets, functions, proof techniques including mathematical induction, number theory, algorithms, and combinatorics.

MATH 20524 - Calculus II
Prerequisite: MATH 10524. Techniques of integration and applications. Infinite series. Differential equations as time permits.

MATH 20970 - Special Topics
1 - 3 semester hours.

MATH 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

MATH 30000 - Honors Seminar
Prerequisite: MATH 30224 or permission of the instructor. 1 - 3 semester hours.

MATH 30123 - Discrete Mathematics II
Prerequisite: MATH 20123. Continuation of MATH 20123. Topics covered include recurrence relations, the principle of inclusion-exclusion, binary relations, graphs and trees and Boolean algebra.

MATH 30133 - Symbolic Logic I
An introduction to the scope and limits of modern logic. The nature of logical systems and the various areas of logic are discussed. Alternative proof-procedures in propositional logic and predicate logic are presented. (Crosslisted as MATH/PHIL 30133.)

MATH 30143 - Symbolic Logic II
Prerequisite: PHIL 30133. A continuation of 30133, with an emphasis on predicate logic, nonstandard logic, and metalogic. (Crosslisted as MATH/PHIL 30143.)

MATH 30224 - Linear Algebra
Prerequisite: MATH 10524 and either MATH 20123 or MATH 20524. Vector spaces, linear independence, bases, and dimension. Linear mappings, matrices, and determinants. Eigenvalues and eigenvectors, diagonalization.

MATH 30524 - Calculus III
Prerequisite: MATH 20524. Vector calculus and multiple integration. Optimization and Lagrange multipliers. Vector fields and potential functions. Gradient, curl, and divergence. Line and surface integrals. The theorems of Green, Stokes, and Gauss, as time permits.

MATH 30603 - Interest Theory
Prerequisite: MATH 20524. A rigorous development of the theory of interest in both discrete and continuous time. Present value, yield rates, compound interest, amortization, and cash flows. Selected financial applications to bonds and securities.

MATH 30613 - Differential Equations

MATH 30623 - Interest Theory II
Prerequisites: MATH 30603. Treatment of bonds and yield rates, stocks and financial markets, arbitrage, the term structure of interest rates, options and swaps, and topics in interest rate sensitivity including duration, convexity and immunization.

MATH 30803 - Probability and Statistics I
Prerequisite: MATH 10524. Probability theory. Permutations, combinations, elementary probability, and the binomial theorem. Frequency distributions, mean and standard deviation.

MATH 30853 - Statistics
Prerequisites: MATH 20524 or 30803. Organization and analysis of data. Descriptive statistics. Confidence intervals and hypothesis testing. As time permits, topics in regression, analysis of variance, nonparametric statistics, sampling methods.

MATH 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

MATH 40000 - Undergraduate Research
Prerequisite: twelve semester hours of mathematics. (1-3 semester hours).

MATH 40353 - Topology

MATH 40403 - Higher Geometry
Prerequisites: MATH 20524 with a grade of 'C' or better. Classical geometric constructions. The basic concepts of Euclidean Geometry and analytic geometry. An introduction to non-Euclidean geometry as time permits. Geometry software applications for each of these topics.
Neuroscience Major Requirements

The BS with a major in neuroscience consists of the following requirements:

Biology (20 hours)
- A. Required Courses (8 hours):
  - BIOL 10504 Introductory Biology I
  - BIOL 10514 Introductory Biology II
- B. Minimum of 12 hours selected from:
  - BIOL 30303 Microbiology
  - BIOL 30404 Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
  - BIOL 30603 Cellular, Molecular and Developmental Biology
  - BIOL 40123 Genetics
  - BIOL 40203 Histology
  - BIOL 40403 Mammalian Physiology

Chemistry (23 hours)
- A. Required Courses (18 hours):
  - CHEM 10113-10112 General Chemistry or CHEM 10123-20123 Chemistry
  - CHEM 30122 Organic Chemistry Laboratory
  - CHEM 30123-30133 Organic Chemistry
  - CHEM 30132 Organic Qualitative Analysis
- B. Minimum of 6 hours selected from:
  - CHEM 50133 Biochemistry
  - CHEM 50143 Biochemistry
  - CHEM 50502 Biochemistry Laboratory
  - CHEM 50993 Neurochemistry

Psychology (23 hours)
- A. Required Courses (8 hours):
  - PSYC 10514 Principles of Behavior I
  - PSYC 10524 Principles of Behavior II
- B. Minimum of 6 hours selected from:
  - PSYC 30363 Abnormal Psychology
  - PSYC 30414 Experimental Psychology: Learning
  - PSYC 30423 Experimental Psychology: Perception
  - PSYC 30433 Experimental Psychology: Motivation
  - PSYC 30503 Behavioral Research
- C. Minimum of 9 hours selected from:
  - PSYC 30463 Introductory Neuroscience
  - PSYC 30483 Neuropsychology
  - PSYC 50463 Fundamentals of Neuroscience
  - PSYC 50472 Laboratory in Physiological Psychology and Neuroscience
  - PSYC 50482 Laboratory in Physiological Psychology and Neuroscience
  - PSYC 50513 Psychopharmacology

Physics (8 hours)
- PHYS 10154 General Physics I
- PHYS 10164 General Physics II

Mathematics and Computer Science (Minimum of 6 hours)
- MATH 10043 Elementary Statistics
- MATH 10524 Calculus I
- COSC 10403 Introduction to Programming

Pass/No-Credit Option

See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor’s Degree section of the University requirements.

Nutritional Sciences

Nutritional sciences is available as a major on the BS degree and a minor on both the BS and BA degrees. The four degree options are:
- Coordinated Program in Dietetics (American Dietetic Association)
- Didactic Program in Dietetics (American Dietetic Association)
- Nutrition
- Food Management

All BS degrees in nutritional sciences follow the TCU Core Curriculum requirements for the College of Science & Engineering.
Honors Program
Nutritional sciences majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be members of the University Honors Program and should enroll in NTDT 30003 during their junior year and NTDT 40003 during the fall semester of their senior year.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor’s Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor’s Degree section of the University requirements.

Nutritional Sciences Major Requirements

Coordinated Program in Dietetics (Option I)
A Coordinated Program in Dietetics is an academic program in a U.S. regionally accredited college or university that culminates in a minimum of a baccalaureate degree. The Coordinated Program in Dietetics (CPD) at TCU offers students the opportunity to acquire both the required didactic instruction (lecture and laboratory courses) and 1,200 clock hours of supervised practice necessary to meet the Knowledge Requirements and Competencies for Entry-Level Dietitians as mandated in the Eligibility Requirements and Accreditation Standards of the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association. Graduates receive verification/establish eligibility to write the registration examination for dietitians and/or apply for active membership in The American Dietetic Association.

The mission of the Coordinated Program in Dietetics at TCU is to educate competent entry-level dietitians within the liberal arts environment. In addition, the CPD provides students with Foundation Knowledge and Skills and Competencies for Entry-Level Dietitians as mandated in the Eligibility Requirements and Accreditation Standards of the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association. Graduates receive verification/establish eligibility to write the registration examination for dietitians and/or apply for active membership in The American Dietetic Association.

The mission of the Coordinated Program in Dietetics at TCU is to educate competent entry-level dietitians within the liberal arts environment. In addition, the CPD provides students with Foundation Knowledge and Skills and Competencies for Entry-Level Dietitians as mandated in the Eligibility Requirements and Accreditation Standards of the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association. Graduates receive verification/establish eligibility to write the registration examination for dietitians and/or apply for active membership in The American Dietetic Association.

A student's continuation in the Coordinated Program in Dietetics is contingent upon attainment of a strong academic record and successful completion of the program sequence. Upon graduation, the student must attain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5 in the associated requirements, and earn a grade of "C" or better in all NTDT courses and all associated requirements. Students who successfully complete the Coordinated Program in Dietetics will receive verification and are eligible to take the Registration Examination for Dietitians.

Costs for tuition and University fees are available through the Office of Admission or Financial Services. More detailed costs for students are outlined in the CPD Student Handbook and include approximately $1,000-$1,500 per year for travel to supervised practice sites, lab fees, photocopying, school and office supplies, textbooks, lab coats, malpractice insurance and professional dues.

The TCU Coordinated Program in Dietetics is currently granted accreditation by the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association, 120 South Riverside Plaza, Chicago, Illinois 60606, telephone: 312.899.0040, ext. 5400.

Major Requirements: NTDT 10003, 10103, 20403, 21163, 30123, 30144, 30303, 30306, 30313, 30317, 30331, 30333, 40333, 40337, 40343, 40353, 40363, 40364, 40403, 40411, 40421, and 40431.

Total NTDT Credit Hours: 74. Associated Requirements: CHEM 10113, 10125, 30123, and 40503; BIOL 20214 and 20233; MATH 10043; ECON 10213; PSOC 10213, MANA 30153. No minor is required. All upper-level (30000 and 40000) NTDT courses must be taken at TCU.

A minimum of 128 semester hours is required for the baccalaureate (BS) degree.

Didactic Program in Dietetics (Option II)
A Didactic Program in Dietetics is an academic program in a U.S. regionally accredited college or university that culminates in a minimum of a baccalaureate degree. The Didactic Program in Dietetics (DPD) at TCU offers the required didactic instruction (lecture and laboratory classes) to meet the Knowledge Requirements for Entry-Level Dietitians as mandated in the Eligibility Requirements and Accreditation Standards of the Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education (CADE) of The American Dietetic Association. The curriculum includes courses with a focus on basic human nutrition, food science, food and culture, community nutrition, food systems management, medical nutrition therapy and nutrition research. These courses are based on a solid science and math background, which include general chemistry, organic chemistry, biochemistry, microbiology, physiology, psychology and elementary statistics. The DPD prepares students for careers in a variety of nutrition/dietetics settings, including clinical, community, education, food systems or business/entrepreneurial.

The mission of the Didactic Program in Dietetics at TCU is to educate students within a liberal arts environment and to provide Foundation Knowledge and Skills for the didactic component of entry-level dietetic programs. The DPD combines coursework emphasizing the foundations of didactic knowledge (communications, physical and biological sciences, social sciences, research, food, nutrition, management and health care systems) and supervised practice experiences. The supervised practice experience involves working with dietetic professionals to demonstrate performance in medical nutrition therapy, community nutrition, food service systems management and business/entrepreneurial dietetics.

A student's continuation in the Didactic Program in Dietetics is contingent upon attainment of a strong academic record and successful completion of the program sequence. Upon graduation, the student must attain a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 (based on a 4.0 scale), attain a minimum GPA of 2.5 in the associated requirements, and earn a grade of "C" or better in all NTDT courses and all associated requirements. Students who successfully complete the Didactic Program in Dietetics will receive verification and are eligible to apply for a postgraduate Dietetic Internship.

Costs for tuition and University fees are available through the Office of Admission or Financial Services. More detailed costs for students are outlined in the DPD Student Handbook and include approximately $1,000 per year for items such as textbooks, lab fees, photocopying, school and office supplies, lab coat, and professional dues.

Major Requirements: NTDT 10003, 10103, 20403, 21163, 30101, 30123, 30133, 30144, 30303, 30313, 30331, 30333, 40333, 40337, 40343, 40353, 40363, 40403, 40411, 40421, and 40431. Total NTDT Credit Hours: 51. Associated Requirements: CHEM 10113, 10125, 30123, and 40503; BIOL 20214 and 20233; MATH 10043; ECON 10223; SOCI 10213, PSOC 10213, MANA 30153. No minor is required. All upper level (30000 and 40000) NTDT courses must be taken at TCU.

A minimum of 126 semester hours is required for the baccalaureate (BS) degree.

Nutrition with emphasis on Pre-Professional Health Careers and Post-Graduate Education (Option III)
With a focus on the scientific basis of human nutrition, the nutrition major provides students with knowledge and skills to work in a myriad of food and nutrition settings focused on attaining and maintaining the health and well being of individuals across the lifespan. In addition to preparing graduates for careers in clinical, management, community or business/entrepreneurial nutrition settings, the nutrition major prepares students for graduate education programs and for careers in research and development, medical/nutritional sales, medicine, dentistry, optometry, pharmacy, physical therapy and other allied health professions. Students who major in nutrition take courses that include nutrition, food science, food and culture, community nutrition, food systems management, medical nutrition therapy and nutrition research. These courses are based on a solid science and math background, which include general chemistry, organic chemistry, biochemistry, microbiology, physiology, psychology and elementary statistics.

Students are encouraged to consult with their advisers on the specific course requirements for entering post-graduate work in the allied health field. The nutrition major does not meet DPD requirements to earn verification to apply for dietetic internships. Additional coursework is necessary to fulfill DPD requirements.

Major Requirements: NTDT 10003, 10103, 20403, 21163, 30123, 30133, 30144, 30303, 30313, 30333, 40333, 40343, 40353, 40363, 40403, 40411, 40421, and 40431. Total NTDT credit hours: 50.

Associated Requirements: CHEM 10113, 10125, and 40503; BIOL 20214 and 20233; MATH 10043; ECON 10223; SOCI 20213; PSYC 10213, MANA 30153. No minor is required. All upper-level (30000 and 40000) NTDT courses must be taken at TCU.

A minimum of 125 semester hours is required for the baccalaureate (BS) degree.

Food Management (Option IV)

The food management major is designed for students who elect to emphasize practical experience in the food industry and/or the management of food service systems. During the junior and senior years, students complete four semesters (16 credit hours) of required supervised practice that provides hands-on training in various food service applications, such as restaurant operations, catering, industrial food systems, research and development, or sales/marketing. Students have the option to complete an additional six credit hours of supervised practical experience in a culminating internship/special problems course during the senior year. A minor is required of all food management majors; the business minor is recommended. A minimum 2.7 GPA is required to graduate with a major in food management.

Major Requirements: NTDT 10003, 10103, 20403, 21163, 30103, 30123, 30133, 30144, 30303, 30313, 30333, 40353, 40403, 40411, 40421, 40431, 40970 (16-22 hrs). Total NTDT credit hours: 56-62. Other Required Courses: BIOL 20233, MATH 10043, ACCT 20153, FINA 30153, MANA 30153, MARK 30153.

Minor Requirements: General business; public relations/advertising; film, television, and digital media or other approved minor. A minimum of 125 semester hours is required for the baccalaureate (BS) degree.

Nutrition Minor

To earn a minor in nutrition, students must complete 19 semester hours in nutrition. Required courses include NTDT 10003 or 10103, 20403, 30113 or 30123, 30331 and 30333. The final two courses (six hours) may be selected from NTDT 30133, 40333, 40343, 40403 or 40363. All courses for the minor must be successfully completed with a grade of "C" or better.

Nutritional Sciences Affiliations

Students who demonstrate high scholarship are eligible for membership in the Beta Zeta chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honor society. The department sponsors a chapter of the Texas Student Dietetic Association. All NTDT majors are encouraged to join the American Dietetic Association (ADA), as well as the state and local chapters of the ADA.

Nutritional Sciences Courses

NTDT 10003 - Contemporary Issues in Nutrition

A study of contemporary issues in nutrition and food science that impact the individual and span the global community. Two hours lecture and one two-hour laboratory period per week is designed for non-science majors. Course is offered with eCollege components that support learning by multiple instructional formats including lecture, class discussions, lab interactives, group learning projects and oral presentations, and a community service-learning project. Laboratory interactives will include traditional and computer laboratory exercises.

NTDT 10103 - Food Preparation

Two 1-hour lectures, one 2-hour laboratory per week. Scientific principles and fundamental processes underlying food preparation with practical application.

NTDT 10201 - Nutrition Concepts

Not available to students who have completed NTDT 10403 or 20403. Nutrition information necessary for health promotion.

NTDT 10211 - Nutrition and Weight Control

Relationship of nutrition to weight control.

NTDT 10221 - Sports Nutrition

Basic fundamentals of nutrition applicable to the sports-minded individual.

NTDT 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Nutrition Sciences

Topics may vary each time it is offered.

NTDT 20113 - Issues of Food in Society

An in-depth study of local, national, and international food issues and the way critical analysis and rational thought can be utilized in the study of these issues. The role of ethics in determining values and justifying positions related to food and nutrition is emphasized.

NTDT 20383 - Computer Applications in Foodservice and Nutrition Care Systems

Experience in computer software applications in word processing, spreadsheet analysis, graphic data representation, nutrient analysis, nutritional assessment, and foodservice operational subsystems.

NTDT 20403 - Nutrition

The science of nutrition integrating physiological, biochemical, and psychological aspects of food ingestion and nutrient utilization. Students will not receive credit for both NTDT 20403 and 10201.

NTDT 20433 - Issues and Insights in Foods and Nutrition

An in-depth study of local, national, and international food issues and the way critical analysis and rational thought can be utilized in the study of these issues. The role of ethics in determining values and social values will be utilized to justify positions related to foods and nutrition. Issues and insights regarding the relationship of food/nutrition to health and well-being is emphasized so that students are able to demonstrate an understanding of individual rights/responsibilities and critically assess the intentions and consequences of personal, professional, or societal actions. Problem solving, critical thinking, and various methods of inquiry are emphasized in discussions/assignments related to ethical dilemmas surrounding controversial food/nutrition-related issues. Students may not receive credit for both NTDT 20433 and NTDT 20433.

NTDT 20990 - International Residential Study

This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

NTDT 21163 - Food and Culture

This course addresses the cultural and social meanings of food. It explores the study of world food patterns, including food customs of peoples with different ethnic backgrounds. An emphasis is placed upon the significance of the social, economic, religious, and aesthetic aspects of food customs. Learning activities include lectures, group discussions, film/videos, mapping, cooking demonstrations and food tastings, and individual field experiences.

NTDT 30003 - Honors Seminar

Prerequisite: Advanced standing in Nutrition and Dietetics and recommendation of the chair. Studies, reports and discussions of literature related to significant problems and trends in Nutrition and Dietetics. Selection and design of a research project.

NTDT 30101 - Career and Professional Issues in Nutrition

Prerequisites: Nutrition major. An introduction to career and professional options in Nutrition, American Dietetic Association... organization and structure, dietetic registration, and dietetic internship application process.

NTDT 30103 - Gourmet Foods
Two 1-hour lectures, one 2-hour laboratory per week. Planning, preparation and presentation of nutritious, attractive gourmet food, with practical laboratory experiences.

NTDT 30113 - Infant and Child Nutrition
Emphasizes the significance and role of nutrition during pregnancy, lactation, and childhood. Nutritional needs and assessment of mother, infant and children under normal and special circumstances will be discussed.

NTDT 30123 - Nutrition Throughout the Life Cycle
A study of the relationship of nutritional requirements to the life cycle, prenatal to old age; cultural and socioeconomic factors related to food with major focus on nutrition and health, nutritional assessment, interrelationships of nutrients; other nutrition related issues such as dental health, weight management, athletic training, drugs and alcohol, government agencies, and nutrition education for all age groups.

NTDT 30133 - Meal Management
Two 1-hour lectures, one 2-hour laboratory per week. Managing resources in meal planning and preparation; technology of food preservation; identification of market places and legislative concerns; aesthetic and practical experience in a laboratory.

NTDT 30144 - Quantity Food Production
Three 1-hour lectures and one 3-hour laboratory/supervised practice per week. Prerequisite: NTDT 10103. Advanced study in food preparation, emphasizing standards, principles and techniques of producing quality food in quantity. Care and use of equipment, work simplification, menu planning, and basic cost controls.

NTDT 30303 - Overview of Foodservice and Nutrition Care Systems
Prerequisite: MANA 30153 or permission of instructor. Introduction to foodservice and nutrition care systems emphasizing the systems approach, managerial principles, organizational behavior, educational principles, personnel management and counseling.

NTDT 30306 - Supervised Practice in General Dietetics
Two lecture hours and 14 to 16 hours of supervised practice per week. Prerequisite: Admission to Coordinated Program in Dietetics and concurrent enrollment in NTDT 30303. Introduction to the practice of all aspects of dietetics through weekly observation and participation in foodservice and nutrition care settings.

NTDT 30313 - Food Systems Management
Prerequisites: NTDT 30144 and 30303. Systems approach to the organization and management of foodservice operations including the functional subsystems (procurement, production, service, and maintenance).

NTDT 30317 - Supervised Practice in Food Systems Management
Two lecture hours and 20 hours of supervised practice per week. Prerequisites: Admission to Coordinated Program in Dietetics and concurrent enrollment in NTDT 30313. Selected problems and supervised practice directly correlated with NTDT 30313.

NTDT 30331 - Medical Terminology
Prerequisites: NTDT 20403 and 30123. Terminology describing normal anatomical, physiological, and psychological conditions and those related to disease and its treatments. For students entering nutrition, dietetics, and allied health professions. Students must be concurrently enrolled in NTDT 30333 - Medical Nutrition Therapy I or obtain permission from instructor.

NTDT 30333 - Medical Nutrition Therapy I
Prerequisites: NTDT 20403 and 30123, CHEM 30123 and BIOL 20214, or permission of the instructor. Knowledge and skills necessary for nutrition assessment as a component of Medical Nutrition Therapy. Lecture and laboratory format provide skill enhancement in nutrition counseling, dietary evaluation, nutrition support, and calculation of therapeutic diets.

NTDT 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

NTDT 40003 - Senior Honors Research
Prerequisite: Advanced standing in Nutrition and Dietetics and recommendation of the chair. Preparation of a research paper under the direction of the Nutrition and Dietetics faculty. The paper will be designed to partially fulfill the requirement for Departmental Honors.

NTDT 40333 - Medical Nutrition Therapy II
Prerequisites: NTDT 30333 and CHEM 40503, or permission of the instructor. Physiological and biochemical abnormalities associated with various diseases and disorders. Advanced knowledge and techniques necessary for comprehensive medical nutrition therapy. Discussion of the importance of nutrition intervention and the role of the registered dietitian as a member of the health care team.

NTDT 40337 - Supervised Practice in Medical Nutrition Therapy
Two lecture hours and 20 hours of supervised practice per week. Prerequisites: Enrollment in Coordinated Program in Dietetics, NTDT 30316 and concurrent enrollment in NTDT 40333. Application of principles of nutritional care in a clinical setting under the supervision of a Registered Dietitian.

NTDT 40343 - Advanced Nutrition
Prerequisites: NTDT 10403 and 30123; BIOL 20214; CHEM 30123, 40501, and 45003. Nutrition science using physiological and biochemical bases. Evaluation of current nutritional frauds.

NTDT 40353 - Experimental Foods
Two 1-hour lectures and one 2-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisites: NTDT 10103, 20403, CHEM 30123 or permission of instructor. Advanced theory and methods used in study of chemical and physical factors affecting food preparation and processing. Application of analytical methods to sensory and instrumental evaluation of food quality.

NTDT 40363 - Community Nutrition
Prerequisites: NTDT 30123, 30303, or permission of instructor. Nutritional problems and the services available in the community. Management of nutrition services, provision of nutrition information to the public, and the legislative process.

NTDT 40364 - Supervised Practice in Community Nutrition
Two lecture hours and twenty hours of supervised practice per week 8 weeks. Prerequisites: Enrollment in Coordinated Program in Dietetics, NTDT 40337, and concurrent enrollment in NTDT 40363. Supervised experiences in selected community agencies and schools with emphasis on the provision of nutritional services and education.

NTDT 40373 - Culminating Supervised Practice
Two lecture hours and twenty hours of supervised practice per week 6 weeks. Prerequisite: Enrollment in Coordinated Program in Dietetics, NTDT 40364, and concurrent enrollment in NTDT 40363. Supervised experience while working as an independent staff dietitian in an area of chosen specialty.

NTDT 40403 - Research Methods in Nutrition
Prerequisites: Junior or Senior, NTDT 10403, NTDT 30123, and statistics or permission of instructor. Fundamentals of research design in nutrition. Completion of an individual research paper which incorporates proper research design, methodology, analysis, writing style, and writing format utilized in a nutrition research journal. Primarily designed for students with an interest in Nutrition and Dietetics.

NTDT 40411 - Supervised Practice in Nutrition Research I
Prerequisite: NTDT 30303 or concurrent enrollment. Integration of scientific information and nutrition research into practice. Completion of research training and evidence-based practice tutorials. Completion of research design, including purpose and primary research objectives, null hypothesis, literature review, and research methods/procedures.
Physics and Astronomy

Physics and astronomy are available as a major or minor on both the BA and BS degrees.

Honors Program
Physics and astronomy majors who plan to pursue Departmental Honors must be enrolled in the University Honors Program. Students should take PHYS 30003 during their junior year and PHYS 40003 during their senior year.

Pass/No-Credit Option
See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Physics and Astronomy Major Requirements

BS with a Major in Physics

The BS with a major in physics requires 36 hours of physics, including PHYS 20474, 20484, 30493, 30491 and 24 hours selected from PHYS 30014, 30553, 30603, 30703, 30803, 40113, 40653, 40663, 50703, 50713, 50723, 50733, and either PHYS 40103 or 40003. It is recommended that students planning to attend graduate school take PHYS 30553, 30603, 40113, 40653 and 40663. Twenty-two hours of mathematics are required, including MATH 10154, 10164, 10114 and 10124, or 2) CHEM 10113, GEOL 10113 and 30213. Study of a modern language is recommended.

A total of 132 hours is required for a BS with a major in astronomy and physics.

BA with a Major in Physics

The BA with a major in physics requires 26 hours in physics, including PHYS 20474, 20484 (or with permission 10154, 10164), 30493. Twelve hours of mathematics are required, including MATH 10524, 20524 and 30224. A total of 124 hours is required for the BA with a major in physics.

Students planning graduate study in physics should seek the BS degree.

BA in Physics with Secondary Concentration in the Bio-Medical Field

Twenty-four hours of physics are required, including 12 hours of PHYS 20474, 20484 (or 10154, 10164), 30491 and 30493, also 12 hours selected from PHYS 30113, 30111, 30553, 30603, 30803, 40113, 40653, 40663, 50703, 50713, 50723, 50733, 50743, and either 40103 or 40003. (It is recommended that nine or more hours be selected from PHYS 30553, 30603, 30803, 40113, 40653 and 40663). Associated requirements are 12 hours of MATH 10524, 20524 and one upper-division class, plus CHEM 10113, 10125 (or 10123/10122, 10123/20123) 30123, 30132, 30133; BIOL 10504, 10514 (an additional six hours selected from BIOL 30404, 30603, 40123 and 40223 are recommended). The total requirement for the BA degree in physics with secondary concentration in the bio-medical field is 124.

A total of 132 hours is required for the BS in physics with a secondary concentration.

The approved concentrations with respective additional requirements are:

BS in Physics with Secondary Concentration in Environmental Science. This option prepares students for graduate work in physics or environmental science. General requirements plus CHEM 10125; BIOL 10504, 10514, 30403, and three hours of approved upper-level biology courses; GEOL 10113, 10143, 30393, and three hours selected from GEOL 30113, 30323, 50712, 50721 or 50783.

BS in Physics with Secondary Concentration in Computer Modeling. This option prepares students for graduate work in physics. General requirements, except that PHYS 50733 and an approved project in either PHYS 40103 or 40003 are required. Additional requirements are COSC 20101, 20203, 20803, 30203 30403, also three hours selected from COSC 30803, 40503, 40903, or 50123; MATH 30613, 50613, and 40663.

BS in Physics with Secondary Concentration in Electronics. This option prepares students for graduate studies in electrical engineering or physics. General requirements except that PHYS 40113 and 40653 (or ENGR 30543) are required, and PHYS 40663 is recommended. Additional requirements are ENGR 10042, 20404, 20413, 30013, 30444, 30545, 40454 and MATH 30613.

Astronomy Minor

The astronomy minor requires 18 hours of physics, including PHYS 20073, 20083 plus six hrs selected from PHYS 10154, 10164 (or PHYS 20474, 20484), GEOL 10113, PHYS 20093 and six hours of upper-division PHYS courses (30000 or above.)

Physics Minor

The physics minor requires 18 hours of physics, including PHYS 10154, 10164, (or PHYS 20474, 20484), and six hours of upper-division courses (30000 or above).
Physics and Astronomy Honor Societies
The department sponsors Sigma Pi Sigma, the national honor society in physics, and Sigma Xi, the honor society for research in the natural sciences.

Physics Courses

PHYS 10073 - Concepts in Physical Science
A laboratory science course for those with no previous background in physics, designed to stress the formulation of physical concepts at different levels of abstraction. Especially useful for education majors to gain insight and experience with science content and for music majors as a prerequisite to an understanding of musical acoustics.

PHYS 10151 - General Physics I Laboratory
One 2-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PHYS 10153, which is normally taken concurrently. Part one of a two semester sequence recommended for students enrolled in PHYS 10153. The sequence consists of selected experiments associated with PHYS 10153 and 10163.

PHYS 10153 - General Physics I
Prerequisites: High school algebra and trigonometry or MATH 10053 and MATH 10052 or approval of instructor. Part of a two-semester survey of general physics recommended for students in the life sciences and premedical program. Topics covered in the sequence include mechanics of solids and fluids, thermodynamics, sound and wave motion, optics, electricity and magnetism, atomic and nuclear physics. Emphasis given to the application of these concepts to problems in the life and health sciences.

PHYS 10154 - General Physics I with Laboratory
Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week selected to reinforce the concepts discussed in lecture. Prerequisites: High school algebra and trigonometry or MATH 10053 and MATH 10052 or approval of instructor. Part one of a two-semester survey of general physics recommended for students in the life sciences and premedical program. Topics covered include mechanics of solids and fluids, thermodynamics, sound and wave motion. Emphasis will be given to the application of these concepts to problems in the life and health sciences.

PHYS 10161 - General Physics II Laboratory
One 2-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PHYS 10163, which is normally taken concurrently.

PHYS 10163 - General Physics II
Prerequisite: PHYS 10153. Continuation of Physics 10153.

PHYS 10164 - General Physics II with Laboratory
Prerequisites: PHYS 10154 (or PHYS 10153/10151), high school algebra and trigonometry or MATH 10053 and MATH 10052, or approval of instructor. Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week selected to reinforce the concepts discussed in lecture. Part two of a two-semester survey of general physics recommended for students in the life sciences and premedical program. Topics covered include electricity and magnetism, optics, atomic and nuclear physics. Emphasis will be given to the application of these concepts to problems in the life and health science.

PHYS 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Physics: Utter Chaos
Chaos Theory plays a fundamental role in many aspects of our lives: from the workings of the human heart; the prediction of the weather; the motion of planets and galaxies; to the development of personality, to name a few. The course follows the development of the "Chaos Theory" through a study of the personalities of the major contributors and the basic models they used to develop their ideas. Two weekly class meetings are divided between a discussion of the scientists and their ideas, and a computer lab where we explore the models.

PHYS 10443 - Freshman Seminar in Physics: The Cosmic Journey: Big Bang to Humans and Beyond
The history of the Universe from the Big Bang 20 billion years ago to the birth of stars, the synthesis of the building blocks for life, the origin and evolution of life on Earth and the emergence of humans and society. The change over the last 300 years in humans' understanding of the cosmos and their role in it: from the static clockwork universe of Newton at the dawn of the age of reason to the expanding universe of Hubble and Einstein in the 20th century and the multidimensional universe of present-day string theory. Future human exploration of the cosmos and the future of the Universe itself.

PHYS 20013 - Introductory Astronomy
Structure and origin of the solar system. Students may receive credit for PHYS 20013 or 20073, but not both.

PHYS 20023 - Introductory Astronomy
Stars, galaxies, stellar evolution, and cosmology. Students may receive credit for PHYS 20023 or 20083, but not both.

PHYS 20053 - Physics of Music and Sound
Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week. Nature and transmission of sound characteristics of musical instruments and speech, musical intervals, musical scales, musical temperament, and architectural acoustics. The laboratory includes experiments on vibration, resonance, objective and subjective characteristics of sound, and sound synthesis.

PHYS 20073 - Introductory Astronomy
Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week. Structure and origin of the solar system. Laboratory assignments may be scheduled in the evening.

PHYS 20083 - Introductory Astronomy
Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week. Stars, galaxies, stellar evolution, and cosmology. Laboratory assignments may be scheduled in the evening.

PHYS 20093 - Archaeoastronomy
Three hours lecture and two hours of lab per week. The course will explore naked-eye astronomy, including motion of the Sun, Moon, planets, and stars. Course will investigate the development of astronomy, calendars, writing and numeration among early civilizations, and how it supported or established their societies.

PHYS 20471 - Physics I Laboratory
One 2-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PHYS 20473, which is normally taken concurrently. A sequence of experiments selected to reinforce the concepts of Physics I.

PHYS 20473 - Physics I Mechanics
Prerequisites: MATH 10524 which may be taken concurrently or permission of the instructor. The first of a three-semester survey recommended for students majoring in the physical sciences. Newton's laws of motion, the conservation of momentum, angular momentum, and energy; the theory of gravitation; acoustics and wave motion.

PHYS 20474 - Physics I with Laboratory: Mechanics
Prerequisite: MATH 10524, which may be taken concurrently, or permission of instructor. Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week selected to reinforce the concepts discussed in lecture. The first of a three-semester survey recommended for students majoring in the physical sciences. Newton's laws of motion, the conservation of momentum, angular momentum, and energy; and the theory of gravitation.

PHYS 20481 - Physics II Laboratory
One 2-hour laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PHYS 20483, which is normally taken concurrently. Selected experiments that demonstrate the concepts of Physics II.

PHYS 20483 - Physics II Electromagnetism and Optics
Prerequisites: PHYS 20473 and MATH 20524 which is normally taken concurrently or permission of instructor. The second of a three-semester sequence recommended for students of physical sciences. Electric charge, current and field; magnetism, time varying electromagnetic fields; geometrical optics; interference and diffraction.

PHYS 20484 - Physics II with Laboratory: Electromagnetism and Optics
Prerequisites: PHYS 20474 (or PHYS 20473/20471), MATH 20524, which may be taken concurrently, or permission of instructor. Three hours lecture and one 2-hour laboratory per week selected to reinforce the concepts discussed in lecture. The second of a three-semester sequence recommended for students of physical sciences. Electric charge, current and field; magnetism, time varying electromagnetic fields; physical and geometric optics.
PHYS 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

PHYS 30003 - Junior Honors Research in Physics or Astronomy
Prerequisites: Admission to Honors Program in Physics and junior standing in Physics. The first of two courses required for Honors in Physics in which the candidate will carry out a program of research under the direction of a faculty member. The results of this research must be satisfactorily communicated to the department in an oral presentation and/or a written report.

PHYS 30014 - Materials Science
Prerequisite: CHEM 10113 or CHEM 10114. Introduction to the physical, chemical, mechanical, electrical, and optical properties of metals, semiconductors, ceramics, and polymers. Emphasis on the relationship between these properties and how performance is influenced by microstructure and processing. Atomic bonding, Crystal structure, Phase equilibria. Deformation and fracture. Composite materials, Electronic, magnetic, dielectric and optical properties. Laboratory methods for characterizing materials emphasized. (Crosslisted as ENGR/PHYS 30014.)

PHYS 30113 - Intermediate Astronomy
Prerequisites: PHYS 20073 and 20083, or 20013 and 20023, PHYS 20474 and 20484, or PHYS 10154 and 10164. Physical properties of planets, stars, and galaxies.

PHYS 30123 - Observational Astronomy
Prerequisites: PHYS 20073 and 20083. Two hours lecture and two hours of lab per week. Topics covered include telescopes, astronomical measurement techniques, modern detectors and instrumentation, the effect of the Earth's atmosphere on light, including selected experiments in telescope properties and resolution, photometry, spectroscopy, geometrical and physical optics, atomic physics, and studies of astronomical survey data.

PHYS 30163 - Evolution and Exploration of the Solar System
Prerequisites: GEOL 10113, or any one of PHYS 10164/20073/20083, or permission of instructor. Three hours lecture per week. This course will launch you into space with past and present spacecraft missions and bring you back to Earth with meteorite research. Throughout the semester, this course will examine the geology and geologic processes occurring on and within planetary bodies throughout the Solar System. This course is intended for science and non-science majors. (Crosslisted as GEOL/PHYS 30163.)

PHYS 30491 - Physics III Laboratory
Three hours laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PHYS 30493, which may be taken concurrently. Selected topics in modern physics.

PHYS 30493 - Physics III Modern Physics
Prerequisites: PHYS 20474 and 20484, or 10154 and 10164, and MATH 20524. Relativity, introduction to quantum mechanics, atomic structure, nuclear physics, and modern physics.

PHYS 30553 - Mechanics
Prerequisites: PHYS 20474 and MATH 30524. Particle motion in one and three dimensions including oscillatory motion and motion under a central force. Dynamics of many particle systems. Lagrange's and Hamilton's equations.

PHYS 30603 - Thermal Physics
Prerequisite: PHYS 30493, MATH 30524 or permission of instructor. Statistical formulation of the laws and applications of thermodynamics.

PHYS 30703 - Digital Electronics
Prerequisites: First year physics, MATH 10524, COSC 10403. An introduction to DC and AC circuits, diodes, transistors, amplifier circuits, basic digital circuits, logic circuits, digital readouts, counters, timing circuits, AD converters, microprocessors, and microcomputers.

PHYS 30843 - Biomedical Imaging
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484 or 10164. An introduction to image formation for molecular and medical applications. This course covers the fundamentals of optic, x-ray and MRI, image creation, detectors, basics of image processing, quantitative analysis and a variety of applications in biophysics and in medicine. Includes off-campus lab work. (Cross-listed as BIOL/PHYS 30843.)

PHYS 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

PHYS 40003 - Senior Honors Research in Physics or Astronomy
Prerequisites: Admission to Honors Program in Physics and Senior Standing in Physics. A candidate for honors in Physics will carry out a program of research under the direct supervision of a faculty member. The results of the research must be presented in the form of an acceptable paper.

PHYS 40050 - The Teaching of Physics
Prerequisite: 14 semester hours, 3 of which may be taken concurrently. Members of this class serve one day each week as physics laboratory assistants and share in departmental conferences. (1 1/2-3 semester hours)

PHYS 40103 - Senior Research in Physics or Astronomy
Prerequisites: Senior standing in Physics or Astronomy. The student will carry out a program of research under the direction of a faculty member. The results of the research will be presented in the form of an acceptable paper.

PHYS 40113 - Elements of Quantum Mechanics
Prerequisites: PHYS 30493 and MATH 30524 or permission of instructor. The Schrodinger equations, operators, stationary states; Quantum theory of angular momentum; the harmonic oscillator and the hydrogen atom; quantum spin formulation.

PHYS 40653 - Electromagnetic Fields
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484 and MATH 30524 or permission of instructor. Development of Maxwell's equations; Electrostatics; potential; magnetostatics; electric and magnetic fields in matter; electromagnetic waves.

PHYS 40663 - Electromagnetic Radiation and Optics
Prerequisite: PHYS 40653. Electromagnetic radiation in free space and in materials; geometrical optics; interference and diffraction; Fourier optics; introduction to nonlinear optics.

PHYS 50030 - Seminar in Contemporary Physics
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Students enrolled will be expected to participate in, prepare, and lead discussions on selected topics in physics as suggested by the current journal literature. (1-4 hours)

PHYS 50703 - Nonlinear Dynamics
Prerequisite: permission of the instructor, PHYS 30553 is recommended. Characterization of Chaos, Routes to Chaos, Dissipative Dynamical Systems, Hamiltonian Systems.

PHYS 50713 - Contemporary Topics in Physics
Prerequisite: Departmental permission. Regularly scheduled course on a subject of interest to students and faculty. Possible topics: Acoustics, Biophysics, Mathematical Physics, Modern Optics, and Nuclear Physics.

PHYS 50723 - Introduction to Solid State Physics
Prerequisite: PHYS 30493; MATH 30524. Crystal structure, lattice dynamics, free electron theory, band theory, optical, electric and magnetic properties of solids.

PHYS 50733 - Computational Physics
Prerequisites: PHYS 20484 and MATH 30524. Computational methods used in physics, systems of linear equations, eigenvalues problems, numerical solution of differential equations using FORTRAN, C++, and Mathematica.
Pre-Health Professions

TCU offers a curriculum preparing students for programs leading to doctoral degrees in the following health professions: Allopathic Medicine (MD), Dentistry (DDS), Optometry (OD), Osteopathic Medicine (DO), Pharmacy (PharmD), Physician's Assistant (PA), Podiatric Medicine (DPM), and Veterinary Medicine (DVM).

The Health Professions Advisory Committee (HPAC) consists of faculty members who teach courses normally taken by students pursuing the above professional goals and presently includes Professors Giri Akkaraju, biology; Gary Boehm, psychology; Amanda Hale, biology; Doug Ingram, physics; David Minter, chemistry; Mike Misamore, biology; Pam Stuntz, psychology; and Phil Hartman, biology, (Chair). Denise Bennett, academic program specialist to the program, is housed in SWR 258.

The duties of the committee are to advise students on their curriculum; provide counseling regarding the health professions; and evaluate, both for the student and for the professional schools, the student's suitability for entering the profession. The committee offers "mock" interviews and will write a committee-based letter of evaluation for those students who submit the appropriate biographical materials. Additional information is available at www.tcu/bio.edu/prehealth/home.htm.

Curriculum

Health profession schools prefer applicants who have completed a four-year curriculum leading to a BA or BS degree. While the health professions schools will accept students in any major, certain courses are required or suggested as described below. In addition, if medicine, dentistry or veterinary medicine is a student's primary career goal, the Health Professions Advisory Committee strongly recommends that students major within the College of Science & Engineering.

Required and Suggested Courses

Although each professional program has its own list of required and suggested courses, those shown below meet the requirements of the majority. Students should check the current requirements of schools to which they intend to apply before they begin their junior year at TCU to ensure that new or unusual requirements can be met before graduation.

Pass/No-Credit Option

See the Bachelor's Degree Definitions and Regulations in the Bachelor's Degree section of the University requirements.

Aptitude Tests

Most professional schools require aptitude tests to have been taken at the time of application. Generally, these should be taken 15-17 months before contemplated admission; i.e., in the spring of the junior year for four-year students or in the sophomore year for three-year students (see below). Information on these exams is available in the Pre-Health Professions Office SWR 258: The Dental Aptitude Test (DAT), the Medical College Aptitude Test (MCAT), the Optometry Aptitude Test (OAT).

Pre-Health Professions General Requirements

Biography: BIOL 10504, 10514

Chemistry: CHEM 10113, 10125 or 10123 and 20123, 30123, 30122, 30133

Natural Sciences: BIOL 30303, 30404, 30603, 40123, 40133, 40203, 40223, 40403, 40503; CHEM 40123, 50133, 50143;

Math: MATH 10043 or 10524;

Physics: PHYS 10154, 10164

Other: TCU Core Curriculum requirements and requirements of the major/minor.

General Suggestions

- Humanities: ENGL 30223, HIST 40803, PHIL 10003, 30313, 30363, SPAN 10103, RELI 30723.
- Social Sciences: SOCI 40523, 40533, SOWO 20863, SOWO 30853.
- Natural Sciences: BIOL 30303, 30404, 30603, 40123, 40133, 40203, 40223, 40403; CHEM 40123, 50133, 50143; MATH 10043; COSC 10403, PSY 10213, 30463.
- Other: NTDT 20403, COMM 10123, 30153; KINE 10603, 30623, 30633; HLTH 40203; COSD 10303, 10343, 30303; NURS 40053.

Additional Pre-Dental Courses

- Required: Two advanced biology courses as listed under general suggestions with BIOL 30303, 40123, 40133, 40403 and 50133 especially recommended.
- Suggested: ART 10133, 20243

Additional Pre-Medical Courses

- Required: Biology (same as pre-dental), MATH 10043 or 10524, CHEM 30132
- Suggested: None

Additional Pre-Optometry Courses

- Required: BIOL 20204-20214 or 30404, 30303, 40403; MATH 10524; PSYC 10213, 30503; CHEM 40503 or 50133
- Suggested: None

Additional Pre-Pharmacy Courses

- Required: BIOL 30303, 30404; MATH 10524 and 10043.

Additional Pre-Podiatric Courses

- Required: Same as pre-med.

Additional Pre-Veterinary Courses

- Required: BIOL 30303, 30603, 40123, 40253, 50133, 50143; MATH 10524; ENGL one literature course plus 30223 (or COMM 20103); RAMA 30703.
- Suggested: MATH 10043

Pre-Health Professions Combination BS Degree

An exceptionally few highly qualified pre-health professions students may be accepted by the professional school after the completion of a three-year college curriculum. TCU offers the BS Combination Degree Program for these students. The student must complete a minimum of 94 semester hours, including the prescribed courses, the TCU Core Curriculum and aptitude tests listed above. The last 45 hours of the 94 must be taken at TCU. The BS combination degree is awarded after successful completion of the first year of professional school. Students must declare their interest in this program (i.e., file a degree plan) prior to application to a professional school. A typical curriculum that meets all these requirements is outlined below.

In addition to basic coursework, the programs offer learning experiences • seminars and supervised off-campus activities. Such courses, primarily that include research projects, individual career planning, special areas of study may be taken as psychology electives. The BS degree requires 124 hours.

Psychology Major Requirements

BS with a Major in Psychology

The BS with a major in psychology is recommended for students planning graduate work and careers in psychology or related fields. The program requires a minimum of 42 hours including either PSYC 10213, 10514 or 10524. A maximum of six hours of PSYC 40313, 40323, 40333 and/or 40343 may be applied to the 30 minimum required hours in psychology, but additional hours may be taken as psychology electives. A minor or second major is required for the BA in psychology. A total of 124 hours is required for the BA degree.

Psychology Minor

A minor in psychology requires 18 hours in psychology, including either PSYC 10213, 10514 or 10524. A maximum of three hours of PSYC 40960 and/or 40970 may be applied to the minor in psychology. Students cannot pursue both a minor in psychology and a minor in the psychology of leadership.

Psychology of Leadership Minor

The minor in psychology of leadership provides students with knowledge and experiences relevant to the scientific study of leadership and its application. A minimum of 21 credit hours is required.

Psychology Outreach Program

The Psychology Outreach Program is designed to afford qualified students the opportunity to participate in psychology-related internships in local community settings. The major goal of the outreach program is to increase student awareness of professional psychology by allowing students to engage in activities similar to those of a counseling or clinical psychologist. Many psychology majors are interested in becoming helping professionals, and it is the department’s belief that these students can make more informed decisions about their careers if they have experienced these professional activities firsthand.

A second goal of the outreach program is to help students build their resumes through professionally related internship experiences. In this way, they cannot only include the fieldwork experience on their resumes, but they also have the opportunity to earn letters of recommendation from off-campus professionals.

The Department of Psychology’s fieldwork experience consists of a two-semester sequence, Introduction to Field Work (PSYC 40453), taken in the fall semester, and Advanced Field Work (PSYC 40960) taken in the following spring semester.
Psi Chi
The department sponsors the TCU Chapter of Psi Chi, the national honor society for psychology.

Psychology Courses

PSYC 10110 - Techniques of College Learning
The study of the skills and techniques necessary for efficient learning. Application of the principles of learning, cognition, and motivation to the problems of college learning. This class is offered for 3 hours credit.

PSYC 10213 - General Psychology
One of the prerequisites for higher-level psychology courses. The science of psychology, integrating biological, social, cognitive, and learning influences on behavior; basic behavior processes, and principles of human and infrahuman behavior. Credit cannot be given for both PSYC 10213 and either 10514 or 10524.

PSYC 10433 - Freshman Seminar in Psychology
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

PSYC 10514 - Principles of Behavior I
Recommended for B.S. in Psychology. An introduction to the scientific study of behavior. The nature of scientific inquiry of behavior and relevant basic behavioral processes will be discussed. Three hours lecture and two hours laboratory per week. Credit cannot be given for both PSYC 10213 and 10514.

PSYC 10524 - Principles of Behavior II
Recommended for B.S. in Psychology. An introduction to the scientific inquiry of behavior. The nature of scientific inquiry of behavior and relevant behavioral processes will be discussed. Three hours lecture and two hours laboratory per week. Credit cannot be given for both PSYC 10213 and 10524.

PSYC 10533 - Freshman Seminar in Psychology
Topics may vary each time it is offered.

PSYC 20333 - Basic Leadership Theory and Skills
Prerequisite: Sophomore standing. Students will explore answers to fundamental questions about the psychology of leadership. Emphasis is on psychological theories and how they address the issue of "self-leadership". Psychological approaches to the measurement of leadership effectiveness will be used to critically evaluate various contemporary models found in popular culture.

PSYC 20393 - Psychology of Love
Teaches students how to think critically about the psychological research on romantic attraction and close relationships. The course goal is to educate intelligent consumers of media information and misinformation, teaching them to separate scientifically valid from invalid claims about the causes and consequences of initial romantic attraction, deepening close relationships, sex differences, problems that occur within close relationships, and effective versus ineffective strategies for resolving conflicts in close relationships.

PSYC 20553 - Psychology of Adjustment
Basic principles of psychology in relation to the development, assessment, and modification of personality adjustment. Emphasizes patterns of normal adjustment (intra- and interpersonal) to typical contemporary environments.

PSYC 20990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

PSYC 30003 - Honors Tutorial
Prerequisite: Junior standing and membership in the Honors Program. An examination of a major issue in psychology. This course is only offered as a tutorial and the specific topic is determined by consultation with an instructor. Arrangements for this course must be made with an instructor the semester prior to enrollment.

PSYC 30113 - States of Consciousness
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. An overview of contemporary knowledge about various states of consciousness including both theoretical perspectives and contemporary applications.

PSYC 30133 - Parapsychology: Science or Pseudoscience?
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. The nature of scientific theories and their application to the claims of paranormal events. The emphasis is on a skeptical analysis of such reputed phenomena as extra sensory perception, psychokinesis, clairvoyance, and precognition. Alternative explanations of claims of the paranormal using established scientific principles, laws and theories of behavior are examined.

PSYC 30263 - Problem Solving in Task Oriented Groups
Two hours lecture and three hours lab. Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, or approval of instructor. Instruction and practice in the elements of effective participation in task oriented groups and in the strategies and techniques of systematic problem solving. Topics in group processes include group membership roles, task oriented roles, leadership roles, group norms, competition, and conflict management. Topics in problem solving include problem definition, brainstorming, means-end analysis, and structured decision making.

PSYC 30323 - Child Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. Human behavior from conception to adolescence; the influences of heredity and maturation, physical, social and cognitive development, with child observations.

PSYC 30333 - Sexual Behavior in Humans and Other Animals
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524 or approval of instructor. Emphasis on empirical studies of sexuality, encompassing its varied manifestations, its many determinants, and contemporary theories of sexuality, with an emphasis on evolutionary theory. Bodily mechanisms and their development, sexually transmitted diseases, and aspects of reproduction are also covered.

PSYC 30343 - Social Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. Methods and principles related to the experience and behavior of individuals in interaction with each other, in group situations, and in relation to items in the sociocultural setting. Credit cannot be given for both PSYC 30343 and PSYC 30353.

PSYC 30353 - Social Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. Methods and principles related to the experience and behavior of individuals in interaction with each other, in group situations, and in relation to items in the sociocultural setting. Credit cannot be given for both PSYC 30343 and PSYC 30353.

PSYC 30363 - Abnormal Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. Personality and behavior processes in normal and deviant personalities; variations and causes of psychopathology, problems of classification, diagnosis and management.

PSYC 30373 - Organizational Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, or approval of instructor. Analysis of methods, accumulated knowledge, and systematic approaches to problems of group behavior in organizations including personnel management, selection, training, motivation, performance appraisal, leadership, working conditions, and human engineering.

PSYC 30383 - Sport Psychology: Performance Enhancement Techniques
Prerequisites: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524. A comprehensive introduction to the theories and methods of applied sport psychology or performance enhancement. Applies contemporary theories from social psychology, learning, consciousness studies, and applied psychology to the problems of improving performance in any contest. Develops the conceptual basis for the psychological techniques used by sport psychologists, examines empirical evidence for effectiveness of these methods, and elaborates the significance of sports as a metaphor for other life situations where performance is important.

PSYC 30403 - The Human Senses
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. A survey of the structure and function of sensory systems, with particular emphasis on vision and hearing.
PSYC 30414 - Experimental Psychology: Learning
Three lectures and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Basic methods and concepts employed in the study of learning.

PSYC 30423 - Experimental Psychology: Perception
Two lectures and one laboratory period per week. Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Basic experimental techniques employed in the study of detection, discrimination and recognition.

PSYC 30433 - Experimental Psychology: Motivation
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Basic concepts, theories, and techniques employed in the study of motivation.

PSYC 30443 - Psychology of Personality
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. 10514, or 10524. The factual and theoretical status of the development, structure, and dynamic functioning of the adult personality.

PSYC 30453 - Memory and Cognition
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. An overview of major issues and topics in modern cognitive psychology with particular emphasis on interpreting basic research in memory and cognitive processes.

PSYC 30463 - Introductory Neuroscience
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503 or 10514 or 10524 or approval of instructor. Study of the nervous system, action systems, and sensory systems to provide background for examining the physiological bases of discrimination, motivation, emotions, and learning. (Crosslisted as BIOL/PSYC 30463.)

PSYC 30473 - Comparative Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Provides knowledge of animal behavior as a field of research based on mechanistic and evolutionary approaches. Provides a basic vocabulary and a conceptual framework which enables the student to appreciate the importance and scope of animal behavior as an interdisciplinary field and to identify areas of interest for further study.

PSYC 30483 - Human Neuropsychology
Prerequisites: PSYC 10213 or 10514, or 10524 or approval of instructor. Presents an approach to the study of human brain function by examining the behavioral syndromes resulting from neurological disease and brain damage. Topics will include an overview of the nervous system; neuropsychological assessment; cortical dysfunction; language disorders; developmental neuropsychology; and recovery of function following brain trauma.

PSYC 30493 - Evolutionary Psychology
Prerequisites: PSYC 10213 or PSYC 10514 or PSYC 10524. A comprehensive view of human evolution. Topics include the fossil record, primates and hominids, evidence of the effects of natural selection on human anatomy and behavior, the development of human culture, mating patterns, technology, social structures, emergence of art and civilization, and the evolutionary shaping of perceptual, cognitive, and motivational processes.

PSYC 30503 - Behavioral Research
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213 or 10514 or 10524 plus MATH 10043. Basic elements of behavioral research-planning, execution, analysis, and interpretation. Includes selection of research problems, measurement of behavioral constructs, development of instruments, and experimental and non-experimental designs as well as the basic statistical methods and concepts needed in behavioral research.

PSYC 30603 - Historical Foundations of Modern Psychology
Prerequisites: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, and 9 hours of psychology or permission of the instructor. The roots of modern psychology and the development of the schools of psychology will be discussed. The historical developments in science and philosophy that were the determinants of the founding of psychology will be analyzed.

PSYC 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

PSYC 30993 - Psychology of Sex, Violence, and Aggression
Teaches students how to think critically about psychological research on sex, violence, and aggression. The course goal is to educate intelligent consumers of media information and misinformation, teaching them to separate scientifically valid from invalid claims that such factors as genetics, biochemistry, socialization practices, sex differences, ambient temperature, alcohol, television, movies, and video games affect interpersonal violence and aggression.

PSYC 40003 - Senior Honors Research Paper
Prerequisite: PSYC 30003, senior standing, and membership in the Honors Program. A supervised research experience and a thesis that is usually based on the subject matter studied in 30003. This course is offered only as a tutorial. Arrangements for this course must be made with an instructor the semester prior to enrollment. It is recommended that enrollment occur the fall semester of the senior year.

PSYC 40123 - Environmental Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514 or 10524, and 30503, or consent of instructor. This course examines, from the perspective of a psychologist, how the physical environment influences specific types of human behavior including work, recreation, learning, group interaction, crime prevention and others.

PSYC 40233 - Advanced Leadership Skills
Prerequisite: PSYC 20033. This advanced course in leadership emphasizes psychological perspectives on “influencing others.” Topics will include the psychology of interpersonal communication, conflict resolution, and models of leadership. Psychological approaches to the measurement of leadership effectiveness in these areas will be used to critically evaluate various contemporary models found in popular culture.

PSYC 40260 - Introductory Field Work
Prerequisite: Fifteen semester hours in Psychology. This applied course extends learning beyond the classroom and provides development opportunities in leadership, diversity, counseling, etc. Students also gain self-knowledge of individual strengths (e.g. extroversion) and career preferences through assessments and actual experience. Students must obtain a volunteer or internship position (availability is usually available through the instructor or the TCU Leadership Center). Earned credit hours are based on the number of hours worked (up to 3 credit hours for 90 worked hours), attending class 1 hour per week, and completion of all assignments such as self-leadership papers, weekly journals, or projects.

PSYC 40290 - Advanced Field Work
Prerequisite: PSYC 40260. This experiential course provides advanced opportunities through volunteer or internship positions. Students complete questionnaires and gain awareness of their skills and preferences (e.g., intuition). Then they investigate how personal factors influence their leadership or service giving skills. Service environments also provide experiential learning related to diversity. Students obtain their own positions (e.g., crisis intervention volunteer; mentoring, elementary students) and earned credit hours are based on the actual number of hours worked (e.g., 3 credit hours requires 120 worked hours), attending class 1 hour per week, and completion of assignments.

PSYC 40313 - Research in Neuroscience
Prerequisites: 15 semester hours in Psychology, plus written permission of the professor and the psychology department. Projects in neuroscience research carried out under the direction of a faculty member. Because ongoing research projects differ from one semester to the next, students gain additional research skills each time they take the course. The course may be repeated twice (taken a maximum of three semesters in all.)

PSYC 40323 - Research in Psychology of Learning
Prerequisites: 15 semester hours in Psychology, plus written permission of the professor and the psychology department. Projects in psychology of learning research carried out under the direction of a faculty member. Because ongoing research projects differ from one semester to the next, students gain additional research skills each time they take the course. The course may be repeated twice (taken a maximum of three semesters in all.)

PSYC 40333 - Research in Social Psychology
Prerequisites: 15 semester hours in Psychology, plus written permission of the professor and the psychology department. Projects in psychology... of learning research carried out under the direction of a faculty member. Because ongoing research projects differ from one semester to the next, students gain additional research skills each time they take the course. The course maybe repeated twice (taken a maximum of three semesters in all.)

PSYC 4043 - Research in Cognitive Psychology
Prerequisites: 15 semester hours in Psychology, plus written permission of the professor and the psychology department. Projects in psychology of learning research carried out under the direction of a faculty member. Because ongoing research projects differ from one semester to the next, students gain additional research skills each time they take the course. The course maybe repeated twice (taken a maximum of three semesters in all.)

PSYC 4043 - Psychology of Counseling
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, or approval of instructor. Counseling in institutional, educational, and community settings; roles and functions of counselors; the relations of the counselor in different settings with clients and organizations.

PSYC 4043 - Cognitive Development
Prerequisite: PSYC 30323 or 30503 or 30453, or approval of instructor. Major periods of cognitive development including infancy, early childhood, middle childhood, and adolescence; development of cognitive skills such as reasoning, problem solving, memory, language, and perception; acquisition of applied cognitive skills such as arithmetic, reading, writing, and physics.

PSYC 4044 - The Tao of Strategy
Prerequisite: Junior standing. A search for the deep structure of strategic action that bridges Eastern philosophy and Western science; this seminar is designed to teach strategic thinking and the arts of leadership to student from a wide variety of disciplines. This course can be applied towards the Psychology Department's minor in the Psychology of Leadership.

PSYC 4045 - Developmental Psychology
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Data and research methods related to the development of the human organism from its prenatal origins through old age.

PSYC 4045 - Behavioral Modification
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. An introduction to the principles and practices of behavior modification and behavior therapy. Emphasis is on applications in education and in problems of children and institutionalized adults.

PSYC 4045 - Psychology of Women and Men
Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing. This course is designed to be an overview of theory and research on contemporary American concepts of femininity and masculinity, the implications of these definitions for the average woman or man and some alternative interpretations of the meaning of one's sex role identity.

PSYC 4045 - Seminar in the Biological Mechanisms of Behavior
Prerequisite: PSYC 30463 or its equivalent, or approval of instructor. A topic seminar with an emphasis on developing an understanding of the interaction of the biological, genetic, psychological, and social factors that underlie the development of behavior.

PSYC 4045 - Introduction to Psychological Measurement
Prerequisite: PSYC 30503. Characteristics of tests and measurement scales; survey of individual and group tests in psychology, education, and clinical settings.

PSYC 4051 - Scotland: Search for Genius
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, or approval of instructor. Topics of current interest in psychology or society. This class carries 1-6 hours, but is usually offered for 3 hours credit.

PSYC 4097 - Independent Studies
Prerequisites: Twelve semester hours in Psychology and departmental approval. Supervised research or study in specialized areas not covered in regular course offerings. (1-6 semester hours)

PSYC 4099 - Senior Seminar in Psychology
Prerequisites: PSYC 30503 and senior standing in psychology. Teaches students how to think critically about ethics and research topics in psychology. Excellent preparation for the Graduate Record Examination in psychology and for graduate school in all areas of psychology. In depth coverage of such topics as Ethics and Methods of Psychology as a Scientific Discipline, Biopsychology, Perception, Learning, Motivation, Emotion, Memory, Thinking, Intelligence, Language, Development, Personality, Psychological Disorders, Psychotherapy, and Social Psychology.

PSYC 5021 - Interactive Data Analysis
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in Psychology, 300 level and 400 level or approval of instructor. Emphasis on using appropriate computer software programs for analyzing data. Focus on practical applications in the field of psychology.

PSYC 5040 - Advanced Neuroscience
Prerequisite: Senior or Graduate standing and PSYC 30463 or approval of instructor. An in depth analysis of the neural and endocrine components of normal and abnormal behavior with emphasis on classic studies in the field.

PSYC 5041 - Theoretical Foundations of Statistical Inference
Prerequisite: Graduate standing in Psychology. Ph.D. students must take concurrently with PSYC 50423. Supplements PSYC 50423. Provides an in-depth view of the models and theories underlying analysis of variance, correlation and regression analysis, and the nonparametric techniques.

PSYC 5043 - History and Systems of Psychology
Prerequisite: Senior or Graduate standing or approval of instructor. The scientific and philosophic antecedents of contemporary psychology in relation to their current influence on the field.

PSYC 5044 - Graduate Statistics
Prerequisite: Senior or Graduate standing or approval of instructor. The conceptual basis of statistical inference. Topics include: analysis of variance models, correlation and regression analysis, and nonparametric techniques.

PSYC 5045 - Vulnerable Child I: Theory
The Vulnerable Child is a two-part series of multidisciplinary courses which investigate the challenges faced by families and professionals who work with children who have emotional, behavioral, and/or physiological challenges. The Vulnerable Child I: Theory will focus on the theory and research which is the basis of these challenges. If our Hope Connection summer camp for adopted children is taking place, both Vulnerable Child courses are required before students can work in it.

PSYC 5046 - Vulnerable Child II: Practice
Prerequisites: PSYC/CHDV 50433. The Vulnerable Child is a two-part series of multidisciplinary courses which investigate the challenges faced by families and professionals who work with children who have emotional, behavioral, and/or physiological challenges. The Vulnerable Child II: Practice will focus on the training students need to evaluate and apply intervention strategies for these families and children based on the theory and research learned in the first course. Both Vulnerable Child I & II are required for students wishing to apply for Independent Studies' hours to work in The Hope connection summer camp for at-risk adopted children.

PSYC 5047 - Experimental Social Psychology
Two lectures and one laboratory period per week. Prerequisite: PSYC 30353 or its equivalent, or approval of instructor. Concepts and activities of research on attitudes, communication and persuasion, group structure, and group processes.

PSYC 5048 - Functional Neuroanatomy
Prerequisite: Graduate or senior standing or approval of the instructor. The fundamentals of functional neuroanatomy and neurophysiology with an emphasis on experimental and theoretical analysis of the basic brain behavior relationships. (Crosslisted as BIOL/PSYC 50463.)

PSYC 5049 - Laboratory in Physiological Psychology and Neuroscience
Prerequisite: PSYC 30463 or its equivalent or PSYC 50653 or its equivalent, or concurrent registration in either PSYC 50436 or PSYC 50463. One lecture and one laboratory per week. Emphasis will be on the laboratory techniques employed in physiological psychology and neuroscience.
neuroscience in analyzing the neural and hormonal correlates of behavior (Crosslisted as BIOL/PSYC 50472.)

PSYC 50482 - Laboratory in Physiological Psychology and Neuroscience
Prerequisite: PSYC 30463 or its equivalent or PSYC 50653 or its equivalent, or concurrent registration in either PSYC 50436 or PSYC 30463. One lecture and one laboratory per week. Emphasis will be on the laboratory techniques employed in physiological psychology and neuroscience in analyzing the neural and hormonal correlates of behavior (Crosslisted as BIOL/PSYC 50482)

PSYC 50493 - Advanced Personality
Prerequisite: Senior or graduate standing in psychology and PSYC 40443, or approval of instructor. Current topics from the empirical and theoretical literature on personality.

PSYC 50513 - Psychopharmacology
Prerequisite: PSYC 10213, or 10514, or 10524, or approval of instructor. Theory and principles of behavioral and biochemical methods of assaying drug action, with primary emphasis on the study of the effects of neuropharmacological agents or endogenous systems.

PSYC 50523 - Experimental Design
Prerequisite: PSYC 50423 or approval of instructor. The planning and design of behavioral research including the specification of research problems, development of appropriate designs, the use of appropriate analytic techniques and the interpretation of results. Primary attention is given to analysis of variance models as analytic techniques, but multivariate techniques such as regression and discriminant function models are also considered.

PSYC 50533 - Case Studies in Child Development
This course is designed to present an integrated and comprehensive overview of numerous issues in child development as well as treatments/solutions for those issues. This diverse array of developmental problems will be presented in a series of case-studies by professors from several departments as well as by community professionals who specialize in children's issues. This course is a requirement for the Child Development Minor as well as an elective course in Psychology.

PSYC 50563 - Developmental Psychology
Prerequisite: Senior or graduate standing in Psychology, or approval of instructor. Data and research methods related to the development of the human organism from its prenatal origins through old age.

PSYC 50583 - Cognition
Prerequisite: Senior or graduate standing in Psychology, or approval of instructor. Current topics in the area of cognition including thinking, language, memory, decision making, and problem solving.

PSYC 50603 - Contemporary Learning Theory
Prerequisite: Senior or graduate standing in Psychology, or approval of instructor. Selected theoretical principles important for understanding complex behavior, and their recent extensions and application to human social behavior, autonomic and psychosomatic function, etc.

PSYC 51000 - Seminar on Ethics and Science
Senior or graduate standing or permission of the instructor. The course will look at the range of ethical decisions that are required of scientists. We will focus on identifying ethical dilemma throughout the history of scientific discovery. Case studies will include both moral exemplars and instances of scientific misconduct. These case studies will cut across scientific disciplines and include examples from biology, medical research, biotechnology, and psychology.
Ranch Management Program

Since 1956, students from 41 states and 22 nations have studied ranching at TCU through the certificate program. In addition to the certificate program, ranch management is available as a Bachelor of Science Degree and as a minor with a Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts in another discipline. The Office of University Programs administers the Bachelor of Science degree, the ranch management minor and the certificate program.

Bachelor of Science with Business Minor

Students admitted to TCU as pre-ranch management must complete the following to advance to the ranch management major:

- Have sufficient working experience in agriculture to understand the nature of the industry;
- Have a minimum 2.50 cumulative TCU GPA;
- Apply to the Ranch Management Program;
- Go through a professional interview;
- Be formally admitted to the Ranch Management Program.

Students may typically apply in their sophomore year for the Ranch Management Program. Contact the Ranch Management Program regarding specific admission policies. Enrollment is limited.

Pre-Ranch Management Declaration

Entering freshmen begin taking courses to satisfy the TCU Core Curriculum requirements, including:

- Natural Sciences – six hours from the following lab science choices:
  - BIOL 10003 Contemporary Issues in Biology
  - GEOL 10113 Understanding the Earth
  - ENCS 10143 Contemporary Environmental Issues

- Social Sciences - three of the nine hours required from the following choices:
  - ECON 10223 Microeconomics
  - ECON 10233 Macroeconomics

Upper-Level and Major Requirements

Students begin taking courses for the general business minor and the required upper level science course while finishing core curriculum requirements and electives.

General Business Minor for Non-Business Majors

The general business minor requires 18 semester hours of coursework. Once a student matriculates at TCU, all coursework in the general business minor must be completed at TCU. For more information and specific requirements, refer to the General Business Minor section of this catalog or contact the Neely Student Resource Center (ROG 130) at 817.257.6772.

General Business Minor Courses:
- ACCT 20653 Introduction to Accounting
- MARK 30653 Principles of Marketing
- MANA 30653 Survey of Management
- FINA 30653 Financial Planning
- MANA 40653 Survey of Entrepreneurship
- MARK 40653 Principles of Marketing Communications

Minimum GPA: To graduate with a general business minor, students must obtain a minimum GPA of 2.50 in courses making up the minor.

Students who have already earned credit for ACCT 20153 and ACCT 20163 prior to declaring the General Business Minor may substitute those courses for ACCT 20853 in the minor requirements.

Ranch Management BS Requirements

Choose one upper level science course from the following:
- BIOL 30613 Natural History
- ENSC 50203 Riparian and Wetland Diversity
- GEOL 30113 Weather and Climate
- GEOL 30133 Historical Geology
- GEOL 30153 Geology of National Parks
- GEOL 40393 Soils in the Environment
- GEOL 50523 Geographic Info Systems

(substitutions require dean's approval).

Ranch Management Courses – Sequence of ranch management courses must be taken in two consecutive semesters starting with fall semester. Spring courses include two writing emphasis courses to satisfy the core curriculum.

Fall Semester (17 hours):
- RAMA 30102 Ranch Operations and Development
- RAMA 30403 Soil and Water Conservation
- RAMA 40103 Beef Cattle Production
- RAMA 40303 Animal Health Management
- RAMA 50503 Range Management
- RAMA 50603 Ranch Records and Finance

Spring Semester (17 hours):
- RAMA 30703 Animal Nutrition and Feeding
- RAMA 40112 Sheep and Goat Production
- RAMA 40313 Animal Health and Reproduction
- RAMA 40903 Forage Production and Use
- RAMA 50213 Ranch Business Management (WEM)
- RAMA 50803 Marketing of Livestock and Meats (WEM)

Components of the BS Degree in Ranch Management

- Core Curriculum: 39-63 credit hours
- General Business Minor: 18 credit hours
- Major Course Requirements: 37 credit hours
- Elective hours vary depending on core curriculum credit hours
- Total Hours for BS degree: 124 hours

Transfer Students

Transfer students must first become pre-ranch management students. Approval is not automatic, and admission to TCU does not guarantee the student admission as a pre-ranch management student. Transfer students should first work with the Office of Transfer Admissions regarding transfer credits and specific transfer student requirements and guidelines. Students must apply to the Ranch Management Program and be formally admitted prior to taking the upper-level ranch management courses. A GPA of 2.50 is required for admission to the program, but does not guarantee admission to the Ranch Management Program. In addition, applicants should have sufficient working experience in agriculture to understand the nature of the industry.

Pass/No-Credit Policy

- Courses for the major (including associated requirements) and the minor may not be taken on a Pass/No-Credit basis.

Ranch Management Minor

Students may pursue a degree in a discipline other than ranch management and utilize the ranch management certificate program to meet graduation requirements, provided they are qualified for admission into the Ranch Management Program. A minimum 2.50 cumulative TCU GPA is required. Students interested in pursuing the ranch management minor should contact the Ranch Management office at 817.257.7145 for information on the application process prior to their junior year.

The ranch management minor requires 34 hours of coursework and must be taken in two consecutive semesters. See Required Courses for Certificate Program for a complete list of courses required for the ranch management minor.

Ranch Management Certificate

Admission to the Certificate Program

Applicants meeting academic enrollment criteria should have sufficient working experience in agriculture to understand the nature of the industry. Basic knowledge and experience with farming or ranching enterprises enables the students to obtain more value out of the course of study. Enrollment is limited. Selection to the program is made after each applicant completes the application, including transcripts and a professional interview. When all other considerations are equal, earlier applicants are given priority. For information, or to request an application, call 817.257.7145 or write to:

Director, Ranch Management Program
Texas Christian University
TCU Box 297420
Fort Worth, TX 76129

The ranch management certificate program requires two consecutive semesters to complete. Students are provided intensive classroom instruction in basic management principles. The program of study includes courses in livestock production, natural resource conservation, forage production, accounting principles. Fieldwork is coordinated with classroom study to demonstrate principles as they are applied in production situations.

Classes are presented in three-hour units to allow concentration of subject matter and to facilitate field work. Generally, class hours are 9:00 am to 12:00 noon and 1:00 pm to 4:00 pm, five days a week. Class hours may vary when fieldwork requires additional time for travel.

Basic vocational skills are taught that require physical mobility and manual dexterity. Field work includes five week-long trips and numerous day trips. No other courses may be taken during the year. The two-semester program leads to 34 hours of credit and a ranch management certificate.

Required Courses for Certificate in Ranch Management

Fall Semester (17 hours):

- RAMA 30102 - Ranch Operations and Development
- RAMA 30403 - Soil and Water Conservation
- RAMA 40103 - Beef Cattle Production
- RAMA 40303 - Animal Health Management
- RAMA 50503 - Range Management
- RAMA 50603 - Ranch Records and Finance

Spring Semester (17 hours):

- RAMA 30703 - Animal Nutrition and Feeding
- RAMA 40112 - Sheep and Goat Production
- RAMA 40313 - Animal Health and Reproduction
- RAMA 40903 - Forage Production and Use
- RAMA 50213 - Ranch Business Management (WEM)
- RAMA 50803 - Marketing of Livestock and Meats (WEM)

Ranch Management Evening Courses

The TCU Ranch Management Program(10,11),(990,972) is meeting the educational needs of the ranching community by presenting evening classes through the Office of Extended Education.

These courses are designed for ranchers, business and other professional people, as well as other students unable to attend the full-time Ranch Management Program. The full-time faculty members of the Ranch Management Program teach the evening courses using the course materials from the certificate program. Information from ranch studies is brought into the classroom even though extensive travel is not possible. In some instances, two courses from the certificate program have been combined to provide a uniform format. One course is offered each semester and presented in a three-hour lecture on Tuesday evenings from 7:00 pm to 10:00 pm.

Admission is through the Office of Extended Education. For admission information call 817.257.7130. Admitted TCU students may take the evening division courses as electives.

University Programs

Ranch Management Courses

Evening Division Courses (Each course is 3 credit hours)

- RAMA 30413 - Ranch Conservation and Development
- RAMA 30713 - Animal Nutrition and Feeding
- RAMA 40113 - Beef Cattle Production
- RAMA 40323 - Animal Health and Reproduction
- RAMA 40513 - Grassland Management
- RAMA 40613 - Ranch Business Management
- RAMA 40813 - Marketing of Livestock and Meats

RANCH MANAGEMENT

RANCH MANAGEMENT COURSES

- RANCH 30102 - Ranch Operations and Development
  - Methods of livestock identification, dehorning, castration, and controlling parasites; the planning and construction of fences, corrals, and buildings to facilitate the handling of livestock.

- RANCH 30403 - Soil and Water Conservation
  - Soil formation and development; soil characteristics which affect productivity; soil erosion by wind and water; soil, water, and wildlife conservation and management practices; Soil and Water Conservation District and U.S.D.A. agency assistance; preparation of coordinated conservation plan.

- RANCH 30413 - Conservation and Development
  - Developing the soil, water and wildlife resources of a ranch together with planning and construction of adequate fences, corrals, building and water facilities for a livestock operation.

- RANCH 30703 - Animal Nutrition and Feeding
  - Digestion and use of feeds for maintenance and production; selection of feeds for maintenance and production; selection of feeds based on composition and cost, ration formulation, feed processing and handling, dry lot feeding programs, supplemental feeding on pasture, possible limiting factors in feeding efficiency.

- RANCH 30713 - Animal Nutrition and Feeding
  - Digestion and use of feeds for maintenance and production; selection of feeds for maintenance and production; selection of feeds based on composition and cost, ration formulation, feed processing and handling, dry lot feeding programs, supplemental feeding on pasture, possible limiting factors in feeding efficiency.

- RANCH 40103 - Beef Cattle Production
  - Economics of beef production enterprises; selection by records and visual appraisal for economically important traits including reproduction, gainability, and carcass value; inheritance; systems of breeding; production programs; management practices.

- RANCH 40112 - Sheep and Goat Production
  - Sheep breeds and crosses; selection for mutton and wool production; Angora goat selection; breeding; supplemental feeding; marketing of wool and mohair.

- RANCH 40113 - Beef Cattle Production
  - Economics of beef production enterprises; selection by records and visual appraisal for economically important traits including reproduction, gainability, and carcass value; inheritance; systems of breeding; production programs; management practices.

- RANCH 40303 - Animal Health Management
  - Anatomy and physiology of cattle, indications of health and disease, development of immunity, specific infectious and noninfectious diseases of cattle, control of internal and external parasites, toxicology, basic veterinary skills and equipment.

- RANCH 40313 - Animal Health and Reproduction
  - Reproduction in cattle including organs and functions, natural and artificial breeding management, calving management, examination of cows for pregnancy, evaluation of bulls for soundness and fertility, selection of horses for soundness, treatment for sickness and injury, horse breeding.

- RANCH 40323 - Animal Health and Reproduction
  - Reproduction in cattle including organs and functions, natural and artificial breeding management, calving management, examination of cows for pregnancy, evaluation of bulls for soundness and fertility.
selection of horses for soundness, treatment for sickness and injury, horse breeding.

RAMA 40513 - Grassland Management
Principles of plant growth and reproduction; economic characteristics and field identification of range plants; ecology of range plants and animals; management of rangeland for all its uses including setting and adjusting stocking rates, distribution of grazing, grazing methods and supporting practices; preparation of ranch management plan.

RAMA 40613 - Ranch Business Management
Basic records needed for management and income tax reports - records of income and expense, inventories, net worth statements, budgets, production records, sources of credit for ranch operations; business law as applied to the livestock producer, business organization, estate planning, labor relations, application of management principles to ranching.

RAMA 40813 - Marketing of Livestock and Meats
Relation of production to marketing, trends in marketing and consumption, meat processing and distribution, U.S.D.A. activities, market outlets and procedures, futures, seasonal and cyclical influences on prices, selection of time and place to market, handling and transportation of livestock to improve weighing conditions and minimize losses, merchandising purebred livestock.

RAMA 40903 - Forage Production and Use
Characteristics and management of introduced pasture plants; combinations for extended grazing, seedbed preparation and planting; weed control, fertilization, irrigation, grazing management and harvest for hay, silage and seed.

RAMA 40970 - Special Topics in Ranch Management
Business law as applied to the livestock producer, business organization, estate planning, labor relations, application of management principles to ranching.

RAMA 50213 - Ranch Business Management
Basic records needed for management and income tax reports - records of income and expense, inventories, net worth statements, budgets, production records, term problem in which all records for a year's operation are recorded and financial statements are prepared; sources of credit for ranch operations.

RAMA 50503 - Range Management
Principles of plant growth and reproduction; economic characteristics and field identification of range plants; ecology of range plants and animals; management of rangeland for all its uses including setting and adjusting stocking rates, distribution of grazing, grazing methods and supporting practices; preparation of ranch management plan.

RAMA 50603 - Ranch Records and Finance
Basic records needed for management and income tax reports - records of income and expense, inventories, net worth statements, budgets, production records; term problem in which all records for a year’s operation are recorded and financial statements are prepared; sources of credit for ranch operations.

RAMA 50803 - Marketing of Livestock and Meats
Relation of production to marketing, trends in marketing and consumption, meat processing and distribution, U.S.D.A. activities, market outlets and procedures, futures, seasonal and cyclical influences on prices, selection of time and place to market, handling and transportation of livestock to improve weighing conditions and minimize losses, merchandising purebred livestock.

Certificate International Studies

The Certificate in International Studies is designed to foster the development of global citizens through academic coursework, participation in TCU-sponsored global programs and interaction with international communities.

---

Woman's Studies

Women's studies is available as a minor and as an emphasis on both the BA and BS degrees.

Women's Studies Minor and Emphasis
The minor and the emphasis in women's studies are designed to provide students theoretical frameworks for recovering and analyzing women's experiences as part of a larger investigation of gender and difference, and to offer opportunities to study disciplines through these frameworks.

Students seeking the minor complete 18 hours: two required courses (WOST 20003 and 40003) and a choice of four additional courses from an approved list (see below). In choosing these courses, students take no more than two courses from any single discipline. Students who minor in women's studies must choose whether WOST-approved courses in their major discipline will count toward the major or the minor. No course may count for both.

Students seeking the emphasis in women's studies complete 15 hours: either WOST 20003 or 40003 and a choice of four additional courses from the approved list. Emphasis students may count WOST-approved courses toward both their major and the emphasis, and may also concentrate their WOST electives in a single discipline. Emphasis students in programs requiring a minor must complete a minor in another disciplinary field.

Required Courses
- WOST 20003 Introduction to Women's Studies: Sex, Gender and the Disciplines
- WOST 40003 Senior Seminar in Women's Studies

Elective Courses
- ANTH 30653 Sex, Gender, and Culture
- ANTH 30923 Sex, Gender and Ethnicity
- ART 30413 Women and the Visual Arts, 1500-1800
- ART 30423 Sex and Modern Art
- COMM 30970 Language and Gender
- DENT 30483 History of Interiors II
- EDUC 50003 Diversity in American Education
- EDUC 60813 Feminism in Education
- ENGL 10833 Girls, Women, Citizens (first-year students only)
- ENGL 10833 Woman that I Am (first-year students only)
- ENGL 20623 Woman in Literature and Culture
- ENGL 30473 Wilde Years: Oscar Wilde and the 1890s
- ENGL 30493 Women Poets and Poetic Tradition
- ENGL 30613 Women's Lives in Memoir and Fiction

Women's Studies Courses

WOST 20003 - Introduction to Women's Studies: Sex, Gender and the Disciplines
This course will serve as an interdisciplinary introduction to Women's Studies, focusing on major issues, theories, and selected disciplinary applications, for which the idea of gender will provide the unifying theme. Lectures, discussions, and assignments will encourage students to recover and understand the lived experiences of women by studying concepts of gender difference. Readings will facilitate discussion and understanding of differences in age, class, sexual diversity, race, and ethnicity.

WOST 30973 - Special Topics in Gender and Women's Studies
Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Directed study in gender and women's studies. Topic, method, and theme will vary from semester to semester.

WOST 30990 - International Residential Study
This course represents credit earned through a semester study abroad experience with an institution or program with which Texas Christian University has an official agreement to accept credit. The site and specific content will be identified on the official transcript. Courses appearing on a student's official transcript have been included in the student's grade point average.

WOST 40003 - Senior Seminar in Women Studies
This is the capstone course for the Women's Studies Minor, and includes classic readings in feminist theory and an independent project. The student pursues the independent project with the guidance usually of one of the faculty members associated with the Women's Studies Program. Other faculty members may participate as approved. These projects can include either 1) a practicum with goals, progress and final reports, or 2) a theory and research project to be agreed to by the faculty member and student.

WOST 49003 - Internship in Women's Studies
Internships (usually local in Tarrant County) arranged with the consent of the Director of the Women's Studies Program for declared minors, taken on a strictly Pass/No Credit basis. (3 semester hours).
The John V. Roach Honors College

The John V. Roach Honors College Admission

Admission to the Honors College is by invitation only and is separate from general University admission. The Honors College normally extends an invitation to the top 8 percent of students entering TCU each fall. Primary metrics include strength of the high school curriculum, SAT or ACT scores, high school rank (if applicable), and a demonstrated commitment to leadership and/or extracurricular activities.

Selected TCU faculty and staff examine each application in a threefold process: first, for admission to the University: second, for academic, merit-based scholarship support; and third (and most selective) for invitation to the Honors College. The Honors College, therefore, requires no additional application, and virtually all Honors students have excellent scholarship support. Current students of freshman, sophomore or junior classification who achieve a 3.5 GPA or higher are eligible and encouraged to apply for admission to the Honors College.

Honors College Requirements

The Honors College offers programs for students of all majors and complements all areas of study on campus.

Lower-Division Requirements

A student who fulfills the lower-division requirements will be honored upon graduation as a Kathryn McDorman Honors Scholar. McDorman Scholars will have completed 15 hours of lower-division Honors courses, including six hours of cultural visions courses and at least nine hours of Honors electives. First- and second-year students will enroll in at least one Honors class per semester until these requirements are met.

Upper-Division Requirements

A student who fulfills the upper-division requirements will be honored upon graduation as a Paul and Judy Andrews Honors Scholar. Students who complete a research or creative project in their major field and present their project during Honors Week will be recognized as an Andrews Honors Scholar in their field of study (i.e., Andrews Honors Scholar in Biology, Andrews Honors Scholar in French, etc); students who complete at least four interdisciplinary colloquia classes will be recognized as an Andrews Honors Scholar in Colloquia.

John V. Roach Honors College Graduation

Students who complete all Honors requirements, including lower-division and upper-division, will graduate with John V. Roach Honors College distinctions.

GPA Requirements

To remain in good academic standing as a member of the College, a student must meet the following minimum GPA requirements:

- Completion of freshman year: 3.0
- Completion of sophomore year: 3.25
- Completion of junior year: 3.4

Students who fail to meet these GPA requirements are encouraged to reapply once the required GPA is achieved.

A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.5 is required to graduate with John V. Roach Honors College distinctions.

Departmental Honors

Departmental Honors involves intense study in the student’s chosen major, typically consisting of a junior- or senior-level seminar and a Senior Honors Project. This project may be presented in several forms; for instance, a paper reflecting original research or creative study, a portfolio or original composition in literature or one of the fine arts, or a documented performance in the arts. In the fall semester of the senior year, a student pursuing Departmental Honors chooses a professor to supervise the project together with two additional faculty members from the student’s project committee. These three faculty members work closely with the student and during the spring semester to approve the work as being worthy of the Departmental Honors distinction. Most departments in the University have programs leading to Departmental Honors. For a listing of all such departments and for detailed information concerning the form of the Senior Honors Project, contact the Honors Program office.

University Honors

University Honors encourages interdisciplinary thought during the junior and senior years. In small seminar settings, students explore questions that have challenged thinkers through the centuries: What is the nature of values, of society, of the universe? What does it mean to be human?

Requirements for graduation with University Honors are:

- Proficiency in a foreign language at the sophomore level; and
- Satisfactory completion of the four interdisciplinary Honors colloquia, HCOL 40023, 40033, 40043 and either HCOL 40013 or HNRS 4103. Students may, if space is available, take one or more of the colloquia even if they elect not to pursue the full course of study leading to University Honors.

Pass/No-Credit Policy

Courses to fulfill Honors Program requirements may not be taken on a Pass/No-Credit basis.

Graduation with Honors

A student is recognized as having attained Departmental and/or University Honors during graduation ceremonies, and his/her diploma and transcript indicate that the degree was awarded with Honors distinctions. Such honors are conferred by the Honors Program on the basis of the student having a GPA equal to or greater than 3.50 with at least 58 semester hours of academic work having been completed at TCU (exclusive of credit by examination), and the student having completed the stated criteria for Departmental and/or University Honors.

Sherley Hall reopened in August as an all-freshman residence hall following a year-long renovation. Construction of an Admission building is announced. Amon Carter Stadium has a record crowd of 50,307 for the game against Utah on Oct. 31, which the Frog won, 55-28. ESPN's College Game Day was on hand that day too, another campus first. The Frogs, under Coach Gary Patterson have the first perfect regular season since 1938 (12-0). Fort Worth gets on board, turning the Trinity River purple and lighting up downtown in purple lights. Finishing the season at #5 in the nation, the Frogs earn a spot in their first BCS tournament, the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl in Arizona.
Through the generous gifts and bequests of friends over the years, the University has accumulated endowment funds with a market value of more than $1 billion.

A significant portion of this is the result of a magnificent gift by Mary Couts Burnett in 1923. The Burnett Fund makes up a major portion of the University's endowment.

Another large portion of the University endowment was made available through the bequest of the late Milton E. Daniel of Breckenridge, who was chairman of the Board of Trustees at the time of his death in 1958. His entire estate was left in trust to the University.

Bequests by B.M. and Frances Britain of Amarillo brought more than $15 million to the University's endowment in 1991-92.

Fully endowed chairs, several professorships, lectureships and many endowed scholarships have been contributed by individuals, charitable foundations and churches.
